REVIEW OF THE FLEET

The King Dressed as an Admiral, Centre of the Function.

CHEERED BY 50,000 JACKIES.

Guns of 100 Leviathans of the Deep Belch Forth Their Acclaim to the King—The Order of the Review—The Vessels Taking Part Were of the Domestic Fleet—The Names of the Vessels.

Portsmouth, Eng., Aug. 18.—King Edward completed the program of the Coronation festivities Saturday by reviewing the fleet for the first time since his accession. From a spectacular point of view the assemblage of a hundred and odd war vessels in the Roadstead off Spithead was a magnificent show.

The display represented merely the home fleet, not a single vessel having been withdrawn from the foreign station to participate in the pageant.

The day opened fine. There was an immense influx of visitors. The watchers of the Solent were covered with pleasure craft of every variety, from the tiny canoe to the big excursion steamer, and every vantage point on shore was covered with spectators. At 8 a.m., in response to a signal, the fleet broke out flags, and in the space of a minute the lines of black hulls were transformed into parti-colored lanes of fluttering bunting.

Simultaneously the pennant of Admiral Sir Charles Hotham, the commander-in-chief of Portsmouth, was flung out from the peak of the Royal Sovereign, which on Saturday acted as flagship of the fleet, five under-admirals' flags were also in view in different sections of the parade. The five lines in which the fleet was moored were located midway between the Isle of Wight and the mainland. Nearest to the Portsmouth shore were the special service vessels and yachts and a few distinguished visiting vessels, headed by the conspicuous white hull of the Japanese torpedo boat destroyer, Asaschio. The next line was made up of thirty-two British torpedo boat destroyers.

Then there was a line of cruisers and gunboats. Then a double line of battleships and finally another line of cruisers. Another parallel line nearest to the Isle of Wight, was made up of foreign men of war, including two Japanese cruisers, the Asama and Takasago; the Italian armored cruiser, Carlo Alberto, and the Portuguese cruiser, Dom Carlos I. The precaution had been taken to compel all vessels to burn smokeless coal, but as the day advanced a haze spread over the water and scurrying small craft frequently disappeared in banks of mist.

At 12.30 p.m. the lines of the fleet closed, the guard boats drove all unauthorized craft out of the forbidden area and promptly at two o'clock the royal yacht, Victoria and Albert, with King Edward, Queen Alexandra and other royal personages on board, slowly got under weigh. This movement was signalled by a gunshot from the Royal Sovereign and thousands of Jackies swarmed over the decks' superstructures and fighting tops and manned ship in honor of their approaching Majesties. Then came the firing of the royal salute of twenty-one guns.

Fleet's Mighty Greeting.

The demonstration began just as the King's yacht, escorted by four smaller craft, approached the first line of the fleet. One hundred royal salutes, all fired at once, made a thunderous volume of sound such as was never before heard, save on a few great battlefields. The air was literally torn and rent until one felt its agitation in fitful pulsations as it beat against the face. The guns remained silent while the review was actually in progress.

Every man of the nearly 50,000 who lined the sides of the hundred warships was able to recognize the King as he stood amid a group of half-a-dozen on the bridge of the Victoria and Albert. He was dressed in an admiral's uniform and returned each ship's salute as he passed slowly up one line and down another. The vessels were moored only a ship's length apart, but it required two and a half hours to pass them all and reach the assigned anchorage.

Then came what was the most impressive feature of the day. It was simply one mighty cheer from 50,000 throats given on a signal from every ship in the fleet. It was a stupendous and inspiring chorus. It rolled from ship to ship, from shore to shore, mounted into the heavens and seemed to come back almost as a celestial echo. Twice 50,000 more who filled every manner of spectators' craft took up the cry, until it became a great diapason which was like the voice of a nation in united acclamation.

It was a crowning tribute of loyalty such as no man, be he King and Emperor or the humblest subject, could listen to unmoved, and, hearing, could ever forget. It is said that the King was deeply impressed, and gave earnest expression of his feeling to the flag officers of the fleet, whom he immediately summoned to come aboard his vessel to receive his thanks and congratulations.

This ended the day's spectacle.

Wet Night for Illumination.

By 8 o'clock nearly all the guests had departed. The clouds which the firing of salutes had brought down looked threatening and shortly afterward a storm broke, with vivid flashes of lightning, sharp rolls of thunder and a deluge of rain. It came down in sheets. To get on the deck by 10 o'clock to see the illumination meant wet feet and wet everything. Nothing but oilskins could protect one against such a deluge, but the sight repaid one for the wetting.

Thousands of persons, who were expectantly awaiting the illumination of the fleet off Spithead to-night, not only were disappointed, but were drenched and bedraggled by a thunderstorm and rainfall of almost phenomenal suddenness and violence. The storm broke just as the signal for the illumination was given and the crowds ashore and afloat stampeded for shelter.

Searchlights at Midnight.

The storm continued for an hour. After that the night was fair and the illumination was carried out and was witnessed by thousands who re-appeared upon the shore. A rocket was sent up from the royal yacht, and a moment later the dim outline of the yacht burst out in thousands of incandescent lights. This was the signal for the hundreds of other ships, and, as if by magic, the entire fleet was illuminated in a great blaze of light. The sudden change from dusky shadows of battleships to one of electric brilliancy had a startling effect on the crowds, and they made manifest their delight by rounds of cheers.

The searchlights were still gleaming when the royal salute was fired at midnight. Then all were extinguished, save that on the royal yacht, which remained glittering.

The Assembled Vessels.

Battleships: Majestic, Magnificent, Prince George, Mars, Jupiter, Hannibal, Nile, Trafalgar, Sans Pareil, Empress of India, Revenge, Resolution, Collingwood, Anson, Benbow, Camperdown, Devastation, Edinburgh, Conqueror, Dreadnaught and Royal Sovereign.

Cruisers: Sutlej, Niobe, Doris, Furious, Pactolus, Prometheus, Australia, Galatea, Severn, Melampus, St. George, Hyacinth, Juno, Minerva, Brilliant, Rainbow, Apollo, Andromache, Narcissus, Immortalite, Crescent, Endymion, Hawke and Scylla.

Torpedo gunboats and small craft: Sanker, Alarm, Spiteful, Hebe, Speedwell, Renard, Circe, Jason, Grasshopper, Antelope, Gleaner, Sheldrake, Sharpshooter, Seagull and Hazard.

Training ships: Calliope, Cleopatra, Northampton, Seaflower, Dolphin, Wanderer, Martin, Nautilus, Pilot, Liberty.

Destroyers, twenty-four; torpedo boats, seven, and eight tenders.

TWENTY-THREE DROWNED.

Two Barques Wrecked Off the Coast of South Africa.

Cape Town, Aug. 18.—As the result of a storm which has just swept over here, the British barque Highlands, Capt. Smith, from New York, July 10, for East London, and the British barque Brutus, Capt. Dallachie, from London, June 8, for Table Bay, have been wrecked off this coast: the British transport City of Lincoln is ashore, and the German steamer Kaiser, from Hamburg, July 15, for East Africa, has been damaged.

Chief Officer Bourke of the Highlands says that the barque sank almost instantly and that twenty-three of the crew were drowned. The captain, ten men and himself clung to the bridge, which floated, but the captain and others were washed off. Bourke and two other men were rescued after having been six hours in the water.

Highfields, Not Highlands.

Cape Town, Aug. 17.—It was the barque Highfields, and not the Highlands, that foundered off this coast.

MOTHER KILLS HER DAUGHTER.

Crazed by the Death of Husband She Uses an Ax.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 18.—A frightful murder was committed here Saturday morning by Mrs. Fleming, an old woman, over 50 years of age, whose husband had called to her to take her daughter, 24 years of age, and join him in Heaven. The crazed woman stole to her daughter's bed as the girl was sleeping, and crashed her skull in with an ax. After killing her daughter, the old woman went into the garden and tried to bury herself. The girl was to leave Saturday morning for a little town up the island, where she had received an appointment as school teacher. Both mother and daughter were very devout church-goers.

To Make White Metal.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich, Aug. 18.—The announcement was made Saturday of the immediate building of a big factory to manufacture white metal. The Power Company provides a site at the east end of the American Soo. Nickel for the plant is to be supplied by the Clergue mines at Sudbury, Ont. The company building the proposed plant is composed of eastern men not previously identified with the Clergue interests in the two Soos.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Hon. G. W. Ross sailed on Saturday last for home. He will perhaps be surprised on his arrival to learn that Mr. Whitney hasn't taken his majority away. By the way, Mr. Whitney hasn't said anything for a long time. Has he accepted the situation?

Another street railway is projected for London the less. A company has applied for a franchise and the rates will be low, 2 1-2 cents—ten tickets for 25 cents, good for all hours. Peterborough's street railway seems to be of the slow variety. The prospects seem to be good for this town enjoying the distinction of possessing the only underground street railway on the continent for some time.

The magnanimity of Great Britain in its hour of triumph, is a national precedent. Her hearty reception of the Boer leader shows a firm faith in the "sunny ways" of dealing with a conquered enemy. Great Britain was a relentless foe so long as the Boers were in hostility, but the moment of surrender was the signal for a conciliatory policy, which will be the surest way to make our new subjects in South Africa contented with a citizenship founded upon so much generosity and justice.

While Canadian manufacturers advocate the revision of the tariff in order to increase the protection afforded them, the Mail and Empire and other Opposition journals continue to advocate a tariff preference for the colonies by Great Britain. This means, says the Woodstock Sentinel-Review, that the entry of British goods into Canada shall be made more difficult, and that the people of the mother country shall at the same time tax themselves, as it put it, for the benefit of the colonies. This is rather a one-sided view of preference which the people of Great Britain are not likely to accept readily to. But it illustrates the kind-ficulty of dealing with ...ics the diftions from the imp... a fiscal quesstandpoint.

A LIVI... ...NG WAGE.

The natur... in the Pr... increase of population tionally ... vince of Ontario is excepvery l... small. The birth-rate is birth ... w. France has the lowest rat... rate in Europe, and the birthth ... of Ontario is about the same as ... of France. Various explanations are given of this low birth-rate, but whatever may be the true explanation it is beyond all question that there exists among the people a general disinclination for large families. A large family is very expensive to maintain, and the parents have to deny themselves many pleasures and even comforts in order to provide their children with food, clothing, and educational expenses. The ordinary working man receives perhaps eight, or nine, or even ten dollars a week as wages, and on those wages he finds it difficult to maintain a family of six or seven children. It is therefore quite natural that under such circumstances the parents should be earnestly desirous that no increase of family should take place. This subject has come into public discussion during the last week or two in consequence of the Rev. Dr. Langtry having made an out spoken protest against the new rule of the Bank of Montreal by which the salary limit upon which its clerks are permitted to marry is raised from a thousand to fifteen hundred dollars a year. Should a clerk in the Bank of Montreal who receives a salary of less than $1,500 a year, marry, he would now be discharged. This rule, though not publicly announced, exists privately in other banks and in many similar institutions, and its effect is that a large number of young men of marriageable age are practically forced to remain single. Prostitution naturally is on the increase. The whole subject of marriage and the birth-rate is being much discussed, and those who labour under the idea that increase of population is desirable, and is beneficial to others than landlords and capitalists, are much disturbed in their minds. If you teach a young child music and give him a taste for operas and oratorios, and then place him in a position in life where he can never possess a piano or an organ, or musical instrument nor even hear good music, do you increase or diminish his means of happiness? The social "progress" of the last fifty years has given to the mass of the people tastes which they cannot gratify, and as a consequence we find them adopting artifical means to restrict the birth-rate. The Bank of Montreal announces that its clerks must not marry until they are in receipt of $1,500 a year. If a married clerk can not live on less than $1,500 a year, can it be expected that an artizan can live on $500? The subject is deeply interesting, and the Rev. Dr. Langtry has done good service in bringing it up for public discussion.

SHAMELESS SLAYERS OF FISH.

The Toronto Saturday Night says: A despatch dated August 1st appeared in the Globe of Saturday in which much ado was made over the fishing of two Belleville men at Hastings the day before. The item stated that with two rods no less than 91 black bass were landed, and that the entire catch amounted to over two hundred pounds. Of course this may be a fish story, but if it is it is a type of romancing that should be suppressed. If the facts are correctly stated the two fishermen far exceeded their legal rights and killed vastly more fish than sportsmen should permit themselves to do. It is not a sportsman's business to kill fish and then boast of the slaughter. It is those who under the name of fishermen have done this sort of thing who have depleted the waters of Ontario and left piles of rotting bass and trout on the banks of streams as monuments of their disregard of game laws and every tenet of sportsmanship. The Superintendent of Fisheries of Ontario has asked fishermen to throw back into the water all small fish and those exceeding the legal catch, and it seems strange that boastful people should parade their disobedience of the game laws and fishermen's ethics in the way which the telegram I refer to makes conspicuous. Without doubt, even the clumsy fisherman happens on a school of bass, may make a big catch, but it should be remembered that it is only the brutal and illegitimate fisherman who will pull into his boat more than the law allows him. I was told of big catches last week, and some of the fishermen admitted that they must have caught a considerable number of fish which had been supplied by the Government to stock the lake in which they had been angling. Without regard to the fact that they were undoing what the Government was trying to do, these fellows felt proud of their achievement. It seems to me a bad business, and if the fishery inspectors are not attending to their business they should be dismissed and live men put in the positions which are now occupied by those who pay little or no attention to the task for which they are being paid.

The selection of a proper food for the baby is of vital importance It must be nourishing, easily assimilated, readily digested, and must never vary in quality.

Nestlé's Food has all these requisites. It is made from cow's milk—the most nourishing of all substances—and requires only the addition of water to be ready for use.

LEEMING MILES & CO. MONTREAL.

GORE'S LANDING.

Mrs. F. Curry and Miss Muriel Hamilton spent several days this week with friends in Peterborough.

Mr. Mitchell Depew and Master Perry Adams returned from New York on Tuesday.

Mr. Hobart Bosworth, who has been at his home, "The Rookery," Black Island, for the past year, left to-day to return to his profession. Mr. Bosworth has not been on the stage for two years, owing to ill-health, but his stay in the bracing atmosphere of Rice Lake has had the most beneficial results on his health. Mrs. Bosworth remains for two weeks a guest at the White House.

Mrs. W. S. Bonbright paid a flying visit to his home on Thursday, accompanied by Miss Montgomery, of Cobourg.

Miss Smythe of Peterborough, has been a guest of Mrs. Borradaile, for a week.

Mr. Steve Borradaile, is spending a few days at Idyl Wild.

The Epworth League held their usual Thursday evening meeting at "The Grove," this week, instead of in the Methodist church. Rev. Mr. Jewett and party been in camp at "The Grove" for a week or two.

The following are recent arrivals at the Rice Lake House, Mrs. Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Boyd and family, Mr. and Miss Hemming, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Davies, Miss Davies, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. C. Matthews, Mr. Reynolds, Cobourg.

At Lilac Lodge; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wannamaker, Syracuse; Mr. and Mrs Sheffield, Miss Sheffield, Peterborough, Miss Tracy, St. Louis, Master Chester Ladd, Galveston, Texas.

Dr. Greer, Peterborough, and Miss Thompson, Cleveland, Ohio, who have been at the White House, left for home on Wednesday.

Mr. H. J. Dale, Toronto, arrived to-day, and will remain until the close of the shooting season.

Many of the guests at the White House and Rice Lake House, are remaining over for St. George's Bazaar on the 20th. A programme of sports has been arranged for the afternoon to be followed by a promenade concert in the evening. The sale will be held in Mr. Edward Harris' grounds by the lake shore. The Str. North Star will remain over on that day and leave for Peterborough on the return trip at 9 p.m., allowing the passengers to enjoy the trip up the Otonabee River by moonlight.

SAGACIOUS SEALS.

Capt. Webbs wonderful seals have delighted hundreds of thousands of people. They have been the star attraction of every vaudeville programme for the past several months. Their feats are said to be truly marvellous. The Albany Express thus referred to the attraction, "These amazing legless and armless mimics are the funniest creatures, performing tricks eclipsing the rabbit tritons. They are the oddest of musicians, vocalists and comedians, as soldiers, ball players and grotesques. They sing songs of the sea, they play upon musical instruments, they drill, they catch and pitch, they are the cunning fool to perfection and they constitute the only sealskin band. It was ... amusing to see one of ... North Pole amphibious artists playing a snare drum, another the big bass drum, another the French horn, and still another a pair of cymbals. "Charlie," the marine clown, played his part to perfection, and the wonderful performance was brought to a close in a blaze of fire, with the seals twirling around their heads lighted fire brands." The seals will perform at the Central Fair at Ottawa, August 22nd to 30th.

Magnificent For the Crop.

Winnipeg, Aug. 18.—The weather Saturday and yesterday was of the scorching variety. Magnificent for the wheat. Many farmers are now cutting. Last night rain fell in the Winnipeg district.

Wheat cutting will be pretty general by the end of this week. Farm laborers' excursions are eagerly looked for this week.

Short Circuit Let Loose.

Paris, Aug. 18.—Plates of the electric tramways have been electrocuting men and horses this week. Matters got worse when a short circuit electrified the Avenue de la Republique over an area of fifty square yards. Great amusement was caused by the St. Vitus' dance performed by unfortunate persons who strayed into the electric area.

Trapped at Wetterhorn.

Grindelwald, Switzerland, Aug. 18.—Two Englishmen and two Zermatt guides were overwhelmed yesterday by an avalanche while ascending the Wetterhorn. One of the tourists and a guide were killed. The other members of the party were seriously injured.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Wharf at Park, Orillia," will be received at this office until Wednesday, 10th September, inclusively, for the construction of a wharf at the Park, in the Town of Orillia, Simcoe County, Province of Ontario, according to a plan and specification to be seen at the office of H. A. Gray, Esq., Engineer in charge, Harbour and River Works, Ontario, Confederation Life Building, Toronto, on application to the Postmaster at Orillia, Ont., and at the Department of Public Works, Ottawa.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the form supplied, and signed with the actual signatures of tenderers.

An accepted cheque on a chartered bank, made payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, for nine hundred dollars ($900), must accompany each tender. This cheque will be forfeited if the party decline the contract or fail to complete the work contracted for, and will be returned in case of non-acceptance of tender.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
FRED. GELINAS,
Secretary.

Department of Public Works,

THE PORTS IN CANADA

Hon. Mr. Tarte Favors Halifax in Winter and Quebec in Summer

MEANING OF CALL AT SYDNEY.

The Cape Breton Port Is Only One Hour Nearer Than Quebec in 20-Knot Service, But It Would Take 23 Hours at 25 Miles an Hour to Make the Railway Journey to Quebec.

Montreal, Aug. 18. — Hon. Mr. Tarte being interviewed upon his return from the Lower Provinces, states emphatically that to insist upon Montreal as the summer terminus of the Atlantic fast line, would jeopardize the whole project. Comparing Sydney with Quebec, the Minister calculates that the difference in favor of the Cape Breton port would be but one day's traveling on the I. C. R. at 25 miles an hour, and he asks if any one in order to gain one hour in a voyage of six days would consent to shut themselves up in a railway car for 23 hours. It should be said, however, that Mr. Tarte has made no calculation for any less speed than 20 knots an hour, right up to Quebec, night and day.

Being asked what he thought of Sydney as a port of call, the Minister replied that it was a heresy, that it would be a loss of one or two days, and would mean the failure of the enterprise. Halifax in winter and Quebec in summer is Mr. Tarte's battle cry.

THE FIFTEETH WEEK.

How the Great Anthracite Stands at Its Beginning.

Wilkes-Barre, Aug. 18.—At the beginning of the fifteenth week of the anthracite strike the situation is this:

Mines working, 7.

Washeries working, 18.

Number of strikers in region, 95,000.

Coal produced each week, 40,000 tons.

Coal shipped to tidewater weekly, 20,000 tons.

Coal on hand, practically none.

Troops at Shenandoah, 1,500.

Weekly strike bulletin of the United Mine Workers is as follows:

"The strike in the anthracite region firm as the everlasting hills; confidence and quiet reign supreme."

Strikers Still Treating.

Hamilton, Aug. 18.—Saturday afternoon there were further negotiations between the members of the Electrical Workers' Union, who are on strike, and the Cataract Power Company, and they will be renewed on Monday, notwithstanding the conditions fixed by the men, that the arbitration would be off unless the third arbitrator was appointed by noon Saturday.

EXCESSIVE STEAMBOAT RACING.

Cambria in a Contest That Created a Panic Aboard.

Ogdensburg, N.Y., Aug. 18.—Complaints have been filed with United States Collector Kellogg of this port against excessive steamboat racing by excursion steamers on the St. Lawrence river.

Captain John Hatch and the crew of the steamer Mary, were summoned before him yesterday for racing through the swift and dangerous waters of the rapids with the Canadian tug Cambria.

While in treacherous waters the boats came so close the excursionists could touch hands. Women fainted and a panic ensued. Ex-Collector W. H. Daniels is the principal complainant, and charges the Mary with carrying 125 pounds of steam, when the steamer's certificate shows only 110. Steamboat Inspectors Multher and Chestnut have been called upon to investigate the matter.

FIVE WARSHIPS AT ST. JOHN'S.

Admiral Douglas in the Colony re. French Shore Fishing.

St. John's, Nfld., Aug. 18.— The British cruiser Ariadne, flagship of Rear Admiral A. L. Douglas, one of the Lords of the Admiralty, arrived here last evening, making the port in a dense fog. The Ariadne was escorted by the British cruiser Indefatigable. Awaiting Admiral Douglas' arrival here, were the British cruiser Charybdis, the sloop Alert, and the Special service steamer Columbine, all under the command of Capt. Montgomery of the Charybdis, and the French cruiser Isly and the despatch boat Manche, under the command of Commodore Montferrand. Together these seven warships form the largest fleet which has been here for many years past. Admiral Douglas has come to the colony to discuss the French shore fishery question.

A VISIT TO THE KING

His Majesty and Queen Alexandra Receive Boer Generals.

GEN. DEWET, HERO OF CROWD.

The Visitors Arrived at Southampton on Saturday, Avoided the Naval Review and Went on Immediately to London—Received a Warm Reception From His Majesty and the Queen—Their Plans.

Southampton, Aug. 18.—Generals Botha, Dewet and Delarey arrived here Saturday morning and met with a great reception both from Government officials and public.

The Boer generals looked remarkably well. Soon after landing they boarded the Nigeria, where Joseph Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary, and Earl Roberts and General Lord Kitchener greeted them. They were also introduced to Mrs. Chamberlain and Lady Roberts, with whom they chattered for some time.

Official arrangements had been made to permit the generals to witness the naval review, but after a conference with Abraham Fischer, the former Boer delegate, who came from The Hague, it was announced that they intended to proceed direct to London, in order to reach Holland as speedily as possible. The generals will go to Holland to pay their last respects to the memory of Gen. Lucas Meyer, who died of heart disease on Aug. 8.

Gen. Dewet, in conversation here, confirmed the statement that he and his companions will visit the United States before returning to South Africa.

When Dewet Was Cornered.

London, Aug. 18.—The Boer generals reached London in the course of Saturday afternoon. When asked why they had declined the Government's invitation to witness the naval review, they remarked that they were "too tired after the long war, and needed a rest."

The scene at the railroad station on the arrival of the Boers was remarkable. An enormous crowd of people gave them a welcome as hearty as given to Lord Roberts and Lord Kitchener when they arrived here from South Africa. Shouts of "Good old Dewet," "Our friends, the enemy," and "Brave soldiers all," were frequently heard amidst salvos of cheers. Gen. Dewet was fairly cornered by the mob, and had to be rescued by the police, who, by sheer force, cleared a line of retreat for him.

Generals Botha, Dewet and Delarey left London at 9.30 o'clock yesterday morning for Cowes, Isle of Wight, to see King Edward on board the royal yacht Victoria and Albert. The hour of the Generals' departure was kept secret. The streets were deserted when the three Generals, accompanied by their secretaries, but by none of the ladies of their party, left.

Upon arriving at Southampton, the visitors were welcomed on board the Commander-in-chief's yacht Wildfire by Earl Roberts and General Kitchener. Immediately afterwards they visited King Edward on board the Victoria and Albert, and were then taken for a trip around the fleet in the Wildfire. They returned to London last evening, accompanied by Earl Roberts and General Lord Kitchener, who took leave of them at Waterloo Station.

The Generals Highly Pleased.

In an interview Gen. Botha's secretary described the visit to His Majesty. He said that when they boarded the royal yacht, King Edward came forward, and, after they had been introduced, shook hands with each of them. After a brief and informal talk of a non-political character with King Edward, they were introduced to Queen Alexandra and Princess Victoria.

The Generals were highly pleased with their reception.

The Boer Generals, Dewet, Delarey and Botha, are expected to arrive at Brussels, says a despatch from that city, next Tuesday for the funeral of Gen. Lucas Meyer. Enormous crowds viewed the embalmed body of Lucas Meyer yesterday. It will be taken to South Africa. Among the many floral tributes, were wreaths from former President Kruger of the Transvaal and Joseph Chamberlain, the British Colonial Secretary. The wreath sent by Mr. Chamberlain was composed of splendid orchids.

Nervous and Sleepless.

There is just one cure and that is plenty of food for the blood and the nerves, which is best supplied in Ferrozone, than which no blood tonic or strength producer is better. Ferrozone promotes healthy digestion, which results in improved nutrition. The blood grows rich and red, furnishes stability to the entire system, and the store of nerve force and energy increases daily. A rebuilding of the constitution, new spirits, health and strength, all come from the use of Ferrozone. This marvellous renovator is sold by druggists for 50c. a box, or six boxes for $2.50. For sale by Ormond and Walsh.

Smothered in a Cave-in.

Winnipeg, Aug. 18.—A distressing accident happened to the family of C. R. Rankin, in Lyonshall district, near Killarney, in which two sons, Harold, aged 4, and Robert, aged 6, were smothered to death by the cave-in of the sand pit on which they were playing.

General French's Command.

London, Aug. 18.—Gen. French is expected to take over command at Aldershot about Sept. 15, thus replacing Gen. Buller.

The Money Vote to Lord Kitchener.

The money vote to Lord Kitchener set some of the British newspapers recalling money grants. The great to victorious commanders. first—first captain Wellington comes ... eed in in date, first in rank, first in in everything. After Talavera, 1809, he became Viscount Wellington, and had a pension of £2,000 a year conferred on him, and his two successors in the title, and the pension only lapsed two years ago. In 1812 he got an Earldom and an additional £2,000 a year, and in October of the same year became a Marquis, with a grant of £100,000 for purchase of lands to descend with the Marquisate. Finally in May, 1814, when everybody thought that Napoleon in Elba was done for, he was made a Duke, and received £400,000 to purchase estates entailed on the heirs male of his body.

But Napoleon was not done with yet, and Waterloo brought its reward, for the Duke, after being thanked by Parliament "for the consummate ability, unexampled exertion and irresistible ardor displayed by him on the eighteenth," received an additional sum of £200,000 for the purchase of lands, to be held by him and his heirs on the tenure of rendering a tricolor flag on every 18th of June. Thus the Duke received £4,000 a year and £700,000, to say nothing of his £20,000 a year in Spain and £2,000 in Belgium. After that there was no grant until 1839. Sir John Keane then was created Baron Keane of Ghuznee, with a pension of £2,000 for himself and his two immediate successors in the Peerage. Then came Chilianwallah, and Viscount Gough received £2,000 a year for himself and the next two heirs to the title. Lord Napier of Magdala received £2,000 a year for himself and his successor. Lord Wolseley received £25,000 after the Ashantee war and the thanks of Parliament. Lord Roberts got £100,000.

Doctors Agreed.

Every doctor who has been shown the formula of Merrill's System Tonic has expressed great admiration for its scientific and medical ingenuity. Shoe Shape.

Ever have a pair of shoes that twisted out of shape before they were half worn out?

That was because of poor lasting—the stretch had been left in them.

"Slater Shoes" are lasted on machines which automatically stretch the leather to the exact point where there is no stretch left.

Only good leather can stand this process, but it takes all the stretch forever out of the shoes.

No breaking in, no bursting out, no twisting, no unsightly warping—"Slater Shoes" keep their shape till worn out. Goodyear welted.

Branded with makers' name and price, in a slate frame, $3.50 and $5.00.

No Electric Light.

The service in St. Paul's church last night was conducted in almost total darkness. Something went wrong with the electric lights, which was not discovered until the last moment, and the only light afforded was that from a few gas lights near the pulpit. The remainder of the church was not lighted and the service was concluded in the usual manner and with no apparent discomfort.

Laid at Rest.

The funeral took place this morning at 9 o'clock of the late Mr. C. J. O'Connell, from the residence of his mother, Mrs. T. O'Connell, Ashburnham. The body was conveyed to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to the Roman Catholic Cemetery, where interment took place. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Father McColl, Rector of St. Peter's assisted by Rev. Dr. O'Brien. Amongst those in attendance at the funeral from a distance were Messrs. C. M. Redfield and D. Sullivan, of Clifton Springs, New York; Mr. P. Dwyer, of Rochester, N.Y.; Mrs. Ryan, of Lockport, N.Y., and Mrs. T. McMahon, of Merrickville, Ont. The three former were friends of the late Mr. O'Connell and the latter two were relatives.

THE LATE MRS. TELFORD.

Smith Townshship Loses One of its Oldest Residents.

In the death of Mrs. Wm. Telford, which occurred on Saturday afternoon at her home in Smith, the township loses one of its oldest and most widely known residents. The deceased, whose maiden name was Hannah Nicholson, was the daughter of the late Isaac Nicholson, of Smith, and was born on the same farm on which she died, 75 years ago. She was, during her entire life, a resident of Smith. Fifty-two years ago she married the late Wm. Telford, who predeceased her about 8 years. The following sons and daughters survive her:—Messrs. John, of Ennismore; Robert, on the homestead, and William, also of Smith, and Mrs. John Logan, town; Mrs. Wm. Nicholls, of Bridgenorth, and Mrs. John Grant, of town.

The deceased lady will be more particularly remembered as the wife of the late William Telford, the bard of Smith, whose poems brightened by his rugged genus held an honoured place on the bookshelves of hundreds of homes in Peterborough town and county.

In religion the late Mrs. Telford was a life-long Presbyterian and a devout member of St. Paul's church. The funeral took place from the family residence, Communication Road, at 2 o'clock on Monday afternoon to Little Lake Cemetery.

OBITUARY.

The Late Timothy Cronin.

The many friends of Mr. John Cronin and family will regret to learn that the illness, from which his son Timothy has been for some time a sufferer, terminated in his death on Saturday evening at the family residence, 99 Elm street, town. The deceased young man, who was 27 years of age, was held in high esteem by his acquaintances, who will extend their heartfelt sympathy on the sad occasion. Funeral from 99 Elm street to-morrow at 9 o'clock to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

Is Your Piano in Tune?

The change of seasons affects pianos as well as everything else. Mr. Geo. Gumpricht, practical piano maker and tuner, with twenty-eight years' experience, attends to all orders left at Mr. H. S. Macdonald's drug store.

Mr. Gordon's Enterprise.

The Cobourg World says: Mr. W. H. Gordon, Peterborough, son of Mrs. Gordon, Tweed street, purchased from Mr. W. J. Maher, on Saturday, the stock in his west end store, and also rented the store. Mr. Gordon opened business on Monday, and no doubt will receive a fair share of the grocery trade of the town and vicinity, as he has had much experience in that line and is known to be an honest, affable and obliging gentleman and merchant. At present Mr. Gordon is doing a large partnership business with Mr. Kernighan in Peterborough, where they have two stores.

Mrs. J. D. Collins, and Misses Mabel and Eleanor Collins, who have been in from the lakes for a day or two, returned to their summer home to-day.

Mr. F. B. Frances of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Ottawa, was in town over Sunday, the guest of Mr. Sheriff Hall, and went up to the lakes to-day to spend a short holiday.

Mr. Peter Simons, ar., left town to-day, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Annie, and his cousin, Mrs. Cauley, who has been assisting him. He will visit Oswego, Syracuse, Rochester and New York, and will bring back with him all the newest fall syles in gentlemen's garments.

The Cobourg Post says; A marriage has been arranged and will take place at St. Peter's church, at Aug. 23rd, between Miss Vivien Sartoris, daughter of the late Algernon Charles Frederick and Mrs. Nellie Grant Sartoris, Warsash, Hampshire, England, and grand-daughter of the late General Ulysses S. Grant, and Mr. Frederick Roosevelt Scovel, son of Chevalier and Madame Edward Scovel, nee Marcia Roosevelt. Mr. Scovel is a cousin of President Roosevelt, a nephew of Mr. Frederick Roosevelt, of New York, and of Madame Ricardo Diaz-Albertini, of Cobourg. The announcement was made at a reception given by Mrs. Nellie Grant Sartoris on Thursday afternoon at the "Hill," the beautiful summer home of Mrs. U. S. Grant, where a brilliant company of Americans had assembled. The guests numbered over one hundred, and there were representatives of nearly every state of the Union. The affair promises to be one of the most brilliant ever witnessed in Cobourg. A large number of prominent American people have been invited to the wedding.

AT THE LAKES.

A Very Large Crowd at the Island on Sunday.

Those who came down from Stony Lake this morning state that the population of the Stony Lake region is now at its highest mark, and the season is at its height of gaiety. A conservative estimate of the population of Stony Lake is 2,500, many of whom are from American Centres. The pavilion dances continue to be the leading evening attraction, and the young people are having a most enjoyable time. Perhaps the largest crowd of the season was at the pavilion yesterday morning for service. The pavilion could not accommodate the throng and several hundred people were obliged to remain outside. The steam yachts from the upper end of the lake brought a great crowd down. Some of the yachts had a tow of eight to ten small crafts. The early part of the day was fine and the lake in the vicinity of Juniper Island presented a very lively appearance.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—The country schools opened to-day.

—The fall fairs will soon be starting.

—Sixteen new members were added to the League of the Cross at the Cathedral on Sunday evening, and the membership of St. Peter's T.A.S. was increased by the addition of fifteen new members.

Only a limited number of tickets will be sold for the Oddfellows' round trip excursion on Civic Holiday. Good time guaranteed. Train leaves G.T.R. station 7.30 a.m. sharp.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE PUPILS

Students Who Successfully Passed Part I Junior Matriculation.

Of the eighteen pupils of the Collegiate Institute who wrote on Part I, Matriculation, last July, the following seventeen have passed:

With Physics—H. Cressman, J. Graham, A. G. Hall, H. Hall, W. G. Hall, A. Mann, R. Orr, H. Sawers, V. Sullivan, A. V. Wood, R. Wood, H. M. Yelland.

Without Physics — G. Bell, F. Collins, A. Hamilton, F. G. Hunter, B. Kelly.

N.B.—Physics is an optional subject.

It is to be further noted that out out eighteen candidates writing, seventeen were successful, or nearly 95 per cent, a very creditable record.

McGILL'S MULTI-MOTOR ENGINE

An Ingenious Invention by a Peterborough Machinist.

As noted in Saturday's issue, in the Globe of that day appeared a picture and a brief description of a new engine invented by Mr. John McGill, No. 379 Sherbrooke street, employed in the Canadian General Electric Company's works. The Examiner cannot print a reproduction of the picture, but it does the next best thing, reproduces the brief description printed by the Globe in connection with the picture:

"The accompanying illustration represents Mr. John McGill, a Peterborough machinest, and an engine he has invented, to be driven by steam, water, compressed air, gas or gasoline. The picture, however, does not do justice to the extreme simplicity of Mr. McGill's model, for it also represents non-essential attachments for other purposes. The engine itself consists essentially of a cylinder, flywheel and driving wheel, the two latter keyed to a central shaft, which enters the cylinder and is attached to the valvular mechanism, which revolves within it under the impulse of whatever motive medium is used. The cylinder, which is so short in relation to its diameter, varying according to the power required as to be practically a hollow disc, is fitted with a system of valves of peculiar construction, which are the essence of Mr. McGill's invention. The steam, or whatever motive, vapour or liquid is used, is admitted into the cylinder by an opening in the periphery, and causes the system of valves enclosed in the disc to revolve and impart motion to the shaft, to which are keyed the flywheel and driving pulley. That is all of Mr. McGill's invention as to the engine itself, and he claims that it has several important points of improvement over the ordinary engine. It does away with coming to rest, as does the ordinary engine, twice at every revolution. The engine never gets "on the centre." The motion is continuous, circular, smooth and without jar. The engine takes up less space — a working model with a five-inch cylinder and representing almost one horse power, occupying a space of only seven inches square. The space occupied is from three to five times less than for the usual type of engine. It is more economical in the matter of fuel consumption, the inventor claiming that it will produce two and a half effective revolutions for the fuel price of one with the ordinary engine, this advantage increasing with the size of the engine.

"The furnace space required is less in ratio of three to one, and, of course, fuel consumption is proportionately less. The McGill engine is capable of being run at a higher rate of speed, absolutely, and relatively, with less wear and tear, the motion being continuous and not reciprocating. Mr. McGill claims other advantages and a wide range of adaptability for his engine, but is first anxious to have its merits known in relation to its application to fast transportation. In steamships he considers that the great speed it is capable of developing, with less consumption of fuel and less space for engine, boilers and coal bunkers, furnishes the essential desiderata of successful transportation — increased speed, economy and carrying capacity. He also claims that his engine can be adapted to faster steam and electric railway traffic, and he has invented and constructed an ingenious model of a street railway coach, with the body hung low, and provided with trucks of a peculiar construction, which permit the taking of sharp curves safely at a very high speed. Mr. McGill is not anxious for fame, he wishes his invention to be put to practical use, and therefore desires to bring it before the notice of Boards of Trade and others interested in the solution of the rapid transportation problem. He is a machinist, employed in the Canadian General Electric works, at Peterborough, and his means are limited to his earnings in this capacity. But he says he can supply the machinery to capitalists interested in the transportation question."

Any person who, as the Examiner has had the pleasure of doing, sees Mr. McGill's engine in operation, and notes the work it can, and does, do, cannot but be deeply impressed with the importance of his invention, for the brief description given above but imperfectly describes but one part of its many-sided possibilities.

A RESOLUTION OF SYMPATHY.

Good Templars Heartily Congratulate St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society.

That the various temperance lodges of the town have the sympathy of each other in the noble work in which they are engaged, is shown by the following resolution which has been forwarded by Harmony Lodge, I.O.G.T. to the officers and members of St. Peter's T.A.S. The resolution is as follows;

To the Officers and Members of St Peter's T.A.S.

At the last meeting of Harmony Lodge No. 437, I.O.G.T., I was instructed to convey to you our heartiest congratulations on the magnificent success scored by your society in the capture of the banner at the recent convention at Dubuque.

We wish to express the pleasure it gives us as a total abstinence organization to note the rapid growth and thorough, genuine work of benefit of the T.A.S. in town, and hope that the work will continue to enlarge.

Kindly convey to Rev. Dr. O'Brien, to whom is dus much of the credit for the spread of the total abstinence sentiment in town, our heartiest greetings, and our best wishes for the continued success of the society. Fraternally yours,

W. DREDGE,
Secretary Harmony Lodge.

THE FIREMEN'S GRIEVANCE.

Will Not be Interfered With at Fires.

NIGHTWATCHMAN ALEXANDER

Magistrate Says He Should Not Have Lost His Temper—His Worship's Remarks.

A rather interesting case came up at the Police Court this morning. John Alexander, night watchman for the Canadian General Electric Company, was charged by Chief Rutherford with impeding the work of the fire brigade at a conflagration which occurred in the compounding room of the Canadian General Electric Company's works, on Tuesday morning of last week. Of course the accused pleaded not guilty and the Magistrate proceeded to hear the evidence the hearing of which occupied more than an hour's time.

Mr. Alexander was represented by Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, whilst the case of the firemen was handled by Chief Rutherford in an able manner, assisted by Assistant Chief Haggart. As Mr. Rutherford stated the case was brought on in order that they might know whether or not a corporation, or a person representing a corporation, or a private owner of property had a right to interfere with the work of the fire brigade when engaged in fighting a fire at the property of either of the aforesaid parties.

In this case, from the mass of evidence that was submitted, it would appear that on the morning of August 12th, fire broke out in the compound room of the Canadian General Electric Company. The nightwatchmen, Mr. John Alexander, sent in the alarm to the fire station, opened the gates to the Company's yards, and in due time the brigade arrived on the scene. According to the firemen's story they proceeded in their regular manner to lay their hose and extinguish the blaze. While thus engaged Alexander, who was standing near a pile of red hot wire, on which a stream was playing, received a bad ducking. This, so the evidence of the firemen would have us believe, aroused his anger and he forthwith ordered the town brigade to turn off their water. Without their having time to do so, they claim that Alexander rushed at Firemen Dunford and Butcher and assaulted them and declared that he was "running the show," and that their services were not needed. The evidence of every one of the witnesses for the plaintiffs was along this line.

The evidence of Alexander went to show that after sending in an alarm he proceeded back to the compound room to fight the blaze with the aid of the Company's private fire-fighting apparatus and with the assistance of one or two of the Compay's employees, who had arrived on the scene, He claimed that he had gotten the fire under control and when the firemen arrived they were informed to this effect, to which greeting he received an insulting reply from one of the brigade, whom Alexander did not know, but who evidently desired to express his displeasure in being called down to the fire without being called into service. Then, Mr. Alexander said in effect that the firemen proceeded to lay their hose and fight the fire, which he claimed was subdued, but which the firemen claimed was not.

Mr. Rutherford's contention was that they have had difficulty with the Canadian General Electric Company before when they arrived at their premises to fight a fire. They had therefore brought this up as a test case in order to know whether or not the Canadian General Electric Company intended to fight their own fires or whether they desired the amistance of the town brigade. If the town brigade is supposed to amist in the work, were they to be masters of the situation or were they to be dictated to by the nightwatchman or by any one else who might imagine he was in authority? Mr. Rutherford contended that the firemen, who were men of experience, were more capable than an ordinary man, of judging whether a fire was under control or not, and in the present case although Alexander had told them that the fire was out, the Company's hose were still playing on it. The firemen were there in the interests of not only the town and the property owners, but the Insurance Companies as well, whereas Alexander represented only the Company.

Mr. Dennistoun's contention was that Alexander knew better than the firemen, the situation. He believed the fire to be under control and knew the possibility of damage to the contents of the building if there was much water thrown on the pile of hot wires from which steam would arise. The accused had, no doubt, become somewhat excited when he was drenched by the water from the hose, but when he snatched the nozzle from the men and turned it in a different direction, the firemen kept it in that direction which was conclusive evidence of the fact that Alexander was right in his contention. Above all, anything that Mr. Alexander did, Mr. Dennistoun concluded, was, as he thoroughly believed to be in the best interests of the Company.

HIS WORSHIP'S REMARKS.

Police Magistrate Dumble said that the information was not laid for assault, but for impeding the work of the firemen in the performance of their duty. The charge had not been laid by one man any more than the whole brigade. It was a

"NAT" RAY INJURED.

A Brother of Mr. Sam Ray Met With an Accident on Saturday.

A despatch from Saratoga says;—"But for the accident in the steeplechase there would have been nothing to dim the lustre of one of the greatest days in the history of the Saratoga course. At the fourth obstacle near the start for six furlongs race Rising Sun stumbled after landing and threw his rider, 'Nat' Ray with such violence that his senseless body was picked up limp and inert, and carried to an hospital, where at the moment of writing his condition is not positively known. Meanwhile, the riderless horse, Rising Sun, continued over the full steeplechase course, more or less impeding Sallust, whose rider dared not make a strong move, for fear that he would go down. Eophone therefore had an easy task in winning, with Rising Sun second, a length away, without his rider, and Sallust four lengths behind. Ray lives at Toronto, and won his way with the New York public by his skilful handling of Inspector Stephen, G. W. Jenkins, and other jumpers."

"Nat" Ray is a brother of Mr. Sam Ray of town. Mr. Ray has received no information from Saratoga, other than the above despatch.

DATE FIXED FOR REMOVAL.

Only Two Days Longer of LeBrun's Reduction Sale.

We will close the store we now occupy on Monday, the 18th instant, and begin business in our handsome new premises with entrances on George and Hunter streets. We will not tell you just now how complete an establishment our new home is going to be, but the store is rapidly approaching completion and permanent settlement, and in ten days every floor and section will be in shipshape order. What you ought to know just now is that we are making the last days of our Removal and Reduction Sale so important to every man, youth and boy that to overlook its advantages would be a serious mistake. The prices, as well as the qualities, tell the story of unusual saving opportunities offered in the buying of whole suits and parts of suits, as well as cloths for making up suits to order. Great specials in underwear, hosiery, shirts, etc. Prices are low enough to make it an object to buy ahead for future use. Everything in the store has been put on the bargain list, as we would rather sacrifice than have the trouble to move or carry over the goods. Don't fail to come, as you have never before seen such bargains in a clothing store. H. LeBRUN & CO.

The boys will assemble at the fire hall at 7 p.m., and march to the C.P.R. station headed by the band of the 57th Regiment. Capt. Nasmith will be escorted to the Snowden House where the supper will be tendered him and a sword presented to him.

CENTRAL FAIR NOTES.

The Committee on Fine Arts and Ladies' Work Preparing for an Enlarged Exhibit.

The committee on whom devolves the duty of making arrangements for the accommodation of the exhibits in Ladies' Work and Fine Arts at the Central Fair, are at work devising means to give room for the increased exhibit in these departments which promises to exceed that at any previous show held. Last year the available room was crowded and some desirable exhibits were held out by exhibitors on the ground that they could not be adequately shown and the merits displayed. It is true that the building is not up to the mark, and that the accommodation afforded is not as it should be, but the only thing to be done is to make the best of what can be had. By carrying some of the other exhibits to another part of the building and utilizing the galleries, it is expected that sufficient room will be afforded. Changes are being made so as to afford a better light.

Inspection of the prize list will show that these departments, especially that of Fine Arts, have been revised and enlarged, and the classes classified to better advantage. It is pointed out that all of the exhibits in these departments must be in place by 12 o'clock of the first day, as the judges get to work at one o'clock. Judges have been selected who will bring to bear on the judging a proper appreciation of the work and skill shown, and to ensure that merit will be the only basis on which awards will be made.

Bandmaster Slatter, of the 'Kilties," the famous band of the 48th Highlanders, which will be the special attraction of the fair, has forwarded the programme for the evening entertainment, which shows that a rich musical treat is in store for those who attend. It will not be possible for the crowd to hear this celebrated band at any other time for the small admission fee that will be charged. Further announcements will be made in this regard.

TWO LETTERS

Has Not Changed His Mind in Seven Years.

This Correspondence Tells More Emphatically Than Perhaps Anything Could, the Perfect Permanency of Cures Made by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Gelert, Ont., Aug. 18,—(Special.)—Mr. Samuel Kernahan, of this place, is a wonderful example of what Dodd's Kidney Pills will do for sick and suffering humanity.

Mr. Kernahan had been very ill, indeed so ill that the doctors had given him up as incurable. He had spent a great deal of money in trying to obtain a cure, but all in vain, until at last a friend suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills. This wonderful remedy soon made him a well man, and although this was nearly seven years ago, he has scarcely known what illness has been since, and has never had a return of his old trouble. The following letters which he has addressed to the proprietors of Dodd's Kidney Pills, tell the story:

Gelert, Ont., Oct. 12, 1895.

In Dec., 1893, I was taken sick and laid up, unable to work for 14 months. I was confined to my house and to my bed. I was attended at various times during these months by five different doctors. Three of them decided that my ailment was floating kidney and incurable. The other said that it was spinal disease, but all five of them pronounced my case absolutely and positively incurable. My money was nearly all gone, for I was not a rich man. Some one advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and as a last hope I did so. After I had taken three boxes I was able to walk about, but I continued the treatment until I had taken eighteen boxes. Now I can say I am entirely cured and able to do my work as well as ever.

SAMUEL KERNAHAN.

Gelert, April 24, 1902.

I am as sound as I ever was and have not had the slightest return of my old trouble, since Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me away back in '94

SAMUEL KERNAHAN,

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure to stay cured.

Chinese Treaty Signed.

London, Aug. 18.—In a despatch from Shanghai the correspondent of The Times says the protocol of the tariff treaty was signed yesterday (Saturday) by the British, American, German and Japanese representatives without reservation, and by the Austrian, Belgian and Dutch representatives ad referendum. The document provides that the new tariff become operative Nov. 1.

Troops to Expel Nuns.

Paris, Aug. 18.—A large force of military left Brest yesterday to aid in the eviction of the nuns from the schools at Folget, Ploudeniel and Saint Meen. The Carthusian monks have decided to emigrate to Austria in October. A syndicate has bought their interest in the manufacture of chartreuse for 8,000,000 francs.

The Savings Bank of Health.

Is lots of red and vitalising blood to nourish and invigorate the body. If your blood is thin and watery use "Ferrozone." It supplies the necessary elements such as phosphorous and iron, and quickly restores lost strength and spirits. Ferrozone is an unequalled restorative for the tired, the sick, and the run down; it stimulates appetite, aids digestion, soothes the nerves, and makes the system too healthy for disease to exist. No tonic does so much good in a short time as Ferrozone. Get it to-day from any druggist for 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

COAL MINES ARE CLOSING.

Use of Fuel Oil on Pacific Ind Blow to Miners.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 17.—Because of the adoption of fuel oil for steamers and otherwise in California, the demand for coal from Nanaimo mines has decreased very rapidly. Up to this year there has been a large fleet employed in the transportation of coal from British Columbia to San Francisco, but this has of late been decreasing.

The greatest blow has now fallen. The superintendent of the new Vancouver Coal Company at Nanaimo met the executive of the Miners' Union and announced the discouraging news that the mines would be shut down for a while, and frankly advised the men to look for other employment.

There is now more coal on the bunkers than the ships will take away for some days, and the Wyefield, one of the heaviest carriers, is going out of service after its next trip. No. 1 mine was closed down last week, just for a few days, it was said, and the Harewood mine was closed for an indefinite period. The closing of the former throws into idleness from 300 to 400 men; the latter only about 50.

HOG CHOLERA IN LONDON.

Whole Herd of Seventy Killed—Other Cases Named.

London, Aug. 18.—A bad case of hog cholera developed on the farm of Frank P. Chantler, just south of the city, and necessitated the destruction of his whole herd of 17 hogs. The animals were noticed to be off feed and sick, and D. J. H. Tennant, V. S., was called in. He found the animals suffering from hog cholera. The herd was consequently killed with the least possible delay. The cholera has appeared in several places in this neighborhood of late. One herd, on concession 4, and another on concession 2 of London Township were destroyed recently. A few weeks ago Robert Hill of East London lost his herd of 46.

FAVORS THE UNBORN CHILD.

Decision of Interest in Insurance Litigation—A Unique Point.

Toronto, Aug. 16. — A child born four months after its father's death was, by a judgment of the court yesterday, declared entitled to share in the insurance on his life, which had been left to "the widow and children."

"Such a child," says the court, "is in law a child existant, and takes as a child living at the death of its parent."

This decision is handed down by Mr. Justice Lount. The insurance, amounting to $2,000, is on the life of Wm. H. Lethbridge, of St. Thomas district, who died in April, 1897. In August following the daughter, Rhea, was born. There are four other children and the widow who will share in the insurance. The Trust and Guarantee, as executors of the estate, sought the opinion of the court on the doubtful point of allowing Rhea to share.

TO MOVE NORTHWEST CROPS.

C.N.R. Expects to Move 14,000,000 Bushels of Wheat.

Montreal, Aug. 16. — Mr. D. D. Mann of the Canadian Northern, who was here yesterday, stated that their first through passenger train between Port Arthur and Winnipeg would start some day next week, after which there will be a regular daily service each way.

Mr. Mann also gave some interesting data as to the Canadian Northern's ability to handle the crops tributary to their system. "Up to date," he said, "we have brought out 9,000,000 bushels of last year's crop, and, this season, we expect to increase it to 14,000,000 bushels. Last year we had elevator capacity for two millions, and this year, by the time the crop is ready to move, our capacity will reach six millions. Our hauling capacity has also been increased by 25 locomotives, and 800 cars."

USED BY THE BEST PEOPLE.

Never Derived so Much Benefit From Any Medicine as From

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. Lloyd Jones, 40 Palmerston avenue, Brantford, Ont., and whose husband is President of the Co-operative Packing Co., states:—

"I had a severe attack of la grippe, which left me in a nervous and run-down condition, and of course I did not rest well. I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and can truthfully say that I never derived so much benefit from any medicine before. It seemed to build me up, and in fact I have not been so well for years. I can heartily recommend this treatment for weakness and nervousness."

The leading physicians endorse Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and advise their patients to use it, because they know it to be the most effective restorative and system builder which modern science has discovered. You can be certain that it will benefit you; 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 4

INEXPENSIVE SPORT

CORNWALL JOURNALIST TELLS OF SALMON FISHING IN CANADA.

A Description of the Sport That Even the Non-Fisher Can Enjoy—Trolling in a Canoe by a Metapedia Salmon—Londerfoot's Good Catch—The Cost in Plain Figures.

C. W. Young of The Cornwall, Ont., Freeholder, has the following article in Forest and Stream.

How much does it cost to kill a salmon?

Well, that depends. If you are a member of the Restigouche Club your bill may run up a thousand or more, but ordinary mortals can do it for a good deal less.

I dropped off at Campbellton, N. B., on a mid-June morning, and looked up Billy Sproul of the Royal Hotel, and got a pointer or two. At 6 o'clock I took an accommodation train a few miles west of Flat Lands, hailed a fatherly old fellow, Wm. Delaney, caretaker of the Montgomery and Suction Water, and stated the case. William had a canoe, but no other man was presently available, so we two went out alone. The water was practically free, a nominal rental of $1 a day being charged per rod. There was perhaps half a mile of it altogether, and the Restigouche River being unusually high no pools were in sight. We pulled out a few yards from shore, and dropping a stone for an anchor cast to right and left, choosing a Durham-ranger fly of rather large pattern. The second or third cast brought a nice fellow to the top, a little short, however, and a few minutes later another, short likewise.

"Black salmon," said William, "and no good anyway." These kelts or black salmon are fish that have wintered in the river, and are lean, lanky fellows, not fit for food, but liable to give you as good a run as any other. Our first victims may or may not have been kelts; the guides are good-natured fellows as a rule, and sympathetic, and William may have been letting me down easy.

The stone is pulled up, and we drop down a few yards further, and after a while, with a moderately short cast, a good-sized fish takes the fly, turns over, and then trouble begins. Right out into the river he goes, the reel screaming with delight, one could almost imagine then an eruption in the water, and three or four feet of glittering silver is in the air for a second or two. Another run and then a sulk at the bottom, with a steady chug, chug, as if the fish was trying to get rid of the hook that was interfering with his freedom of motion.

"Keep the strain on him," said William, "and look out when he goes again." A few minutes of suspense, then another rush and another jump and away he races up the centre of the river.

"A Metapedia salmon bound for the club-house for sure." But towing a canoe was a pretty heavy drag, and soon there were signs of distress. The fish led somewhat more easily, he was reeled up and ran out several times, each rush a little less vigorous. All the time the canoe was being worked nearer shore, till at last I was able to get on the gravel. Fifty feet out the fish was lying almost exhausted on the top of the water and was coaxed in till a stroke of the gaff impaled him and he was kicking himself on the gravel, when a blow from a stick straightened him out. A Metapedia salmon he was, deep and chunky, only a day or two from salt water, bright and shining, and on the scales a few hours later weighed 22 pounds.

They were not specially keen in the afternoon, one or two short rises, a rim for a few minutes and a lost fish, and just as we were preparing to suspend operations a good stiff strike. This fish did not jump, but sulked for perhaps half an hour, then a wild rush or two. In vain we tried to guide him to a snug harbor, he would make for the south shore where there was no chance to land. A rather stiff rapid intervened, and in the trouble of navigating it with one man, the fish said good-bye, taking with him the fly and half the leader. It was nearly train time again, and reluctantly we wound up operations for the day.

Going up on the train next morning I found that two other parties had arranged to fish the Montgomery and Suction waters, so Delaney and I betook ourselves elsewhere, on water of his own, with fair success.

One of the men had only a trout outfit and a shaky one at that, a weak reel with worn-out mechanism, and a line that broke easily between the fingers. He had never seen a salmon in the water, but with the proverbial luck of a tenderfoot hooked one early in the day, and, being blessed with two guides—Micmac Indians—humored and nursed him for an hour and a quarter, never daring to trust the line, but allowing the fish to have his own way till he was practically dead and offered no resistance to the gaff. Forty pounds and a little over, the scales said, and the record fish of the season.

A heavy wind prevented casting the third day, and there being no signs of any let up after dinner the two Indians whom I had engaged ran down the river to get a few trout. It was between the seasons, yet by dint of hard fishing we got a dozen or so, several four pound or over. At times the river is alive with trout of large size. The smelts come up from the sea in immense shoals, and the trout follow them, afterward going away up the river to the spawning grounds at the head-waters.

Now for figures. There were three days' good fishing. Leaving the railway transportation out of the question the account stood thus:

Hotel, three days.....	$4.50
One man two days and two men one day.....	8.50
Incidentals.....	2.00
Total.....	$15.00

For tackle, one can please himself. A good strong salmon rod can be bought for $10 to $15; mine is 15 feet long, a Scribner of St. John, N. B., that cost $13, but I have had it 16 years, used it for all kinds of fishing, and it is still good for a lifetime. A good salmon reel costs from $3 up, mine cost $4, it has a click but does not multiply, has also been used 16 years. A good waterproof silk line costs $4 for 100 yards but this year I used an Abbey and Imbrie. No. 6 hard linen braid cost $1.10 per 100 yards—a little light, perhaps, but answering the purpose. In flies one can be as extravagant as he pleases—there is something wonderfully tempting in a tackle shop—but as good as we need can be got in any city for 25 cents each. Forrests at 75 cents are prettier and neater, but no better. You must have four kinds anyway, Durham-ranger, silver-doctor, Jock-Scott and black-dose, and can add anything else you like—fairy and silver-grey will not come amiss. You want three sizes, I prefer double hooks for the smaller sizes, but that is a matter of taste. Leaders cost from 25 cents to $2.50. I have used good cheap ones and bad dear ones—75 cents is a fair price. They should test 7 to 9 pounds dry. Your guides will likely have a gaff, but it is just as well to own one in case of accident, a large gaff is necessary, with a spread of 5 or 6 inches.

Practically all the salmon fishing in Canada is reached by the Intercolonial Railway. The Restigouche, with its tributaries the Metapedia, Causapscal and Upsalquitch, are the nearest to Montreal. The I.C.R. follows the Metapedia for almost 50 miles, to where it empties into the Restigouche at Metapedia Station, 8 miles above tidewater. The Causapscal joins the Metapedia 35 miles above Metapedia Station.

The Causapscal is owned entirely by the Restigouche Club, who also control most of the Metapedia, and a good deal of the Restigouche.

The Upsalquitch has been reserved by the New Brunswick Government, and is leased at $2 per day per rod. There is a great deal of good water, and a dozen or more fishermen would not be in each other's way. Fishing in the Restigouche and Metapedia is good from May until August, the Upsalquitch is at its best in July. The salmon in each river are entirely distinct and can be told at a glance by the guides; those in the Upsalquitch are a trifle smaller than the others.

Campbellton, N.B., at the mouth of the river, is the only considerable town in the Restigouche country, and is a good place for headquarters. The Royal, aforesaid, is a good friendly place to stop, cheap withal, and Billy Sproul is its prophet—good sportsman, with an intimate knowledge of all the water. Decidedly a good man to write to. The agent of the I.C.R. at Flat Lands will also answer any questions addressed to him. Good board may be had at Flat Lands and at farmhouses in the neighborhood.

In the early season, May and up to the middle of June, there is considerable good water that is also entirely free for salmon fishing—from the lower limits of the Restigouche Club, a mile below the Metapedia bridge, to tidewater—say seven miles in all—there is no restriction on catching trout anywhere you are likely to get them. During my three days' stay this year some thirty salmon—many over 30 pounds each—were killed in the water I have mentioned. Good stretches of water can be had below Metapedia at $1 to $2 per day, and still better water on the Metapedia and Restigouche up to $10 a day. Mr. Alex. Mowat, Campbellton, N. B., has several excellent stretches very accessible, good all through the season, at varying prices. W. A. Mott, M.P.P., Campbellton, N.B., president of the Bay Chaleur Tourists' Association, can be consulted about the Upsalquitch.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Mrs Jefferson Davis.

Rev. Gabriel Johnstone, rector of Trinity Church, Welland, writes: I had the deep gratification last week of visiting Mrs. Jefferson Davis, the widow of the late President of the Confederate States. Mrs. Davis is the guest of friends at "Solid Comfort," near Port Colborne. While the sad years which have passed since her husband's death have left their traces on her physically, they have in no way impaired her mental strength and loveliness. She has the incidents of the eventful history through which she has lived beautifully engraved on her memory, and she converses of the men and the times during the stirring scenes wher her able and distinguished husband was the leader of the south in a most interesting manner, and the pathos with which she speaks of him as Jeff goes straight to a southerner's heart. I deem it a great privilege and pleasure to have met her.

Ringing in the Ears.

This is an unfailing sign of catarrh, and if not checked will ultimately result in deafness. The simplest remedy is Catarrhozone, which if inhaled for a few times daily prevents the catarrhal condition from spreading. Catarrhozone quickly stops the ringing in the ears and head noises, and gives permanent relief to catarrhal deafness. For Catarrh in any part of the system, Bronchitis, Asthma, Lung or Throat Troubles, Catarrhozone is a specific, and is guaranteed to permanently cure or your money back. SATURDAY'S FIELD DAY.

A Great List of Sports—The Camp Has Been a Most Enjoyable One—The Home-Coming.

Fifth Y.M.C.A. Boys' Camp,
Sandy Point, Aug. 15, '02.

"Line up for roll call," is the first order Commander Ayers at the Boys' Camp, each morning after the breakmeal is disposed of Then follows the daily Bible study, which usually occupies a quarter of an hour. While attendance at it is not compulsory, yet the boys almost without an exception attend regularly, and enter into the study with almost as great readiness as they go to the field to play. The manner in which the boys cooperate in all the religious exercises of the camp is noteworthy. The Bible studies are "Lakeside scenes" in the life of Christ, and are taken in turn by the camp section leaders, thus developing them in class leadership. All the leaders will conduct Bible classes in the Association during the fall and winter.

Yesterday, Mr. Ridpath, editor of the Lakefield News, accompanied by his family, took up a position on the point south of our camp. We serenaded them last evening and "Whitehead" entertained.

By the way we have no less than five printers and ex-printers here on the point, including the Secretary, who makes a claim as a member of the craft of the art preservative because he "prints" the bulletins at the Y.M.C.A.

Mr. T. F. Best, Secretary Y.M.C.A., Brantford, spent the day in our camp yesterday, coming down with the Harriers.

The feature of the day was a most exciting baseball match between the Harriers and a picked team from our camp. It was a nine innings game and very stubbornly contested. P. Campbell pitched for the Harriers and Messrs. E. Daly, Jolliffe and Galley for the camp team. Galley certainly carried off the honours of the day and soon reduced a good sized score to a zero. The final result, however, was a win for the Harriers by one run.

The "Peterborough Night Owls" who have been flying around the back lakes around Sturgeon Point visited the camp to-day, and showed great signs of contact with all kinds of weather. They report a good time and large game. They will head for 231 Dublin street on Monday. It is understood that lady friends in town are very anxious as to their whereabouts, to which this letter will be a relief.

The camp baseball league has been declared completed which leaves No. 1, captained by G. L. Galley, victors of the series. No small credit is due Jimmy Flinnigan who played with No. 1. The game in which he did not play, they lost.

The Ph. D. has learned a great many new things at the summer school at Lake Geneva this summer, and among other new features is the "Boom-a-lucka" movement which is a good exercise for the arms, but which requires the camp cry to be given in order to make it a success. He promises to out-do McFadden in physical fads. The movement is delightfully graceful, resembling the flapping of a rooster's wings on a twelve foot fence.

The usual camp somambulistic performances are heard every night in the tents in the "we sma' ours." One by was heard telling himself to lay over. Another got up and asked his chum "Rubbie" to cut the pie quick. The cook was heard one night to remark that "dinner was all ready."

To-day will be the greatest day of the camp and is field day. There are 14 events to be run off this afternoon and a concert, cook's parade and Indian pow-wow to-night.

Before you will have heard from us again we will be at home, when we shall endeavour to give you an account in our last letter of the closing days of the best camp of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A.

SPECIAL SCRIBE.

Saturday, Aug. 16.

The field day for the Y.M.C.A. camp which was held yesterday, was most successful and enjoyable in every particular. It was the day of days of this camp, and of those previously held. It will be long remembered by the boys who participated in the programme, as well as by the many visitors who witnessed the same.

The Night Owls were the first to arrive, coming in time to have a good square meal. Mr. J S. Knapman and party arrived in the afternoon, just in time for Mr. Knapman to participate in the game of Association football.

Mr. Frank Ayott and family came up in time for the programme in the evening, as did Mr. Ridpath and family.

During the day the Toronto papers were received, containing the results of the Departmental examinations, which had been waited for for some days by H. Daly and N. Jolliffe. As expected they were successful and were given hearty congratulations by their fellows.

By arrangement with the Sports Committee dinner was disposed off earlier than usual enabling the programme of sports to begin promptly at two o'clock.

There were 14 different events—all field—water sports having been competed for on Friday last. The entries were very general, and the contests in most cases keen.

The officials were as follows; — Starter, R. Merrill; judge at finish, A. Pierson; clerk of the course, H. Daly; scorer, N. Jolliffe; referee, H. E. Ayers.

The weather was all that could be desired. A plot of grass was cut on the field to allow the events to be runoff with greater ease.

Many of the races created much amusement, especially the biscuit race, into which every man in the camp entered. Some of the boys found the race very dry as they neared the finish. The following is the list of events and the winners of the first and second prises in each.

100 yards dash, 13 and under — W. Brown, M. Hartley.

Egg race, junior — M. Hartley, M. Dobbin.

Egg race, senior, — J. Ross, A. Wood.

100 yards dash, 15 and under — E. Daly, B. Gillespie.

Throwing baseball, junior — W. Brown, E. Harrison.

Throwing baseball, senior — E. Daly, M. Miller.

100 yards dash, open — R. Merrill, N. Jolliffe.

Standing broad jump, 13 and over—junior—W. Brown, C. Frowde.

Senior — E. Daly, W. Gordon.

Boot race, 13 and open — Junior — Hartley, Dobbin.

Senior — J. Ross, A. Williamson.

Running broad jump, junior — Brown, Frowde.

Senior—E. Daly, J. Downing.

Sack race, 13 and under — M. Hartley, W. Armstrong.

Senior — A. Wood, W. Erskine.

Running hop, step and jump, junior—W. Brown, C. Frowde.

Senior—E. Daly, A. Wood.

Three legged race — junior—Brown and Harrison, Hartley and Kingan.

Senior — Wood and Fitzgerald, Ross and Ackerman.

Biscuit race — junior — W. Brown, E. Harrison.

Seniors—Fitzgerald and Erskine.

Wheelbarrow race — junior—Harrison and Brown.

Seniors—Wood and Fitzgerald.

Obstacle race — junior — Harrison, Brown.

Senior—E. Daly, J. Downing.

The afternoon programme concluded with a game of football, the teams being captained by W. Richardson and R. Merrill. Richardson's side won. Score 3 to 1.

The success of the afternoon is due to the skilful management of the committee, composed of Messrs. H. E. Ayers and N. Jolliffe.

The concert and bonfire on the shore during the evening capped the climax. Mr. Williamson, the camp leader, acted as chairman, and filled that position very well with the assisted by a megaphone. The programme opened with the two leading camp calls, following which the entire company joined in singing the Maple Leaf Forever. The chairman's address contained many pleasantries and conveyed a hearty welcome to the guests of the evening. A quartette from the camp known as the Tree Toads, sang several selections. The quartette is composed of Messrs. Galley, Jolliffe, Turner and Frowde. Each of these gentlemen also sang solos with good effect. Mr. Galley, it was noted all round, showed that he possessed a splendid coloured voice. Max Dobbin and W. Armstrong added recitations. C. Ackerman sang "The Day I Played Baseball," and gave good expression to the Irish ascent, as did also Ed. Harrison in the selections which he so well put on. Messrs. Chas Kemp Ern. Best of the Harrier Camp, gave splendid recitations and carried off the honours for character sketches. Mr. and Mrs. Ayott both played the violin and were loudly applauded. The camp sneeze, conducted by Mr. F. Turner, was a new feature. Ayer's Acrobats were seen to good advantage in the pyramid work, fans and formation of living letters. Camp greetings from the Nightowls and Harriers were given by Messrs. Merrill and Pearson, and Mr. Wm. (Dryfuss) Campbell for the latter aggregation. Short speeches followed from the camp section leaders, Messrs Turner, Galley, Frowde, Jolliffe, and Ayers, all expressing their thought that their respective sections were the best, and that the camp as a whole was par excellence.

The surprise of the evening was sprung by "Jimmie Flannigan," who read from vol. 1, No. 1, of a camp newspaper which had been established during the day and which contained many good hits on the fellows. The paper was called "The Jollier," and its items of news, advertisements lost and found, to let, editorials, foreign news and other items, were applauded loudly as read. We cannot trespass on your space to give a reproduction of the whole paper, but only give a few sample items.

"Editorial. — The editor is no way responsible for the truth or untruth of the items in this paper. We have to depend largely upon the veracity of our correspondents—which is not always reliable. We say this to avoid libel suits."

Here are a couple of the advertisements—

"Wonderful! Wonderful!! Wonderful!!! Why be thin, when you can be big and fat? The 'Areo-Horarium System of Home and Camp Physical Exercise. New boom-a-lacka Movements carefully taught by phonograph," etc.,

"Prof. Ackerman, taxidermist, conopedist and general dealer in crawlers, skippers, and jumpers; tree toads, etc."

"Jim Flanigan, non-professional cook; seven years' experience; grub cure, the latest kind of indigestion."

"To Let.—A tent space in Section No. 1, can be had cheap, as the undersigned has more congenial quarters. Apply to E. A. Frowde, at Ayott's barn; office hours 10 p.m. to 9 a.m."

The last item was "Foreign news," being a wireless telegraphic message from Peterborough in two despatches, one at 6 a.m., and the other at 6 p.m. The first told of the anxiety of a young lady on ——— street, over having lost track of one of the Nightowls. The later despatch read as follows—"Letter received per evening mail to-day that the Nightowls had lit on Juniper Islands. Great rejoicings and hilarity."

The programme concluded with "God Save the King," followed by cheers for the King and the camp visitors.

The boys are taking it easy today after the big time yesterday, as well they might.

Homeward bound Tuesday, Aug. 19, 7 a.m.

SPECIAL SCRIBE.

ADJOURNED AUCTION SALE OF LUNY ESTATE.

The sale of the two desirable dwelling houses and lots on Rubidge Street (corner of Dalhousie St.) has been adjourned to Monday evening, 18th instant, at 6.30 o'clock on the premises. All persons considering the purchase of a home should attend.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

BOWLING.

In the first draw of the Ontario Bowling Tourney, which opens on Tuesday in Toronto, Mr. R. Kerr of town, is drawn against Dr. Moore, of the Canadian Club, Toronto, while Mr. A. H. Stratton is drawn against Mr. R. Allin of the Credit Howell Club.

LACROSSE.

Port Hope has failed to make good its threat to upset the Port Hope-Oshawa game via the protest route, and it now looks as if Oshawa were fairly squared away for the championship. They will likely go against Beaverton in the first round, and unless Peter McMillan's team can improve on its Uxbridge showing there will be nothing to it but Oshawa.

Oshawa was defeated in Orillia on Saturday in a close game.

The St. Peter's T.A.S. I and II teams will indulge in a sharp practice and a run this evening. Quite a number will accompany the boys to Campbellford on Thursday.

The Port Hope Guide says; Oshawa has started to build castles in the air already, and say that when they win the Intermediate trophy this year they will then go into the Senior Series. That is the worst of those kind of teams—when they win a game or two the town is not large enough for them. Since they have won or at least got the game, from Port Hope, one of the fastest Intermediate teams playing lacrosse today, they think that their troubles are over, but there are plenty of weaker teams to-day than Port Hope that can trim Oshawa, and will do so before the season closes.

New Westminster lacrosse team has seen better days. Trimmed by the Shamrocks, they went back to their sunny and somewhat sloppy western home, and straightaway got beaten by Vancouver by a score of three to two. This is an awful dose for the Saimonbellies to swallow, and the Columbian tries to console them as follows:

"The lacrosse team which went over to Vancouver Saturday to represent this city in the senior schedule event was defeated by three goals to two. With the exception of the fluke victory by the defunct Y.M.C.A.'s last exhibition week, this is the first time the New Westminster team has been defeated in British Columbia for about five years, during which time they have not only held the provincial championship from year to year, but once journeyed east and skinned all the leading Eastern League teams."—Telegram.

FOOTBALL.

Galt Football Team start out on the 30th, on a tour that is to take in all the principal towns and cities from Toronto to Montreal. One thing Galt always could do is to play football. Every man in Manchester seems to be a natural born kicker. You can't take up a Galt paper without noticing this as their peculiarity. They kick systematically and with an assurance born of long experience. For three years in succession they have kicked themselves into the championship of the W.F.A., into popularity with their own people, and an equal amount of dislike in other quarters, noticeably Brantford. They will start their tour at the Toronto Exhibition, when they will go up against a picked Toronto team, and have adopted for a motto for their team, "Kick, for the night is coming."—Telegram.

BASEBALL.

The following is the standing of the clubs in the Midland League. Cobourg has the lead with six games won and two lost, and evidently has the pennant. Oshawa is the only team that looks dangerous, and it has two games yet to play, both of which must be won to tie Cobourg. One is at Bowmanville, and the other is with Port Hope in Oshawa. Bowmanville's defeat by Cobourg last Saturday put them out of the running:

	won	lost	per cent.
Cobourg	6	2	.750
Oshawa	4	2	.666
Bowmanville	4	3	.571
Port Hope	4	3	.571
Peterborough	0	4	.000

CROQUET.

Vancouver is about to indulge in the wild excitement of a croquet tournament. Even the mild and healthful climate of the coast would hardly justify the natives in undergoing such a strain if they had not carefully worked themselves into condition for it via the ping-pong route.

BOATING.

The Toronto Canoe Club's fall regatta will be held on September 6.

Nearly forty dinghies sailed in the race in Toronto of the Queen City Yacht Club on Saturday afternoon.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH NOTES.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt preached yesterday in St. John's church, Havelock, exchanging with Rev. W. R. Tandy, M.A., who officiated at St. Luke's.

The Right Reverend, the Lord Bishop of British Columbia, is expected in Peterborough this week enroute to the General synod, and will very likely preach at St. Luke's on Sunday next.

STOCK MARKETS.

Market Leaders Counsel Public Caution Yet Themselves Buy Stocks.

New York, Aug. 16th.—Conservatism is at all times a good element in the general make-up of mankind, yet it can be carried to such an extremity that it is cost in the present instance in keeping people from purchasing stocks at a time when to do so would be to make money. There has been a great deal of precautionary advice put out for the public through the public press by the market leaders, fears of closer money, etc., yet while giving their advice to be careful about buying, they themselves are steady accumulators of stocks. It would look like the proper thing to do, not as they say, but as they are doing. If you do as they are doing you will buy stocks immediately. When the words of caution are not so freely disseminated, it will be more dangerous to purchase than it is at present. When the clique want the public to take some in and take their stocks off their hands, there will be no danger articles to be found in the press; in fact everything will have a most rosy tinge. Wall street's professional veterans are not mindful of the interests of the public. They are merely looking out for themselves and never use a brass band to tell the public when they are getting out. When they issue a note of warning, counselling at the least discrimination, they do not, at that time, want the public buying in competition with them. As we have often stated before in these letters danger signals are never displayed at the time they would be advisable. Under cover of the mask a conservatism buying goes steadily on by the insider; later on they will have the utmost attractive invitations for outsiders to come in. At such time one should be wary to buy stocks. Now will be the time to be following in the wake of the makers of Wall street's prices. Many stocks will yet advance from five to twenty points. Industrials will be taken up and given an immense upward whirl, before a general recession in values may be looked for. We are yet some considerable distance from the flood time of values in Wall street. The time the tide is at its height and just before the ebb sets in, brokers' offices will be full of customers, prepared to buy. This is always the case. We earnestly urge you to come into the market and buy something. If you will, we are confident you will secure profits in so doing.

Just 400 Years After.

In 1492 Columbus discovered America. In 1892, just 400 years later, Merrill, a Brantford druggist, discovered Four T's, the great guaranteed cough and cold cure. In 5 years the sale of a quarter of a million bottles has proven that Four T's never fails to cure a cough in 24 hours, and a cold in two days. GEORGE NAHRGANG KILLED.

Explosion of Methylated Spirit Tank at Southampton.

Southampton, Aug. 19. — Shortly after 7 o'clock yesterday morning George Nahrgang, machinist, in the factory of the S. Knechtel Wood Turning and Furniture Company, met with a fatal accident. He was working on an iron tank having a capacity of 100 gallons, which had contained methylated spirits, but which had been empty for months. The unfortunate man was fitting on an iron plate, which had been heated, when it is supposed the hot iron caused the accumulated gas within to explode with a report that was heard for blocks. The end of the tank was driven out and hurled some distance, striking him on the legs in its course. He was thrown a dozen feet. Both legs were broken in several places. He lived until 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon. A widow and five children mourn his demise.

Three Killed at Once.

Woodslee, Essex, Aug. 19.—A terrible railway accident occurred near here about 11.50 Sunday night, which caused the death of one young man, Jack Brown, and two young ladies, named Scraums, whose homes are near Essex. The parties were walking on the double tracks coming east from Essex, a westbound train was approaching. They stepped off the westbound track on to the eastbound track, not noticing the fast eastern express.

Killed in a Runaway.

Kingston, Aug. 19.—In a runaway accident at Seeley's Bay, John Smith, farmer, aged 45, was killed. His body was badly crushed, and he died almost instantly. He left a wife and ten sons and daughters.

Beheaded By a Machine.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 19.—Caught in a belt revolving at great speed, Herman Neher, son of David Neher, was instantly killed while fixing a break in his father's threshing machine on the farm of the latter, four miles south of Auburn. The Nehers are a rich family. The son was stooping over the separator and was engaged in removing an obstruction when his head became caught in the belt. He was dragged to a pulley, where his head was severed. He died in the presence of several threshermen, who were powerless to aid him.

Man Gave Him a Copper.

Toronto, Aug. 19.—Coroner Aikins is investigating into the circumstances surrounding the death of 6-year-old Albert Bradshaw, which occurred in the General Hospital on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. About 6 o'clock on Saturday evening he went out on the front lawn, where, according to his own statement, a man gave him a cent. With the copper he went outside and bought some matches. Shortly afterwards another patient heard a cry, and looking out the window saw Bradshaw enveloped in flames. Securing a blanket he hurriedly ran towards the lad, and throwing the blanket around the boy, smothered the fire. At the time it was not thought that the lad was injured seriously. On Monday afternoon he suddenly collapsed and expired. Deceased's father works at Muskoka, and he has a sister living. The address of either are not known.

Craig Died For Others.

Woodstock, Aug. 19.—Fuller particulars of the drowning of George Craig in Muskoka show that he gave his life for others. When the canoe upset three were left clinging to it Craig saw it would not bear the weight and let go.

Four-Year-Old Killed.

Winnipeg, Aug. 19.—W. Johnston, 4-year-old son of D. Johnston, Water street, was killed in the railway yards yesterday.

Cassell Maxwell, son of Andrew Maxwell, Holland, who accidentally received the charge of a rifle in the stomach, may die.

Judge's Fatal Fall.

Zermatt, Switzerland, Aug. 19. — The body of Dr. Largiu, chief judge of the Berne Court, was found yesterday at the bottom of a precipice of Mount Dom, which the deceased climbed last Saturday.

Will Go to South Africa.

Ottawa, Aug. 19.—Miss Annie L. Briggs of Sussex, N.B., has accepted the position of assistant school mistress in South Africa, and will leave in September. She will go either to Pretoria or Johannesburg.

English Writers Entertained.

Montreal, Aug. 19.—The Harbor Commissioners entertained the English journalists yesterday and the harbor was inspected. Hon. Mr. Tarte was present and made a characteristic speech.

Prof. Schenk Dead.

Vienna, Aug. 19.— Professor Leopold Schenk, author of "Determination of the Sex," died at Schwanberg, Syria.

THEIR REASON FOR IT

Boer Generals Not Fittingly Clothed for Naval Review.

THEIR AUTHORIZED STATEMENT

Mr. Fischer Exonerated—Gratified by the Kind Manner of His Majesty—Mr. Montagu White Their Spokesman—Pleased That the King Talked to Them of His "Wife" Rather Than of "The Queen."

London, Aug. 19.—Dewet, Botha, and Delarey left last night for the Continent to attend the funeral of Gen. Meyer. After Saturday's experiences they were not willing to again face the ordeal of a British crowd, so the Generals chartered a special steamer and kept the railroad station where they entrained and their port of sailing a secret.

Authorized Statement.

Montagu White, the ex-consul-general in London of the Transvaal, has issued a statement authorized by the Boer generals, as follows:

"The generals are proceeding to the Continent for the purpose of greeting Mr. Kruger and Mr. Steyn, and attending the funeral of Gen. Lucas Meyer. Their present intention is to return to London at an early date for the transaction of business, but they have not decided on any fixed program. During their brief stay in London the generals have been the recipients of many invitations and kind messages of welcome, which they fully appreciate.

"The report that the decision of the generals not to visit the naval review was due to the influence of Fischer, is not true. Their real reason for declining the invitation Saturday was that they did not consider their attire quite suitable for a ceremonious visit, and the necessarily short notice conveyed to them did not give them the time for the necessary preparations. But they were glad of the opportunity of paying their respects to the King on the following day, after they had made the necessary purchases, and they are gratified at the kind manner in which they were received by His Majesty."

KING CALLS QUEEN "WIFE."

Boer Leaders Pleased With Introduction to Alexandra.

New York, Aug. 19.—W. T. Stead, cabling The Journal from London says, speaking of the Boers meeting the King: I was very much more interested in seeing the Boer generals than in meeting 20 kings. Dewet surprised me the most; he is almost as tall as Botha, and much sturdied. His face is deeply lined like a seaman's rather than a farmer's. His manners are polished and his conversation almost courtly. He is much more of the thoroughbred gentleman in manners and conversation than are most of the officers he led such a dance over Africa.

They were pleased, too, that the King spoke of the Queen, not as the Queen, but simply as his "wife," just as if she had been plain Mrs. Guelph.

SEES CO-OPERATIVE SYSTEM.

Hon. Mr. Ross Talks of Canadian and Australian Steamship Lines.

London, Aug. 19. — Hon. G. W. Ross sailed from Liverpool on the steamship Lucania. In an interview he said that within a year Australian and Canadian steamship lines would be working under a co-operative system. This, Mr. Ross believed, would benefit the Empire more than strenuous competition. The new South African steamship service would probably mean the early inauguration of a fast mail service between England and Canada.

Express Train Wrecked.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—George W. Farris, 21 years old, of Cave City, Ky., was killed, and his brother, Daniel E. Farris, 28 years old, of Millett, Mich., was fatally injured by a railroad accident at Hammond, Ind., yesterday. They were on a Chicago and Erie Railroad freight train which was standing on the tracks at Hammond when it was crashed into by an excursion train. The excursion train had 600 passengers from Southern Onio, and was running 40 miles an hohr. Several of the excursionists were painfully cut and bruised. The locomotive and the baggage car of the excursion train were badly wrecked.

Bartlett Charged With Abduction.

Toronto, Aug. 19.—Behind the arrest on Monday night of William Bartlett of Toronto Junction, and Rena Victoria Bryan of Owen Sound, there is an interesting love story. Bartlett is but 17 years old and the girl but 15 years of age. The young man is charged with abduction, and Miss Bryan with stealing a valise. Both charges are preferred by the aunt of the girl. The couple will be taken to Owen Sound to-day for trial.

CANADA AND CANADIANS.

It is to be noted that American newspapers are paying greater attention to Canada, Canada's concerns and capabilities. This attention, it may be assumed, is not given voluntarily, but is compelled by the enterprise this country is showing in exploiting its almost limitless resources, whose extent and richness are attracting the notice of American capitalists. Heretofore the American newspapers have shown lamentable ignorance of Canada's political status and institutions, and have assumed a more or less patronizing air of pity for our dependent position as a mere attachment of Great Britain. But their eyes are being opened, and the more intelligent of these journals are beginning to see that we are a really free and independent nation, owing to Great Britain a nominal political fealty, but a genuine fealty of regard. The Chicago Record-Herald, commenting upon the position of Canada at the recent colonial conference, concludes that Canada enjoys home rule to a very complete degree. It says, "There are really no freer governments in the world than Canada and Australia." The expression of this truth by a paper of influence in the west of the United States, from which there is an important movement of farmers to the Canadian Northwest, will have a tendency to accelerate this movement. The average American has been taught to lieve that real liberty exists only under United States institutions, and when they come to learn that we in Canada have the free and excellent form of government we have, the superior advantages of Canadian lands as opportunities for home-making will be more widely taken advantage of.

Not only are Americans beginning to set a true value upon Canadian enterprise and resources, but Canadians themselves are beginning to practically realize that we have one of the best countries under the sun, and that it only needs the co-operation of Canadians themselves to develop its resources, and assist in making a country as great as it is good. The national spirit of Canadians is becoming more coherent, more a practical sentiment. Canadians themselves are beginning to realize our possibilities, and to exhibit a willingness to prefer Canadian products to those of any other country. We are young as a manufacturing country, and there has been some excuse in the past for a preference for foreign manufactured products, on the score of excellence and prices. But the conditions have changed, and are changing. Canadian manufactures of very many kinds are quite up to the mark of both quality and price, and Canadians are beginning to realize more and more every day that their patriotism and their material interests as well, demand that they give preference to goods of Canadian production. This is especially the case when it is noted that the world abroad is beginning to demand not only Canada's natural products, but her manufactured products as well. Last year we exported manufactured goods to the value of sixteen millions of dollars. The people of Canada, by buying in preference goods of Canadian manufacture, are indirectly benefitting themselves. They are helping to build up the business of the country, increasing its wealth, and giving larger employment to their fellow Canadians. We get great quantities of goods in the markets of this country labelled "made in Germany." If every manufacturer and producer, whether of cheese, butter, fruit, or manufactured articles, would use the label, "Made in Canada," much would be done to draw attention to our capabilities abroad, as well as to call the attention of Canadians especially in the matter of manufactured goods, to what Canada does, and can, do.

The duties levied in Great Britain are by no means uniform. On seventy-two shillings worth of beer the duty is 5 shillings while the same value of cheap tea pays £1. 4s; and seventy-two shillings worth of sugar pays sixteen shillings. The tobacco user is made to smoke to the round figures of £3, or $15 on every seventy-two shillings worth of threepenny tobacco.

The Collingwood Shipbuilding Company are about to begin the erection of boiler and machine shops at once. The work of extending the dry dock has already started. In the machine shop at the present shipyard the company propose to expend between and thirty thousand dollars in installing modern appliances, while the outlay in connection with the boiler and engine shops will range between three and four hundred dollars. Collingwood is evidently going to do its full share towards building the Canadian lake marine for our internal shipping trade.

Conservative journals have quoted the closing of woollen mills in Quebec as evidence that the preferential tarriff is destroying the woollen industry. It appears that the mills referred to are not closed except for the purpose of reorganization with a view to more extensive operations. The other day a Conservative was bewailing the fact, as he asserted it that, the preference to Great Britain was paralysizing the woollen trade in which he is interested; it was going to smash; but he very illogically stated that with his concurrence and advice, his son had disposed of a lucrative business in another line and had invested his means in a large woollen industry.

CLEANLINESS AND HEALTH.

Mr. Darlington is all wrong on the subject of vaccination. Not only is that process a prophylactic against and mitigator of the most horrible of diseases, but its success has made it the inspiration of the greatest discoveries and advances in the healing art which have marked the past thirty years. But all this does not lessen the still greater importance of sanitation, on which Mr. Darlington is altogether right in laying primary stress. Whatever has been proved or not proved with regard to any other feature of the science of health there is nothing more certain than that dirt is the mother of disease and that the banishment of dirt and the observation of sanitary precautions is the banishment of most of the catching diseases. Most cities of to-day can bear unimpeachable testimony to this. Even Montreal in the early sixties, when the late Philip Carpenter, to whom we ought to set up a statute, commenced a campaign in the Witness against our insanitary conditions, the rate of mortality in Montreal was, if we remember right, sixty-four per thousand on the average of years. To-day it is about twenty-five per thousand. This change is not due to our being more pious, more virtuous or more wealthy, or to our being born more robust, it is due simply to the fact that as as a city we are cleaner. The change is enormous, but there is the strongest reason to believe that the process could again be repeated by heartily falling in with every sanitary measure. There are places in England whose death rate is as low as eight and ten per thousand and there is no obvious reason why Montreal should not reach the highest standard of health.—Montreal Witness.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

Liverpool is one of the foremost cities in municipal socialism. It owns the waterworks (one of the best systems in the world); it operates the street cars; it supplies the electric light and power; it has one of the largest and best public bath system anywhere and proposes to erect the finest Turkish bath in Europe; it provides public laundries for the poor districts; it furnishes flowers and plants for the windows in the slums; it sells sterilized humanized milk for the children of the poor at cost price; it has a salaried organist to play its famous municipal organ; it gives municipal lectures—and all these in addition to the usual undertakings of municipalities, such as parks with concerts, technical schools, etc. But the greatest socialistic undertaking by the Liverpool municipality is that of providing dwellings for the very poor, the dispossessed tenants of demolished insanitary dwellings of the slums.

PROFIT-SHARING.

According to an article on this subject, which appears in the Labour Gazette for March, there were, at June 30th, 1901, only nine British printing firms who gave their employees an interest in their business, the average aggregate number of persons employed by them being 1,875. In addition to these, the profit-sharing system was believed to be in operation with respect to three other firms in the trade, although no particulars are available. There were also eleven other printing firms in which although profit-sharing had once been instituted, it no longer exists. Three other firms connected with paper and print, employing an average of 772 persons, also share their profits with their employees, and there are likewise two others who have now abandoned the system.—British and Colonial Printer and Stationer.

DEFAMERS OF PUBLIC MEN.

Knoxonian in the Presbyterian.

The people who not only say that "a man cannot be a Christian and be successful in politics," but go further and declare that all politicians are corrupt, may be divided roughly into three classes.

There is first the low-down scamps who hang on to both parties and try to make it appear that they know a great deal about party wickedness and about the alleged misdeeds of party men. In many cases they are the same blackguards who profess to know all about every kind of evil that exists in the community. They nod, and wink, and hint, that they know a great many evil things, and could make awful revelations about people if they wished to do so. In nine cases out of ten nearly all the evil they know anything about is in their own filthy lives. Experts in election trials say that the stories told by these reptiles are in nine cases out of ten colossal falsehoods. When the fellow who knows so much about corruption is put into the witness box he quite often knows nothing at all.

To the second class belong the whole tribe of loose-tongued people who try to make themselves popular with certain kinds of audiences by indulging in imbecile little flings at people they call politicians. They think it is smart to say all politicians are a bad lot. To extract a vulgar cheer or idiotic laugh from an ignorant and thoughtless crowd they would drag in the name of the best man in Ontario, and bray out some silly remark about him. As the politicians are nearly always absent, there is nothing brave about that kind of attack.

Clergymen who belong to this class should remember that many of the people who denounce all politicians as corrupt, not infrequently describe the clergy as the worst lot of hypocrites to be found in the whole country.

Temperance orators who make denunciations of politicians the warp and woof of their speeches, should not forget that temperance men, and especially temperance lecturers, are often denounced as the most venal and odious hypocrites on the face of the earth. They don't like that sort of thing themselves; they should not do that sort of thing to others.

To the third class belong the newspapers that exist mainly for the purpose of blackening the character of political opponents. They have their reward, or rather their punishment. It comes in the form of public contempt. Even their own friends know that their pens and their presses are venal. Before sinking, however, to the lowest depths possible even for any organ, they manage to make many of their readers believe that all the public men on the other side were hopelessly bad.

Along with these press corrupters of the public mind must be put political speakers who cannot open their mouths in Parliament or at a picnic without saying something bad about somebody.

All these influences being at work, is it any wonder that many of our people have been led to think that all political men are corrupt. And it should be remembered, too, that all bad men naturally think that all other men are bad, even when no influence outside of themselves is being brought to bear upon them.

DON'T YOU THINK IT WORTH WHILE

To give it one single trial, just to see if we are not telling the truth when we say is simply the purest and most delicious tea grown in the world? It is sold in sealed lead packets only—25c, 30c, 40c, 50c and 60c per lb.

BLACK, MIXED OR UNCOLOURED GREEN—The latter is especially grown to suit the tastes of Japan tea drinkers, and is much more delicious.

NOT JUST AS GOOD

Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver-plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' Knives, Forks or Spoons, don't accept any bogus Rogers' stamp because your dealer tells you it's just as good.

1847 ROGERS BROS. TRADE MARK

The above trade mark has been stamped on every article of the original and genuine Rogers Bros.' goods for over 50 years. Get this and you get the best that is made.

GOOD INDIAN HANGED.

Real Murderer Makes a Deathbed Confession 13 Years Later.

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 19.—A deathbed confession made public yesterday proves that the wrong man was hanged for a murder on the Umatilla Indian Reservation thirteen years ago. Pilyou, a young Indian, was convicted and hanged for the murder of Agnes Tessant.

Two weeks ago Victor Williams, an Indian, finding himself dying of consumption, confessed to his wife that he murdered Mrs. Tessant and that Pilyou was innocent. He said he had not intended killing her, but as she had money and lived alone he determined to rob her. While he was ransacking her house she made an outcry and seized him. Thereupon he murdered her. He had kept his secret thirteen years, suffering agonies whenever he thought of the murdered woman and Pilyou, his friend, whom he allowed to be hanged.

Pimples, Blotches and Skin Eruptions

How unsightly, sometimes even disgusting, and certainly very mortifying to the sufferer. They are merely an evidence of impure, poisoned blood, and lowered vitality of the elementary organs, which can be quickly changed by taking Ferrozone after meals. Ferrozone cleanses the blood of all poisons and eruptions, makes it rich in red corpuscles that manifest themselves in a healthy ruddy complexion. To have a pure, soft skin and good complexion simply use Ferrozone regularly. Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at Ormond & Walsh's.

PRODUCE OF THE FARM

Canadian Exports for Last Fiscal Year Ending June 30, 1902.

SEVERAL STAPLES INCREASED.

Wheat, Bacon, Butter, Poultry and Eggs Chief in the Category of Increase—Great Britain Was Our Largest Customer For Wheat and Took 33,371,876 Bushels—Our Potato Markets.

Ottawa, Aug. 19.—Canada's export of wheat, according to unrevised figures, amounted for the last fiscal year ending June 30, to 36,446,357 bushels, valued at $26,410,101, as compared with 18,936,252 bushels, valued at $13,663,930 for the year previous, an increase of 92 per cent. Great Britain was our largest customer, taking from us 33,371,876 bushels. The United States only bought from us 15,086 bushels, but Belgium took 1,737,376 bushels, and Germany 1,032,533 bushels. In 1901 our exports ohl wheat were:— Great Britain, 16,766,772 bushels; Belgium, 379,585 bushels; Germany, 361,103 bushels; Italy, 78,140 bushels; France, 91,550 bushels; United States, 53,186 bushels. Our export bacon trade seems to more than hold its own. Last year we sent abroad $12,163,505 worth, an increase of $666,025 compared with the preceding twelve months. Great Britain is by long odds the largest consumer of Canadian bacon. Last year we sold the mother country $12,119,342 worth, or $660,000 more than in 1901. The United States bought from us $42,599, and increase of $5,-881. In the matter of hams we did not do so well. Our export last year aggregating $241,485 or $48,000 below that of the previous year. Our butter export shows an increase of $2,311,000, the total for 1902 being $5,667,150, and for 1901, $3,355,-197. Great Britain took $5,465,-495; the United States, $41,554; Newfoundland, $47,066, and other countries, $113,035. Our sales of cheese abroad were rather disappointing laist year. The value of our exports was $19,870,072, a decrease of $1,250,000 compared with the preceding twelve months. The Canadian hen continues to give handsome returns. Our exports of eggs last year reached the sum of $1,736,141, being an increase of $43,845. The purchasers were:—Great Britain, $1,-691,024; United States, $38,663; other countries, $6,454. In shipments of poultry, too, Canada did well, the total being valued at $238,-175, or $96,6[illegible] better than in 1901. Nearly all our poultry went to Great Britain, only $7,612 being shipped to the United States and $14,000 to other countries. Our neighbors are awakening to an appreciation of the Canadian potato, which appears to find a ready market in the United States and Cuba. The total export was valued at $689,860. as against $366,410 for 1901, an increase of $323,450. The United States bought $328,625 worth, and Cuba $231,-106. In the year previous those countries bought $70,174 and $181,-103 respectively.

TELLING FIGURES.

Horses.—Working horses, 393,307; breeding mares, 93,425; unbroken horses, 139,374; total, 626;106, as against 620,348 in 1901.

Cattle.—Milch cows, 1,010,746; store cattle, 458,834; other cattle, 1,093,004; total, 2,562,584, as against 2,507,620 in 1901.

Sheep—Over one year, 915,217; under one year, 800,296; total, 1,715,-513, compared with 1,761,799 in 1901.

Hogs—Over one year, 238,992; under one year, 1,445,643; total, 1,-684,635, as compared with 1,491,885 in 1901, and 1,771,641 in 1900.

Poultry—Turkeys, 732,359; geese, 332,781; ducks, 897,238; other fowls, 8,300,335; total, 9,762,808, against 9,755,286 in 1901.

The number of live stock sold or slaughtered in the year ending June 30, 1902, were as follows: Horses, 54,538; cattle, 673,544; sheep, 732,-994; hogs, 1,991,907; poultry, 3,-674,198.

The wool clip of 1902 is 5,690,673 pounds.

The number of colonies of bees is 202,529.

Commerce of the World.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The State Department made public yesterday a report from United States Consul Winter at Annaberg, dated July 19, showing the commerce of the world for 1901, according to German statistics. The total imports and exports trade of all countries is given as approximately $23,800,000,000. Great Britain and her colonies heads the list, with the great total of nearly seven billions of dollars. Germany is placed second with $2,618,-000,000, and the United States third with $2,118,200,000.

Schwab's Illness a Mystery.

Pittsburg, Aug. 19.—A despatch from Loretta says that President Schwab of the U. S. Steel Corporation will indefinitely retire from active life. Dr. Goden never leaves his side, and Schwab sees no one. The character of his illness is not revealed. There is some mystery about it.

RAINING IN THE WEST.

But Not In Sufficient Quantities to Do Any Damage.

Winnipeg, Aug. 19.—Rain has fallen incessantly since Sunday between Calgary and Kootenay Landing, and heavy rain has been falling in this and some other districts in the province during the day. It is not calculated to do any harm, and will prove of great benefit to garden stuffs. The C. N. R. weather report states that rain was general over the system Sunday afternoon and evening. It has not fallen in sufficient quantities to do any damage yet, however.

At Lethbridge, warm weather is rapidly ripening the grain, and barley has been cut. Fair estimates place the yield at 40 bushels to the acre.

At Sydney, wheat cutting commenced on Aug. 12, and 100 men will be required to handle the harvest crop at this point.

Despaired of Being Cured.

Mrs. W. E. Jeffries, 44 Hicks avenue, Kingston, Ont., writes, 'I suffered agonies with itching piles. In fact I don't believe that any person who has not had piles can realize what I endured. The first application of Dr. Chase's Ointment brought relief and it has since entirely cured me. I hope that this testimonial will be the means of bringing comfort to other sufferers by making known the great power of this Ointment."

No New Evidence in Quirk Case.

Toronto, Aug. 18.—Provincial Detective John Murray will go to Brantford this afternoon to attend the adjourned sitting of the Quirk murder inquest. It is understood that the Crown has no new evidence to lay before the jury and will ask for another adjournment.

Military Hospital Is Bad.

London, Aug. 18.—Queen Alexandra and Sir Frederick Treves recently paid a surprise visit to the Netley Military Hospital, and, as a result, have severely criticised the treatment of the patients. The matter is being brought to the notice of the War Office.

Good Fishing.

The fishing at Pigeon Lake is excellent and the members of the boys' choir, who are encamped at Jacob's Island, are having their share of the sport. Mr. Hollingshead landed a beautiful 15-pound lunge yesterday, and since the camp opened the boys have caught no less than 14 fine fish. The most successful fishermen amongst the boys are Messrs. Charlie Ray, Arthur Seward and Jack Seymour.

NEWS NUGGETS.

ANNUAL REGATTA AT STONY LAKE.

A Large Turn Out of Campers and Cottagers.

OUTSIDE ATTENDANCE SMALL

The Weather Conditions Were Perfect for the Carrying out of the Programme of Sports.

The annual Stony Lake regatta held under the auspices of the Cottagers' Association, took place off Juniper Island yesterday and was well attended by the campers and cottagers. The crowd, however, looked slim as compared with the attendance of former years, when the regatta was held on Peterborough's Civic Holiday. The fallacy of changing the date was made apparent as the programme was being run off, there being far fewer entries in the different events than for some years previous and the exceedingly handsome medal offered by Mr. R. M. Roy as a prize in the ladies' canoe race had actually to be withheld, there being no contestants entered for the race.

The morning was cloudy and frequent showers made it look dubious for the afternoon's pleasure, but by half past one o'clock the sky cleared and the weather could not have been more perfectly suited to regatta purposes, there being hardly a ripple on the water. The sailing races, of course, had to be postponed on account of lack of wind, but the other events were never contested under more favourable conditions.

There were sixteen pleasure launches hovering around the course all afternoon, and as each was accompanied by a flotilla of canoes and skiffs, the scene was a most animated one. Amongst the launches noticed were the Maida Vale, Mollie, Ruby, Flash, Jennemac, Victoria, Mayflower, Libbie, Oriole, Jessie, Hudspeth's Allan's and Dodsworth's. The Lady of the Lake brought a large party around from Chemong, including a number of Peterborough people who are spending the summer at the Park. Mr. R. B. Rogers' house-boat "Lotus" was also anchored off the island and was gaily decorated with flags.

The races began at about two o'clock and were finished by half past five, the events being run off under the direction of the following officials:

Starter—Geo. Cochrane.
Scorer—Fred Addison.
Judge at turn—Levi Payne.
Clerks of the Course—C. B. McAllister and J. S. Knapman.
Judges at Finish—B. Shortly, Adam Hall, Capt. Buck, R. B. Rogers, and H. G. Brock.

First race — In the gentlemen's single canoe, there were five entries, viz., Norman Bell, F. M. Dela Fosse, Gerald Roxburgh, Gray and Hugh Cochrane. Bell won out easily, paddling a beautiful clean stroke. The others finished in the order named, Roxburgh pressing Dela Fosse hard for second place. Cochrane met with the misfortune of breaking his paddle, which put him out of the race.

Second race. — The boys' tandem canoe brought out Harry Simpson and Charlie Gordon; Reggie Winch and K. Hull; Dela Fosse and Hilliard. The first named boys won out handily, giving a very pretty exhibition of paddling. Winch and Hull were second.

Third race. — Misses Helen and Gwen Hall; Misses Grace Lillicrap and Bertha Symonds; and Misses Isabel and Hattie Edwards entered in the Ladies' Tandem Canoe Race. The Misses Hall were the winners by half a dozen yards, but there was great interest centred in the race for second place between the other two canoes. The struggle could not be fought out to a finish, as Miss Isabel Edwards unfortunately lost her paddle.

Fourth race. — The punt race occasioned lots of fun. The entries were J. S. Knapman and Basil Hall, Fred Collins and Douglas Hammond; Gerald Hall and V. B. Patterson. Jack Knapman "put the wood to it" and won the race, but the manoeuvres of the occupants of the other two punts afforded plenty of amusement for the spectators, as a most determined effort was made to fish "Pat" Patterson out of the punt and drop him in the drink. Pat escaped, but it cost him the race.

Fifth race. — There were only two entries in the tub race. Lloyd Teskey was an expert at the business and won from Gordon Rice, whose unstable craft sank under him.

Sixth race. — Four ladies entered in the single skiff race, and as all were very popular in the respective portions of the lake in which their cottages are located, the excitement ran very high amongst their friends. They finished in the following order, Miss Gwen Hall Mrs. W. A. Sanderson. Miss Olive Bradburn, and Mrs. Rice. The finish was a very close one, and all the ladies showed remarkable skill in the handling of their skiffs.

Seventh race. — The gentlemen's tandem canoe event brought out the McIlmoyle brothers, Norman Bell and Bert Stock, F. M. Dela Fosse and Gray, J. H. Hull and J. H. Hull, C. Stock and Bert Davis, Hugh Cochrane and P. Nicholls. Bell and Stock had the race well in hand all the way, but the McIlmoyles and Cochrane and Nicholls had a very exciting finish, the former pair winning out by only a very close margin.

Eighth race. — In the ladies' single canoe race a genuine surprise was sprung on the spectators when Miss Gwen Hall won out from her sister, Miss Helen, after a race which proved the most interesting of the day. Miss Edith Griffin was third.

Ninth race. — The tilting tournament was something new for Stony Lake, but it will be one of the most popular numbers on the programmes of all future regattas. The entries were Fred Collins and Gerald Hall; Gray and F. M. Dela Fosse; Galvin and Gordon; Harry and George Rogers; Bert Stock and Norman Bell. The first named of each pair were the gladiators and were armed with long lances tipped with small leather cushions. They had to stand in their canoes, which were paired, and paddled at each other. Collins and Hall drew a bye in the first round. Gray and Dela Fosse went against Stock and Bell and the Rogers boys were drawn to tilt against Galvin and Gordon. Stock was unnersed, or rather uncanoed by Gray on the first charge, which put him out of the tournament. Harry Rogers succumbed to Galvin, but as the latter was not standing erect when he charged, the former pair were given another chance later on. Galvin then went against Fred Collins and vanquished him after a hard struggle. The Rogers were put out of business by Gray and Dela Fosse, and Gray and Galvin met in the finals. Both had acquired considerable skill and although they fought for fully half an hour neither could force the other out of his canoe and the contest had to be declared a tie.

Tenth Race—Acton and Rice; Dunford and Hunter, Simpson and Gordon entered for the boys' skiff doubles, which the first named pair won easily, leaving the other two boats to fight out what proved to be a very close finish for second place. Dunford and Hunter won out by a nose.

Eleventh Race—Great interest was centred in the mixed tandem canoe event, the entries being Norman Bell and Miss Gwen Hall; Gerald Roxburgh and Miss Birdsall; Hugh Cochrane and Miss Griffin. The former pair paddled a very even stroke, and won with hands down, and, as in almost all the races of the day the race for second place proved the most exciting feature. Gerald Roxburgh and Miss Birdsall won out.

Twelfth Race—In the canoe race for Indians the competitors were Madden Howard, from Rice Lake, McIlmoyl and Tobico. Howard outclassed his opponents completely. McIlmoyl came in second.

Thirteenth Race—The swimming event was only entered by three, viz. Harry Rogers, F. M. DelaFosse and George Rogers. They finished in the order named and were only inches apart.

Fourteenth Race—Harry Rogers and Norman Bell were the contestants in the upset race, which was won by the latter, who gave quite an amazing exhibition of righting a canoe after it had been completely overturned and filled with water. The canoe was almost dry when he reached the shore.

The winners in the different events were as follows:

Mens' Single Canoe—Norman Bell, F. M. DelaFosse.
Boys' Tandem Canoe—Harry Simpson and Charlie Gordon; Reginald Winch and K. Hull.
Ladies' Tandam Canoe — Miss Helen Hall and Miss Gwen. Hall; Miss Grace Lillicrap and Miss Bertha Symonds.
Punt Race—J. S. Knapman and Basil Hall; Fred Collins and Douglas Hammond.
Tub Race—Lloyd Teskey; Gordon Rice.
Ladies' Single Skiff—Miss Gwen. Hall; Mrs. W. A. Sanderson.
Gentleman's Double Canoe — Norman Bell and Gray; W. and S. McIlmoyl.
Ladies- Single Canoe — Miss Gwen. Hall; Miss Helen Hall.
Tilting Tournament—Galvin and Gordon; Grey and DelaFosse (tie.)
Boys' Tandem Skiff — Acton and Rice; Dunford and Hunter.
Tandem Canoe — Lady and gentleman—Miss Gwen. Hall and Norman Bell; Miss Birdsall and Gerald Roxburgh.
Indian, Single Canoe — Madden Howard; McIlmoyl.
Swimming Race — Harry Rogers DelaFosse.
Upset Race — Norman Bell; Harry Rogers.

The prizes were distributed at the close of the regatta by Mrs. (Hon.) J. B. Stratton. Through an error, the announcement was made from the judge's stand that the distribution would not take place until the evening and, in consequence, many of the campers missed being present to witness the winners receiving their awards.

RECTOR OF GRACE CHURCH, TORONTO.

A Former Peterborough Clergyman is appointed Rector-in-Charge.

Rev. C. B. Kenrick, formerly curate of St. John's, has accepted the position of Priest, in charge of Grace church, Toronto, during the approaching absence of the Rector of that church. This summer Mr. Kenrick has been officiating at St. John's church, Brantford, and has just declined a pressing and unanimous requisition from the congregation to remain with them. Mr. Kenrick commences his work in Toronto on the first Sunday in October. His engagement is for one year.

CONTINUING ANOTHER WEEK.

Messrs. H. LeBrun and Co., on account of the Civic Holiday, have decided to continue their cheap sale for the balance of the week. In the meantime they will commence the removal of their stock to their new premises, but this will not interfere with the sale, which will go on as usual. Great bargains in everything; secure them while they last.

3rd C. M. R. Banquet at the Snowden House.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC GATHERING

Capt. Nasmith Presented With a Sword —Lieut Shaw was Also Present— Speeches and Songs.

The banquet which was tendered to Capt. W. W. Nasmith, at the Snowden House, last night by the non-commissioned officers and men of "C" Squadron, 3rd C.M.R., passed off most successfully and should be long remembered by those whose privilege it was to be present. Capt. Nasmith is certainty popular with the men of his squadron as was evidenced last night when he was met at the C.P.R. station with enthusiasm by the men he formerly commanded and amid the inspiring strains of music from the band of the 57th Regiment. The evidence of good feeling that existed was further evidenced by the banquet at which a brief address and a handsome sword was presented to Capt. Nasmith. Apparently none the less popular was Lieut. Alfred Shaw, who led the Peterborough troop of "C" Squadron, and who was the recipient of many warm words of praise from his former non-commissioned officers and men.

There was quite a large turn-out of South African warriors. The members of the 3rd augumented by a few boys from the various other regiments, assembled at the fire hall in uniform and marched in a body to the C.P.R. station to meet Capt. Nasmith, who was to arrive on the local. Capt. Nasmith, it might be mentioned is a medical practitioner, who resides at Jannetville, in East Durham. He received his first military training in the Queen's Own, in Toronto. When the train pulled in the Capt. was enthusiastically greeted and escorted to a cab in which were also seated Lieut. Shaw and Sgt. LeBar, Chairman of the Committee. The procession up street was watched by many townspeople and the popular captain was introduced all round.

THE BANQUET.

The banquet opened shortly after 9 o'clock in the dining hall of the Snowden House, which had been suitably decorated for the occasion. The chair was occupied by Lieut. LeBar, while seated to his right was Capt. Nasmith and to his left Lieut. Shaw. Seated around the table were the following:

Sgt. Percy R. Price, Privates T. H. Burnham, B. Gibson, F. J. Hughes, C. Frost, D. Eastland, D. Forsythe, B. Beach, H. Wilson, W. Wilson, W. Hamilton, W. A. Hartley, G. Henson, R. Clinkscale, R. Carter, J. Pogue, R. Henderson, R. Pierce, J. Dundas, B. Hodgson, F. Plummer, D. Shannahan, F. Elmhirst, R. Turner, R. Bigge, and Messrs. Fred Roy, S. S. Moore, and E. S. Clarry.

The toast of the King was duly honoured by all present singing the National Anthem.

The toast of "Our Guests" was taken in hand by Pte. Wilson, who read the following brief address to Captain Nasmith.

From the Non-coms. and men of "C" Squadron, 3rd C. M. R., to Capt. Nasmith, O. C., "C" Squadron, 3rd C.M.R.

Sir, — In presenting this sword to you, as our late Squadron Commander, we trust that you will always have a kindly remembrance of your N. C.'s and men of "C" Squadron, who served with you in South Africa, and we trust that you may be spared many years to use it and serve in the country of the Maple Leaf.

Signed on behalf of the N. C.'s and men of "C" Squadron 3rd C. M. R.

VICTOR HAMILTON,
Secretary-Treasurer.

Pte. Beach then presented Capt. Nasmith with a very handsome sword. In reply the captain assured them that it was one of the proudest moments of his life. He was no speech-maker, but he assured them of his sincere appreciation of the honour they had done him. He had often thought that he would like to meet the boys like this and tell them what he thought of them. He would always remember the South African trip. His duties as Squadron Commander had been made easy by the splendid work of the non-coms. and man. A great deal of the success of the Squadron was due to the non-coms. He hoped that he would meet them all again, and in fact he would like to see this supper an annual affair to commemorate the trip to South Africa. He was also pleased to have with them to-night members of the 1st, 2nd, 5th and 6th Regiments.

Captain Nasmith sat down amid great applause and was given three rousing cheers and a tiger.

None the less enthusiastic was the reception accorded to Lieut. Shaw, who expressed his pleasure at meeting the boys again. He was glad to know that he had the honour of leading the Peterborough Troop of "C" Squadron. It was always his desire though a troop leader, to be one of the boys socially. He thought that Peterborough Troop of "C" Squadron was composed of as fine a lot of fellows as went to South Africa.

"The Canadian Militia," brought forth responses from Corp. Price and Sergt. Elmhirst.

This was followed by a recitation by Sergt. LeBar, entitled "A Private's Life in the Active Service."

The toast of "The British Army and Navy was responded to by Pte. Henderson, who expressed the honour he felt in being a private of the First Special Service Battalion. He would deem it an honour, he said, to serve in any capacity in the British army. conclusion Pte. Henderson recited a military poem, "The Rank and File," which brought forth great applause.

The toast of the "Mayor and Corporation," was responded to by Pte. Hamilton, who read a letter from Mayor Denne, who expressed his regreat at not being able to attend, being prevented by a previous engagement.

The toast of "The Ladies," was proposed by Corp. Price, and responded to by Lieut. Shaw and Pte. Burnham.

Messrs. Biggs, Gibson, Pilling, Pearce, Thompson, Forsythe and Shanahan made brief speeches, after which the toasts of the press and Our Host were honoured.

The affair broke up at midnight by three cheers for the King, Captain Nasmith and Lieut. Shaw.

There will be no boat for Stony Lake connecting with the noon train at Lakefield on Thursday next.

Daly, town, whose singing has been heard by many in Peterborough with delighted appreciation, sang at a grand concert under the distinguished patronage of his Excellency the Viceroy of India and Lady Curson, given at Simla in honour of the Coronation. In commenting upon Mrs. Twining's performance, the Allahabad Pioneer, says: "Mrs. Twining's song was a very difficult one, and was finely sung. On being recalled she gave Frances Allitsen's 'Song of Thanksgiving,' which suited her method perfectly."

QUIT THE CITY LEAGUE.

President Howden Received a Letter From the T.A.S. Lacrosse Team.

Mr. T. J. Begley, secretary of the T.A.S. Lacrosse Club, has forwarded a letter to President Howden of the City League, stating that they had dropped out of the City League Series. Nothing was said in the communication as to the reason why the T.A.S. have taken this course, although it is understood a strong letter from one in authority in the T. A.S., was received by the City League after the Athletic-T.A.S. game of July 30th. Lovers of lacrosse will greatly regret that the City League Series has ended in so unsatisfactory a manner. It is to be hoped that the T. A. S. will reconsider the matter, and that some amicable settlement may be arrived at if any grievance exists.

WEDDING AT YOUNGS' POINT.

SUDDEN DEATH OF E. P. HANNAFORD.

A Brother-in-law of Mr. R. M. Roy Passes Away in Montreal.

The Montreal Herald contains the following respecting the death of Mr. E. P. Hannaford, brother-in-law of Mr R. M. Roy, and well known to many in Peterborough.

Death came suddenly and altogether unexpectedly to Mr. E. P. Hannaford, at his home, 2573 St. Catharine street, this (Monday) morning.

Two weeks ago he suffered a slight stroke of apoplaxy and while he had not since that time enjoyed such vigorous health as formerly, he was able to be around.

Ten days ago Mr. Hannaford went to Campobello, N. B., with the hope that a change of air might completely restore his health.

Yesterday morning he returned, went to bed, but at eight o'clock this morning he appeared to be even better than for several days. He asked for and was given a cup of coffee and some toast.

Thirty minutes later and without warning, death came, due, the doctors say, to heart failure.

Mr. Hannaford was a native of Devonshire, where he was born 68 years ago.

In 1857 he came to Canada and a year later entered the service of the Grand Trunk Railway as a clerk in the engineering department, and later he became assistant engineer, in which capacity he remained until the death of Chief Engineer Yates in 1869, when he succeeded to that position.

In February, 1896, Mr. Hannaford resigned from the Grand Trunk Railway.

A widow and four children survive Mr. Hannaford—Mrs. Pontou, of Mt. Vernon, N.Y., a daughter, who lives at home, Mr. E. P. Hannaford, an engineer in the western States, and Mr. Hannaford, an engineer for the Jas. Cooper Manufacturing Company.

Mr. Hannaford was a member of Prince Albert Lodge, A. F. and A. M.

Mr. Roy leaves to-night for Montreal to attend the funeral.

OBITUARY.

Death of Mrs. David Y. Crowley This Morning at the Residence of Her Son-in-Law, Mr. James Galvin.

The death occurred this morning of one of the oldest and most highly respected residents of Otonabee township, in the person of Ann Flynn, daughter of the late Michael Flynn, Esq., of Emily, and widow of the late David Y. Crowley, Esq., of Otonabee.

The deceased had been ailing with stomach troubles for almost a year, but came to town from Otonabee three weeks ago to pay a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Jas. Galvin, of No. 465 King street. Yesterday morning she took a weak turn but was able to go up stairs by herself and laid upon the bed. She grew rapidly worse, and hope for her recovery had to be abandoned. The end came at 6 o'clock this morning.

Mrs. Crowley had been almost a lifelong resident of Otonabee, and since her marriage had resided continuously on lot 15, in the 16th concession. Her good deeds and generous actions had won to her many friends, who will mourn her loss, and extend sincere sympathy to the stricken family. Ten children survive, viz., David and Michael, of the homestead; Patrick, of Enuismore; William, of Webwood, Ont.; Bartholomew, of Seattle, Washington Territory; Frank and Sylvester, Duluth, Minn.; Walter, of Geneva, N. Y.; James, of the C.P.R. Telegraph Co.; Catharine Ann, wife of Jas. Galvin, of Peterborough.

The funeral will take place on Thursday morning at half past eight o'clock, from the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. Jas. Galvin, No. 465 King street, and proceed to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

STONY LAKE CIVIC HOLIDAY.

If you wish to enjoy Peterborough's Civic Holiday you cannot do better than go with the Maccabees to Stony Lake, per Steamer Majestic and Barge. There will be an orchestra for dancing, with Archie Moore as floor manager. Round trip tickets cost you 75c. Stop made at Mount Julian for dinner.

THE STEAMER

"ALERT"

and

PALACE BARGE, "LADYSMITH,"

(W. R. White, Captain.)

This fast and popular little steamer is open for charter for excursions for the season of 1902. The steamer and barge have a carrying capacity of 900. The "Alert" has been fitted with the most modern improvements, including machinery, etc., and has a speed, with the barge, of 7 miles an hour. The crew will be found to be careful and obliging, and the best of attention is guaranteed the travelling public.

Parties wishing to take a day's outing on Stony Lake, or any of the Kawartha Lakes, cannot do better than charter the fast sailing steamer Alert Parties of fifteen people and upwards can charter this steamer for the day at a very reasonable price. Prices made to suit parties. This gives the people a splendid chance of seeing the Lakes and gives more time at the different points of interest than by going by the regular steamers. No crowding. Hot and cold water always provided on board the steamer.

For further particulars apply to W Bunton, Up-Town Ticket Agent, Peterborough, or to White & Grylls, proprietor, Lakefield, Ont.

SIR OAIVER MOWAT.

Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario Passes His 82nd Birthday on July 22, 1902—A Very Popular Gentleman.

No citizen of Toronto is more widely known or respected throughout the Dominion than his Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor Sir Oliver Mowat, K.C.M.G., who was 82 years of age on Tuesday, July 22, 1902. Sir Oliver was born in Kingston on July 22, 1820, his father, John Mowat, of Caithsbay, Caithness-shire, Scotland, having settled in that city in 1816. At the age of seventeen, having picked up as much of an education as the best schools then afforded, he entered the law office of the late Sir John Macdonald, who was a few years his senior, where he diligently studied the profession he had taken up, and in 1842 he was called to the Bar, commencing his practice in the city of his birth. Before long he realized that Toronto offered a wider field, and removed to that city, where he has since made his home. He became a prominent member of the Chancery Bar, and in 1856 was made a Queen's Counsel, and appointed commissioner for the consolidation of the statutes of Upper and Lower Canada. In 1877 he was elected to represent South Oxford in Parliament, and held the seat until 1864. He was Provincial Secretary in the Brown-Dorion Administration from August 2 to 6, 1858. In 1861 he contested Kingston, but without success. He held the portfolio of Postmaster-General in the Macdonald-Dorion Administration from May 1865, till March, 1864, and occupied the same position in the coalition Government. After the fall of that Government he was raised to the Bench as Vice-Chancellor of Upper Canada, having previously been a member of the Union Conference which met in Quebec in 1864 for the framing of the confederation scheme. In 1872, in consequence of the retirement of Messrs. Edward Blake and Alexander Mackenzie from the Ontario House, owing to the provisions of the dual representation act, he was called on by the Lieutenant-Governor to form an Administration, and resigned his Vice-Chancellorship to do so. He became member for North Oxford, being elected to that constituency by acclamation, and assumed the office of Attorney-General of the Province. Afterwards he was six times returned for the constituency, thrice by acclamation, and thrice after a battle at the polls. He was Premier for 24 years, the longest continuous term of office as Premier ever accorded to any man in Canada. He resigned in 1896 to join Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Cabinet, and left it later to become Lieutenant-Governor. For two years Sir Oliver was a member of the Toronto City Council, where he rendered great service, representing St. Lawrence Ward in 1857 and St. James' Ward in 1858. Sir Oliver is a member of the Presbyterian Church, and for many years was president of the Evangelical Alliance. He has always taken a deep interest in social and religious matters, and has contributed on several occasions to religious literature. In recognition of his public services Queen's University in 1892 conferred upon him the degree of LL.D., and Toronto University paid him the same honor in 1889.

TWO LETTERS

Has Not Changed His Mind in Seven Years.

This Correspondence Tells More Emphatically Than Perhaps Anything Could, the Perfect Permanency of Cures Made by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Gelert, Ont., Aug. 18,—(Special.)—Mr. Samuel Kernahan, of this place, is a wonderful example of what Dodd's Kidney Pills will do for sick and suffering humanity.

Mr. Kernahan had been very ill, indeed so ill that the doctors had given him up as incurable. He had spent a great deal of money in trying to obtain a cure, but all in vain, until at last a friend suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills. This wonderful remedy soon made him a well man, and although this was nearly seven years ago, he has scarcely known what illness has been since, and has never had a return of his old trouble. The following letters which he has addressed to the proprietors of Dodd's Kidney Pills, tell the story:

Gelert, Ont., Oct. 12, 1895.

In Dec., 1893, I was taken sick and laid up, unable to work for 14 months. I was confined to my house and to my bed. I was attended at various times during these months by five different doctors. Three of them decided that my ailment was floating kidney and incurable. The other said that it was spinal disease, but all five of them pronounced my case absolutely and positively incurable. My money was nearly all gone, for I was not a rich man. Some one advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and as a last hope I did so. After I had taken three boxes I was able to walk about, but I continued the treatment until I had taken eighteen boxes. Now I can say I am entirely cured and able to do my work as well as ever.

SAMUEL KERNAHAN.

Gelert, April 24, 1902.

I am as sound as I ever was and have not had the slightest return of my old trouble, since Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me away back in '94

SAMUEL KERNAHAN.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER.

ALASKAN BOUNDARY FOUND.

Lieut. Owens Investigating in the Disputed Territory.

New York, Aug. 19.—A despatch from Tacoma to The Sun says: Skaguay advices say the question of the destruction of an old Russian monument in the disputed territory between Alaska and British Yukon has been settled. S. Weitman, a merchant of Haines, arrived at Skaguay with the news that Lieut. Owens had found two monuments in perfect repair and definitely located the place where a third one had been destroyed. One of the monuments discovered is about ten miles above Rainy Hollow, fifty miles from the coast. Lieut. Owens is now examining other parts of the boundary and will secure the statements of Indians.

The monument destroyed was levelled to the ground. The destruction had evidently been wrought within a few months.

Lieut. Owens also found an old storm house on the summit. This was called boundary house when the Russians occupied the country. The walls of the building are falling down but there is every indication of occupation at one time.

$500 Reward

Will be paid by Merrill the druggist, Brantford, to any firm who can produce more testimonials for a cough and cold cure than he can for his celebrated Four T's which cures coughs and colds in 24 hours. Stomach and Liver Troubles.

Indigestion and Severe Headaches Resulting From a Sluggish Liver.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The liver is responsible for more ills and suffering than is generally supposed. Once the workings of the liver are disordered the blood is not properly filtered and foul impurities are lodged in all parts of the system. Much of the success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills is due to the fact that they act directly on the kidneys, liver and bowels, makin gthem active and regular.

Mr. B. Knowles, broommaker, 586 Main street, St. John, N. B., writes: "For years I suffered from kidney and liver disorders. I had severe pains in the back and they caught me especially when I stooped over. I was also troubled with indigestion and severe headaches.

"I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and cannot speak too highly of this medicine, for it has done me a world of good. The back pains and headache have been entirely cured, and my digestion is good."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 5

MUSKOKA IN A CANOE

A POPULAR TRIP IS THAT KNOWN AS THE CRANE LAKES.

Explicit Directions for Making It Without a Guide—What One Needs on Such a Trip and How to Go to Work to Provide It—Provisions for a Week—Some Valuable Casual Hints for Comfort and Enjoyment.

There are two methods of making a canoe trip. The first, and the one which I shall not here attempt to describe, is to hire guides, who will do all the work involved in the trip, thus, to my mind, depriving one of much of the benefit and enjoyment of such a trip.

Another, and perhaps still more important, reason why a canoe trip should not be carried on in this way is that it is too expensive for most people. A good guide commands four or five dollars a day.

A popular trip in Muskoka is that known as the Crane Lake trip. Starting upon this trip one goes to the portage near the head of Lake Joseph. Here, by a small stream, Portage Lake is entered. From Portage Lake the voyager enters in succession into Lakes Robinson, Otter, Burnt and Blackstone, portages varying in length from a quarter mile to a mile intervening. From Blackstone Lake the canoeist enters by the Blackstone River into Crane Lake.

In Blackstone and Crane Lakes the maskinonge and bass fishing is very good. Maskinonge weighing from fifteen to twenty pounds have frequently been caught in Crane Lake.

Now, as to the preparations for such a trip. From the outline given above it will readily be seen that it would be very unwise for one unfamiliar with this district to attempt the trip without a chart, and while you are getting one be sure that it is accurate, and you will probably save yourself much inconvenience. It is well, also, to take the precaution of carrying a compass, particularly if you are not used to traveling in the forest. The writer has known of parties of men, who were not on their first trip, losing their path and wandering in the woods for a day and a half or two days.

In considering the question of provisions, bedding and tents, the question of their weight must also be considered. The quantity of each depends, of course, on the number in the party. A party of four in one canoe or of six in two canoes is a very good size. Where you have four in one canoe two can carry the canoe and two the baggage across the portages; where there are three in a canoe two carry the canoe and one must carry the baggage. Now you can see why you must not take very bulky or very heavy food. If you do it necessitates two trips across each portage, and that is a nuisance.

The writer does things in a manner perhaps primitive, but withal satisfactory. He lays in a good stock of bread, a considerable quantity of oatmeal, some cheese, some butter, sugar, coffee, salt, pepper, etc., a few cans of meat, concentrated soup and a couple of cans of condensed cream. This latter makes an excellent substitute when fresh milk is not to be had. Be sure and put the butter in some receptacle from which it cannot escape, should it melt, as it is liable to do. It is not pleasant to have all your baggage buttered. Do not take too much canned goods, as they are heavy and it is hard to pack them so that the corners of the cans will not stick into you when you carry your pack.

A party can quite easily carry provisions for a week. If it is intended to stay much longer than that it would be better to arrange for your supplies in some other way.

Do not take breakable dishes with you. Your meals will taste just as good eaten from tinware or porcelain as if eaten from the finest china. You will need for each member of your party a plate, a good-sized cup, a knife, fork and a couple of spoons. Besides these you will need a few extra plates and spoons. Of cooking utensils you will need a pail to cook the porridge and the soups in; a pail in which to boil your coffee, and a frying-pan in which to cook the fish. These three will supply almost every need in the cooking line.

A good heavy single grey blanket is plenty of bedding for one, or two can keep quite warm between the folds of a double blanket. The rest of the bed can be made of a good thick layer of the small twigs of cedar or balsam, or of large, coarse fern or bracken. If you get the ground well covered you will sleep just as comfortably as you would on a spring mattress.

A very good tent can be made of heavy factory cotton. Have it six or eight feet square at the base and six or seven feet high, without any side walls, that is, sloping right to the ground. Along the four sides of the tent, six inches from the bottom, fasten some small loops of rope.

When your camping ground is chosen, find two trees far enough apart to allow the tent between them. Tie a rope from one of these trees to the other, about seven feet from the ground. Hang the tent on this, so that the rope forms the ridge pole of the tent; slip some small poles through the loops of rope above mentioned, stretch the tent out as wide as possible, weight down the poles with stones and your tent is ready for occupation.—Canadian, in The Globe.

THE FIGHT OF '98.

The Great Quebec Meeting With and Conquering of the Hosts From Boston, Mass., in That Year.

We suspect that the author of the following letter is either an envious Canuck or some member of the Boston Lancers, the Worcester Continentals, on the Putnam Phalanx of Hartford, who cannot abide the never-paling glory of the finest set of men that ever faced a smoke talk or chased a "chaser." His letter is printed here only to show the baseness of his motive and the inherent impossibility of his assertions:

"To the Editor of the Sun— Sir: Four years ago the Ancient and Honorable Artillery of Boston visited Quebec, took possession of the Chateau Frontenac, and outdrank, on terms of catch-as-catch-can, its oldest frequenters. But when they attacked the Garrison Club, the Ancients fell by the way in large numbers, being wholly unable to live up to the standing rule of the club that the sole drink shall be Scotch, with Canadian rye, neat, as a chaser. Four hundred and seventy-three officers, non-commissioned officers and men sought the floor of the club in the space of the nine hours, and had to be put to bed at the chateau by their respective cab-drivers. To commemorate the event a copper plate has just been nailed upon the main table of the club. It bears the words: 'Honor to the Bostonese! Like Montgomery, they fought well, but fought in vain, against a generous foe, September 13, 1898.'

"This inscription jars the pride of every American visitor. I know from bitter experience that the Canadian rye used at the club is the brand known as 'squirrel' rye. After fourteen hours the average man starts out to climb a tree or telegraph pole: that is to say, the liquor rouses in him the instincts of his arboreal ancestor (vide Darwin). But surely the Ancients ought to make another dash at the Garrison Club and vindicate American prowess even over squirrel whiskey.

"Quebec, June 26. "Viator."

No visitor to the English parts of Quebec can fail to remember this characteristic odor. A Scotch mist of whiskey hangs around the place. The very clouds squirt soda. Many Canadians never use liquor. There is the more for others. In the matter of manlee hospitalitee, as Captain Costigan would say, the Canadians are unequalled. They love to plunge the incautious visitor into a sea of Scotch. Their own heads and legs usually rise high and easily above those Caledonia waves. Practice makes perfect, and the climate is fortifying.

But there have been strangers within the gates of Quebec who have surprised the surprisers. The Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company is an association of time-honored strong men who have a taste for uniforms and appreciate the joys of travel as well as the comfort that a well-stocked armory grants. As a matter of belief and principle, they are rigid teetotalers. For the honor of their state and country, however, they will dare any danger. At anniversaries and celebrations they consent to wet their whistle; but their bylaws provide that there shall not be more than eight or nine celebrations and anniversaries a week. In foreign countries these self-sacrificing hoplites will never permit themselves to be "drunk to a standstill." Patriotism overrides scruple.

The Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company did visit Quebec in 1898 and was prevented from taking the place by its chivalrous instincts only. We say it to the shame of men that bear the name of Canadians or Englishmen, but there was a conspiracy to stretch these Bellona's bridegrooms flat on the Plains a Abraham, to roll them down from the citadel, to overcome the invincible corps that for long years has faced every shape of rum the world can produce and never yet lowered its glass unemptied. The conspiracy was foiled. The Ancients filled their hotel with corpses of the slain. They laid the Garrison low under its own table. Then, in a burst of exultation, they challenged all Canada, all Great Britain, all the world, to match with applejack as the principal and Medford rum as the "chaser."

The challenge is still good. Quebec should accept, if it dares, instead of boasting over imaginary victories.—New York Sun.

Had Nervous Prostration.

Mrs. S. W. West, Drayton, Ont., states, "I got terribly run down, and finally became a victim of nervous prostration. I had no appetite, seemed to lose interest and ambition and could scarcely drag myself about. Hearing of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I used three boxes with great benefit, gaining 11 pounds. It made me strong and well and I had such an appetite that I wanted to be eating half the time."

THE BOY FROM TOWN.

Last night a boy came here from town
To stay a week or so,
Because his maw is all run down
And needs a rest, you know.
His name is Cecil, and he's eight,
And he can't skin the cat—
His maw she calls him "Pet"; I'd hate
To have a name like that.

He wears a collar and a tie
And can't hang by his toes;
I guess that I would nearly die
If I had on his clo'es;
He can't ride horseback, and to-day
When we slid on the straw,
He ast if roosters helped to lay
The eggs I pick fer maw.

When our old gander hissed he run
As though he thought he'd bite,
And he ain't ever shot a gun
Or had a homemade kite;
He never milked a cow and he Can't even dive or swim—
I'd hate to think that he was me,
I'm glad that I ain't him.

He thinks it's lots of fun to pump
And see the water spurt,
But won't climb in the barn, and jump,
For fear of getting hurt.
His clo'es are offle nice and fine,
His hair's all over curle,
His hands ain't half as big as mine,
He ought to play with girls.

A little while ago when we
Were foolin' in the shed
He suddenly got mad at me,
Because I bumped his head.
There's lots of things that he can't do,
He thinks that sheep'll bite,
And he's afraid of ganders, too;
But he can fight all right.

If You Are Conscious of Failing Strength and Energy This Month, Make Use of PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

THE GREAT HEALTH AND STRENGTH GIVER

No Other Medicine Can Afford or Guarantee Such Happy Results.

Men and women, young and old, of every rank in life, freely admit that they are more conscious of overtaxed nervous strength in the hot weather than at any other season.

When such a condition is experienced, Paine's Celery Compound affords advantages and results that no other remedy can offer with honesty. It vigorously cleanses the blood and regulates the tardy circulation. It strengthens and encourages the kidneys and enables them to filter from the blood all waste and morbid matters; it secures strong, firm nerves, gives sweet and natural sleep to the nerve-tired and brain-weary. In a word, Paine's Celery Compound is a true summer life-giver and health-builder. Mr. J. Ralston, of Nixon, Ont., says:

"It is now a year past since I had a severe attack of nervous prostration caused by chronic dyspepsia, and I could not sleep at night. This condition of sleeplessness brought on delirium. I was attended by four of the best doctors, and took a great quantity of medicine, but all failed to do me any good. I thought I would try your Paine's Celery Compound. After I had used four bottles the nervousness and dyspepsia left me, and I have done more work since than for years past. I now enjoy excellent health and consider myself completely cured."

FREE OF DEBT

Parish of Young's Point in an Enviable Position.

The announcement has been made by Rev. Father Phelan to his people, that the parish of Young's Point has been entirely freed from debt by the wiping off of an incumbrance against the parish house of $786.00, which was in existence at the time Rev. Father Phelan took charge, some six short months ago.

Rev. Father Phelan is to be congratulated on the zeal which he has shown in his labours to relieve the parish of debt, and the parishioners are deserving of the highest encomiums for the free manner in which they have opened their purse strings to aid in so laudable a project.

A GREAT SUCCESS.

First Annual Excursion of the Cordage Co's. Employees.

The first annual excursion of the employees of the Canadian Cordage Company, which took place to Buckhorn, was one of the most successful affairs of the kind that has been held from here this summer. The event was largely patronised and the steamer Alert had a merry crowd of excursionists when she left the Lakefield wharf. The trip to Buckhorn proved most delightful and the many points of interest along the route, that were visited added additional pleasure to the outing. The Committee that had the arrangements in hand were warmly congratulated upon the success of their undertaking.

VIAMEDE.

Viamede, Stony Lake,
Friday Aug. 15.

On Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. (Hon.) J. R. Stratton, Mrs. McBain, Mrs. Hunter, Miss Genevieve Hunter and other ladies, steamed over in the "Mollie." They were heartily welcomed by the guests here with whom Mrs. Stratton is a great favourite. She is so uniformly courteous and pleasant. The same afternoon Mrs. (Dr.) Anderson, of Carleton street, Toronto, gave an afternoon tea to her particular friends, in honour of her wedding anniversary.

On Friday evening the guests enjoyed a pleasant euchre party. Mr. Alfred Bliss, of Youngstown, Ohio, won first gentleman's prize; Mrs. Neal, of Buffalo, won first lady's prize. Sherbet and coffee were served by the young ladies.

The jolly "Explorers" from Rochester, make things lively here in the evenings, with bonfire, bugle and song.

The lighting of Viamede by gas has proved a great success and gives a bright appearance to its beautiful surroundings.

AN IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY.

Solemn Investiture of the Holy Habit and Profession of Vows.

(Lindsay Post.)

The retreat for the Community of St. Joseph, which has been conducted by Rev. Father Handley, C.S.S.R., was terminated by the very beautiful and imposing ceremony of the taking of the veil and profession of vows, which took place yesterday at the Feast of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin, in the Convent chapel.

The following are the newly professed sisters: Sister Mary Beatrice, Sister M. Elisabeth, Sister M. Rose, Sister M. Genevieve, Sister M. Berkmana. Those who were invested in the holy habit were Miss Labeau, of Sturgeon Falls, in religion Sister Mary Eugenia; Miss Greenan, of Lindsay, Sister M. Prepetua; Miss Carmony, of Downeyville, Sister M. St. Cyril; Miss Giltnane, of Lindsay, Sister M. Rita; Miss Kirley, of Lindsay, Sister M. Agnes; Miss Maloney, of Douro, Sister M. Camilla; Miss Sibley, of Toronto, born in Lindsay, Sister M. Francis Joseph.

As many of the postulants were natives of this parish, a large number of their relatives and friends were present, who, together with those from a distance, filled the chapel to its utmost capacity. At 10 o'clock the seven postulants, dressed in bridal costumes of white satin, with wreath and veil, filed into the chapel, followed by little maids of honour, and knelt on the prieudieus before the altar. Mass was then celebrated by Ven. Archdeacon Casey. On the sanctuary were His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, of Peterborough, assisted by Father McColl, Rector of the Cathedral, and Father Fitzpatrick, P. P., of Enniamore, Father O'Leary, P. P., of Fenelon Falls, Father Phelan, P.P., of Youngs' Point, Father O'Sullivan, P. P., of Victoria Road, Father Kennedy, C.S.B., of St. Michael's College, and Father O'Sullivan of Lindsay.

The profession sermon, which was preached by Rev. Fr. Handley, was a masterpiece of pulpit oratory and made a lasting impression on all who heard it. Practical, logical and convincing, it was delivered with that earnestness, and unction that is characteristic of the Sons of St. Alphonsus. Taking as his text the reply of Mary to the Archangel when he revealed to her the plan of the Incarnation, "Behold the handmaid of the Lord; be it done unto me according to Thy word," he applied it to those who were consecrating their lives to God in holy religion by the triple vow of poverty, chastity and obedience, which were the three nails that bound them to the Cross of Christ.

After the ceremony, His Lordship, in cope and mitre, assisted by Archdeacon Casey and Father McColl, blessed the habits of the seven postulants and received the vows of the newly professed sisters, which were made kneeling before the Blessed Sacrament. The ceremony was terminated by the singing of the Te Deum.

The Sisters of St. Joseph are to be congratulated upon the steady growth of their Community, which now numbers over eighty members in the diocese, and upon the excellent character of the work that they are accomplishing in our hospitals and schools.

SCHREVER'S GREAT FEAT.

Some very choice and costly attractions have been secured for the Central Canad Exhibition, Ottawa, from Aug. 22nd. Expense has not been spared. Schreyer, the wonder of the age, has been booked. He does a marvellous ride down an elevated chute and then from an extended platform he makes a leap to a tank of water 40 feet below and 70 feet distant. His act was the great attraction at the Winnipeg Exposition a couple of weeks ago. The Winnipeg Telegram says the feat caused great excitement and that the grand stand arose en-masse to cheer him as he came on the stage after arising from the tank. It continues: "Canadian crowds like things that take pluck to accomplish and this performance requires nerve."

SPORTING PASTIMES.

GOLF.

The growth of golf throughout Canada and United States during the past year has been something remarkable. It is not long ago since the number of golf clubs in Canada could be counted on the one hand, but at the present time all of the larger cities and many of the smaller towns can boast of healthy and flourishing organisations. The practice of putting and driving has come to stay and today, many who were wont to brush by and laugh at this summer pastime, not so very long ago, realize that in the game of golf there is a world of science and amusement not found in other sporting amusements. One has to play it to appreciate its worth. In United States the game has grown so popular that from five well-established clubs in the spring of 1895, when the United States Golf Association was organized, there are now 1,190 clubs scattered throughout the country, and they all maintain either nine or eighteen hole courses. There are about twenty minor associations, containing from five to fifty clubs each, and the game is being conducted in the most systematic manner. Each association controls its own clubs and they all work in harmony under the general laws laid down by the United States Golf Association.

TURF.

Just at present the turf is not gifted with a surplus of first class jockeys, and what there are Canada has been liberal in its contributions to. At Brighton Beach there is a galaxy of masters of the thoroughbreds who claim with a great deal of pride, this country as the land of their birth. Yanks travel to England and do well for a short period, but Canadians visit Yankeeland and appear in the front rank all the time. Britishers may lose their prestige in the world of sport but they can depend upon it that Canadians will not stand idly by and see their adversaries sneak away with all the glory. T. Burns of Port Hope, and Wonderly of London, are samples of what Canada can produce. No better boys ever threw a leg over a thoroughbred, and daily they are getting better. Their work is the sensation of the year, and millionaire owners are grasping after their services. Only recently in a filial spirit, Wonderly presented his parents with a $5,000 home, furniture included. Then there are Jack Martin, the midget, Ray and Veitch, the kings of the timber-toppers, who are seen continually winning owners, and increasing their owner's bank rolls. Redfern, too, must not be forgotten, and it appears as though it would be a pretty fair kind of a business to follow the Canadian "jocks."

THE NAVAL MANOEUVRES.

Closing Coronation Festivities Interrupted and Spoiled by Weather.

London, Aug. 19.—The naval manoeuvres in the Solent yesterday were marred by the weather. Torrents of rain and half a gale of wind drove the spectators from the sea front and it was noon instead of 10 o'clock when the royal yacht Victoria and Albert left Cowes, and took King Edward through the lines of the fleet. Subsequently an array of battleships and cruisers, to the number of nearly eighty, unmoored, formed in two columns and passed on either side of the Victoria and Albert. All the war vessels manned ship as they passed the royal yacht. The evolutions of the fleet had to be curtailed in consequence of the weather rendering the proposed difficult "grid-iron" movement dangerous. The flotilla of torpedo boat destroyers escorting the King pitched in such a way that they looked from a distance like a shoal of porpoises playing around the royal yacht. The Victoria and Albert returned to Cowes at about 5 o'clock, and the fleet dispersed to take up its usual duties.

The Shah in London.

London, Aug. 19.—The Shah of Persia, Muzaffar-Ed-Din, and his suite, reached London yesterday and took up their residence at Marlborough House, as guests of King Edward. When he left the train at Victoria Station he was resplendent in a blaze of diamonds. The Prince of Wales, Lord Lansdowne, the Foreign Minister; Lord Roberts, the commander-in-chief, and the members of the Persian legation, and others, met the royal traveler at the station. The Prince of Wales and the Shah shook hands, and the visitor was introduced to the prominent persons present. The Prince of Wales subsequently conducted the Persian monarch to a royal carriage, and they drove off, escorted by a detachment of life guards and followed by other carriages.

STOCK MARKETS.

Advice to Daily Stock Traders, With a View to Furthering and Increasing Their Chances for Profit.

New York, August 18th.—We to-day proffer some advice professionally to such of our clientale as trade daily in the market, looking for quick, small profits, relying upon their frequent multiplication for their results. First, coolness is essential. Don't be stampeded by quick and unexpected movements in the market if you contemplate purchasing a stock. Should it reach a certain point price below the current price, don't cancel your order, because the market has commenced to crumble rapidly. You will oftimes miss your opportunity in so doing that you will purchase cheaper. If markets such as we have at present sell when they are the strongest, and on a bulge, looking as if they were going immediately higher, should they advance still further after you have disposed of your holdings, nine times out of ten they will drop back from the higher range pretty close to your last selling price, when you can again buy and you are again long at a reactionary price, should they intend to decline, after your sale take back your stock at from one-half point to one and one-half points decline from your selling price, according to the books of the market. If you are long of stocks, and they have a rally, the rise being laboured with small volume of business, becoming more dull as prices advance, close out your long holdings. If you are short, and the market declines slowly then become dull, cover immediately. If not short under such conditions, don't hesitate to purchase freely when such an occasion arises. Bear in mind that the market is always here, and don't regret profits you might have made had you only bought or sold such and such an issue. Pay no attention to the room gossip you hear, among the customers of the firm with whom you deal. To do so will be to vary your judgement. When a stock becomes strong in a fairly active market and sells above its last high recorded price, buy it immediately. The probabilities are that it will sell immediately higher, the tape plainly indicating an accumulative demand. The opposite applies when a stock breaks its last low recorded price it is a sign that the selling exceeds the buying demand and that the stock will probably sell lower. These few common sense suggestions will probably not only prove of interest to daily tradesmen, but, if followed, yield them good profits.

HAIGHT & FREESE CO.

Mr. F. K. Gale, local representative of W. F. Dever & Co., in speaking of the Wall street situation, said recently; "I think we will have a quiet market for some time, but the outlook is very bright for a big boom in prices in the fall. The money market is not in as bad a shape as the bank statement would seem to indicate. The Standard Oil party and other large interests control the banks and trust companies of New York, and they are simply manipulating the movement of funds between these concerns with the object of putting a check on the operations of Gates and his clique. The large interests recognize the fact that the time is not ripe for a bull campaign in securities, but when funds commence to return from the agricultural districts we will see a big market in New York."

Asthma Can Be Cured.

Thousands of testimonials conclusively prove that Asthma can be permanently cured by inhaling Catarrhozone, a vegetable antiseptic that destroys at once the germs causing the diseases. Increase Out of the Question.

London, Aug. 19.—The West India Committee has published the reply of Joseph Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary, to the deputation from the Island of Trinidad, which recently interviewed him on the subject of the inadequacy of the relief which the Government is giving the planters. Mr. Chamberlain declared that any increase of the sum ($1,350,000) voted by Parliament, was out of the question, and that he could hold out no hope of a similar grant in 1903.

Story Is Discredited.

Vienna, Aug. 19.—The report that an attempt had been made to blow up the German imperial yacht, Hohenzollern off Reval, Russia, recently, while Emperor William of Germany and the Czar of Russia were on board was discredited by all the newspapers of Vienna yesterday, including The News Wiener Journal, which published the report Aug. 16.

Valuable Advice to Rheumatics.

Eat meat sparingly, and take very little sugar. Avoid intoxicants, keep away from dampness, drink water abundantly, and always rely on Nerviline as a quick reliever of Rheumatic pains. COMING MEETING WITH KRUGER

Latter Will Formally Abdicate His Position as Afrikander Chief—Besides Reins of Power the Residue of the Funds Will Be Handed Over—The Downfall of Dr. Leyds.

London, Aug. 20.—The correspondent of The Daily Mail at The Hague telegraphs he is informed that at the approaching meeting between General Botha and his colleagues and former President Kruger, the latter will formally abdicate his position as Afrikander chief, and hand over the reins and the residue of funds to Gen. Botha and Gen. Dewet and Messrs. Fischer and Wolmarans, who were formerly Boer delegates.

Mr. Wolmarans, according to the correspondent's information, will endeavor to dispossess Dr. Leyds, the European agent of the Boers, of the power of signing cheques.

There are also rumors, says the correspondent of The Daily Mail, of an impending struggle for supremacy between Gen. Botha and Gen. Dewet.

ILLICIT TRAFFIC IN LUMBER.

Two Men at Ottawa Charged With Stealing Logs and Timber.

Ottawa, Aug. 20.—Detective Robillard of the Ottawa police force made an important arrest yesterday, and, if he proves the charge he has laid, the lumbermen will be rid of a source of loss. The man arrested was Jean Baptiste Giroux of Lefebre, a hamlet on the Ontario shore of the Ottawa River, opposite Monte Bello. He is charged with defacing, appropriating, concealing and stealing saw-logs. For years saw-logs have been stolen belonging to the Hawkesbury Lumber Company, the Gilmour Lumber Company and from a smaller firm at Monte Bello. Besides, the freight sheds and storehouses at Monte Bello have been entered, and the loss in goods has totalled many hundreds of dollars. Suspicions rested on parties in Lefebre, and at the request of the Attorney-General of Ontario, Robillard was sent to investigate. He secreted himself in the village, and his investigations led to the arrest of Giroux. The alleged thief was not in the village, but returned on Saturday.

His stay was brief, as he skipped to the Quebec shore and took the C.P.R. for Ottawa. Robillard did likewise, and got trace of his man yesterday, placing him under arrest, to await the arrival of the sheriff and officers from L'Original. Joseph Belanger, owner of a small mill at Lefebre, was also arrested in connection with the charge, but was released on his own recognizance to appear for trial. He is alleged to have shared the profits of the thefts, and to have sawn the stolen logs in his mill.

SPLIT IN THE ORANGE PARTY.

South Belfast Election Taken as Blow to Balfour Government.

London, Aug. 20.—A bye-election for a successor to William Johnston, formerly Conservative member of Parliament for the south division of Belfast, who died July 17, has resulted in the selection of Mr. Thomas Sloan, the nominee of the Protestant Association, with a majority of 826 votes over Mr. Charles W. Dunbar Buller, the unionist candidate.

Mr. Johnston had twice received pluralities of 2,600 and upward in the South division of Belfast, and he was three times returned without opposition.

The selection of Mr. Sloan has no bearing on the question of home rule. It rather indicates a serious split in the Orange ranks and dissatisfaction with the Government's policy. Mr. Dunbar Buller was the official unionist candidate. Mr. Sloan was the independent unionist candidate, representing the tenants' interests, and his election proves that the Government's policy in regard to the Irish land question is driving a large section of the Ulster unionists into revolt.

FIRE RAGING IN TIMBER.

Workmen Dug Holes and Stood in Water Up to Necks.

Ymir, B. C., Aug. 20.—A disastrous fire is raging about Ymir. Many square miles of timber have been burned, and a number of mine buildings, wagon roads and bridges have been destroyed.

From the Cyanide works of the Ymir Company to the Foghorn Mine, a distance of five miles, every building has been destroyed. The Cyanide plant was saved by the efforts of the employes, who dug holes in which they immersed themselves in water up to their necks, while they handled the hose in short shifts. The buildings of the Wilcox and Black Rock mines were obliterated.

Winnipeg, Aug. 20.—John Kastner, the well known proprietor of the Commercial Hotel, Morris, Man., died here early yesterday morning. He was born at Stratford in 1838, leaving there about 20 years ago.

British Warships Move.

Panama, Aug. 20. — The British cruiser Phaeton left here hurriedly on Saturday, and it is thought she sailed for Buenaventura, where the Columbian Government has been trying to force the agents of the British steamship Ecuador to transport troops. It is said that the Pacific Steam Navigation Co., in refusing, broke its contract with the Government.

Willemstad, Island, of Carncao, Aug. 20.—A report is current here that a number of British war vessels, under the command of an admiral, will visit La Guara, Venezuela, in a few days. No reasons for the presence of the warships in question at La Guayra can be obtained, and the report is causing considerable speculation.

TO TAKE OFF WESTERN HARVEST

Reports of Harvest Prospects in Manitoba From Many Centres—Favorable Weather For the Ripening of the Grain—Enthusiastic Visitors Through the World's Granary Report Great Things.

Montreal, Aug. 20.—The first of the harvest excursions for the Northwest passed through the city yesterday. It was from the Maritime Provinces and was made up of 570 from Prince Edward Island and from Nova Scotia, and 1,800 from New Brunswick. It is expected that these provinces by the sea will contribute as many men as last year.

HARVEST REPORTS BRIGHT.

Weather Favorable For the Ripening of Manitoba's Crops.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 20.—Yesterday's weather has been favorable for the ripening of Manitoba's crops. Fair and warm are indications for to-morrow. Every visitor returning from country towns is enthusiastic over the outlook. Among the reports received yesterday from the chief grain centres are the following:

Carman. — Farmers were cutting wheat, oats and barley last week. This week the harvest will be general. The weather is very favorable. There is no damage to crops.

Gretna.—Cutting is now general. No damage to crops. Weather is favorable for a good harvest.

Morris.—Harvesting will soon be general, and no damage from frost, rain or any other cause is feared.

Killarney.—Harvesting will be general in a week; no damage.

Souris.—A few farmers are cutting and harvesting, but it will not be general for a week; everything is favorable.

Portage la Prairie—Cutting of barley and oats is in full swing. With favorable weather cutting will be general this week.

Emerson—Everything is favorable; no damage; cutting will be general by the middle or end of the week.

Birtle.—Weather favorable; no damage from any cause.

Neepawa—Cutting will begin the middle of the week; no damage.

Glenboro—Rain fell yesterday. Barley and wheat cutting is in progress, and will be general this week.

Alameda.—Cutting will be general on Thursday; weather is favorable.

Morden.—Cutting will be general by the end of the week; everything favorable.

Manitou and Carman give similar reports.

Hartney.—Cutting is general; everything favorable.

Brandon—Cutting commenced on 15th, and will be general about 22nd; weather very favorable.

Regina.—Crops here are excellent and will soon be ripe. On the light soil, wheat will be cut in four days. The harvest will be general next week. The yield of wheat in this district is estimated to be between 36 and 40 bushels to the acre.

Gladstone—Wheat cutting is expected to begin next week. Conditions are all favorable for large yield.

Miami.—One of the best crops ever raised in this district will be harvested this year. Probable yield is now placed at 30 to 35 bushels to the acre. Wheat cutting has commenced.

Dauphin.—Grain generally is looking fine. Cutting will commence next week.

Wawanesa—Grain is ripening fast. Cutting starts Monday.

Will Sidetrack Leamington.

Windsor, Aug. 20.—William Newman, civil engineer, and one of the promoters of the Windsor and Lake Shore Electric Railway, which, according to original plans, was to run from Windsor to Leamington, received instructions yesterday morning from Henry Siligman, the New York capitalist, who is financing the project, to begin surveying operations at once in Windsor and to stop at Kingsville. The road will not be extended to Leamington, because the Town Council has thus far refused to grant the company a franchise.

WEDNESDAY, AUG. 20, 1902.

OUR PRODUCE TRADE WITH BRITAIN.

In an interesting article published in another column, it is stated that of the fifteen hundred million dollars' worth of agricultural products imported from Great Britain in 1900, only 24 per cent. came from British possessions. The largest contribution to John Bull's larder was the United States, that country sending 34 per cent. of the whole. Without going into details, this shows what an immense field for the expansion of Canadian exports of soil products exists in Great Britain. In 1900 Canada furnished a very small percentage of the breadstuffs consumed by Great Britain. If, as we boast, Canada is able to be the granary of the Empire, there is abundant room for effort to make good our boast. If we expect a preference, the hope of such a preference must be based upon the superiority of Canadian agricultural products. This is already conceded in the matter of our Northwest wheat and of our cheese. In regard to many other other products, the preference will be based upon the condition in which they reach the British market, and this depends upon the speed and effectiveness of our transatlantic service, and in this connection the importance of a fast Atlantic steamship service for freight, is of supreme moment. If we beat our American neighbours in the race for the British market, we must have as fast a steamship service, for we have the "inside track" in the matter of distance, as we have the whip hand in the matter of the quality of our most important agricultural products. The stablishment of a fast line necessarily involves the payment of a substantial subsidy, and the benefit which an effective fast steamship line would give the farmer in the enhanced profit resulting from facility of access to the British market, would be worth while. If a fast line were established in a way to substantially lessen freight charges, the gain to the farmers in price upon the eighty millions of agricultural produce sent annually to Great Britain, would far over-balance the amount he would be called upon to contribute to a fairly liberal subsidy. The importance of securing a reduction of ocean freight rates in the matter of agricultural produce in any subvention arrangement to secure a fast freight service, is thus pointed out by the Globe;

> Canadian money is not to be given to any steamship company for the sake of the honour or the prestige of a fast service, but to pay for the carriage of Canadian freight to market. It is to secure relief from existing handicaps in rates, and from the inferiority of our service. During the first week of the present month the ocean rate on butter to Liverpool was 27s 6d, while from New York and Boston to the same port it was 20s, a discrimination of 7s 6d against Montreal and the St. Lawrence route. The rate for the corresponding week of last year to Liverpool was 25s from Montreal and only 11s 3d from Montreal and Boston, a difference of 14s against Montreal. During the first week in May the rate from Montreal was 25s, as compared with 15s from New York and Boston, a difference of 10s. For the corresponding week a year ago the rate was 25s from Montreal, and 11s 3d from New York and Boston. These are not isolated cases but show the general trend of comparative rates during the past two years. In the rate on cheese there was an adverse difference against the port of Montreal during the season of 1901, ranging from 7s to 13s, and a similar discrimination still continues during the present season. The difference in the freight charge on eggs varies from 2s to 5s. There is also adverse discrimination in the rate on flour and other produce The rates on grain as published yesterday in the Globe, shows that the St. Lawrence route suffers to the extent of 5 1-2s per quarter as compared with Boston and New York. There may be adverse circumstances, some natural and some commercial, that militate against the St. Lawrence route, and in a measure justify a slight increase in rates. But it is to make good the difference that a subsidy will be paid, and it would be a great blunder to give the money without securing absolute assurance that the rates will be as low on the subsidized lines as they are from competitive American ports.

"IT'S AN ILL WIND—"

The principle of compensation operates in this world more extensively than the cursory observer thinks. Very few things are all evil. What seems to be injury to one or at a particular time, is a benefit to another. The farmers have been, and most of us think justifiably, bewailing the super-abundance of rain this season. It has played havoc with some crops, but it has been of most important benefit in another direction. Pasturage has been abundant in proportion to the rain and the product of milk and butter and cheese have also been in proportion. The farmers of the country are about a million and a half dollars ahead on account of the rain which has boomed the pasturage. At this date last year there had been shipped from the port of Montreal 770,152 boxes of cheese. At this date this year the shipments amount to 1,026,196 boxes. Thus we have to credit the rainfall, which played havoc with our peas and dampened our cut hay a little more than we thought necessary, with the production of an extra quarter of a million boxes of cheese, which at the average rate of $6.50 per box means an addition of $1,625,000 to the profits of the farmers. A similar gain has been made in the production of butter. This time last year the shipment of butter from Montreal totalled 180,622 packages, this year so far they amount to 228,314 packages a gain of nearly 50,000 packages.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Liberal-Conservative Association of Ontario will hold a general meeting in Toronto, during the Industrial Exhibition, and Mr. Whitney is to name the day.

King Edward is either a kindly, simple-hearted gentleman or a deep diplomat with the instincts that make the successful politician. He is doubtless a good deal of both. His democratic simplicity in introducing the Boer generals to his "wife" instead of to the Queen is an act that small as it is will, if any such influence is needed, go far to reconcile the Boer leaders to their new allegiance. The generous and hearty reception extended the visiting Boer generals by the King and by the people has done much to mitigate the virulent if impotent hostility of several continental journals.

The Conservative managers must have a dread of the election courts. The legal advisers of the Conservative party are making a strong attempt to have its petition against the election of Mr. T. G. Carscallen, returned as an Opposition member for Lennox, set aside on a technicality. If the Opposition methods were as pure as Mr. Whitney claims them to be, that purity would be demonstrated by the trial of an election petition against one of his supporters; or is it possible that Mr. Whitney's gang of 40 "Yankee" election manipulators worked as far east as Napanee?

Schwab, president of the United States Steel Corporation, has learned the lesson that the human system will stand only so much strain, without collapsing. The papers were at the time of his appointment full of the tremendous salary he was receiving, but the question is, whether the salary was worth the sacrifice the earning of it entailed. Schwab overworked himself, and has broken down under the physical and nervous strain. At a comparatively early age, he is an aged, broken down and useless man, perhaps a burden to himself, and useless to the world. He would insist in working beyond his capacity, and pays the penalty.

The Mail and Empire has had another night-mare, and has dreamed that there is to be another provincial general election at once, and that on this account the Federal and Provincial Ministers are coming home from the Old Country a month earlier than they intended to do. It credits Sir Oliver Mowat with the intention of taking the unconstitutional course of forcing an appeal to the people in a case where a government has a majority of elected supporters. The Mail is a journal of wonderful resource in its struggle to get office for its political friends.

The Dufferin (Manitoba) Leader says that female help is so scarce in the locality in the neighbourhood of Carman that 100 girls could easily find employment for the next few months at from $15 to $20 per month and board, to assist farmers' wives during the harvest and threshing seasons, which usually extend well into November. This is a great chance for girls to make money and matrimony also, for in every newly settled community there is a dearth of females, there being often three or four marriageable men for every marriageable female, so that girls emigrating to the northwest stand a good chance for remaining as heads of households.

Although the medicine business should, above all, be carried on with the utmost conscientiousness and sense of responsibility, the unfortunate fact is that in no other is there so much humbug and deception. The anxieties of the sick and their relatives are traded upon in the most shameful manner; impossible cures are promised; many preparations are absolutely worthless, and some are positively dangerous to health.

As a consequence, all proprietary remedies are regarded with suspicion by many people, and the good suffer for the bad.

BRITAIN'S FOOD SUPPLY.

Report of Her Imports for Five Years.

24 Per Cent From British Possessions—33 Per Cent. From U. S.—43 Per Cent. From Other Countries—Agricultural Imports are 63 Per Cent. of Britain's Total.

Washington, Aug. 18.—A report on the agricultural imports of Great Britain for the years 1896 to 1900, inclusive, with a significant review of the trade conditions and possibilities between the United States and the United Kingdom, has been compiled by Frank H. Hitchcock, chief of the division of foreign markets in the Department of Agriculture. The United Kingdom is the principal market for the surplus agricultural produce of exporting countries. The report says that the products of agriculture sent to that market from all sources in 1900 reached the enormous value of $1,578,000,000, forming 62 per cent. of the entire import trade of Great Britain and Ireland. In the five years mentioned the annual average value of the imports into the United Kingdom was $2,[illegible],174,441, of which $1,458,921,77[illegible] or 63 per cent., were agricultural, and $849,252,665, or 37 per cent. non-agricultural.

To this extraordinary import trade in agricultural produce the United States was the principal contributor, furnishing about 33 per cent. or nearly one-third of the supply. About 43 per cent. came from foreign countries other than the United States. The possessions and dependencies of the United Kingdom throughout the world together contributed about 24 per cent. Continuing, the report says:—

The value of the agricultural produce received from the United States amounted to $518,000,000, leaving over $1,000,000,000 worth of such produce to be supplied from other sources.

While the United States already possesses a market of exceeding importance in the United Kingdom, selling to that country more than half of the surplus production of American farms, the possibilities of further trade extension there, in competing with other export countries, are well worth consideration.

Among the agricultural imports into British markets during 1900 there were comparatively few products in which the United States controlled the larger portion of trade. Taking such items as had a value exceeding $10,000,000, of which there were 34 in the year under consideration, only nine of them came more extensively from the United States than from the various other sources. These nine items, with the percentage of the total supply received in each case from the United States, were as follows: Lard, 93 per cent.; ham, 89 per cent.; tobaccon, 84 per cent.; wheat flour, 83 per cent.; fresh beef, 74 per cent.; raw cotton, 74 per cent.; cattle, 72 per cent.; Indian corn, 70 per cent.; bacon 64 per cent.

While other countries are the chief contributors of luxuries, the United States is the source from which the British people procure a large measure of those staple food products that are absolutely necessary to the maintenance of life. This causes the peculiar dependence of the United Kingdom on American sources of supply.

During 1900 less than 2 per cent. of the butter imported was furnished by the United States. For the imports received from other sources the United Kingdom paid over $83,000,000. The eggs imported cost over $26,000,000. Only about 3 per cent. went into the pockets of American exporters. About $25,000,000 was spent by the British people for imported wines, less than one per cent of which came from the United States. About $12,000,000 worth of oleomargarine was imported, of which the United States supplied less than one per cent. Nearly $11,000,000 was spent for imported potatoes. Practically the entire trade went to other countries than the United States. The United Kingdom spent over $10,000,000 in the importing of oranges. Less than one per cent. of the shipments received came from the United States.

Numerous other agricultural products suggest possibilities in the way of a larger sale in the British market.

Mr. Hitchcock predicts that the greatest future development of American trade in the British market may be expected in perishable products, exportation of which is now made possible by modern transportation methods. France is the chief competitor of this country in supplying farm produce to the United Kingdom, the agricultural imports from France aggregating $103,000,000 in value in 1900.

Despaired of Being Cured.

Mrs. W. E. Jeffries, 44 Hicks avenue, Kingston, Ont., writes, 'I suffered agonies with itching piles. In fact I don't believe that any person who has not had piles can realize what I endured. Pimples, Blotches and Skin Eruptions

How unsightly, sometimes even disgusting, and certainly very mortifying to the sufferer. They are merely an evidence of impure, poisoned blood, and lowered vitality of the elementary organs, which can be quickly changed by taking Ferrozone after meals. Ferrozone cleanses the blood of all poisons and eruptions, makes it rich in red corpuscles that manifest themselves in a healthy ruddy complexion. To have a pure, soft skin and good complexion simply use Ferrozone regularly. Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at Ormond & Walsh's.

HAMILTON MAY BE DARKENED.

Effect of the Strike of the Electrical Workers Noticeable.

Hamilton, Aug. 20.—It was announced this afternoon by the striking electrical workers that no time limit had been decided on for the settlement of the matters in dispute between the strikers and the company. The strikers say they want arbitration, and they are not doing anything to prevent the possibility of securing this.

Until either Mr. Green or Mr. Hawkins returns nothing will be done by the strikers.

The effect of the strike is becoming more noticeable nightly. Monday evening the police reported a great many arc lights out, and last night hundreds of incandescent lights in the Gore and City Hall illuminations were out.

At a meeting of the Board of Works last night, Ald. Basquit protested against the poor condition of the lights at night, and asked that the Cataract Co. be forced to carry out its contract. The City Solicitor was instructed to notify the company of the unsatisfactory state of the lights, and threaten the rescinding of the contract if they are not improved.

UNCLE SAM AND TURKEY.

Renewal of Tension Between the Two is Alleged.

Washington, Aug. 20.—It is admitted at the State Department that there is a renewal of tension between the United States and Turkey, but the officials do not deem it prudent to disclose the present condition of affairs. They say, however, that the condition is in no way grave, but is of that strained character which has occurred from time to time with Turkey in recent years. It is gathered that the present tension grows out of the long pending claims of the Americans who suffered loss during the Armenian outbreak. To some extent the Stone abduction added cause for irritation. The American Minister, Mr. Lieshman, has been given wide latitude to deal with the situation as circumstances may demand. There is the fullest confidence on the part of the authorities here in the course being pursued by the Minister.

TORONTO GIRL NEARLY LOST.

Miss Edna Dunn Rescued by a Brave Philadelphian.

Atlantic City, N.J., Aug. 20.—One of the most exciting rescues of the season was made yesterday by Jas. A. Tisdale, a prominent young man of Philadelphia. Mr. Tisdale was walking along the beach in the morning between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock when he heard a faint cry, and, looking out on the water, saw a young lady in distress. The fair one was Miss Edna Dunn of Toronto, Can.

Tisdale hastened to her side, arriving in time to save her going down the second time. Although the undertow was very strong, Mr. Tisdale succeeded in bringing the fair damsel to shore. On reaching land he was applauded for his brave act.

WARSHIP BLOWN TO PIECES.

Washington, D.C., Aug. 20.—The Navy Department has received information concerning the explosion which completely wrecked the Chinese cruiser Kai-Chih on June 22 last, while the ship was lying at her station of Nan-King. The explosion occurred at 12.35 p.m. The vessel was blown to pieces and all of the officers and men, about 130, were lost, with the exception of a seaman, who was picked up slightly wounded. The cause of the explosion could not be ascertained definitely, but it was believed that either the careless handling of ammunition or the want of care in using lights in or near the magazine was accountable for it.

The Shah was received with loud cheers when he entered the building and he apparently enjoyed the ballet, the animated pictures and the other attractions offered.

Yesterday the Shah gave a reception to the members of the Cabinet and the foreign diplomats in London and during the afternoon he took a long drive.

HAMILTON GIRL DROWNED.

Jane Shay, a Nurse in Family of Henry Carscallen, the Victim.

Toronto, Aug. 20.—Henry Carscallen, M.P.P., who is staying at the Queen's Hotel, received a telegram last night from Morivus, near the Royal Muskoka Hotel, saying that Jane Shaw, a nurse girl in his family, was drowned there yesterday. She and her parents live in Hamilton, and Mr. Carscallen will leave this morning to bring the remains home.

A Toronto Suicide.

Toronto, Aug. 20.—The doctors at St. Michael's Hospital were summoned at 10 o'clock last night to the basement of No. 2 Bond street, where they found Mrs. Ellen Clarke, wife of Thomas Clarke, contractor, suffering from carbolic acid poisoning. The stomach pump was used and emetics administered, but the woman failed to rally under the treatment. She died about 11 o'clock. Deceased was 57 years of age. All the circumstances of the case point to suicide. Mrs. Clarke, it is understood, had been drinking heavily for the past two weeks.

A Traveler Found Dead.

Najanse, Aug. 20. — About 8.30 yesterday afternoon W. Coffey, a man about 65 or 70 years of age, was found dead in his room in the Paisley House. It is clearly a case of suicide by gas, as there was no occasion to use the gas, there being an electric light in the room, which was going all night. The man is a traveler, but it is not as yet known what firm he represented. In five or six places in a book and on the inside of a newspaper, he wrote "121 Stuart street, Kingston is my home," which showed that he had premeditated the rash act.

Gored by a Bull

Athens, Aug. 20.—The death of James Donnelly, a prominent farmer at Seely's Bay, occurred Monday as the result of injuries received by being attacked by a bull on his farm Friday. His back was badly injured and limbs paralyzed. He would have been killed outright at the time, but for the arrival of a neighbor.

SIR WILLIAM MULOCK

The Postmaster-General Was Never In Better Health.

CONTRARY REPORTS ARE FALSE

The Militia Camps For 1902—1,897 of All Ranks to Camp at Niagara—There Will Be Camps at Three Rivers, Que., and Sussex, N.B.—Lord Dundonald Will Visit All These Camps.

Ottawa, Aug. 20.—Reports sent out to certain newspapers represented that Sir William Mulock was badly crippled by rheumatism, and had gone to Paris to consult a specialist. Dr. Coulter, Deputy Postmaster-General, cabled for information regarding the report, and yesterday received a reply that it was absolutely false, and that the Minister never was in better health. Sir William Mulock and party leave for Canada on the 30th inst.

The War Medals.

According to the rule laid down by the Imperial authorities, troops who landed in South Africa after May 31 last are not eligible for the war medal. This excludes the third, fourth, fifth, and sixth Canadian Rifles. Although they did no fighting, however, these men were prepared to do their duty in the field, and many of them made heavy sacrifices in leaving their homes for South Africa. Under the circumstances, it is probable that the Canadian Government will urge the War Office to grant the war decoration to the regiments in question.

The Militia Camps.

The following will be the strength of the forces to be assembled at the several camps of instruction in September: Niagara, 1,897 of all ranks: Three Rivers, 980 of all ranks; Sussex, N. B., 109 of all ranks. Lord Dundonald intends to visit all three camps. He will probably begin at Sussex, and afterwards visit Three Rivers and Niagara respectively.

The following will be the dates of arrival of the various artillery detachments that are to compete at Deseronto: 11th and 16th Field Batteries, 15th September; 4th and 7th Field Batteries, 16th September; 9th and 5th Field Batteries, 17th September; 8th and 14th, 18th September; A and B Batteries, R.C.F.A., 13th September; 1st and 2nd Field Batteries, 22nd September; 3rd and 10th Field Batteries, 23rd September; 12th and 13th Field Batteries, 24th September; 15th Field Battery, 25th September; No. 1 Company and No. 2 Company, R.C.G.A., 26th September; No. 1 Company, No. 2, Company, 2nd Regiment C.A., 29th September; No. 3 Company, 2nd Regiment C.A., 30th September; Cobourg Company Garrison Artillery, 30th September; No. 1 Company and No. 2. Friday next will be Mr. E. B. Eddy's birthday. Added interest will be lent to the occasion from the fact that on that day the corner-stone of the new office building being erected on the site of the temporary structure built after the fire will be laid with appropriate ceremony. Mr. Eddy was born on his father's farm, near Bristol, Vt., on August 22, 1827, and is accordingly in his 75th year. Despite advancing years he still takes a keen interest in the affairs of his business, and is thoroughly conversant with its details.

He fell 35 feet into a concrete paved hole below.

Major Wood Appointed.

Ottawa, Aug. 20.—An Order-in-Council has been passed appointing Major Zachary Taylor Wood acting commissioner of the Yukon territory.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

TWO GUARDS SHOT

Trouble Breaks Out Near Carbondale—Ode Probably Dying.

Scranton, Pa., Aug. 20.—Michael Connelly and Morris Drossman, guards at the Edgerton colliery of the Temple Iron Company, near Carbondale, were fired upon early yesterday morning from ambush. Drossman, who was shot through the foot, had his foot amputated at the Carbondale Emergency Hospital. Connelly, who was shot through the eye, is in a critical condition. Sheriff Schadt and his deputies are trying to run down the men who did the shooting, but thus far have found no clue to the would-be assassins.

Blame the Outsiders.

New York, Aug. 20.—The presidents of the anthracite coal roads had their usual weekly conference here yesterday. Before going to the conference Mr. Truesdale, president of the Lackawanna Railroad Company, said: "There is no foundation in fact for the rumor that the anthracite coal operators will make concessions in order to end the strike. I think work will be resumed in time to produce plenty of coal for the fall demand. The operators are ready, as they always have been ready, to adjust with their men any grievances that they may have, and they have never discriminated against any of their men because they belonged to the union. What the operators will not do is to discuss their business affairs with outsiders."

Conductors Favor Strikers.

Montreal, Aug. 20.—The Railway Conductors' Railway Association passed a resolution yesterday declaring against the handling of coal mined by non-union miners.

SUFFERED TEN YEARS

From Kidney Trouble, Pain in the Back and Hips.

An Ingersoll Lady's Remarkable Recovery by the use of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets.

Do not let any lady who is suffering the miseries of backache and derangement of the kidneys, hesitate one moment in procuring Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. These Tablets are the formula of Dr. Zina Pitcher, the eminent Kidney Specialist, and have cured hundreds of cases of the severest type of kidney disease which ordinary remedies could not benefit. They are small in size, chocolate-coated and mild, yet thorough-going in their action—just suited to the requirements of a lady's delicate organism.

Mrs. W. Wallace, whose home is Bell street, Ingersoll, Ont., speaks of the benefits she derived from the Tablets as follows:—

"For many years, some ten or twelve, I have had a great deal of trouble with my back and kidneys, the pain getting into my left hip. I have doctored and doctored and tried all sorts of kidney remedies, and finally determined to try Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. I got a bottle from A. E. Gayfer, druggist, and must say they have done me a great deal of good. The pain in my back and hip is gone, the kidney irritation removed and I sleep well now at night. I am pleased with the Tablets and am glad to recommend them."

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are 50 cents a bottle or three for $1.25 at all druggists or by mail. Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.

Head Crushed to a Jelly.

Quebec, Aug. 20.—A young man named Rousseau, 19 years of age, was instantly killed in the Rock City Tobacco Company's building, about 2.30 p.m. yesterday. The deceased was caught by the belting and whirled round until his head was crushed to a jelly.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—To-morrow being the Civic Holiday there will be no issue of the Examiner.

—The J. C. Turnbull Co's dress making department will open for the fall season on Tuesday, Aug. 26th.

—A false alarm called out both fire teams yesterday. The alarm was sent in through some wires getting crossed.

—St. Andrew's choir will resume practice on Wednesday evening, the 27th, at 8.30. Full attendance is quested.

—A large excursion passed through town this morning for Stony Lake. It was run under the auspices of the Baptist church, of Port Hope.

—Two livery rigs have been stolen in Port Hope this year. The last one was recovered yesterday at a point 12 miles from Whitby. Local liverymen should keep their eyes open.

SUDDENLY TAKEN ILL.

A Stony Lake Cottager From Toronto in a Critical Condition for Some Time.

Mrs. Rice, wife of Mr. O. F. Rice, of the Imperial Bank, Toronto, was taken suddenly ill, this morning, on alighting from the Lakefield train as it pulled into the local depot. Happily, Dr. Grey was at the station at the time, and, after administering restoratives, had Mrs. Rice removed to the Nicholls Hospital. Heart trouble was the cause of the collapse and for a time the case was an exceedingly critical one.

Mrs. Rice has been occupying Grassy Island, Stony Lake, during the summer months and is a great favourite amongst the cottagers, who will learn of her illness with extreme regret. Mr. Rice is expected to arrive in town this evening.

SOUTH MONAGHAN PEACHES.

A Very Fine Sample Brought in From Mr. Thos. Armstrong's Farm.

Mr. Thomas Armstrong, of Bensfort, showed the Examiner to-day a very fine sample from his crop of peaches this year. The variety is known as the "Alexander," and for colouring and flavour outrivals anything in the fruit line which has ever been brought to this office. Mr. Armstrong planted a couple of peach trees on the south side of his house six years ago, as an experiment, and was rewarded this season by a fine crop, proving the Examiner's oft-repeated contention that South Monaghan as a fruit growing centre cannot be beaten in Ontario. Some of the peaches picked by Mr. Armstrong measured 8 1-2 inches in circumference.

BENIGHTED LINDSAY.

The People Don't Want Good Roads, Public Schools or a Carnegie Library.

It would appear that the ratepayers of Lindsay are contented to travel in their glutinous mud, and to grow up in ignorance. On Monday the voting on the bylaws to raise $20,000 for Good Roads, $14,000 for a new Public School Building, and $2,000 to purchase a site for the Carnegie Library, resulted in a large adverse vote being cast against each bylaw, and now the friends of the respective propositions are busily endeavouring to gain some idea of the voters' reasons for opposing their particular bylaw, with what success has not yet been learned. The Good Roads bylaw was defeated by a majority of 237, the School Building Bylaw by 159, and the Carnegie Library bylaw by 218.

PLACE OF WORSHIP PURCHASED

The Christian Scientists of Peterborough, known as "The First Church of Christ Scientist," have purchased from Mr. Bradburn the church property on Aylmer street, in which they have worshipped during the past year and have men busy fitting it up with electric light. In future they will use gas and electricity for light. "At evening time it shall be light." Zech. xiv, 7.—Com.

STONY LAKE CIVIC HOLIDAY.

If you wish to enjoy Peterborough's Civic Holiday you cannot do better than go with the Maccabees to Stony Lake, per Steamer Majestic and Barge. There will be an orchestra for dancing, with Archie Moore as floor manager. Round trip tickets cost you 75c. Stop made at Mount Julian for dinner. Tickets can be secured at J. C. Turnbull's or from the committee in the morning at the station.

IN RETREAT.

Roman Catholic Clergy of the Diocese Assemble in Peterborough.

The annual retreat of the Roman Catholic clergy of the Diocese of Peterborough, is now taking place at St. Peter's Cathedral, those in attendance being as enumerated below. His Lordship Bishop O'Connor; Ven. Archdeacon Casey, Lindsay; Rev. Father Keilty, Douro; Rev. Father Murray, Cobourg; Rev. Father Collins, Bracebridge; Rev. Father T. O'Connell, Burnley; Rev. Father P. McGuire, Hastings; Rev. Father M. McGuire, Wooler; Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, Enniamore; Rev. Father Phelan, Young's Point; Rev. Father Bretherton, Downeyville; Rev. Father Bretherton, Downeyville; Rev. Father Kelly, Trout Creek; Father Frank O'Sullivan, Lindsay; Rev. Father O'Leary, Galway; Rev. Father Scanlan, Grafton; Rev. Father J. O'Sullivan, Kirkfield; Rev. Father Fleming, Huntsville; Rev. Father Lynch, Port Hope; Rev. Father McCloskey, Campbellford; Rev. Father Sweeney, Rev. Father D. O'Connell, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. Dr. O'Brien, and Rev. Father John O'Brien, of Peterborough.

The Retreat began at nine o'clock on Monday evening and will continue until six o'clock on Friday evening. Rev. Father O'Bryan, S. J., of Montreal, is the preacher for the week.

A requiem mass for the deceased members of the clergy will take place to-morrow morning at 7 o'clock.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Notes Concerning the Movements of Peterborough People and Their Visitors.

Capt. Strickland was in from Lakefield yesterday.

Mr. Sims leaves to-day for a trip to the Northwest.

Mr. Sam Munro, of Montreal, is in town renewing old friendships.

Mr. and Mrs. Alf Lancashire are at present on a visit to friends in Millbrook.

Miss Nellie Marshall, of Walkerton, Ont., is the guest of Miss Lizzie Scott.

Miss Edna Hill is spending her vacation visiting relatives and friends at Hastings.

Mrs. John McKee, formerly of town, is the guest of Miss Walton, Hunter street.

Mr. Ed. Squires of Woodstock, is receiving a warm welcome from old friends in town.

Dr. Beatty is receiving many hearty handshakes from old friends, having returned to town.

Master Harvey Hall, of Toronto, is spending a few weeks with his friend, H. Hanson.

Mrs. (Dr.) Gray, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Nellie, is spending a week in Millbrook.

Little Carry White has gone up the lakes to-day to take part in a concert to-night. She is accompanied by her father.

Mr. and Mrs. Devins, who have had apartments with Miss Robertson, Reid street, are taking up housekeeping on London street.

Miss Olmsted, of St. Thomas, and Miss Renwick, of Keene, who have been visiting the Misses Harding, 315 Bethune street, have returned home.

Miss Kate Ross, of No. 509 Water street, left to-day to spend a couple of weeks at Chemong Park Hotel with Mrs, and Miss Tuke, of Belleville.

Mr. Vic Martin, of Whitby, who formed one of the Eko Camp party at Stony Lake, and has since been the guest of Mr. Will Ackerman, has returned home.

Mr. C. C. Compiin, accountant of the local branch of the Bank of Commerce, leaves on Saturday to assume his new duties as Manager of the branch in Carmen, Manitoba.

Mrs. Blythe and Master Ross, who have been visiting the former's sister, Mrs. C. Clemmence, Walton street, have returned to their home, in Parkdale, accompanied by Miss Edna Sturtridge, daughter of Private Banker Sturtridge, Sutton West.

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR NEW CHURCH.

An Annex of St. Paul's to be Built in the South Ward.

Last night a meeting of the building committee appointed to arrange for the building of a new structure to be used as a Sunday school room and for purposes of public worship, met to consider tenders. There were six tenders sent in, varying considerably in figures. The contract was awarded to Messrs. Rutherford Bros. for $4037, the building to be completed by December 1st.

The new building, which will be used under the auspices of St. Paul's, will be 45 x 65 feet in area, built of brick upon a stone foundation. It will be placed on the north west corner of Reid and Wolfe streets. When the new structure is completed it will be the third place of public worship erected in the south ward within the past few years, as new centres of Christian work, and if St. Paul's new church enterprise is attended with the same success, as most probably it will be, as its two predecessors, the wisdom of providing the new building will be amply justified.

CIVIC HOLIDAY AFTERNOON.

For the convenience of those desirous of taking a half holiday on the above date, the fast sailing steamer Water Lily will run an afternoon trip to Jubilee, leaving the C.P.R. wharf at 1.30 p.m., returning will arrive in Peterborough at 8.30. Fare, Jubilee and return, 50c, Hale's Bridge and Highland Park, 25 cents.

THE NEW BOILER.

A Horizontal one Will in all Probability be Selected by the Council.

A meeting of the Town Council was called for yesterday afternoon, but a quorum could not be drummed up. The business to be considered was the matter of selecting a new boiler to be used in connection with the heating of the town offices. The members present were all in favour of purchasing a horizontal boiler, instead of an upright one on account of its possessing the advantage of using soft or hard coal or wood as fuel. It can also be cleaned easier than the upright boiler.

The members present favoured Mr. Adam Hall's tender of $798 for supplying a Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Company's horizontal boiler.

CONTINUING ANOTHER WEEK.

Messrs. H. LeBrun and Co., on account of the Civic Holiday, have decided to continue their cheap sale for the balance of the week. In the meantime they will commence the removal of their stock to their new premises, but this will not interfere with the sale, which will go on as usual. Great bargains in everything; secure them while they last.

Only a limited number of tickets will be sold for the Oddfellows' round trip excursion on Civic Holiday. Good time guaranteed. Train leaves G.T.R. station 7.30 a.m. sharp.

STONY LAKE NEWS.

How the Campers and Cottagers are Spending Their Time.

Messrs. Niven and Wallace, of Rochester, who are staying at the Victoria House, went out with Jim Pimmett on Monday and caught six fine lunge and three bass, landing all with the rod.

Mrs. Babson, one of the guests at Viamede, is taking a number of her friends on a trip to Buckhorn on Thursday.

Miss Adele Thomas, of Carlton street, Toronto, is visiting her cousin, Miss Ethel Piper.

Dr. and Mrs. Bradd, who have been spending a few days at "Bona Vista" returned to Peterborough on Monday accompanied by Miss Alta Bradd, who has been holidaying at the Victoria House.

Miss Mabel Bradburn has returned to Peterborough after spending a few days at the lake.

Miss Geraldine King is staying with Miss Hazel Sanderson for a week or so.

The scheme to have an orchestra at the pavilion for regatta week seems to have fallen through.

Miss Allison Hamilton and Miss Alta Bradd made a nice catch of bass off the Victoria House wharf on Monday morning.

Messrs. A. W. McPherson and Garnet Bell have a neat camp on Juniper Island and are receiving lots of callers.

"Paul Jones" appears to be the popular dance at the pavilion since started by the "Explorers," of Rochester.

There will be no boat meeting the noon train from Peterborough at Lakefield on Thursday.

Mr. Wm. Ball, of Chatham, and Mr. Larry Bennett are on a fishing trip to Buckhorn.

Miss Rudkins, of Peterborough, and Miss McCarthy, of New York, have been staying at the Victoria House for the last few days.

Swimming at midnight seems to be quite a fad with some of the young ladies who are registered at Forest Nook.

Mr. C. N. Brown is earning the name of being one of the most successful fishermen on the lake.

It is proposed that fortnightly regattas be held at the lake next year for the purpose of encouraging talent and thereby increasing the entry list at the big annual affair.

Mr. J. D. Collins sprained his leg quite badly last week and left for Peterborough on Tuesday in order to consult a physician.

Fresh arrivals at Mount Julian Hotel last week were—Miss M. Donavan, Miss K. Murphy, Miss Hemmel and Mr. Fred Kelly, of Rochester; Mr. and Mrs. Fuller and L. S. Skinner, of Baltimore; Mr. S. E. Mr. Bailey, before the bidding opened, called attention to the fact that a number of the makers were putting their cheese in boxes which were too small to such a degree that the cheese projected from a quarter to three inches above the top of the box. Recently he had passed some cheese as first class, but complaints had been sent back from England concerning it, and the result was that there was a claim against him from his customers of from 1-4 to 2 cents a pound on the shipment. When the cheese were piled 9 and 10 high in steamers the covers were pressed down and any cheese which projected above the top of the box was damaged to a serious extent. The English buyers wanted cheese of from 80 to 85 pounds weight, but many of the makers turned them out at from 96 to 100 pounds and then tried to place them in the small boxes. Recently a maker had apparently run out of the proper kind of nails and used shingle nails to close his boxes and a big claim had immediately been sent back from England. The patrons of the factories all suffered from this kind of work as the English buyers sent back word to cease shipping from such factories. Mr. Bailey urged the patrons to warn their makers against such neglect.

President Drummond asked that serious attention be paid to Mr. Bailey's remarks, as every factory was affected to a degree.

Mr. Wrighton confirmed Mr. Bailey's statements. He had shipped a carload in June and the Glasgow firm, to whom he had sold, while raising no objection to the quality of the cheese, demanded that he guarantee all boxes in future. Of course he could not do this and would thus lose a valuable customer.

Mr. Thos. Blezard endorsed what had been said by the previous speakers. He had recently been at the station with Mr. Whitton and had seen cheese sent in much too large for the boxes. He urged that the matter be dealt with immediately.

Mr. Drummond thought that the makers were not able to make enough to afford the large boxes, and tried to economise in this particular. He urged that the wages of the makers be raised.

Mr. Kennedy, of Buckhorn, thought that the Boards of Directors of the factories concerned should be notified and allowed to deal with the matter.

Mr. Wrighton's suggestion as a remedy was that the factories should buy the boxes themselves and deduct the cost from the wages of the cheese makers.

Mr. Bailey explained that he only made his remarks as a warning to the factories this time, but as his firm could not stand such losses, the matter would have to go to the courts in case there was a recurrence of such claims.

The bidding was opened by Mr. Whitton at 9c; 9 1-8 was bid by Mr. Fitzgerald, 9 1-4 by Mr. Wrighton, 9 3.8 by Mr. Fitzgerald, and 9 1-2 by Mr. Whitton. At this price Mr. Whitton picked Ormonde, Westwood and Villiers, all of which accepted.

Mr. Wrighton offered 9 1-2 for further selections and took Warsaw, Shearer, Keene and Peterborough.

Mr. Wrighton then offered 9 7-16 for further selections. Mr. Kerr went 9 1-2 and chose Lakefield, Central Smith and North Smith. He offered 9 7-16 for further selections and named Buckhorn, East Emily, Myrtle, Fraserville, Mount Pleasant, Trewern, Lang, Cavanville and Dartford, all of which refused. The factories accepting were Norwood, Melrose Abbey, Fleetwood, Percy, Missing Link and Ballyduff.

Mr. Wrighton added Bensfort to his selections.

Mr. Bailey at 9 1-2 took Dartford, Shamrock, Indian River and Cavanville, and offered 9 7-16 for Brickley, which refused. The following factories accepted, Oakdale, Daisy D, and Darlington Union.

At 9 7-16 Mr. Rollins called Warminster, Oakdale, Daisy D, Pine Grove, Maple Leaf, Young's Point, North Dummer, Cedardale, Stony Lake, South Burleigh, and Apsley, all accepting.

At 9 1-2 Mr. Cook took Lang, Fraserville, Mount Pleasant, and Otonabee Union.

At 9 1-2 Mr. Wrighton bought Myrtle.

At 9 7-16 Mr. Kerr chose Trewern, Buckhorn, Oak Leaf and East Emily.

The matter of the date of the next meeting of the Board was settled by an adjournment for three weeks.

OBITUARY.

Death of Mr. William Huggins of South Monaghan.

The funeral of the late William Huggins, Esq., of South Monaghan, took place this morning from the family residence, on the 4th concession of that township. The deceased was 78 years of age and his many high attributes of heart and mind made him one of the most highly respected and revered residents of South Monaghan. He leaves four children to mourn the death of a most indulgent father, viz. — Mrs. John Buckham, of South Monaghan; Mrs. Albert Waterman, of town; Thompson, of Victoria County, and Andrew of the homestead.

BOWLING-ON-THE-GREEN.

Both Peterborough rinks which went to Niagara to play in the Ontario Bowling Association Tournament, lost their matches in the first round yesterday, but of course have still other chances to win prizes in the numerous competitions which have been arranged. Skip Robert Kerr met with particularly hard luck yesterday by losing his game by only one shot. He was pitted against the crack rink of the Canadas, of Toronto, the vice-skip of which skipped the rink which landed the Dominion Trophy last month. Skip Stratton was unlucky enough to be drawn against one of the veteran Caer Howell club rinks, and was beaten out by ten. The scores were as follows;

Canada.	Peterborough.
Postlethwaite,	W. K. Hall,
Hastings,	E. W. Cox,
Boeckh,	R. Waddell,
Dr. Woods, sk...15	R. Kerr, sk.....14
Caer Howell.	Peterborough.
Domelle,	T. F. Matthews,
Selby,	W. E. Talbot,
Humphrey,	W. Salisbury,
R. Alliss, sk...22.	A. H. Stratton, sk.12

In speaking of Skip Kerr's match the Toronto Globe says: "An extra end was necessary to decide this game, and the strong Canada skip, with the winning skip and third from the Island Tournament, found the new comers from Peterborough keen opponents. The Canada's begun with 7-1 at the 4th end, 11-4 at the 9th, but the easterners then scored 2, 2, 1, 1, 2, and were 12-11 at the 14th end. Canada scored three singles, but Peterborough tied the score on 18th with a double. The extra end was nip and tuck, and Peterborough lay shot when the Canada Club took it out with the last bowl" In referring to Skip Stratton's match the Globe says; "Peterborough held their opponents until about the 11th end, when the score was 8 all, but Caer Howell made 4, 2, and 6, giving them a commanding lead."

In the Association match Skip Stratton's rink was beaten out by 2 shots by Dr. Moore, of Mitchell, the score being 14 to 12. The Globe says; "Mitchell was successful this time in making a sensational finish with a four-end by winning out Stratton's third shot. At ten ends Peterborough was ahead 10 to 5, and were 12 to 10 beginning the last end."

Skip Kerr won his way into the second round of the Association Match by winning from Skip Gardner of the Caer Howells by 13 to 11.

The Globe speaks of Skip Kerr's win as appended: "Peterborough were again compelled to play an extra end. Gardner lay two good shots, well guarded but Kerr opened up the head with his first bowl, raising the jack and drew the shot with the last."

At the green last night the single men challenged the married men to a match, and got walloped for their cheek. The score was as appended;

Married.	Single.
K. G. Loch,	F. Dixon,
W. J. Green,	O. Bradburn,
D. H. Moore,	C. Seymour,
E. Runnals,	A. J. N. Ferrill,

LACROSSE.

St. Peter's T.A.S. II team was picked last night for their match at Campbellford, and indications are that they will have to face a pretty strong aggregation in that place. The senior team will be picked tonight for their game with Hastings and it is said that they will likely face a team not wholly composed of Hastings players.

All players who have figured in games with St. Peter's T.A.S. I team are asked to be at Roy's studio tomorrow morning at 7.30 sharp with uniforms and lacrosse sticks in order to group for a photo.

BRITAIN'S NEW COINAGE.

Master of the British Mint Remembers the Globe.

Most newspapers, outside of the large cities, are familiar with bucolic remembrances in the shape of 'tall oats, lengthened corn stalks, corpulent pumpkins, and other like vegetable bric-a-brac, but it remained for the Globe to be remembered in a munificent way. The Globe received from its London correspondent on Monday, by the courtesy of the Master of the British Mint, a complete set of the new King Edward gold and silver coinage of the British realm. The set includes four coins in gold and nine in silver, namely pieces of 5 pounds, 2 pounds, 1 pound, and ten shillings in gold; and of five shillings, half a crown, two shillings, one shilling, six pence, four pence, three pence, two pence and one penny in silver. The two last named coins are novelties, and are presumably intended rather as curiosities than for circulation. The impression of the royal features on the coinage is in bold and striking profile. The Globe can now face pay day with equanimity.

and

PALACE BARGE, "LADYSMITH,"

(W. H. White, Captain.)

This fast and popular little steamer is open for charter for excursions for the season of 1902. The steamer and barge have a carrying capacity of 500. The "Alert" has been fitted with the most modern improvements, including machinery, etc., and has a speed, with the barge, of 7 miles an hour. The crew will be found to be careful and obliging, and the best of attention is guaranteed the travelling public.

Parties wishing to take a day's outing on Stony Lake, or any of the Kawartha Lakes, cannot do better than charter the fast sailing steamer Alert Parties of fifteen people and upwards can charter this steamer for the day at a very reasonable price. Prices made to suit parties. This gives the people a splendid chance of seeing the Lakes and gives more time at the different points of interest than by going by the regular steamers. No crowding. Hot and cold water always provided on board the steamer.

CATTLE INTO THE WEST.

14,500 Head Brought in From the United States.

Winnipeg, Aug. 19.—Several large herds of stock are now being taken into Western Canada. Among them are Cresswell's and Day's bunch of 10,000 2-year-old heifers, from New Mexico, and the Broom Cattle Company's bunch of 4,500 from Southern Colorado.

The Saskatchewan Valley Land Company have already sold one-half of their recently-acquired one million acre tract, situated between Regina and Prince Albert.

As a further instance of how Western Canada lands are selling, it may be noted that the immense block controlled by the Canadian-American Land Company along the Soo Line, has all been disposed of.

Brakeman Pitched 30 Feet.

Guelph, Aug. 19.—There was quite a smash on the W., G. & B. division of the G.T.R. about 11.30 Saturday night. A car of cement, an empty box car, and two cars containing lumber were thrown into the ditch. Andy Dawson, a brakeman, from Walkerton, was pitched some thirty feet. He escaped with a few scratches on the face and several bruises on the body.

Col Lynch Breaks Down.

London, Aug. 19.—Colonel Arthur Lynch, M.P., for Galway, awaiting trial for high treason, in having held command under the Boers, is breaking down in prison. He seems deeply impressed by the gravity of his situation, and is inclined to plead guilty and throw himself on the mercy of the Crown. The prosecution has gathered conclusive evidence of the truth of the charges, and Colonel Lynch's own statement is accepted as a confession of guilt.

Lord Strathcona's Energy.

Ottawa, Aug. 19.—Col. Macdonald has returned from London. In speaking of Lord Strathcona, he says: "His Lordship is at his office early and late, and seems never tired of ministering to the comfort and welfare of visiting Canadians. Many gentlemen endowed with equal wealth would prefer a life of greater ease, but Lord Strathcona seems to find keen zest in an active career. As for hospitality, his Lordship is a lavish entertainer."

Exhibits of Canadian Fruit.

Ottawa, Aug. 19.—The Agriculture Department has decided to send samples of this year's fruit, just picked, to the Cork and Wolverhampton Fairs for free distribution. The first shipment of this fruit will be forwarded next week and subsequent shipments will follow as soon as the different species of fruit ripen.

Nations Represented.

Christiania, Aug. 19.—About 1,000 foreign delegates representing all nations are here to attend the Young Men's Christian Association World's Congress, which will open to-day and last until Aug. 26.

Placed Under Arrest.

Paris, Aug. 19.—The Temps says that Commandant Leroy Laduric of the Nineteenth Infantry, who refused to obey an order to aid in closing unauthorized schools, has been placed under arrest. All the schools in Brittany have now been closed.

Tweed to North Bay.

Kingston, Aug. 19.—The Bay of Quinte R.R. Co. purposes extending its line from Tweed to North Bay.

TWO LETTERS

Has Not Changed His Mind in Seven Years.

This Correspondence Tells More Emphatically Than Perhaps Anything Could, the Perfect Permanency of Cures Made by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Gelert, Ont., Aug. 18,—(Special.)—Mr. Samuel Kernahan, of this place, is a wonderful example of what Dodd's Kidney Pills will do for sick and suffering humanity.

Mr. Kernahan had been very ill, indeed so ill that the doctors had given him up as incurable. He had spent a great deal of money in trying to obtain a cure, but all in vain, until at last a friend suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills. This wonderful remedy soon made him a well man, and although this was nearly seven years ago, he has scarcely known what illness has been since, and has never had a return of his old trouble. The following letters which he has addressed to the proprietors of Dodd's Kidney Pills, tell the story:

Gelert, Ont., Oct. 12, 1895.

In Dec., 1893, I was taken sick and laid up, unable to work for 14 months. I was confined to my house and to my bed. I was attended at various times during these months by five different doctors. Three of them decided that my ailment was floating kidney and incurable. The other said that it was spinal disease, but all five of them pronounced my case absolutely and positively incurable. My money was nearly all gone, for I was not a rich man. Some one advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and as a last hope I did so. After I had taken three boxes I was able to walk about, but I continued the treatment until I had taken eighteen boxes. Now I can say I am entirely cured and able to do my work as well as ever.

SAMUEL KERNAHAN.

Gelert, April 24, 1902.

I am as sound as I ever was and have not had the slightest return of my old trouble, since Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me away back in '94

SAMUEL KERNAHAN.

$35,000 Fire in Ottawa.

Ottawa, Aug. 20.—At 11 o'clock yesterday morning fire broke out in the works of the Silis, Eddy Mica Company, and spread to the adjoining premises of Romain Poulin, tinsmith, and Brady & Harris, undertakers. The block, which is owned by Messrs. W. D. Morris and Maclaren was damaged to the extent of $6,000. About $5,000 damages was sustained by the tenants.

STRIKER SHOT AND KILLED.

Armed Deputies Clash With the Bituminous—An Arrest Made.

Nesquehoning, Pa., Aug. 19.—In a clash between strikers and deputies here last night, Patrick Sharp, a striker, of Lansford, was shot and killed almost instantly by a deputy. The shooting caused considerable excitement for a time, but order was soon restored without any other persons being injured, and the town is now quiet. A deputy named Harry McElmoyle was arrested, charged with the killing of Sharp, and was taken to the county jail at Mauch Chunk. Sheriff J. H. Gombert of this county (Carbon) is at Mauch Chunk. It is reported here that he may ask that a detachment of the troops now stationed at Shenandoah be sent into the Panther Creek Valley.

Fighting For Arbitration.

London, Aug. 19.—William Abraham, member of Parliament for the Rhondda Valley division of Glammonnashire, and president of the Wales Miners' Federation, in a speech delivered yesterday before the Rhondda Valley miners, urged the acceptance of the proposal of a financial contribution to assist the striking miners in the United States, who, he said, were fighting for the cherished principle of arbitration. The meeting passed a resolution in favor of contributions being made by the federation.

Stomach and Liver Troubles.

Indigestion and Severe Headaches Resulting From a Sluggish Liver.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The liver is responsible for more ills and suffering than is generally supposed. Once the workings of the liver are disordered the blood is not properly filtered and foul impurities are lodged in all parts of the system. Much of the success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills is due to the fact that they act directly on the kidneys, liver and bowels, making them active and regular.

Mr. B. Knowles, broommaker, 586 Main street, St. John, N. B., writes: "For years I suffered from kidney and liver disorders. I had severe pains in the back and they caught me especially when I stooped over. I was also troubled with indigestion and severe headaches.

"I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and cannot speak too highly of this medicine, for it has done me a world of good. The back pains and headache have been entirely cured, and my digestion is good."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THE KING'S DINNER.

Contrast With the Gorgeous Indian Durbar—The New World's Chance—An Impressive Scene.

I have spoken of the extraordinary scene of Oriental opulence and magnificence which greeted the Prince and Princess of Wales on Friday night, and on Saturday the great stage manager of this universe turned the glass on a scene which from force of contrast with that of the preceding night could not be surpassed, writes Lally Bernard, the Special Coronation correspondent of The Toronto Globe, to her paper on July 7. The half million guests whom His Majesty had bidden to partake of his hospitality were visited by all the members of the royal family, who spent the hottest hours of the day witnessing sights and scenes in the east end and poor parishes of London, which must forever remain stamped on their memory. I regret greatly that the colonial Premiers and representatives of the empire beyond the seas had not been able to take this opportunity of speaking to the assembled guests on the advantages of seeking homes where dinner was a meal of daily occurrence to the mass of the people. Here in this great maelstrom of human luxury and intense human suffering one always has the horrible sensation that all the work being done by the people within the great metropolis to alleviate the condition of thg "submerged tenth" of which General Booth erote so strongly is useless and inadequate, and only serves to lower the vitality and the possible independence of the people upon which it is bestowed. There is nothing but "migration," as Mr. George Wyndham so well put it, and migration on an enormous scale, which will remedy the evil from which the great centres of human attraction seem to suffer. One never passes Trafalgar Square without a shudder at the contrast between the magnificent impressiveness of the great space, the fountains, and the immense column, and the degradation of the human types which seem in their utter hopelessness to defile the beauty of the historic spot.

The dinner to the poor subjects of the King of Great Britain, the Emperor of vast India, and the sovereign lord of the greater Britain beyond the seas brought to light, and concentrated as it were, upon the human mind the terrible condition which is a sore, an unclean ulcer, on the glory of the Imperial radiance of the moment. All through London landmarks are vanishing, and crumbling walls are being pulled down to let in God's air and sunlight, and even as the handiwork of ages past makes way for new paths and wholesome habitations, so also new methods must be called into existence to remedy the present conditions of the masses in London. What the Princes and Princesses and their suites thought of the guests of the King's dinner party on Saturday I am curious to know. Vicious poverty shows itself abroad in frequented parts of London daily and hourly, but on Saturday I saw a gathering which brought a sickening sense of horror to a mind accustomed to the conditions which govern the lives of the mass of our people in the colonies, and in Canada particularly. Hunger which has become habitual, hunger of the senses as well as the purely physical sensation, is a terrible condition to face when you see it reflected in thousands of countenances. The great Canadian arch on Constitutional Hill is daily visited by flocks of pigeons and birds, who feed on the choicest samples of grain from the western prairies, and I have spoken of the gaunt, sodden, hopeless faces of the London loafers, who gather about it open-mouthed, possibly realizing but little what a grain wheat means in the composition of sturdy manhood. Of one thing I feel certain, such a gathering as the King brought about on Saturday, must leave its mark on the national history, just as surely as will the deliberations of the colonial Premiers, now in progress. The men and women of note who visited with the members of the royal family those strange dinner tables, will take away with them an ineffaceable impression of the degradation of humanity which comes from the overcrowding of these large centres of so-called civilization, and legislation must look into the matter, and prevent the continuance of this unspeakable blot on British civilization.

There were such a number of curious and altogether unrehearsed effects. Surely the test of the grade of civilized man may in a measure be guaged by the manner in which food is consumed. Political and royal celebrities are accustomed only to watch the crowds as they are whirled by them in their carriages, but on this occasion the faces of the men, women and children consuming the good things provided for them were a study worthy of a pencil like Hogarth's. It was strange, unutterably sad, and gave one afeeling that with all our facilities for transportation, with all our wealth of soil and its fertility and richness, we of the Newer Britain have been sadly incompetent or ineffective in our methods of reaching the bulk of humanity for whom the great heritage is waiting in the lands beyond the seas. No glory that Britain can boast of can efface the memory of those faces and to the colonials who witnessed the distribution of the King's bounty there will come a renewed sense of the responsibility of the new world to the old, and an increased determination to guard our own countries by preventive measures against the overcrowding of human centres and the consequent suffering and degradation of the human race. Those who have advocated agriculture and rural life from a general disposition towards country existence and its pleasures must feel after this date a more earnest and determined purpose underlying their advocacy of agricultural pursuits.

DRESSY GOWNS.

Chiffon Picture Hats and Mull Costumes.

Chiffon picture hats in pale shades are as much worn as ever. They are invariably trimmed with lace, either plain or jeweled.

There is an attempt to revive mitts and openwork gloves of fine silk. A tulle boa decorated with petals of flowers to match those worn in the hat is another pretty and dainty mode of the hour.

OF PALE BLUE MULL.

Silk mull is one of the most popular fabrics for dressy gowns. It is extremely inexpensive and makes up like chiffon. Gowns of this description are made with many tucks. The waists are banded with tiny insertions, and the skirts have long trains made very full, with many ruffles.

Louis Quinze slippers of patent leather with oval gold buckles are considered the smart thing to wear with these thin summer gowns. The gown shown is of pale blue mull. It is cut decollete and has a triple ruffle of the goods, ending in a stole effect. The waist blouses a trifle all the way around. The skirt has a lace yoke. It is tucked perpendicularly and is finished around the bottom with three narrow ruffles edged with lace.

THE FEMININE MIND.

Some Men Think They Fathom It but They Are Mistaken.

A man can very seldom tell what is passing in a woman's mind. He talks with another man, and he can follow his processes; he gets his point of view; he can read between the lines; he can make a shrewd guess as to how he came to say that or why he refrained from saying the other, says the Watchman.

But a woman's mental processes are not those of a man. Her mental machinery is geared differently. You hear what she tells you. You can make inferences from it. They will be wrong because you do not know how she came to say what she did; you do not have the clew. Try to guess what she will say next, and you will find that you are all at sea.

The man who says that he understands woman is himself a woman. No man can understand a woman. He may love her. There may exist between his soul and hers that indefinable and celestial sympathy which is the sweetest thing on earth, but he does not understand her.

Her mental operation, her ways of thought, her point of view, will always be as inscrutable to him as the mental processes of an angel. Whether women understand each other is not quite certain. A greater part of the delight that men find in the companionship of women arises from their inscrutability. You cannot measure or exhaust them.

Their charming inconsequence, as it seems to you, will never cease to puzzle you, and every fresh conversation reveals a novelty of attitude or opinion.

Had Nervous Prostration.

Mrs. S. W. West, Drayton, Ont., states, "I got terribly run down, and finally became a victim of nervous prostration. I had no appetite, seemed to lose interest and ambition and could scarcely drag myself about. Hearing of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I used three boxes with great benefit, gaining 11 pounds. It made me strong and well and I had such an appetite that I wanted to be eating half the time."

Jim O'Brien's Epitaph.

"I suppose our western country has furnished more funny things in the epitaph line than all the rest of the world," remarked a Colorado ex-congressman.

"I remember one that adorned the cemetery at Leadville in the palmy days of that great mining camp. It seems that in the course of a barroom broil one Jim O'Brien, a well known character, had his existence terminated prematurely. He was a good fellow in the main and not without friends. One of the dead man's associates, in deep grief over his demise, erected a wooden slab over his grave on which he had written in large letters:

"Jim O'Brien departed for heaven at 9:30 a. m.

"A local humorist happened along soon afterward and appended the following:

"Heaven, 4:30 p. m.—O'Brien not yet arrived. Intense excitement. The worst is feared."

Valuable Advice to Rheumatics.

Eat meat sparingly, and take very little sugar. Avoid intoxicants, keep away from dampness, drink water abundantly, and always rely on Nerviline as a quick reliever of Rheumatic pains. Being five times stronger than ordinary remedies, Nerviline's power over pain is simply beyond belief. It cures also Sciatica, Lumbago, Neuralgia, and all pain, whether internal or external. Large bottles, price 25c.

Love of Country.

For the love of country, as such, it would be difficult to decide between the highlander of Scotland and the mountain born inhabitants of the Tyrol. Both will wander in search of fortune to the ends of the world and yet look back to their native mountains as their only real home. The same is true of the Swiss, although in a lesser degree. It is a very singular fact that inhabitants of mountainous countries possess this feeling of attachment in a much intenser form than those of flat countries.

A Genuine Triumph.

in the medical line is that made by a Brantford druggist, called Merrill's System Tonic. It embodies an idea long thought of but just recently made chemically possible. When System Tonic is taken the old blood is purified, new rich red blood is made, while all the organs in the body are toned and new tissue constructed. The result is perfect health. Sold in 50c bottles at Ormond and Walsh's.

CLOSING SCENES OF THE Y. M. C. A. CAMP.

From Holiday Hilarity to Business and Solid Books—The Last of an Interesting Chapter of Chronicles.

The fifth annual outing of the Y.M.C.A. boys at Clear Lake is now a memory of the past, yet a most pleasant one indeed to those alike who had its management in hand, as well as the boys who attended it. Only the story of the last three days remain to be told to the readers of your valuable paper.

My last letter was dated Saturday last so I will begin there.

It was a quiet day after the activities of Friday and the afternoon was spent by many dreaming under the trees of the early return to the duties of business and school life at home.

In the evening the whole camp enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. Ridpath, with his party on the Point. The affair took the form of a taffy-pull, and taffy was dealt out by Messrs. Ridpath and Bowden in generous chunks to the boys. This abundance led one boy to insist upon it that Mr. Ridpath was the man of sugar fame. It certainly was Ridpath's sugar, and good taffy it made, as the boys indicated by unanimous vote. A short programme was given, in which "Whitehead," "Stiff," "Skin," "Moody" and "Jiminy" took part.

Sunday morning, through the kindness of Mr. J. J. McBain, the boys were towed behind the Molly to service at the pavilion, where Rev. Mr. Taylor, of Norwood, preached.

Mr. Wm. Hartley and E. Dormer visited us on Sunday.

In the evening the closing gospel meeting of the camp was conducted on the shore by Mr. T. S. Cole, formerly Provincial Secretary of the Y.M.C.A., who gave a most impressive address.

On Monday we received our baptism for the camp, as it rained nearly all day, clearing up only for an hour or so in the afternoon, to resume with greater vigor during the entire night.

The most of the day was naturally spent in the tents, the boys taking advantage of their imprisonment to gather together their scattered belongings, and chop up red cedar logs for choice pieces for carving camp mementoes.

Several parties went to the "Regatta," at Juniper Island, dodging up between the showers.

A delegation from the camp went up and played "Rough-house," with the Harriers, and succeeded in spoiling the Egyptians.

By the way, the Harriers have their own ways of camp life, everybody comes and goes as he pleases. The regularity of meals is influenced by the "notion" of the majority. When they just went into camp no less than six meals was the order of the day, but as the days passed by it narrowed down to two—breakfast usually at two p.m. The cook for each meal was decided upon by a series of games of tiddle-de-winks, the loser of course, being elected.

A few days ago the Harriers entertained a party of lady and gentlemen visitors at their camp. One of the ladies got her shoes wet, and was assisted back to the boat on a camp chair. One Harrier failed to do his "Best," and stumbled over a stone and down went the load.

The Harriers played the return game of "Rough-house," by silently attacking our group tent at midnight on Monday. Little inconvenience was caused, as fresh supplies were quickly obtained from our "base" at Ayott's for the morning meal.

Tuesday morning found everything as disagreeable as possible for packing up because of the rain. However, good progress was made, the last breakfast was soon over, and the baggage transferred in the boats to Ayott's landing, where the busses were in waiting for the journey home, which was made pleasant by the bright sunshine, which almost atoned for the rain of the preceding day and night.

In closing this, our last letter, we have to thank you, Mr. Editor, for the generous use of your columns you have given us for our camp letters, which we trust have been of interest, as was intended, to your readers.

Good-bye till the camp of 1903, which all the boys who were out this year say they must attend.

KEENE.

Narrow Escape of Mr. William Wedlock.

Bert Howson has gone to the North West on the harvesters' excursion.

Miss Addie Doris, of Peterborough and Miss Loucie of Toronto, are visiting friends here.

The Foresters are running a moonlight from here on Friday night, the 22nd inst.

Dr. McCauley of Warkworth, is here for the duck-shooting.

Rev. R. Elmhirst occupied the Presbyterian pulpit here and at Westwood on Sunday.

Miss Laura Staples of Cobourg, is spending a few days with Mrs. Harrison.

Miss Asselstine of Odessa, and Miss Jones of Kingston, are visiting at the parsonage.

Mrs. W. McCrea and Miss Scott, of Ashburnham, spent a few days last week with Miss Campbell at Mount Pleasant.

Miss Lily Richards of Warkworth, is the guest of the Misses McCrea.

Mr. Arthur Shaw of the C.P.R., was home for a few days last week.

A serious accident happened to W. Wedlock on Thursday last. He was down in the flume cleaning out the wheel, when the scantling supporting the beams that held the water out, gave way, and a head of 9 feet of water rushed in on him. He grabbed for the scantling over head but the mighty rush of water tossed him as a feather and drove him into the penstock, a covered tunnel, up against the wheel, with the planks driving furiously after him. One of these plank struck him, breaking his collar bone and dislocating his shoulder. Another struck the wheel with such violence as to smash the plank into slivers. Fortunately Mr. Wedlock had presence of mind to hold his breath and maintain his bearing in the water, and when a full head got on and the current had somewhat abated he swam back to the opening and drew himself out. Mr. Wedlock is to be congratulated on his narrow escape. The curious part of the accident is that his pipe remained in his mouth during the whole of the time.

Miss Maud McLaughlin has returned from an extended visit to Burnley.

Miss Flora Roche has recovered from what threatened to be a serious illness.

Miss Masterson with her brothers Casey and Pat paid Keene a visit on Sunday.

Mrs. Michael Maher and son, Master Fred, Rochester, are visiting her sister, Mrs. M. D. Wallace.

Master Theo Quinn of Rochester, is staying with his aunt, Mrs. P. Quinn.

Miss Margaret Bryce of Iowa, is visiting her cousin, Miss Margaret Bryce.

Mrs. McIntyre, of Iowa, is visiting friends here.

THE NORWOOD BUDGET.

What is Going on in the Village to the East.

Mr. Leighton, who last spring accepted the position of principal of the Norwood Model School, has moved his household goods here and will make Norwood his permanent residence. We welcome Mr. and Mrs. Leighton and family to town.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Roxburgh spent a few days at Toronto and Niagara Falls last week.

The farmers in this district are busy getting their crops in, which they report as being No. 1.

Mr. Edgar Neibel, son of Mr. George Niebel, C.P.R. agent here, has been taken on the C.P.R. staff as relief operator. We wish Edgar every success and hope he will soon have a steady situation.

The Rev. F. D. Roxburgh, M.A., of Smithville, son of our townsman, W. E. Roxburgh, Esq., will occupy the pulpit of the Presbyterian church on Sunday next, both morning and evening.

Mr. Fred Doughty, accompanied by his wife, spent Sunday with friends in Warsaw.

Mr. G. J. Keefer, editor of the "Register," is rusticating at Stony Lake, the guest of Mr. H. G. Buck.

Mr. John Sherry went up to the lake on Monday last to attend the annual regatta.

Miss Minnie Birdsall was in town on Saturday on her way to Stony Lake, where she will be the guest of Mrs. W. E. Roxburgh, at "Rocklands."

Mr. Wm. Thistlewaite conducted Methodist services Sunday morning, and in the evening the pulpit was occupied by the Rev. Mr. Foley, of South Dummer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rork are spending a couple of weeks holidays with relatives in Peterborough and vicinity.

Miss McLelland, of Trenton, is the guest of Mrs. E. Pakenham.

The Rev. Mr. Spence, of Bath, an old Norwood boy, is in town renewing old acquaintances.

Mrs. Needham, of Temiscaming, is the guest of Mrs. McLeary.

Mr. W. Spear has opened out a photo gallery in Cunningham's old stand on Peterborough street.

Mr. Robt. Patterson has purchased the residence of Mr. Jas. Daley, north of the C.P.R. track.

Mrs. D. H. Booth and son, who have been spending the past two weeks with relatives in Belleville, are home again.

Mr. E. C. Pakenham and Mr. L. Kirkpatrick were up to Stony Lake on Monday to the Regatta.

Mrs. Thos. Fraser and daughter Miss Maggie have been visiting in Cobourg the guests of Mrs. Fowler.

Mrs. D. Fraser has returned from a holiday with friends at Cobourg and other points along the front.

Miss M. Foster, of Trenton, is spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Foster.

LATEST FASHION NOTES.

A Two Piece Gown With Princess Effect.

For slender women, gowns of voile, canvas, and foulard are made up with fullness at the hips and back, produced in various ways, whether by shirrings, shirred tucks, or pleats of various kinds. We illustrate a frock with the fullness at the sides and back arranged in side pleats, forming a panel effect in front, and a box pleat at the back. The lower portion of each pleat is ornamented with an elaborate applique of white cloth, stitched with pale blue Corticelli silk, the material of the frock being biscuit coloured canvas. Upon the upper part of each pleat is stitched a strap of taffetas of a peculiarly soft shade of blue, the stitching of this being in biscuit coloured sewing silk. True to the one piece idea, by which so many two piece gowns carry out the Princess style, the same trimming is carried up on the bloused basque only the order here is reversed, the white cloth applique forming the yoke, and the stitched straps the lower portion of the blouse, as well as the basque. A great Louis XV knot of pale blue pannel is placed at the left side of the vest, which is overlaid with the white cloth applique.

LAKEFIELD.

Interesting Items From the Village to the North.

Miss Graham, of Maple, is visiting in the village, the guest of Mrs. (Rev.) Campbell.

Mrs. J. M. Kilbourn, who has been visiting in the village, returned to her home in Otter Island on Friday.

Mr. D'Eyncourt Strickland, Manager of Quebec Bank, at Pembroke, was in the village this week attending the funeral of his mother, Mrs. J. P. Strickland.

Mr. Walter Strickland, who was here attending his mother's funeral returned to the city on Saturday.

On Saturdy last the Cordage Company's employees excursion passed through the village en-route to Buckhorn. Quite a large number availed themselves of the day's outing and enjoyed a most delightful return trip by moonlight.

Mrs. J. J. Turner, jr., Peterborough, is visiting with her mother, Mrs. John Todd.

Mrs. C. B. McAllister, of Peterborough, and Miss Whiten, of Pembroke, who are summering at Stony Lake, were in the village on Saturday.

Mr. Hodson, of Napanee, has been engaged by Messrs. Madill Bros. to help in their clearing sale.

Mr. James Jory left on Tuesday, bound for the northwest where he will spend three months.

The many Lakefield friends of Mr. John Clarin, formerly of this place, were shocked to hear of his death on Monday evening in Toronto at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Whaley. The remains are being brought to Lakefield and the funeral will take place on Wednesday from the Grand Trunk Station on the arrival of the noon train.

Mr. and Mrs. Smythe, of Pembroke, were in the village this week visiting their son.

Rev. C. A. Campbell, who was unable to occupy the pulpit of the Presbyterian church, owing to illness is quite well again and the congregation were pleased to see him in his accustomed place on Sunday last.

MOUNT JULIAN.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Miss Kate Kennedy, daughter of Mr. P. Kennedy, our stage driver, was married on Tuesday, 12th Aug., to Mr. Martin Hobbins, formerly of Chandos, but now of Minnesota. The marriage ceremony was performed at Young's Point, and on their return to Mr. Kenndey's a large party was waiting to receive them, and a very pleasant social evening was spent. Mrs. Hobbins received a great many handsome presents. The bride and groom will spend some time visiting relatives before they leave for Minnesota.

Mrs. Arnott, of Toronto, returned home on Monday.

Dr. Bell, of Apsley, came down for the regatta at Juniper Island.

Rev. Mr. Reddick, pastor of the Apsley circuit, exchanged pulpits with Rev. Mr. Legot, of Lakefield, last Sunday.

Mrs. Giles Stone and family, of Peterborough, have come to their farm for the harvest season.

Many tourists are visiting daily at the Red Cedar store. Mr. Church has sold nearly all his extensive stock of curios and is daily receiving fresh orders. He has also done a good trade in groceries and confectionery.

Mr. Alex Reid has gone to work for the Dickson Company.

We regret to state that Mrs. R. McCauley, of Haultain, P.O., was thrown out of a buggy last Sunday and received injuries which will confine her to the house for some time.

STOCK MARKETS.

Remarks of an Able Financial Writer.

New York, Aug. 19.—In the regularly weekly discussion of financial matters so ably handled every Monday in the New York Sun, when speaking of the money situation, the writer goes on to say: "The lingering apprehensions as to the money situation which has been so thoroughly discussed recently, are wearing away. It is undeniably the case that there is now only a very small demand for time loans by brokerage houses. The low bank reserves of the summer months have naturally induced caution on the part of stock brokers, and led them to fortify themselves against the contingencies of the money market during the autumn. Furthermore it i evident that the larger banking committees both of the east and west are in a much stronger position than they were in last year to meet the requirements of the grain growing sections. Finally it is plain that the foreign exchanges will furnish relief to the New York money market to any extent that may become necessary during the remainder of the year. In so closely a balanced money situation as the current one it is quite certain that there will be many, and perhaps more, acute repetitions of Friday's flurry, such incidents will have nothing more than a transcient significance. These little flurries when they depress prices will offer the proper purchasing opportunity. In days past the writer has witnessed markets fairly boil on the uptack, with money loaning at quite a heavy daily premium in addition to the regular rate of six per cent. What is expected by everyone seldom happens to anygreat degree. Everyone is harping upon the money question for the moving of the crops. The pivotal factor for the future of prices now hinges upon the crops. Early frosts would prove detrimental to corn. Corn is well advanced, however, and will mature early this year, an average supply of heat is allotted by nature each year, the coolness of July and August would argue unusual warmth for September, and the latter part of August. A warm wave is now extending over the great west and the weather bureau announces we will feel its effect on the Atlantic coast almost immediately. The probabilities are for a warmer period the balance of the summer, stretching well into the fall. The people without stocks are borrowing considerable trouble for the people who have them. The people who have them appear to be undisturbed.

Buy B.O. and Pa. The rise now started and under way in Southern Pac., which we have persistently advocated, will be naturally followed up by a rise in U.P. It has been a tiring out process of U.P. holders by the insiders. The stock will make up for lost time, when it does start. Louisville continued its upward flight, selling above 157. Its rise should cause Ill. C. to jump again. It will do so and is likely to commence any moment. So. Pac. made a new high price, selling 73 1-2. B. & O. advanced over a point. So. Pac. made a new high point. General market was aggressively strong.

Over 30,000 people have taken Merrill's System Tonic and the result has proven that this wonderful new medicine is not a doubtful compound, but one which always effects a radical cure of stomach, nerve, liver and kidney troubles. The 50 cent bottles last three weeks. Sold by Ormond and Walsh.

PEOPLE INTERESTED.

Rhodes' Scholarships, Which are to be Handled by Dr. Parkin.

AS TO UPPER CANADA COLLEGE

The Learned Principal Will Leave That Educational Institution as Soon as He Can Do So Without the School Suffering—How He Will Plan the Carrying Out of Cecil Rhodes' Bequest.

Toronto, Aug. 22.—"Most surprising, the interest people are manifesting in these Rhodes' scholarships," remarked Dr. G. R. Parkin, principal of Upper Canada College to a reporter last Thursday evening, as he waded through the pile of correspondence that had accumulated in his office during his absence in England.

"What change will the appointment make in Upper Canada College?" the doctor was asked.

"Well," he replied, "what I want to do is to spend all the time I have at my disposal at the present to put Upper Canada College in the best order I can. We have a capital staff and a large number of applications from intending scholars, so that everything will be in first-class shape on the opening of the course in September. Upper Canada College will go on the same as ever—and, I hope, better than ever—and when I get the right kind of a man to take my place, he will have a splendid start, a princely start, compared to what I had. I advised the trustees to take their time in the selection of a successor, and to be cautious and deliberate in the selection, for Upper Canada commands a good man, and there is no doubt but that she will get one. In the meantime, I do not want to think of anything else, other than the college. I have to travel a good deal in the interests of the college up to the time of opening, and I want to get everything in order."

"How many scholarships are there for Canada?"

"Well, that is a rather interesting thing. It seems that Mr. Rhodes was a great admirer of the late Sir John A. Macdonald, and had come to the conclusion in the reading of his life, particularly that part having to do with the struggle between Upper and Lower Canada, that there were no other places of consequence in this country. He therefore stipulated scholarships for only two of the provinces. I immediately waited upon the trustees on learning this, and, after explaining matters, they did not hesitate to consent to place the whole of the Dominion on the same basis as the other colonies, that is that there shall be three scholarships for each province, one expiring in each province every year."

"Will the scholarships be for post graduates or undergraduates?" Dr. Parkin was asked. "My idea," he explained. "is that we do not want to send the boy from the High school to Oxford. It would be a mistake, for several reasons. I believe that we want to send a more mature class of men, and I would like to see men go largely for post graduate work, and, if Oxford has not the arrangements for doing so, let her provide them. That is a matter, however, that has to be settled yet."

Asked when the scheme would be put into operation, he said: "At first it was thought it could be done next year, but when we came to study the ground, the countries interested, with the desire to place them on an equal basis—and, as this is a sure thing that is going to last for all time—the feeling is that we should not hurry it, and I do not expect to get the scheme completed in two years."

"Do you propose to visit the countries interested in the meantime?"

"Oh, yes, it will be necessary, in order to hear the wishes and the views of the leading gentlemen in regard to what they think would be most advisable. In working this continent, I shall make Toronto the centre of my operations, and I hope to be here a good many months in the year in this way. The other time I will spend in either London or Oxford, as things may require.

Speaking of the alleged harm the scheme would do to Oxford by the aggressive methods of the young American. Dr. Parkin pointed out that instead of harm he thought it would do a great deal of good. "As I understand it there will be about 200 men there all the time on scholarships and these will not figure so very much as some might think in the large attendance. Besides, I think you will find them modest young men who will go there eager to learn and not to impress their American characteristics on their English fellow student. Indeed they would take none of the charm away from Oxford at all. It amounts to this, that here in Canada and America is a rugged character that will be brought into contact with the centre of social culture that will result to the benefit of both."

The London Times of the 13th inst. pays a glowing tribute to the ability of Dr. Parkin and his fitness for the task allotted to him. In part it says: "The trustees under Mr. Rhodes' will are to be warmly congratulated upon the important parliamentary step they have taken towards carrying into execution the munificent provisions it contained for the establishment of scholarships. A great Imperial conception, inspired by Mr. Rhodes' bequest, but its full realization must depend largely upon the practical measures taken for carrying it into effect. The trustees have been singularly fortunate in securing the services of a man peculiarly fitted for the task of preparing a scheme for their approval. In Dr. Parkin the trustees have secured a man who will be in sympathy with the university and college authorities as well as with the generous ideals of the great testator."

WORK OF LIGHTNING.

Matthew Graham of Florence Killed by a Bolt.

FOUR KILLED IN NORTHWEST.

A Severe Storm Sweeps Over the Province—Hail Damages the Crops—Destruction of Barns and Stock by Fire—Three Galician Settlers and One Mennonite Killed Near Rosthern, Sask.

Dresden, Aug. 22.— Matthew Graham, aged about 45, was killed by lightning near Florence while loading oats. His son was knocked senseless. The horses ran away with the burning load to the barn, and building and contents were destroyed. The storm was the worst ever known in this vicinity. It lasted about 45 minutes and cut everything in its course, the hail lying on the ground two to three inches in depth.

Another Barn Burned.

Belleville, Aug. 22.—During the progress of a severe thunderstorm which passed over this city and vicinity at an early hour yesterday morning, a barn, the property of Mrs. Ann Carscallen, situated in the 1st concession of Thurlow, was struck by lightning and destroyed. Mr. Wm. Shaw, the occupant of the place, lost the greater portion of his season's crop.

Lightning Destroys Barn.

Lakefield, Aug. 22.—James Condon's barn and contents, and a threshing machine, which was in the barn ready to thrash yesterday, was destroyed by fire Wednesday night, caused by lightning.

Damage in Frontenac.

Kingston, Aug. 22.—A heavy storm yesterday morning damaged crops throughout the County of Frontenac to the extent of thousands of dollars. Forty panes of glass in the house of William Grimshaw, Wolfe Island, were broken. Lightning damaged cows belonging to J. Short, Wolfe Island; J. Baxter, Barrierield; W. Keown, Cataraqui; and others throughout the country. The storm, though very severe, did little harm in the city. A barn full of hay and farm implements belonging to a Pittsburg farmer, named Pierce, was burned; loss $700; insurance $300.

Lightning Near Comber.

Comber, Aug. 22.—Lightning struck the barn of James Stoneman, near St. Paul, and soon the barn was a mass of flames. The season's crops of hay, wheat and oats were consumed. The horses and cattle also fell a prey to the flames. Loss about $2,000; partly covered by insurance.

Four Killed by Lightning.

Rosthern, Sas., Aug. 22. — Two fatal accidents, caused by lightning, have been reported within the last few weeks. The first in the Fish Creek district, where three Galician settlers were instantly killed, and the other caused the death of a young Mennonite near Hague.

ORDERS TO KILL A REFORMER.

Dowager Empress Says That Kung Yu Wei Must Die.

London, Aug. 22.—A despatch from Shanghai to The Times says it is learned from an entirely trustworthy source that Wang Ch.h Chun, the New Governor of Kwangsi, has received secret instructions from the Dowager Empress to secure the death of the reformer Kung Yu Wei.

A telegram from Hankow states that there have been anti-Christian riots at Chencha, in the Province of Hunan. Two inland missionaries named Bruce and Lewis, it is reported, have been murdered. The report has not been confirmed.

No Such Offer Made.

Ottawa, Aug. 22.—In reference to a Toledo despatch sent out Wednesday, stating that George A. Whitney, Dominion Immigration Agent there, had been commissioned to secure 30,000 of the striking miners to settle in Canada, the department states that there is nothing on record to show that any such offer has been made. Mr. Whitney is merely a local agent, supposed to induce settlers qualified to become farmers, to move to Canada, and receives so much per settler. He is not a regularly salaried officer of the department, and it is extremely improbable that he has been given any such commission.

Toronto Woman Injured.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Aug. 22—This evening, while Mrs. H. Gagnier of 88 Willcocks street, Toronto, with three children, were driving down King street in a high two-wheeled cart, the horse became frightened at a handcar moving along the M.C.R. tracks and ran away. The animal turned suddenly and collided with a telegraph pole, upsetting the rig. One child had an arm broken, while the other two were cut and bruised about the head, but not seriously. Mrs. Gagnier was rendered unconscious by the accident, but it is not thought she has received any dangerous injuries.

Morgan Is Too Late.

New York, Aug. 22.—J. Pierpont Morgan has returned from Europe. It was said he could and would settle the coal strike. However, there is very little hope of Mr. Morgan settling the strike. Matters have gone too far.

AN IMPROVEMENT.

Under the above heading the Toronto Telegram pays the following compliment to Ontario's energetic Provincial Secretary:

"Hon. J. R. Stratton is on the right track if he contemplated the instalment of a Government plant for the supply of electric light to the Provincial institutions in this city. All the advantages the Mr. Stratton claims for his scheme will stand the closest analysis. Scores of industries in the city of Toronto have proved the economical superiority of private electric lighting plants. The Ontario Government will assume no risk, and it will render an important public service by pursuing the policy outlined by Hon. J. R. Stratton."

Mr. Stratton's idea is to use the surplus power—that not required for the mechanical purposes of the Central Prison industries — to generate electricity to be supplied to the lighting of other public institutions, and the parliament buildings and grounds. This is a practical business proposition, for the cost of lighting these buildings will be reduced, and much better service given by the use of already available power. Queen's Park, in the vicinity of the parliament buildings will be much improved by substituting efficient electric light for the antiquated gas lamps that now perfunctorily perform the duty of giving an inadequate light.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Is Canada, asks the Boston Herald, preparing to build a tariff wall between her country and this? "Oh, pshaw! How can she think of being as grasping as we are?"

Le Courier de St. Hyacinthe says that Mr. Tarte is playing for the premiership. Perhaps; but the Hamilton Herald remarks, the little man is working quite a lot, too.

The Francophobic journals are fond of hinting that Quebecers are less intelligent than the people of Ontario. This claim may receive, politically speaking, a shock from the fact that the Conservatives of Montreal want a new newspaper, there evidently being dissatisfaction with Le Journal, while the Conservatives of Toronto seem to be able to stand the Mail and Empire.

The Canadian woollen men are claiming that they can make woollens as good as any, and that the prejudice in favour of imported goods is not well founded. We believe there is a great deal of truth in what they say, and we should like to see more Canadian woollens worn. But the fact is that the woollen manufacturer weakens his own case by asking for higher protection. Protection is a means of compelling you to buy the native product whether you like it or not. The Canadian manufacturer should take his stand on the merit of his product, and those who wish to encourage native products ought to ask for them.—Globe.

CANADA AN EYE-OPENER.

Frank P. Bennett, publisher of the "United States Investor," who has been on a trip through western Canada, writes a long description beginning with the text that "what I saw surpassed my expectations so far that I must say, as a distinguished American recently remarked of another locality, that you can't lie about it unless you lie the other way." The chief surprise to him appears to have been the climate. Perhaps he took a fur coat and a foot warmer with him for his summer trip, and he offers his apologies by intimating that he thinks the climate of the earth is changing for the better, the northwest included. He appeals to history and tradition:

"In the historic stables adjoining the royal palace at Versailles, France, the visitor is shown the sleighs of Louis XIV., Marie Antoinette and others with the information that snow and sleighing were more common in Paris in the days of the Grand Monarque and even in the early part of the nineteenth century than at present. In New England many adults confidently express the opinion that winter begins later and is far less severe than a few generations ago."

Evidently Mr. Bennett found that he needed a shirt-waist and a Panama hat up in the Peace River country, and we think he needed some ice on his cranium, for he comes home with the following bump of desire and conviction bulging out:

"But the prevailing tendency of the Canadian Northwest is American from Sau't Sainte Marie to Vancouver, over a territory 1,500 miles from east to west, and 1,000 miles north and south. I believe that this territory will at no distant day become a part of the United States."

To live to see that day should be the wish of anybody who would like to live forever.—Ottawa Journal.

FIVE MILLIONS INVOLVED.

A writ was filed at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, a few days ago on behalf of Mr. C. H. Howland, of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, against the Canadian Nickel-Copper Company and others, which involves a sum of upwards of $5,000,000. The action is to set aside 10,000 shares in the defendant company of the value of $1,000,000, issued to the defendants Paterson and Ritchie in May, 1900, 20,000 shares, worth $2,000,000 issued in June, 1900, to Paterson and Ritchie, out of which certain transfers are alleged to have been made in trust. The plaintiff alleges that these shares were issued by the directors without any adequate consideration for them. He also asks to have certain shares of the preference stock, 1,750 shares, worth $100 each, issued to the defendant Paterson last September, 10,000 shares, worth $1,000,000, bonds of the value of $1,000,000, and 2,500 preference shares, worth $250,000 issued to the defendants Paterson and Ritchie in October 1900, to be declared to have been issued by the directors of the company without any consideration. He also states that these shares were issued to the directors themselves and their associates and other parties and for their benefit for certain interests of the directors or their associates in certain properties of little or no value, that the issue of such bonds and shares was unauthorized and fraudulent as against the company and should be set aside. For this unauthorized issue the plaintiff asks damages and an injunction to prevent any transfer of the shares in question.

HYPOCRISY AND FOLLY.

There is at least an open revolt in High Protection circles against the tariff preference to Great Britain. The Montreal Gazette is leading it. But although the Gazette doesn't like the preference, it does not go back to the position occupied by the Conservative party before the elections of 1900. That position, as our readers will recollect, was opposed to the preference on two grounds—because it was given for nothing and because, being given, it left Canada nothing with which to bargain for a preference in the British markets for our grain. During one session of Parliament this atttack was pressed but without meeting with any public favour. The Liberals were easily able to turn against it that British sentiment which, when brought into play, is a deciding factor in Canadian politics. The Conservative attack died away, and all that has remained to remind us of it is an occasional shot, from some newspaper or politician, charging that the Canadian preference might but for Laurier have resulted at the time of the Diamond Jubilee in a preference for our wheat in the British market.

But that was the only line of criticism which at that time was thought to be open to the Conservative party. The professions of the party's leaders in favour of British trade, it was supposed, precluded open opposition to this breach in the Protective wall. Now, however, the Montreal Gazette has broken away from the past, and where High Protection and British sentiment appear to conflict it declares emphatically for Protection, calls the present preference "folly," and further declares against the proposal of the Manufacturers' Association at Halifax to so arrange the tariff as to keep the preferential feature, but to keep the minimum tariff high enough to effectively keep out British trade. This proposal the Gazette is clear-headed enough to see and candid enough to declare is "hypocrisy" added to folly.

It looks as though history were about to repeat itself, and that we may again be told that if Protection is bad for British connection so much the worse for British connection.

But apart from the fact that this well worn jibe will be worked against it in every newspaper and on every platform, the Gazette's position is stronger than that of the Manufacturers' Association. It is at least a frank avowal of the Protectionist's creed that he is a colonist and not an Imperialist; that he judges things from a strictly Canadian point of view, and that although prepared to sacrifice his sons he will not sacrifice his business to Imperial ends. We are not saying here that his point of view is wrong. All we wish to do is to point out that this is his position. We congratulate the Montreal Gazette. It helps us to an understanding of each other when we have such frank avowals as the Gazette makes. Both hypocrisy and folly are good things to cut out of politics. We will never get rid of all of either of them, but every little counts, and the Gazette's article should help quite a lot.—Montreal Star.

KING EDWARD AND THE BOERS.

His Majesty's kindly reception of the Boer generals, and the Queen's gracious greeting, have been the subject of much favourable comment. The incident has given the Continental press an opportunity to appreciate the better side of the British character, and to cultivate more kindly feelings towards the British people. In the United States there have not been lacking warm and outspoken commendations of the attitude of Great Brittain. "There is "something characteristically British "in this Royal welcome which Eng"land's King and people are extend"ing to their late foes," remarks the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. It recalls the reception which George III. gave to John Adams, who was the first United States Minister sent to the Court of St. James. Bluntly and honestly enough, the third George told Mr. Adams that he regretted the result of the war which had disrupted the Empire, but added that he accepted the situation, and was glad to extend the hand of friendship to the new Republic. This is the frame of mind in which the Boer generals visited England. They could not fail to regret the issue, but yet they had learned enough to induce them to accept the outcome philosophically. It is already evident that the visiting Boers have been met in such a way as to awaken feelings of respect and friendship for the nation with whose destinies they are now irrevocably united. Historically, the incident is without a parallel. "No "guests of any nation which history "tells us anything about," says a United States contemporary, "were "ever received with greater cordiality than is being shown by England's officials and populace to the "people who fought England's armies for the past two and a half "years, in a war which cost 20,000 "British lives and $1,100,000 of British money. The compliments which "have been showered on this conquered people by the victors, as well "as by the rest of the world, will go "far toward taking the sting out of "their defeat." It is surely some compensation for the heavy cost of the war to know that its outcome is calculated to remove prejudices and misunderatandings that have been created to blacken the British people in the eyes of the world. The Boers have been treated with such consideration and generosity on the part of the nation, they have received such evidences of the desire of the conquerors to live on good terms with them, that the future ought to be bright for peace and progress in South Africa.—Mail & Empire.

TWO NOTABLE DAIRY ARTICLES.

Mr. J. W. Hart, Superintendent of the Kingston Dairy School, and Mr. F. J. Sleightholm, formerly director of the Ontario travelling dairy and Superintendent of the Western Dairy School, contribute two articles on butter-making competitions in the the August 15th issue of The Farmers' Advocate, which will be read with great interest, in view of the approaching contests at the Toronto Industrial Exhibition. Mr. Hart, it may be mentioned, officiated as judge at previous butter-making trials at the Toronto Industrial. The ideas given, while specially applying to making butter publicly, are just as useful in ordinary practice.

Despaired of Being Cured.

I hope that this testimonial will be the means of bringing comfort to other sufferers by making known the great power of this Ointment."

SAID TO BE SETTLED.

Returning Canadian Ministers on Atlantic Fast Line.

OPINION OF HON. J. M. GIBSON.

The Elder-Dempster Company Said to Be sure of the Contract, According to a Statement Made by Hon. G. H. Murray, Premier of Nova Scotia—Maritime Premiers to Meet in September.

Montreal, Aug. 22.—The S.S. Lake Simcoe, which arrived in port yesterday, had an interesting passenger list. Hon. J. M. Gibson of Toronto was on board, and in speaking of the proposed fast Atlantic service he said:—

"In my opinion it will be difficult, almost impossible to run a fast line service on any schedule time by the St. Lawrence route. The Lake Simcoe had a remarkably fast run, and had beaten the Tunisian's time up to within a few hours of reaching port, and then we ran into a fog and were delayed nine hours. With such contingencies always possible and even probable on the St. Lawrence route, I think that to time a fast line service to within certain hours is impossible. I want to see a fast steamship service for Canada if it is at all possible, but there will always be great difficulties if the St. Lawrence route enters into it." Mr. Gibson left for Toronto last night.

Says Elder-Dempster Will Get It.

Hon. G. H. Murray, Premier of Nova Scotia, who also was a passenger, in speaking of the conference in London said: "The only practical result from [illegible] was the projected fast [illegible] steamers on the Atlantic [illegible] England to Canada. That is a fact, and as soon as the preliminaries are decided the contract will be awarded." Continuing, Mr. Murray said his remarks were approved by Hon. Mr. Tweedie, Premier of New Brunswick. Halifax will be the winter terminal and Quebec the summer terminal, with Sydney a port of call for the landing of the mails, and also passengers who may desire to travel the rest of the route by rail, which without doubt will be the quickest means by twenty hours, as the steamers will proceed from Sydney at a reduced speed up the St. Lawrence." On being asked which company was likely to obtain the contract for the fast line, Mr. Murray said:—"I am strongly of the opinion that the Elder-Dempsters will obtain the contract, and I know that Sir Alfred Jones, the head of that company, is sure of it. The C.P.R. will not receive the contract; at least that was the general impression when I sailed with Hon. Mr. Tweedie from England, and I do not believe that there has been any reason for a change since."

Maritime Premiers to Meet.

Speaking of the conference of Canadian Premiers, Hon. J. L. Tweedie, of New Brunswick, said:—"There is not any doubt that when the Premiers of the different Maritime Provinces meet in Quebec during the month of September, private conferences will be held, at which it will be decided what action the different Provinces will take. Should an attempt be made to reduce our representation in Parliament, owing to the decrease in population, there will hardly be any attempt made to change the British North America act in order that the Provinces of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island may retain the same number of members in the Federal House as they have at present, but we shall certainly maintain that when the Provinces were admitted into the union it was generally understood that, no matter what the population should be, the number of our members should not be decreased."

RANCHERS TO COME TO CANADA.

Big Cattle Company With 50,000 Head to Move Bodily.

Amarillo, N.M., Aug. 21.—The Littlefield Cattle Company of Pecos Valley has decided to move 50,000 head of Hereford cattle to the British Northwest, where a million acres of grazing land has been leased at 2 cents an acre for 20 years. Three hundred miles of barbed wire fence will be built at a cost of $50 a mile. The moving of the big herd will begin next spring.

Tax on Australian Cattle.

New York, Aug. 21.—J. Ogden Armour of Chicago returned from abroad yesterday. He denies that there is a beef trust being organized. When asked about the agitation for the removal of the tax on Australian cattle in England, he said: "I do not think that the removal of the tariff on Australian cattle in England will in any way affect our market here."

Boat Seized For Smuggling.

Halifax, N.S., Aug. 21. — Special Officer Pownot and Collector Cullen of the Canadian customs yesterday seized the United States fishing schooner Howard Holbrook for landing one cask of oil at Clark's Harbor and seven pairs of rubber boots and a box of tobacco at Wrayton's Harbor, without declaring the same or paying duties.

Died Aged 102.

Craighurst, Aug. 21.—Mrs. Hugh McArthur, aged 102, died here. She was born at Islay, Scotland, and came to Canada 50 years ago. She left five generations behind her.

Unknown Boy Drowned.

Toronto, Aug. 21.—A little boy, apparently about 8 years of age, was drowned in the Bay yesterday afternoon, at a point opposite the foot of Bay street. The body was recovered and taken to the morgue, where the remains await identification. Up till an early hour this morning nobody had turned up at the police stations to report that the lad was missing, nor had any requests been made for permission to view the body.

Four Men Killed.

Schenectady, N.Y., Aug. 21.—Four men were killed, one seriously injured and a score of others slightly hurt near Hofman's Ferry, 10 miles from this city, about 9 o'clock last night by the breaking in half of a New York Central eastbound freight train and the subsequent crashing of the rear half into the front part, which had stopped.

Finlander Commits Suicide.

Sault Ste. Marie, Aug. 21.—A Finlander named Fabien Runtie committed suicide by hanging at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Tuesday. He had been a very heavy drinker. He leaves a widow and family in the Old Country.

One Thousand Die Weekly.

London, Aug. 21.—The Exchange Telegraph Company yesterday publishes the despatch from Simla, British India, saying that the plague mortality is increasing at the rate of 1,000 weekly.

AN IDEAL HARVEST.

The Weather All That Could Be Wanted—Grain a Fine Sample of No. 1 Hard—Hands From the East.

Winnipeg, Aug. 22.—Winnipeg is enjoying ideal harvest weather. If it continues the province will have nothing but No. 1 hard wheat to offer for sale this fall, and the grain buyer's avocation will be greatly simplified, as there are practically no weeds in the crop. There will be no cleaning necessary, and the farmers' lot will indeed be a happy one.

Some 180 harvester hands arrived in the city yesterday from the Maritime provinces, and within the next two days 5,000 will be here.

R. Mitchell, representing the N.W. T. Government, is in the city to secure 7,000 harvesters' and arrangements for the reception of the men are excellent, and all their wants will be well looked after.

The Provincial Government has secured the services of a number of reliable farmers who will meet each of the harvesters' trains at Port William and give advice to those on board as to the best locality for them to proceed to get immediate employment, and the districts where the grain is ripe and "ready for the sickle" will be supplied them.

Wheat cutting may be said to be general throughout Manitoba and the crop is found to be even heavier than at first estimated.

Harvesters For Manitoba.

Toronto, Aug. 22.—Harvest excursionists again had control of the Ontario railroads yesterday. Three thousand passengers were handled for the Northwest grain fields. This was several hundred in excess of Wednesday's traffic, and to-day the crowd is expected to reach even heavier proportions. Railroad officials assert that they believe the total of 19,000 carried to the Northwest during the cheap rates of last year will be exceeded this year by probably 5,000.

AMUSING THE SHAH.

Firing Maxims and Posing For Moving Pictures—A $15,000 Dinner.

London, Aug. 22.—The Shah paid a lengthy visit to the Maxim works yesterday. He showed keen interest in the latest inventions in artillery and electrical appliances. On the invitation of Sir Hiram Maxim, he got astride of the seat of a Maxim gun and fired three belts of blank cartridges. His Majesty was considerably shaken by the recoil at his first attempt, but he stuck to his post and finished like an experienced gunner. The Shah and his suite posed for moving pictures before leaving. He subsequently proceeded to the Persian legation, where he gave a state luncheon, which cost $15,000, so sumptuous were the decorations and arrangements.

Mr. Sutherland Leaves Ottawa.

Ottawa, Aug. 21.—Hon. James Sutherland yesterday left for Quebec, and will have a cruise down the St. Lawrence in the new steamer, the Druid, along with the Quebec Harbor Commissioners.

Price of Coal Jumps Up.

New York, Aug. 21.—The wholesale price of anthracite coal has jumped to $10 a ton for stove coal, and $11 for egg alongside.

India's Crops Saved.

Bombay, Aug. 22.—Good rains have fallen in West India just in time to save the crops and remove the immediate fear of famine. The Central Provinces and Berar have also been benefitted.

Gen. Botha Receives Reception.

Brussels, Aug. 22.—Gen. and Mrs. Botha have arrived here. They received a hearty reception from the populace.

Judge and Board of Trade Delegates Have a Falling Out.

LATTER BLOCKED FORMER'S WAY

Delegates Had Assembled on Court House Steps to Have Group Picture Taken—Judge's Exit Not Easy, and He Ordered Sheriff to Clear the Way—Mr. De Wolf Arrested For Criticising His Lordship.

Sydney, N. S., Aug. 21. — Judge Meagher of the Supreme Court, Halifax, who is holding court here, caused the arrest yesterday of J. E. De Wolf, vice-president of the Halifax Board of Trade. The judge, on coming out of the court room, found his exit blocked by the 100 delegates to the convention of the Maritime Board of Trade, who had assembled on the courthouse steps to have their pictures taken.

The judge ordered Sheriff Ingraham to clear a passage for him. The sheriff complied to the order, and the judge passed through the crowd, but some of the delegates resented the interruption, and as the judge and sheriff started to walk away there were murmurs among the crowd, which sounded like hissing. The judge immediately returned and demanded the name of the man who hissed, declaring he would hand him over to the sheriff.

The delegates were shocked at the judge's action and at the first session gave vent to their feelings. J. E. De Wolf called upon the meeting to resent the unwarranted insult, and he moved a resolution to the effect, which was passed. Some of the delegates stated that the board should pass a resolution asking the Government to remove Judge Meagher from the bench.

Mr. De Wolf met the judge later, and the latter asked Mr. De Wolf how he was feeling. Mr. De Wolf replied: "Not any too well over your conduct." The judge said that if he repeated the remark he would hand him over to the sheriff. Mr. De Wolf repeated the remark and the judge forthwith handed him over to the custody of the sheriff.

As De Wolf marched off with the sheriff the delegates loudly cheered him. The matter was afterwards amicably settled and Mr. De Wolf was released.

The action of the judge has met with much adverse criticism.

30,000 STRIKING MINERS

To Be Offered Land Grants by the Canadian Government.

Toledo, O., Aug. 21.—George A. Whitney of this city has been authorized by the Dominion Government to proceed to the coal regions and offer inducements to 30,000 or more of the striking miners and their families to form a colony and locate on free homesteads which the Government will provide for them in the great wheat belt of the Northwest.

Whitney says that the men will be given work for six weeks at least at the rate of $85 to $100 per month and board, and after that work will be provided for them on Government contracts until spring, when they can begin breaking up their homestead grants for next season's crop.

It is also understood that the Canadian Government will furnish bona fide settlers with means to purchase horses or oxen, farming utensils and the erection of homes.

Whitney says the Canadian Government is anxious to secure colonists from the United States.

Big Strike at Havana.

Havana, Aug. 21.—The longshoremen and lightermen of all classes, and the dock laborers, went out on strike yesterday. They have several grievances, one being that coal should be unloaded per ton instead of by day wages. Efforts are being made by the union leaders to bring out the laborers at Cienfuegos and Cardenas. The total number of men out is 2,000. It is feared that shipping will be tied up for a long time.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT'S FIRE.

Sheds Destroyed on Aylmer Street Cause of Fire Unknown.

The sheds in the rear of the premises ownd by Mrs. Dobbin and occupied by Mrs. P. O'Connor, on Aylmer street, just north of Simcoe street, caught fire through some unknown manner on Wednesday evening, and were totally destroyed, together with their contents, consisting of the household furniture of Mrs. Dobbin, who is at present in the North West. The fire spread to the stables of Mr. Geo. W. Hall, which were also gutted. Mr. Hall's property was insured in the North British and Mercantile Co., through the local agent, Mr. T. E. Bradburn. As Mr. Bradburn is out of town, the amount of insurance placed upon the stables cannot be ascertained at persent.

MRS. BROCK'S DANCE.

It Passed off Most Successfully on Wednesday Evening.

Mrs. Harry Brock, of Toronto, entertained a large number of her friends most hospitably on Wednesday evening at her pretty Stony Lake cottage. The function was quite the largest private affair ever held at the lake, there being over eighty guests who responded to their invitations Cards and dancing formed the evening's amusement and refreshments were served at midnight. Unfortunately the storm which broke between twelve and one o'clock caught a number of those who had long distances to paddle, and the heavy downpour of rain made things rather uncomfortable for those occupying canoes.

DIED IN HAMILTON.

The Late Mary E. Madill, Sister of Mr. Wm. Madill of Town.

The death occurred, yesterday, of Miss Mary E. Madill, youngest sister of Mr. William Madill, of town. The deceased was well known in Peterborough, having visited the town on numerous occasions. She was a trained nurse and was taking a post-graduate course in one of the Boston hospitals; when taken ill last March, her case diagnoised as anemia. A month ago she was brought to the residence of her brother John, in Hamilton where her near relatives were summoned a few days ago when it was apparent that the end was approaching.

Interment will take place in Whitby. Mr. Wm. Madill is at present in Hamilton.

STONY LAKE EPIDEMIC.

Hundreds of Cottagers Suffering From Strange Attack.

An epidemic somewhat similar in its effects to cholera morbus has swept over Stony Lake during the last week, and affected almost every household on the lake. Fortunately the attack only lasts a couple of days, but the attendant cramps occasion a great deal of suffering. It seems impossible to trace the source of the trouble, and it is being blamed indiscriminately on the water, the fish, the lamb and the weather.

THE LIGHTNING'S WORK.

Mr. James Condon's Heavy Loss—St. Luke's Church was Struck.

The storm of Wednesday night did considerable damage throughout the district, the lightning's work being apparent in many localities. St. Luke's church suffered to a certain extent, the lightning striking the eroms on the roof and twisting it out of shape. The electric fluid did no further damage other than to knock out a half hundred of bricks from the wall beneath the eaves. Repairs can be easily made at a slight expenditure.

Mr. J. Condon, Township Councillor, Douro, who resides near Buckley's Lake, met with great loss through a fire caused by the lightning, which struck his barns shortly after midnight. The buildings are reported to have been totally destroyed, together with the entire contents, consisting of grain and a large number of valuable implements. A threshing machine which had been set up on the premises during the evening for the purpose of being put at work on the crop in the morning, was also destroyed. The loss was covered only to the partial extent of $450 insurance.

FROM LOUIS F. TURNBULL.

He Expresses His Thanks for Aid Extended the Famine Stricken in India.

The appended letter has been received from Mr. Louis F. Turnbull, Ahmedabad, Gujerat, India, in acknowledgement of a cheque forwarded from the Examiner office to him in aid of his famine stricken district;

Friday, July 25th, 1902.

Editor of the Peterborough Examiner, Ontario, Canada.

Dear Sir,—Your favour of June 13th at hand. Allow me to thank you most heartily for your kindness in sending the ten dollars. I desire also, through you, to express my gratitude to Mrs. Mary A. Lang, who sent the donation. The money will be applied to purchase seed grain for some of the suffering people in this vicinity, the need of which I intimated in my letter published in your paper last May. The public may be pleased to know that although the monsoon has been tardy this year, India, on the whole, is receiving a fair amount of rain. Gujerat is the most backward, as in this vicinity but five inches of rain has fallen up to the time of writing.

Gratefully yours.
LOUIS F. TURNBULL.

THE CAMPBELLFORD PICNIC.

A Special Train was run From Peterborough—The Picnic a Big Success.

The annual picnic in aid of the Roman Catholic church, of Campbellford, was held at the agricultural grounds in that place Civic Holiday, and was a grand success from every point of view, and Rev. Father McCloskey, the popular parish priest, and the committee in charge, have reason to feel highly pleased over their success. The affair was favoured with ideal picnic weather, and this fact tended in a great measure to add to the successful outcome of the day.

The committee had chartered a special train to run from Peterborough, and had also arranged lacrosse matches for the I and II teams of St. Peter's T.A.S. As a result about two hundred supporters (the majority of whom were ladies) accompanied the boys to Campbellford to cheer them to victory.

Besides the lacrosse matches, the committee had arranged an excellent programme of sports, including horse races, bicycle races, and Caledonian sports of all kinds, which afforded barrels of pleasure for the picknickers.

The principal events of the day, however, were the lacrosse matches, and in the morning there was nothing else talked of but lacrosse. The special train carried a good crowd from Hastings to Campbellford, with the lacrosse team, and the purple and white was in evidence all day. The red and black, too, of the T.A.S., it is needless to say, cut a prominent figure, all of which went to show that both clubs had a warm place in the hearts of their supporters.

About one o'clock Referee Sargison called St. Peter's T.A.S. II team and Campbellford out out on the green sward for the first game, and the line up was as follows:

Campbellford.		T. A. S.
	goal.
Sullivan		Gilman
	point.
Kelleher		Pope
	cover point.
Lowry		Donovan
	1st defence
Gillespie		Whaley
	2nd defence.
Shea		McCormack
	3rd defence.
Crowe		O'Brien
	centre.
Saunders		Primeau
	3rd home.
McCormack		Tracey
	2nd home.
Brady		B Doris
	1st home.
Blute		Gorham
	inside home .
McCloskey		Delaire
	outside home.
L. Shea		L Doris
	Field Captain.
J. Kerr		G. Lynch
	Umpire.
Dr. Gibson		McFadden

This game was played in four quarters of fifteen minutes each, and was replete with fast scientific lacrosse in which was combined close checking, brilliant combination and splendid team play. Never for a moment did interest lag in the game, and the supporters of both teams were loud in their manifestations of delight over the play of their favourites. Both teams were about evenly matched as regards size and weight. The Campbellfords possessed a strong defence, and the T.A.S. team experienced considerable difficulty at first in drawing it out from the flags. Kelleher at cover point was a veritable stone wall and was instrumental in preventing the score from running up into the double figures. This player, it is said, has figured on the London C.L.A. team this season. During the game he received an accidental crack on the head which bled profusely for a time, and later on in the game he streiched Billy O'Brien out on the green with a blow from his lacrosse which put him out of the play, and the referee sent Kelleher to the dressing room for the remainder of the game.

The Campbellford twelve is an exceedingly speedy bunch, and if kept together for a season or two, will figure quite prominently in lacrosse circles.

The T.A.S. team, it might be said, was too speedy for them. Every man from goal to goal played his position well, and the style of lacrosse put up was first class. The game itself was not a rough one, and Referee Sargison had an easy task to perform during the play. The score at the close stood 7—2 in favour of the T.A.S. "Larry" Tracey notched four goals, Bert Doris, Lou. Doris and Jack Gorham one each.

The boys were warmly congratulated by their friends and supporters at the close of the game, and both teams fraternized and mingled with each other for the remainder of the day.

Everybody was anxious, however, to see the mighty struggle between Hastings and St. Peter's senior team, and after the smoke of the first battle had cleared away the two teams marched out on the field, and lined up at the call of Referee Kelleher's whistle as follows:

Hastings.		T. A. S.
	goal.
Walsh		O'Brien
	point.
Clapper		Kelly
	cover point.
Coughlin		McDonough
	3rd defence.
S. Walsh		Meagher
	2nd defence.
J. Walsh		Mahoney
	1st defence.
Hill		Crowley

Carey		Lynch
	2nd home.
Dodds		McGrath
	1st home.
Smith		McNichol
	outside home.
Scriver		McCoy
	inside home.
Stewart		Derocher
	Field Captain.
Wilcox		Picard
	Umpire.
Parks		McFadden

As regards this game a little explanation is necessary. The T.A.S. team, it will be remembered, suffered defeat on Coronation Day at Hastings to the tune of 4—3. The game was played on grounds of such a nature that it was almost impossible to put up a good quality of lacrosse, and it was owing to this fact that the score stood as it did. The first issue of the Hastings Star after the game contained several columns on the match, in which the sporting editor drew upon his powers of imagination to such an extent that it startled the natives in and around that little hamlet on the Trent. The T.A.S. boys, however, are anxious "to forget about it," and desire to throw the mantle of charity over the past, and to smoke the pipe of good fellowship and peace. The supporters of the purple and white, however, felt confident that their team could repeat the dose, and the T.A.S. team manifested the same degree of confidence, and went down to Campbellford to win.

As the teams lined up for play the crowd settled down in comfortable positions to view the struggle.

The field was in good condition for a lacrosse game. There were no hillocks or elevations, the grass was short and both teams "were on the same level," so to speak. The game started with the ball in possession of the T.A.S. and it travelled down towards the Hastings citadel, but was sent up field again, and it was only a minute or so later that a shot was made on the Hastings flags and the T.A.S. scored its first goal.

As regards the game, it might be said that it was a superb exhibition of lacrosse. The Hastings boys were in fine condition. There combination work is worthy of special mention, and altogether they put up a superior quality of lacrosse than they did on Coronation Day. Dodds and Clapper were their two stars, but they were closely watched yesterday by the T.A.S.

Hastings scored their only game in the second half and from that period until the close of the game the T.A.S. team had everything pretty nearly their own way. It is doubtful if the team ever played better lacrosse. Every man played his position well, and there was not a weak spot on the line-up. Their checking was particularly close and effective and their combination was next thing to perfection. McNichol excelled himself yesterday, and Miles McDonough, Fred McGrath and Lou McCoy put up a quality of lacrosse that put the wearers of the red and black in the best of humour. Kelly, Jack McDonough, Will Meagher, Ed. Mahoney and Will Crowley on the defence were as impregnable as the rock of Gibraltar, while Jimmy O'Brien in goal had his eagle eye open and bagged everything that came his way. George Lynch and Fred Derocher were also out to play lacrosse, and their work yesterday was of the gilt-edged character. The game was entirely free from roughness. Not a man was sent to the fence, and the best of feeling existed throughout the play. The score was 4—1 in favour of the T.A.S., the goals being scored by E. McNichol, 1; Geo. Lynch, 1, and Fred Derocher, 2.

Not satisfied with winning both lacrosse matches, the T.A.S. boys jumped into the athletic events. Fred McGrath carried off quite handily the one hundred yards and 220 yards races, and also tied with Eugene McNichol in a one hundred yards dash.

Will Crowley carried off a running-high-jump and a hop, step and jump, and Eugene McNichol captured first place in the standing-high-jump.

NEW YORK'S ACQUISITION.

The Biscome White Deer Leaves Peterborough.

The most unusual freak of nature, the white deer, set up by Mr. Biscome, our local taxidermist, was to-day shipped to New York. The mount has been purchased by the Museum of Natural History, New York City. The purchase was made through a photograph of the mounted animal, and its selection is a practical tribute to the excellence of Mr. Biscome's work. As has been stated in the Examiner, the deer was captured by Mr. Dorland Mumby, of Bannockburn, Hastings County. The purchase of the white deer removes one of the greatest animal curiosities from Mr. Biscome's interesting collection.

SHAH KEPT KING WAITING.

A Seaman and Gun on Nelson's Flagship Victory Blown Through Porthole—Persian Ruler Meets King Edward.

London, Aug. 21.—There was a gun accident yesterday on board the old wooden battleship Victory (the flagship of Lord Nelson at the battle of Trafalgar). While firing a royal salute on the King's arrival at Portsmouth a charge exploded prematurely and one of the ancient muzzle-loaders and a seaman were blown clean through a porthole. The body of the sailor was not recovered.

The Shah proceeded to Portsmouth this morning to visit King Edward on board the royal yacht Victoria and Albert, which was berthed at the dockyard jetty so as to obviate the necessity of the Persian monarch crossing the Solent. The Prince of Wales and the Shah's suite accompanied his Majesty to Portsmouth.

The Shah insisted on such slow traveling by the train that the King was kept waiting for upwards of an hour. As soon as the train was sighted His Majesty landed from the royal yacht and proceeded to greet the Persian visitor. The meeting between the two rulers was most cordial. They heartily shook hands and then walked to the yacht, chatting animatedly, while the warships fired royal salutes.

After lunching with King Edward and Queen Alexandra the Shah started on his return to London amidst the firing of a royal salute.

Prior to the Persian monarch's departure King Edward, Queen Alexandra, the Shah, the Prince of Wales, Princess Victoria and Prince Arthur of Connaught were photographed in a group, the Queen and Princess wearing Persian orders, evidently conferred on them by the Shah while the latter was on board the royal yacht.

DISEASED IMMIGRANTS.

The Act Against Their Landing Now Brought Into Force

Ottawa, Aug. 21.—An order in Council has been passed which authorizes the issue of a proclamation bringing into force the act passed at the last session of the Dominion Parliament prohibiting the landing in Canada of any immigrant or other passenger who is suffering from any loathsome, dangerous or infectious disease or malady. Such prohibition may be absolute or may be accompanied by permission to land for medical treatment. The prohibition applies equally to the immigrant or passenger who intends to settle in Canada, and to him who merely contemplates passing through the Dominion to some other country. Any person landed in contravention of the act, or who, having landed for medical treatment, remains longer than the period allowed, may be compelled to return, or be taken on board the vessel by force if necessary. A vessel owner who violates the provisions of the act and aids or abets an immigrant or passenger to contravene the law, or who neglects to take back on board his vessel persons to whom the law applies, incurs a penalty not exceeding $1,000 and not less than $100 for each and every such person.

DO YOU DRINK TEA?

The Use of This Beverage Very Frequently Brings on Stomach Trouble.

There can be no question but that the action of strong tea of any kind is injurious to the mucous lining of the stomach.

The frequent and continued use of even moderately strong tea will eventually bring about a seriously deranged condition of the digestive machinery.

Tea drinking, if carried past a certain point or if the stomach is naturally weak, or has been weakened by something else, has a great tendency to superinduce dyspepsia.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, if taken immediately after each meal, will prevent any ill effects from the action of the tea. They build up and strengthen the stomach, digest the food, and thus prevent the formation of the gas due to undigested food.

It would be a great sacrifice on the part of many people to give up the use of tea. Canadians are great tea drinkers and the drink is so refreshing and grateful that nothing has been discovered that would take its place.

Notwithstanding this, doctors and scientists the world over are forced to admit that the continued use of tea is harmful, if something is not done to counteract its effects.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the simplest, safest and most direct means of preventing Tea-Dyspepsia or any other form of stomach trouble. They are a perfectly reliable protection against, and cure for, the ills of an over-burdened stomach, and may be used with perfect safety and equally good results by the youngest child or the oldest man or woman.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold wherever medicine is sold at 50c a box, six boxes for $2.50. If years of tea drinking has upset your stomach, buy a box and use them according to directions, and note the result.

Kingston, Aug. 20.—On the ground of incivility and extravagance, the Frontenac County Council have passed a resolution by which they will ask the Ontario Government to dismiss Sheriff Thomas Dawson.

MR. MORGAN'S IDEAL.

A Word Picture of Vast Industrial Development.

MR. G. PARKIN WAS ASTOUNDED

Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan Spoke Quite Freely to the Principal of Upper Canada College, But Subject Will Require Further Elucidation to Be Perfectly Clear to the Noted Canadian Educator.

New York, Aug. 21.—J. Pierpont Morgan arrived from Europe yesterday, and, during the trip, became very chummy with G. R. Parkin, principal of Upper Canada College, who has been commissioned by Lord Milner, Lord Rosebery and other trustees of the Cecil Rhodes' educational beneficence to arrange for the distribution of scholarships in the British colonies and in the United States. To Mr. Parkin, Mr. Morgan spoke freely of his ideas of industrial development, and astounded the college president by the vastness of his economic plans.

"Mr. Morgan's word picture of the ideal industrial development is so vast that I confess I could not adequately comprehend it," said Mr. Parkin. "Combination is the keynote of his idea. He claims the idea of combination will progress, growing wider and greater all the time. The steamship trust he used as an illustration, saying the present plan was only the beginning of an ultimately vast combination of shipping interests. His idea is so great that it has completely enthralled me, and I asked permission to visit him at his office and hear him more fully develop his idea for me."

Mr. Morgan took great interest in the matter of the Rhodes' scholarships, and expressed decided ideas regarding the manner of their distribution. He told Mr. Parkin that he did not believe they should be given to young men. "American boys should not receive their college training abroad. That would tend to un-Americanize them. We are the ruling nation, and our college boys should develop in an atmosphere of American ideas. All foreign notions should be kept aloof from them until their characters are developed. When they are thoroughly Americanized it will be of the greatest advantage to send them abroad to get a top dressing of foreign ideas from which they can select the best. The process will broaden their views and strengthen their judgment. But we should send to Oxford only full matured scholars or young business men who could fulfill the conditions of the Rhodes' gift," said Mr. Morgan.

Mr. Parkin said he thoroughly agreed with Mr. Morgan's ideas, and Bishop Potter, who was a party to the conversation, also agreed with the financier.

Mr. Parkin says that these scholarships are all for the 16-year-old postgraduate course in English universities.

WELCOMED AT PARIS.

Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier's Visit—Their Partial Program.

Montreal, Aug. 21. — A despatch from Paris states that Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier on their arrival in Paris were welcomed by Hector Fabre and a large number of Canadians, and by G. M. de Billy, representing M. Delcasse, the Minister of Foreign Affairs. The program for the visit is not completed, but today Sir Wilfrid will be given a luncheon by M. Delavaud, Director of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. On Friday he will have luncheon with Abbe Paul de Foville at the Seminary of St. Sulpice, in Issy. On Wednesday next he will attend the exhibition at Lille, accompanied by Hon. Messrs. Borden, Mulock, Fielding and Paterson, and they will be tendered a banquet. Sir Wilfrid will be tendered a banquet in Paris on August 30.

Burglaries in Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Aug. 21.—Several places in this city were visited by burglars last night. The loss was not heavy. Among the stores and offices entered were: Keewatin Lumber Company, Waterloo Manufacturing Company, Ford Stationery Company, Heasley's, Miss Bain's, Palace Clothing Company and Burns' grocery.

GREAT WEATHER FOR CROPS.

Harvesting Operations Begin in Southern and Western Manitoba.

Winnipeg, Aug. 21.—The weather was quite mild last night, and a great deal of cutting was completed yesterday. Prospects are of the brightest for taking off the immense wheat crop.

It was warm and cloudy yesterday, and harvesting operations began with a will, particularly in Southern and Western Manitoba. Every available reaper was busy around Roland, in Southern Manitoba.

The C.P.R. has made every preparation to receive the first of the harvest excursionists this afternoon from the Maritime Provinces. A new ticket office has been built, and extra hands engaged to look after their wants. The depot building has been placarded with posters directing new arrivals to the best locations.

2,380 West West Wednesday.

Toronto, Aug. 21.—The Harvesters' excursions to Manitoba and the Northwest commenced yesterday, and the Union Station was the busiest spot in town. The men came from Toronto and from points east of Toronto to Sharbot Lake and Kingston, including the midland division. Three carloads were attached to the regular North Bay train at 1.45 p. m., and there seemed to be thousands left behind them. These were taken in two special trains of nine cars each later in the afternoon. The three trains conveyed 1,480 persons. From Kingston another hundred left, and the specials from Midland and Orillia, conveyed between them, about 800 more, so that altogether there left on Wednesday from these points 2,380. Last year 1,687 left on the first day of the excursion.

Was Tortured by Eczema 30 Years

A Dreadful Case—Itching Almost Unbearable—The Flesh Raw and Flaming.

Dr. Chase's Ointment

Mr. G. H. McConnell, Engineer in Fleury's Foundry, Aurora, Ont., states—"I believe that Dr. Chase's Ointment is worth its weight in gold. For about 30 years I was troubled with eczema, and could not obtain any cure. I was so unfortunate as to have blood poison, and this developed eczema, the most dreadful of skin diseases.

"I was so bad that I would get up at night and scratch myself until flesh was raw and flaming. The torture I endured is almost beyond description, and now I cannot say anything too good for Dr. Chase's Ointment. It has cured me and I recommend it because I know there is nothing so good for itching skin."

Few people realize the suffering caused by eczema and other itching skin diseases. This is an example of what Dr. Chase's Ointment is doing in the way of relieving suffering mankind. Many of the cures it brings about are more like miracles than anything else. 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THE BOER GENERALS.

Slated for Places in Legislative Council of South Africa.

GEN. CRONJE STARTS FOR HOME

Gens. Botha and Dewet to Lecture in England—Will Hasten Their Return to Great Britain in Consequence—Will Discuss South Africa's Future Autonomy With Colonial Secretary—Visit to Kruger.

Utrecht, Holland, Aug. 21.— The Boer generals (Botha, Dewet and Delarey), accompanied by Dr. Leyds and Messrs. Fischer, Wessels, Wolmarans, Reitz, and others, arrived here yesterday from The Hague to visit ex-President Kruger and consult with him on the South African situation. The large crowds assembled at the railroad station and in the streets warmly applauded the Boers. The spectators at the station sang the Boer national anthem.

The Boer generals intend to hasten their return to England and start on a lecturing tour through the larger towns. They will confer with the Colonial Secretary, Joseph Chamberlain, in regard to plans for the future autonomy of the South African colonies. It is said that possibly the generals will enter the Legislative Council of South Africa.

Nine Workmen Killed.

Explosion of Two Steel Digesters in Pulp Mill Caused Death.

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 21. — Nine workmen are known to have been killed, five are missing and three others were badly injured by the explosion of two steel digesters in the Delaware pulp mills of the Jessup & Moore Paper Co., on the Christiania River, yesterday.

Those who were not killed outright were mangled or burned by escaping steam that flowed over their bodies from the broken digesters.

To add to the horror of the disaster, the wreckage took fire, but after some difficulty the fire department managed to subdue the flames, and the work of rescue was continued.

CRUSHED IN AN ELEVATOR.

Windsor Man Meets Instant Death in Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 21.—Harry Stewart, aged 22, a resident of Windsor, whose parents reside in Paris, Ont., was instantly killed in Metzger's automobile repository, Detroit, late Tuesday afternoon. He was about to take an automobile to the repair shop on an upper floor. He opened the safety gates at the elevator shaft, and started the elevator which was in the basement. In some way Stewart let the gates slip and was caught and held by them in such a way that the ascending elevator floor caught him, dragged him through the gates, and then dropped him into the basement, dead.

No New Convents in Switzerland.

Berne, Switzerland, Aug. 21.—The Federal Council has decreed the active enforcement of an article of the constitution forbidding the establishment of new convents by religious orders or the re-establishment of suppressed congregations. Three months' grace is allowed the orders that have infringed the constitution in which to comply with the decree by closing their establishments.

Husband Kills Wife.

Quebec, Aug. 21.—About 2.30 yesterday morning a brutal murder was committed at Montmagny, Que. A man named Joseph Mathurin killed his wife by cutting her throat. The murderer and his victim are both 35 years old. Mathurin confessed to his brother immediately after the murder. Jealousy and drunkenness are said to be the motives.

Sir Edmund Barton Sails.

London, Aug. 21.—Sir Edmund Barton, Premier of Australia, sailed yesterday by the steamship Majestic for New York.

According to the New Zealand correspondent of The Daily Mail, Mr. Seddon, Premier of New Zealand, has abandoned his proposed trip to the United States, on account of the illness of his wife.

Blew Out the Gas.

Kingston, Aug. 21.—The sons of the late Mr. Coley, found dead in Napanee, are of the opinion that his death was accidental, and was in no wise premeditated. They are quite satisfied that his life was probably lost by his blowing out the gas before retiring.

Three People Drowned.

DUNDONALD FOR CANADIANS.

All South African Contingents Should Get Medals and Gratuity.

Ottawa, Aug. 21.—Lord Dundonald has made representations to the War Office not only in favor of a war medal for the 3rd, 4th, 5th, and 6th Canadian Mounted Rifles, but that they should also receive the special Imperial war gratuity of £5 per man. It is taken for granted that the troops will get the colonial gratuity of £5, but the special Imperial gratuity seems to have been reserved only for those troops who served on the field. The 2nd C.M.R. fought at Hart's River and were six months in South Africa. They will probably get both sums. Up to date the Canadian troops have been paid in gratuities a sum aggregating about $400,000.

TALE OF THE C.M.R.

Ottawa Journal Says That Some of the Men Took to Looting.

Ottawa, Aug. 21. — The Journal published yesterday the following statement about Canadian soldiers:

"The Canadian Mounted Rifles, who formed the last contingent, were evidently a lively bunch. While they were in Northern Natal, they had nothing to do, and, consequently, took to looting for amusement. They raided in general, and one day swept down on Newcastle, taking everything before them. Their reputation for unruliness, it is said, was such that when they were leaving Newcastle to entrain for Durban the Newcastle merchants put up their shutters and stopped business for the afternoon. As a result of their depredations, a claim has been filed with the Canadian Government for £18 for damages incurred. The Australians and New Zealanders were included in the lot, and a total of £200 was withheld in all from the colonials in Northern Natal, where the depredations took place.

JUMPED INTO THE SEA.

Story Told by Immigrants Who Crossed the Atlantic.

Ottawa, Aug. 21.—G. A. Johnston, Dominion traveling immigration agent, has returned from Fort William, having accompanied a train load of immigrants who were going through to the Northwest. Mr. Johnston was told by some of the men that when they were crossing the Atlantic, one of the party, a man named Robert Hewitt, jumped overboard and was never again seen, although a diligent search was made. Hewitt was playing a game of cards when, at the conclusion of one game, he got up and said: "Leave me out of this game, boys!" With this he went on deck, and deliberately jumped into the sea. The crew of the Tunisian did everything possible to locate the unfortunate victim, but to no effect. Family trouble is supposed to have been the reason for his rash act.

Three Charges With Arson.

Ottawa, Aug. 21.—The Inspector of Quebec provincial police, arrested Martin McDonald and wife and Harry Anger of East Hull on a charge of arson. The charge is that on May 13 last they set fire to a house and barn, for the alleged purpose of collecting $1.400 insurance from the Queen's Fire Insurance Co. The prisoners were handed over to Sheriff Wright of Hull.

Left Ten Million Dollars.

Detroit, Aug. 21.—In the will of the late Senator McMillan, bequests of more than $60,000 were made to charity. The estate is valued at $10,000,000, the bulk of which is to go to the widow and the sons. All the employes in the Detroit office of the big hardware concern, of which he was head, were left $250 each, and his three managers $5,000 each.

BULLET FOR HOG.

Judge Morgan Makes a Startling Statement in County Court.

Toronto, Aug. 21.—Young William Crook, who pleaded guilty to being a member of an unlawful assembly, was released by Judge Morgan in the County Judges' Criminal Court yesterday. The assembly in question was the occasion of the recent street car strike, and in making the release Judge Morgan took occasion to express his mind freely on the disgrace he considered these tumultuous meetings to a peaceful city like Toronto. He was perfectly in accord with the calling out of 1,400 troops to keep order, as had been done on that occasion and advocated in future still more strenuous measures.

"A few rounds of ball cartridge," he said, "would work wonders."

Pimples, Blotches and Skin Eruptions

How unsightly, sometimes even disgusting, and certainly very mortifying to the sufferer. They are merely an evidence of impure, poisoned blood, and lowered vitality of the elementary organs, which can be quickly changed by taking Ferrozone after meals. Ferrozone cleanses the blood of all poisons and eruptions, makes it rich in red corpuscles that manifest themselves in a healthy ruddy complexion. To have a pure, soft skin and good complexion simply use Ferrozone regularly. Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at Ormond & Walsh's.

British Writers at Toronto.

Toronto, Aug. 20.—The party of British journalists, under the charge of Mr. W. T. R. Preston, arrived here yesterday. They are studying the city each from their own point of view. These gentlemen compose the party: F. Charles Stewart, The Times, London, Eng.; A. E. Fletcher, Daily Chronicle, London, Eng.; Hugh Spencer, Daily London Express; James London, Leeds Mercury; W. Holl Waite, London Daily Mail; L. LeLage, London Standard; James Proudfoot, Glasgow; Arthur Stopping, Birmingham News; W. Howe, Inverness Special; D. L. Thomas, Cardiff; A. E. Copping, London Daily News; Rev. F. C. Stewart, ecclesiastical journals; B. W. Wilson, Manchester Guardian; G. Wetherall, Liverpool Post.

The Czar Threatened.

Vienna, Aug. 20.—A newspaper at Cracow, Galicia, publishes a report that the Czar of Russia found on his desk a missive from a revolutionary committee threatening him with death unless he conceded constitutional government to Russia. The Czar, according to the Cracow newspaper, was greatly alarmed.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Talked of Prohibition.

Grimsby Park, Aug. 20.—Yesterday was temperance day at the Auditorium. Three meetings were held under the auspices of the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance. In the forenoon there was an informal conference of prohibition workers. Those in attendance represented all parts of the province, and included many well known clergymen.

Emperor 72 Years Old.

Vienna, Aug. 20.—Emperor Franz Joseph yesterday celebrated his 72nd birthday. Festivities in celebration of the Sovereign's natal day are being held throughout Austria and Hungary. The program includes the review of 30,000 troops at Vienna. All persons in the Empire imprisoned for lese-majeste, numbering 210 in all, have been pardoned.

Had Nervous Prostration.

Mrs. S. W. West, Drayton, Ont., states, "I got terribly run down, and finally became a victim of nervous prostration. I had no appetite, seemed to lose interest and ambition and could scarcely drag myself about. Hearing of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I used three boxes with great benefit, gaining 11 pounds. It made me strong and well and I had such an appetite that I wanted to be eating half the time."

Moors Attack the French.

Paris, Aug. 21.—A telegram, received here from Oran, Algeria, says that a party of Moors recently attacked a French military supply column, near Ain Delkelil, and that numbers were killed or wounded on both sides. Troops have gone in pursuit of the Moors.

A Genuine Triumph.

in the medical line is that made by a Brantford druggist, called Merrill's System Tonic. It embodies an idea long thought of but just recently made chemically possible. When System Tonic is taken the old blood is purified, new rich red blood is made, while all the organs in the body are toned and new tissue constructed. The result is perfect health. Sold in 50c bottles at Ormond and Walsh's.

THE LATE MRS. J. P. STRICKLAND

Particulars of Her Sudden Death on August 12th.

The Examiner has been requested to republish a corrected report of the sudden death of Mrs. J. P. Strickland.

The entire community of Lakefield and vicinity were shocked to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. J. P. Strickland, which sad event took place on the evening of August 12th.

On this evening, about a quarter to seven o'clock, a small blaze broke out in an out house of the family residence, D'Eyncourt Park. Mrs. Strickland and the family were naturally considerably excited, and in hastening out of the house Mrs. Strickland fell and suffered concussion of the brain which, operating with an affection of the heart, led to fatal results. Although medical attention was very soon available, all efforts were without effect, and the unfortunate lady remained unconscious till the time of her death, which took place at 10.10 p. m.

The late Mrs. Strickland, whose maiden name was Susan Sherwood, was a sister of the late W. E.. Sherwood. She was sixty-three years of age. About forty-two years ago she was married to Mr. Strickland. She then resided with her family in Germany, and Mr. Strickland, who had met her while she was on a visit in Canada, made the voyage to Germany, where they were wedded. Besides her husband, the deceased leaves six children, three sons and three daughters, to cherish her memory. Two of the daughters reside at home, and the other is Mrs. John H. Peck, of Vancouver, B. C. The sons are Messrs. Walter, of Toronto; D'Eyncourt, manager of the Quebec Bank at Pembroke, and Alexander, of the Bank of Montreal, Greenwood, B. C.

The deceased lady was a member of the Church of England, and one whose kind deeds and sympathetic charity will be long remembered. She will be deeply and sincerely mourned.

That bereavements seldom come singly to a family seems to be borne out with sadness in this case. Mr. H. T. Strickland, of Ashburnham, only a few weeks ago lost by death his sister, Mrs. Blomfield, of Lakefield. A few days later he was called upon to mourn the death of his own wife, and now his brother's wife has been suddenly summoned.

The funeral took place from the family residence, "D'Eyncourt Park," on Thursday afternoon at three o'clock.

GRATEFUL RECOGNITION.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Permit me space in your paper to express my sincere thanks to the many kind and willing friends who saved my property from destruction by fire on the evening of August 12th, and to say how much myself and my family appreciate the sincre respect shown by the merchants of the village in closing their places of business on Thursday afternoon, and the genuine sympathy extended to us by so many in the hour of our sad bereavement.

Yours, sincerely,
J. P. STRICKLAND.

OBITUARY.

Death of Mr. Isaac W. Ruttan of Dummer on Friday.

Mr. Isaac W. Ruttan, of the 8th concession of Dummer, about two miles from Norwood, died at his home on Friday, August 15th, after a lingering illness of several months. He was a native of Dummer township, a son of Christie Ruttan, of Trent Bridge, and was in his fifty-fifth year, having been born on the 27th of January, 1848. At the age of 18 he united with the Orange Society, of which he remained a member until death. He was also a member of the Baptist church in Norwood. He was a carpenter by trade, though of late years he followed the farming industry. In 1882 he married a daughter of the late Robert Gardner, by whom he had four children, all of whom, together with his widow, survive him. His sister and her husband, Mr. Smith, of Gananoque, and his uncle, Wesley Ruttan, of Muskoka, were present at the funeral held on Sunday afternoon, and which was very largely attended, being conducted under the auspices of the Orange Order, Rev. Mr. Hawkins, of the Baptist church, Norwood, officiating. The bearers were Messrs. H. N. Drain, D. Andrews, Peter Beckett, Thomas McQuigge, James McMillan and Allan Elmhirst.

OBITUARY.

MRS. ALFRED RYLEY.

It is with sincere regret that Bethany and the Township of Manvers was called upon on Sunday to mourn the loss of another old and respected resident. Mrs. Alfred Ryley, whose maiden name was Bessie Argue, has entered into her reward after a lingering illness which she bore with a calm Christian meekness. Since the death of her husband, the late lamented clerk of Manvers, some four years ago, she has never been strong. Deceased was born in the township sixty-seven years ago, and for many years was a resident of Bethany, where her husband was in business, which is still conducted by her youngest son, Mr. H. H. Ryley.

Deceased leaves four sons and two daughters, Mr. T. G. Ryley, of Toronto; Mr. J. P. Ryley, of Branden, recently of Lindsay; Mr. A. A. Ryley, of Little Current; Mrs. James Preston, of Victoria, B. C., and Miss Mabel and Harry in Bethany, all of whom except Mrs. Preston, were home to follow the remains to their last resting place to Lifford cemetery on Tuesday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Yule, of the Presbyterian church, performed the last sad rites.

MR. BARTHOLOMEW DOWNEY.

There passed away on Friday one of the oldest and most highly respected men of Emily Township, in the person of Mr. Bartholomew Downey. Deceased was born on the old homestead, Lot 6, Con. 9, where he resided during his life. He carried the mail between Downeyville and Omemee for thirty years, twice a week for about ten years, and daily for the past twenty years. He married Miss Ellen Clarke 49 years ago last July, who departed this life on Nov. 15th, 1900, at the good age of 72 years. Six sons and three daughters are left to mourn the loss of a kind father, viz.; Bartholomew and Charles, at home; Thomas in the United States; Eugene in Petrborough; John in Chicago; Alexander in Toronto; Mrs. S. Malone in Toronto; Mrs. W. H. Lehane and Mrs. J. Murphy, in Emily, who all have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community.

The funeral on Sunday morning to the Downeyville cemetery was very largely attended, many being present from Omemee and Lindsay. Rev. Father Bretherton conducted the solemn and impressive service.

A PRETTY AUGUST WEDDING.

The Burgess-Barclay Nuptials in Lindsay on Tuesday Last.

(Lindsay Post.)

At the residence of Mrs. Barclay, No. 20 Sussex street, a very pretty wedding took place on Tuesday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock, when her only daughter, Nellie V., was united in marriage to Mr. Palmerston G. Burgess, G.T.R. despatcher, Lindsay. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. H. Copeland, of Port Perry, in the presence of about thirty invited guests. The event took place under a bank of palms and ferns, the room being prettily decorated with other choice flowers. The bride looked pretty in white silk taffeta and veil, with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses. Miss Weldon, of Oakwood, was bridesmaid, and was prettily attired in a dress of blue muslin over white. Little Emma Moynes was maid of honour, and Master Melville Moynes carried the tray with the ring. Mr. Percy McLean, of the Geo. Matthews Co., Peterborough, officiated as groomsman.

After the usual congratulations had been extended the happy party partook of a sumptuous wedding breakfast. The presents to the bride were handsome and numerous. Mr. and Mrs. Burgess left on the 8 o'clock train for a honeymoon trip to St. Johns, N.B., Mr. Burgess' home. The bride's going away dress was a slate grey broadcloth.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Burgess will take up residence with Mrs. Barclay, the bride's mother.

TO ENCOURAGE HIGHER CLASS TEACHERS.

With reference to the scarcity of public school teachers, Mr. John Millar, Deputy Minister of Education, has suggested a change in the distribution of the annual Provincial grant, so that a preference would be given to teachers who held first and second class certificates. The former should be given a preference, he holds, so that there would be an inducement to a teacher to take a first class. At present $360,000 is given away as educational grants, and he thinks that special grants of $100 or $50 should be given to those schools employing the best qualified teachers. At present the grants are based on attendance.

LeGros' Fashionable Barber Shop.

There's a boom on at Charley LeGros' Barber Shop. Business is going away up past high water mark. How the New York Banks are Growing.

New York, Aug. 22.—In the discussion about money and the probable ability of the New York Banks to provide for the coming crop moving, it would be well to take a cursory view of the New York banks of the present day. A city's banking system is like the pulse of an individual and as the physician gets a general idea of the condition of a patient by the strength of the pulse, so the public forms an opinion of the cities' potential commerciality, by observing the banking, the increase and decreases of the number of institutions, the advance and decline of capital, profits, deposits and loans of the banks. New York ranks first as to the size and strength of American banks, and therefore dominates the other banks of the United States. In 1897 there were 3,697 banks in the United States doing business under the National Banking laws, with a combined capital of $609,644,388, of which number 58 were in New York and Brooklyn with a capital of about $50,000,000, or about 7 1-2 per cent. of the entire banking capital of the country. Since then 970 new National Banks have been organized, raising the banking capital to seven hundred and nine million dollars, while the New York banking capital has advanced to nearly one hundred millions. This shows New York's increase of banking capital in the period mentioned to be about one-half of that of the entire balance of the country. These figures do not include the capital of the State banks or of the trust companies, which have increased so prodigiously in the past five years. Exact data relative to the trust companies is not readily obtainable. It is safe to state however, that they have increased at the same rate, if not to a greater degree. The total capital to-day of the New York banks, figuring in also, and very properly, their net undivided profits, amounts to the enormous sum of $214,420,000. Their deposits are not included. It would look as if the New York banks would be found perfectly able to care for the money market during the moving of the crops. Also to a greater degree than ever before, through the medium of foreign exchange, New York bankers borrow enormous sums from Europe and sources, notably the English money market. Signs point to free offerings also of German cash. Closer money will attract funds to New York. This is a certain and unerring banking law, when stocks dip on money flurries, buy them, they will rise again.

For the Benefit of His Creditors.

Toronto, Aug. 22.—W. J. Hill, ex-M.P.P., said last night that he had assigned to E. R. C. Clarkson. The assignment was precipitated by the issuance of a writ by Williams & Wilson of Montreal, claiming $1,054. Mr. Hill says he assigned in order to protect his creditors. He says his assets consist of a $9,000 plant at Shawinigan Falls, and $6,000 in disputed accounts with engineers on his various contracts. Besides, he values his Soo plant at $11,000. Altogether he claims his liabilities in Ontario are only $6,000. All he desires to pull out all right is an extension of time.

Fire at Port Arthur.

Port Arthur, Aug. 22.—Yesterday morning fire broke out in D. M. Davidson's bakery on Park street, and before the firemen arrived the building, a wooden one, was doomed, and before the fire was under control, it destroyed the Davidson building and adjoining one to the east, occupied by Wing Lung, laundryman, several outbuildings at the rear and the building to the west, owned by J. L. Noelin, and occupied by F. Witherspoon, harnessmaker; also the shop to the east of the laundry, owned by Wiley Brothers, and occupied by H. E. Reid, tinsmith, and a barn in the rear of William Swiggler of the Mining Exchange Hotel. Loss has not yet been ascertained.

A TALK WITH WILLIAM COLLIER

Star in the play of "The Diplomat," Madison Square Theatre, Twenty-Fourth Street and Fifth Avenue, New York City.

"A gentleman," said he, "owes it to society to be well dressed. Conventionality has ordained special garb for special occasions, and any infractions of this fashion law are rightly construed as evidence of indifference to the feeling of the company to be mingled with, having either high haughtiness or some other form of boorishness for its foundation. Were my means less I would still be well dressed." Good taste, fair profits and frankness make it easy, cheap and pleasant to be well dressed at

BOND IS HAPPY NOW

Twelve Years of Persistent Effort Wins Success at Last.

HIS MISSION AT WASHINGTON.

Newfoundland's Premier Will Open Reciprocity Negotiations With the United States—Said He Prefers Free Trade With the United States to Union With Canada—Will Get to Work at Once.

London, Aug. 23—Sir Robert Bond, the Premier and Colonial Secretary of Newfoundland, sailed from Liverpool yesterday for Montreal on the Allan Line steamer Pretorian, on his way to Washington, with full powers from the Imperial Government to reopen the negotiations, through the British Charge d'Affairs, for the ratification of the Bond-Blaine convention.

The Newfoundland Premier has declared himself in favor of free trade with the United States, as against a union of the colony with the Dominion of Canada. His success in obtaining Imperial sanction for his present American visit is the culmination of 12 years of persistent effort, and only this week was he able to convince the Government of the injustice done to Newfoundland by the non-ratification of the convention, and able to secure its consent for the resumption of the reciprocity negotiations.

The Premier of Newfoundland will lose no time in getting to work, and the British Charge d'Affairs will communicate with the State Department shortly after the Premier's arrival.

Possibly Untrue.

Toronto, Aug. 23.—The above despatch was sent out by the Associated Press, an American institution, and is at variance with the understanding which the Canadian Government has with the Imperial authorities.

MOTHER JONES.

"Mother" Jones, the Miners' Friend, Talks at Strike Headquarters.

Indianapolis, Aug. 23.— "Mother" Jones, the "miners' friend," was at strike headquarters yesterday on her way to West Virginia, after a visit to the west, and spoke of a movement which she proposes to inaugurate as soon as Congress convenes if the strike is not settled before that time.

"We will organize the wives of 30,000 striking miners," she said. "and march on Washington as soon as Congress meets, and present a petition asking justice for the miners. We will shake them up down there, and will have a popular Congress when we get to Washington."

Cost of Coal Police.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Aug. 23.—It is estimated that the coal and iron policemen now guarding the idle collieries in four counties of the anthracite region number 5,000. The employment of so many special guards has necessitated an expenditure by the companies to date of $1,800,000.

When Strike May Cease.

Montreal, Aug. 23. — A Montreal coal dealer says that he has private information to the effect that the strike will be broken by Labor Day.

KINKS IN THE CABLE.

Skaguay-Juneau Line Already Damaged Beyond Repair.

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 23.—Skaguay despatches say that although the Skaguay-Juneau cable is not broken the Government crew of experts have stopped operations toward repairs and given up the proposition in despair. The trouble arises chiefly from great kinks in the line, which was so loosely laid that it went to the bottom in coils. The insulation has been broken in so many places that an entire new cable seems necessary. The line is one hundred miles long. It was laid last fall, but has been operated only a few weeks.

ATLANTIC PORT ALL THE YEAR.

Necessary For Fast Line to Compete With the Morgan Combinations.

London, Aug. 23. — A correspondent's letter to The Times agrees with the sentiments of the fast Atlantic line expressed by Robt. Reford, of Montreal. This correspondent says that the Canadian line must use an Atlantic port all the year round in order to compete with the Morgan combination.

In support of the argument against the use of the St. Lawrence River route, the correspondent gives a lengthy list, showing the important casualties to steamers on the St. Lawrence during the seasons from 1896 to 1892. There was a total of forty-four, ten of these being totally lost. The total tonnage of the forty-four steamers stranded was 150,527 gross, of which 31,282 tons were totally lost.

The correspondent says that the St. Lawrence being only open about half of the year, these very losses have occurred during the course of about forty months.

Bound For Home Port.

Sir Richard Bond, Premier of Newfoundland, sailed for New York yesterday. He thinks that if St. John's is made the terminal port, the passage from Liverpool will be shortened by 52 hours. The new service will be largely a matter of subsidies.

STEAMER STRIKES PILOT BOAT.

John E. Townsend, Light Keeper at Louisburg Instantly Killed.

Halifax, Aug. 23.—A despatch received here last night states that the steamer Egda, bound into Louisburg Harbor late Thursday night, struck the pilot boat, which went out to meet her and in which there was four men. The pilot boat was swamped and John E. Townsend, the lightkeeper at Louisburg was instantly killed. Life buoys were thrown from the steamer to the other men, and they kept afloat until help reached them.

Quarrelled on a Train.

Berlin, Aug. 23.—Charles Salisbury was charged before Judge Chisholm yesterday with stabbing Frank Cromwell of Galt on July 14. Cromwell was charged with having assaulted Salisbury. Then the two were charged jointly with creating a disturbance on the train on which the trouble occurred. The cases were not concluded. T. C. Robinette of Toronto is defending Salisbury.

Killed Flying a Kite.

Medina, N. Y., Aug. 23.—William D. Holdredge, a prominent young man of this city, yesterday walked off the roof of his father's three-storey business block and was instantly killed by the fall. Holdredge was experimenting in kite flying when the accident occurred.

Health from Oxygen.

Mountain air is pure air because it contains its full amount of oxygen. Because of the oxygen that is in mountain air people go there to be made healthy; to be cured of germ produced diseases. Powley's Liquified Ozone increases the oxygen-carrying power of the blood. It is not liquified air—it has somewhat the same effect as liquified or pure, condensed oxygen. For any summer sickness such as dysentery, diarrhea, hay fever, it is simply invaluable—giving prompt relief and restoring normal conditions. It makes a delightfully refreshing drink for hot weather.

FAIR WAGES.

The Dominion Government seems to be doing the fair thing by labourers by providing that the wages paid on Government contracts shall be the current wages paid in the vicinity of the work under construction. According to the contracts signed by both the Government and the contractor a minimum rate of wage is stipulated. As an instance, on the Government building in Quebec bricklayers get $2.70 per day of 9 hours, and other employees in proportion. In Kingston bricklayers get $3.00, and in Clinton, Ont., a rural town, $2.25 per day of 10 hours, the prevailing wage in the vicinity. In Fort William, where a new post office is being built, the current rate of wages is considerable in advance of older settled portions of Ontario. Here bricklayers get nearly twice as much as is paid in Clinton, namely, 40 cents an hour for day of ten hours. It will thus be seen that the Government provides by inserting in all contracts a proviso that the rate of wages current in the neighbourhood shall be paid on all Government contracts. This gives the workmen of any particular place where public buildings or works are being constructed a preference in getting employment, for no contractor will be at the expense of importing cheap workmen, for he must pay the current wages and of course will employ the workmen who are on the spot.

EDITORIAL NOTES

There are 645 wheat elevators in Manitoba and Assiniboia, 526 on the lines of the Canadian Pacific railway; and 119 on the lines of the Canadian Northern railway. Their combined capacity is 29,077,600 bushels of wheat.

Some London newspapers declare that the British Navy is feeble, but, says the Duluth News-Tribune, the fact that the Continental nations kept their hands off when the British armies were busy in South Africa is the best proof that England is still the mistress of the seas.

Thirty petitions have been entered in Ontario, of these seventeen are against Conservative members. If Mr. Whitney can't get a majority in the House he has a majority of the protests anyway. There's a good chance for that majority of one to grow.

A Paris, France, newspaper pays a high compliment to the sturdy Imperialism and loyalty of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to British principles and British connection, when it severely denounces him because Sir Wilfrid, being a Canadian Premier, of French extraction, has not turned the allegiance of Quebec back to France.

Indolence is not included in the defects of Sir William Mulock, says the Ottawa Journal. A hard worker in his department at Ottawa, the Postmaster-General has carried his industrious habits abroad, and the fruits of his enterprise are seen in the conclusion of negotiations for a steamship service between Canada and South Africa. Misdirected the efforts of Sir William Mulock may be at times, but he is an earnest, capable and industrious administrater of his department. His time in London has not been devoted to idle speechmaking and social attractions, but to questions which he deems important to the development of Canada.

TRADE DISPUTES FOR THE MONTH OF JULY.

A Comparatively Quiet Month in Labour Circles.

The following is from the Dominion Labour Gazette for August:

The month of July has been a quiet one throughout the Dominion so far as trade disputes have been concerned, there having been a marked falling off in the number of difficulties reported to the department during the month. But seven new disputes in all appear in the table published herewith, namely, those of the printers at Halifax, N.S., ship labourers at Quebec, Q., boom employees at Quyon, Q., carpet workers at Toronto, tailors at Guelph, Ont., carpenters at Calgary, Alta., and shipwrights and caulkers at Victoria, B.C. Of these disputes, four were settled during the month, viz.; those of the ship labourers at Quebec, tailors at Guelph, carpenters at Calgary and shipwrights at Victoria, leaving three strikes unsettled at the close of the month. Of the settled strikes, two were in regard to a question of wages, and two had to do with union principles. Of the unsettled strikes, one was over a question of unionism, one for increase of wages, and one against the introduction of a clock system of recording the men's time.

The introduction of a non-union man upon a union staff was the cause of a lockout in the case of the printers at Halifax, which occurred on the 28th of the month and affected 15 men. Several attempts at settlement had been made, but no adjustment had been reported at the end of the month, though the employers claim the matter is at an end, owing to their having engaged others to fill the strikers places.

At Quyon, Que., some 30 boom employees struck for an increase in wages of $2.00 per month. The company effected refused to pay this, and paid the men off. No settlement had been reported at the end of the month, though some of the men were leaving to seek employment in the woods.

Tailors at Guelph objected to working with a fellow-employee against whom a charge of violation of union rules had ben made. After being out a little over a week the matter was settled through the intervention of the Trades and Labour Council, the result being that the man objected to was discharged, and the strikers returned to work.

The strike of shipwrights at Victoria, B. C., arose through the action of employers engaging outside men, when the union claimed there were competent members of their local body out of work. In this case, also, the local Trades and Labour Council was instrumental in effecting a settlement, an agreement being reached between the parties to the dispute, whereby the local men were to be given preference.

PERILS OF A LUXURY.

Sir Thomas Lipton and Sultan of Morocco Hurt While Automobiling.

London, Aug. 23.—Sir Thomas Lipton was in an automobile accident yesterday, while coming to town from his country house. His twelve-horse car, which he was driving himself, skidded on the street car rails at Woodgreen, and crashed violently into the iron railing bordering the road. The car was wrecked, and the railing was smashed for a considerable distance, but Sir Thomas escaped with a shock.

A special despatch from Madrid says that advices received there from Tangier announce that the Sultan of Morocco had a dangerous accident while automobiling near Fez yesterday. The driver lost control of the car, which dashed into a stone wall. As the vehicle was not going fast, the Sultan escaped with a shaking up and a fright.

FOUND DEAD ON A POLE.

Lineman of the Bell Telephone Co. Killed by Live Wire.

Winnipeg, Aug. 23.—Alex. T. McLean, a lineman, employed by the Bell Telephone Company, was found dead yesterday morning, hanging from the cross-arm on a telephone pole. Two workmen, also employes of the company were engaged in passing a wire to McLean, and, upon noticing that he stopped pulling on the line, looked up and saw his body hanging limp and lifeless over the arm. A live wire is run upon the pole near where the man was engaged but there are no marks upon the body that would indicate electrocution. McLean was aged 48, and leaves a wife and family of six children.

THE SEVENOAKS ELECTION.

Imperial Government Majority Reduced by 4,000—The Conservative Candidate, However, Won the Election.

London, Aug. 23.—H. W. Forster, Conservative, has been re-elected to the Parliamentary vacancy in the Sevenoaks division of Kent, caused by his appointment to the Lord Commissionership of the Treasury. His majority was 891 votes over the Liberal candidate, Beaumont Morfce. The contest centered on the Education Bill.

At the last election in the West, or Sevenoaks, division of Kent, Mr. Forster defeated his Liberal opponent by 4,812 votes.

KRUGER HAS LOST PRESTIGE.

And Leyds Will Not Have Much Weight in Future.

London, Aug. 23.—The Brussels correspondent of the Times says telegrams from Holland have been confused and contradictory, but it is plain that the Boer Generals have done everything in their power to avoid arousing anti-British demonstrations, and all reports regarding their future so-called political program are premature. Rumors that Kruger reproached the generals are not credited in Brussels, and reports of dissension between the generals and their colleagues are unconfirmed.

The loss of prestige by Kruger and his party, says the correspondent, is shown by the lack of interest in their doings on the part of the Belgian press. Serious opinion does not assign to Leyds any status in future political development of South Africa.

The Temps thinks the Boer generals' decision to return to London immediately shows they expect Chamberlain to make a positive statement as to when autonomy will be granted.

Botha at Meyer's Bier.

Brussels, Aug. 23.—Gen. Botha visited the cemetery of Ixelles, near this city, yesterday, and saw the body of Gen. Lucas Meyer in the mortuary. Botha, who was deeply moved, stood some time in prayer, and then placed a wreath on the coffin. The body of the Boer General will remain in the mortuary for three months, when it will be taken to South Africa.

Nourish the Weak Nerves, Build up Wasted Tissue and Purify the Stagnant Blood in August.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Nature's Summer Medicine Used by the Wealthy and Humble is the one Great Health Builder.

Paine's Celery Compound supplies the needs of the weak, sickly and diseased in a way that no other medicine can do. It never fails to brace and strengthen the weakened nerves; it forms new tissues and quickly purifies the foul and stagnant blood, allowing it to course with freedom and life to every part of the body. Paine's Clery Compound is the great furnisher of nutriment for the weak and run down nervous system.

The use of a few bottles of Paine's Celery Compound produces results that are astonishing and happy to the sick. The thin, emaciated body soon takes on solid flesh, the skin is clear, the eyes bright and sparkling, pain in the back is vanished, the liver and kidneys work healthily, the digestive organs do duty with unfailing regularity, feelings of new energy and well-being take the place of nervousness, despondency and melancholia.

Nourishing the nerves, the formation of fresh tissue and cleaning of the blood by Paine's Celery Compound means a new, vigorous and happy life. There can be no failures when Paine's Celery Compound is used; it truly "makes sick people well."

Soudan Tribes Troublesome.

London, Aug. 23.—The St. James' Gazette yesterday hears that trouble is threatening in the Soudan. The Government, the paper says, is preparing an expedition against the tribes. Col. Mahon, the reliever of Mafeking, and now Governor of Kordofan, has been recalled from leave of absence, and Sir Francis Wingate has also cut short his holiday and returned to Cairo.

Paid $325 For a Sow.

Toronto, Aug. 23.—George Creelman, Superintendent of Farmers' Institutes, returned yesterday from the sale of Yorkshire pigs at the Winter Fair at Guelph. He says the success it has met with will make it an annual affair. One sow sold for $225, the largest price ever paid for a sow in Canada. The average price was $40.

C. R. Devlin Ill.

Ottawa, Aug. 23.—Word has been received in the city that Mr. C. R. Devlin, ex-M.P., Canadian Immigration Agent in Ireland, is seriously ill on his other side. Mrs. Devlin and her young son left yesterday for Cleveland on receipt of the news.

Despaired of Being Cured.

Mrs. W. E. Jeffries, 44 Hicks avenue, Kingston, Ont., writes, 'I suffered agonies with itching piles. In fact I don't believe that any person who has not had piles can realize what I endured. The first application of Dr. Chase's Ointment brought relief and it has since entirely cured me. I hope that this testimonial will be the means of bringing comfort to other sufferers by making known the great power of this Ointment."

Dressmaker's Backache.

Women engaged in the arduous work of dressmaking frequently have trouble with their back and kidneys. Running a sewing machine, plying the needle in the never ceasing stitch, stitch, stitch, pressing seams—constant bending over—soon tells on the back, makes it ache and pain. No wonder these women often find their health fail. The kidneys get out of order, the back pains, and the whole system gets full of poisons which the sick kidneys are unable to eliminate.

No dressmaker should allow her health to slip away, and backache and kidney troubles keep her in misery, when such ease, comfort, freedom from pain and invigoration of the system can be obtained by using Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets.

ACTED SPLENDIDLY.

Miss A. Schwartz, 42 Water Street, Berlin, Ont., states her experience with Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets as follows: "I suffered from backache and kidney trouble for some years, which I think was due to sitting so close and bending over at my work. The trouble at times was quite severe, so I got a bottle of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets at Roos' drug store. They certainly acted splendidly with me, for I had not finished the first bottle until I got complete relief."

WARM AND BRIGHT.

Delightful Weather For the Ripening of the Manitoba Grain—Thousands of Acres Already Cut.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 23.—No better weather for harvesting could be wished for in Manitoba than that which blessed Manitoba's fields yesterday. It was warm and bright, and thousands of acres were cut. The heavy crop necessitates a greater quantity of twine than usual.

Five thousand harvesters arrived from the East yesterday. The first train reached here at 2.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. With despatch these men were hurried to their destinations. Delegates from all districts in the Province are here, and greatly assisted the railway and Government officials in forwarding the men. The maximum wage agreed to was $40.

From the best authority obtainable the crop of the Northwest Territories will be a huge success this year. The total output is estimated at 15,000,000 bushels, or an average yield of from 80 to 24 bushels per acre.

15,000 in Three Days.

Toronto, Aug. 23.—That section of Ontario tributary to Toronto has furnished 15,000 excursionists for the Canadian west in three days. The season closed last evening. Seven trains were sent out yesterday afternoon loaded as "specials." This was in addition to the regular trains, all of which carried from three to five extra coaches. Though the harvest contingent handled through the Toronto gateway this season is short three or four thousand, as compared with last year, the regular equipment of the railroads centering here was exhausted, and the unique picture of ordinary box cars being crowded with passengers was presented at the Union depot.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS.

Cure all the Ills of Little Babies and big Children.

This medicine is good for all children, from the feeblest infant whose life seems to hang by a thread, to the sturdy boy, whose digestive apparatus occasionally gets out of order. There is no stomach or bowel trouble that Baby's Own Tablets will not speedily relieve and promptly cure and do it in a natural way, as the medicine is guaranteed to contain no opiate or harmful drug. Experienced mothers everywhere praise Baby's Own Tablets above all medicines. Mrs. James A. Wilson, Wyoming, Ont., says, "I have used Baby' Own Tablets for both my children, and consider them indispensible in any home where there are young children. One of my children was very fretful, and I always found the Tablets comforting, and a splendid regulator of the stomach and bowels. I think the Tablets have been the means of promoting many a sound night's rest for both myself and children."

Children take these Tablets as readily as candy and crushed to a powder they can be given with absolute safety to the youngest, weakest infant. You can get the Tablets from any dealer in medicines, or post paid at 25c. a box, by writing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y.

Doubtful Compliment.

Mrs. Newed—Just think of it, dear! I made every bit of this cake with my own hands.

Newed—Is it possible? I never suspected there was so much strength in those fair, soft hands.

INCREASE IN TRADE.

The Revised Figures for the Last Canadian Fiscal Year.

$184,885.084 BETTER THAN 1896

Canada's Foreign Trade For the Fiscal Year 1901-02 Was, on a Basis of Total Imports and Exports, Greater by $37,007,287 Than That of the Year Immediately Preceding —A Telling Comparison.

Ottawa, Aug. 23.—The revised figures giving the salient features of Canada's foreign trade for the fiscal year 1901-02 were made public yesterday by the Customs Department. On the basis of total imports and exports, the aggregate was $428,910,444, an increase of $37,007,287 compared with the previous year, and of $184,885,084 as against 1896 when the present Government assumed office. It is scarcely necessary to say that these figures are unparalelled in our history. Our total foreign trade for the period 1896-1902, or during the time the present Government has administered the affairs of Canada, was $2,075,636,648. For the last six years of the Conservative regime the aggregate was $1,411,838,731, or a gain of $663,797,917 in favor of the Liberals. The average for the six years of Liberal rule was $345,939,441, and for the six years of Conservative rule $235,306,455. The total imports amounted last year to $212,270,158, a gain of $21,854,638 as compared with the year previous, and of $94,258,650 over 1896. The value of our total exports was $211,640,286, showing an access of $15,152,654 over 1900-1901, and of $90,626,434 over 1896. There was an excess of total imports over total exports of last year of $629,872. The total imports for consumption were $202,791,595, as against $181,237,988 in 1901, and $110,587,480 in 1896, an increase of $21,553,607 for the former and of $92,206,115 for the latter period. Of the imports for consumption, $118,657,496 were dutiable and $84,134,099 were free. The increase in dutiable imports over 1901 was $12,687,740, and over 1896, $51,417,737. Free imports show an excess of $8,865,867 compared with 1901, and of $40,786,378 compared with 1896. The customs duty collected amounted to $32,425,582 or $3,818,553 more than in the previous year, and $12,206,495 ahead of 1896. Canada's aggregate trade with Great Britain, on the basis of imports for consumption and exports, amounted to $166,524,283. Compared with 1901 and 1896 it shows increases of $18,177,163 and of $66,854,253 respectively. Our aggregate trade on the same basis with the United States amounted to $190,376,982, which was but $7,509,744 more than the preceding year, but $87,354,548 in excess of 1896. Our imports from Britain of dutiable goods for consumption were $35,062,564 and of free goods $14,143,498. In 1901 our imports of dutiable goods for consumption amounted to $31,868,310, and free goods to $11,097,818. In 1896 they were $24,366,179 and $8,613,563 respectively. Our imports of dutiable goods from the United States reached $68,922,500 last year, and free goods $60,879,347. A year ago our imports of dutiable goods were $62,823,061, and free goods $53,148,031. In 1896 we imported $29,101,646 of dutiable goods and a little more than that amount of free goods. Our total exports of Canadian merchandise only amounted to $196,019,763. Compared with 1901 this is an increase of $18,576,324, and exceeds 1896 by $86,311,958. Our exports of Canadian produce to Great Britain amounted to $109,347,345, which exceeds last year by $16,489,820, and 1896 by $46,629,404. Last year, of Canadian produce $56,567,784 went to the United States as against $67,988,673 in the year previous, and $34,460,428 in 1896. Last year $8,424,693 was collected in duties on British imports, and $15,155,136 on duties from the United States. In 1896 British imports yielded $9,358,514 in duties, and United States imports $7,737,992.

Tried to Wreck a Train.

Woodstock, Aug. 23.—Edward Hennecker, a 15-year-old boy, whose home is in Bright, is in jail here, charged with attempting to wreck a G.T.R. train last Monday night by placing a tie on the tracks near Bright. Chief Detective Day of the G.T.R. swore out a warrant against the lad Hennecker, who was employed by a farmer near Bright. Officers from the city arrested him last night. He denied his guilt.

Broken Into Kindling Wood

Halifax, Aug. 23.—Capt. Garnier of the schooner Bolino, which arrived at North Sydney yesterday from Gaspe, reports the wreck of the schooner Tarquin of Souris, P.E.I., during the terrific gale on Sunday last, at Grindstone, one of the Magdalen Islands. The Tarquin was broken into kindling wood in an hour after going ashore. The captain and crew barely escaped with their lives. They lost everything.

Punctured His Lung.

Grand Valley, Aug. 23.—Mr. Robert Brown, 13th concession, Garafraxa was riding on the hay rake, and used the fork to urge on the horse. Giving it a prod with the steel end, the horse kicked, driving the wooden handle into Mr. Brown's side, to such a depth that his breath came in and out of it. Mr. Brown received two such wounds, and for a time it was thought he would not recover.

LOOKING INTO CATTLE GUARDS.

Commissioners Intend to Work Hard—R. L. Borden's Subscription.

Ottawa, Aug. 23.—R. L. Borden, leader of the Opposition, has sent $25 to the fund for erecting monuments on the graves of deceased Canadian soldiers in South Africa.

F. W. Holt and George Robertson, the commissioners appointed to enquire into the question of cattle guards for railways, commenced work Thursday afternoon at the Department of Railways, where an office has been fitted up for them. They had a long interview with Mr. G. A. Mountain, chief engineer of the Canadian Atlantic Railway, who later on will submit a report to them. The commissioners will meet the chief engineers of other leading railways, and will also hold a conference with Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, of the C.P.R., Mr. W. Wainwright, of the G.T.R., and others who take an interest in the matter. It is intended to give every one who has got anything practical to submit an opportunity to be heard. The commissioners will go as far west as Winnipeg, and will likely leave for there shortly.

U.S. Immigrants Naturalized.

Ottawa, Aug. 22.—Attention is drawn to the fact that, although the census of 1901 disclosed the presence in Canada of 127,891 persons born in the United States, 66 per cent. of this number have become naturalized British subjects. The fact seems to show that American settlers may well be welcomed in Western Canada, seeing that they readily take the oath of naturalization.

Corticelli SPOOL SILK

For dressmaking and family sewing Corticelli Silk is the best silk made. For hand or machine use it has no equal. Corticelli Silk runs smoothly in the needle; it is always even in size and always full length and full strength.

Ask your dealer for "Corticelli" and politely but firmly refuse all substitutes, which some clerk may say are "just as good." You may be sure they all lack the many qualities of the genuine Corticelli Silk. If your dealer does not keep Corticelli Silk, it is probably because he makes a little more money selling you some other brand. As Corticelli costs YOU no more than poor silk, why don't you try it? Ask for Corticelli—the Dressmakers' Favourite Spool Silk.

This store will continue to close at 6 o'clock sharp every evening during the summer months, except Saturdays.

DIED NEAR BROCKVILLE.

A Former Resident of Peterborough Passes Away After a Long Illness.

Mr. C. A. Manhard, formerly an employee in the Wm. Hamilton Works, died this morning in South Agusta, near Brockville, after a lingering illness. The deceased was a member of Peterborough Lodge, No. 111, I.O.O.F., and carried a policy in the Oddfellows' Relief Association of Kingston. During his stay in Peterborough he not only formed a large acquaintance but was a general favourite. His many friends will extend their heartfelt sympathy to his sister and acquaintances. The funeral takes place to-morrow afternoon from his uncle's residence, and will be under the auspices of Brock Lodge, I.O.O.F., of Brockville.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—Local coal prices have advanced to $8 per ton.

—There is a scarlet fever placard on Scott street.

—It is called hard coal because it is hard to get.

—Daughters of households which "have their coal in" rank as heiresses.

—The Turf Club are busy looking after the driving park track for their summer meet.

—Several new buildings are going up in Ashburnham. Mr. Israel Payne is erecting a residence at the head of Belmont street.

—If the price of coal continues to rise, several families might find it to their interest to group themselves in one house and form a coal—ition.

—There will be no choir in George street church to-morrow. The choir are having a holiday. The singing will be led by Mr. G. W. Mulligan, and at offertory in the morning he will sing the solo "The Wonderful Story," and in the evening "The Promise of the King."

—Superintendent Tiffin, of the G.T.R., has issued a standing order to the effect that no trains be allowed to leave Allandale yard on Sundays between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. Now, if Mr. Tiffin will apply the same order to Lindsay, the town clergymen will rejoice with the local employees.

—A peculiar wreck occurred near Hammond, Ind., last Monday night. While the Monon special from Chicago was tearing along through the darkness at the rate of 50 miles an hour the train struck two freight cars and caboose, then leaped to the adjoining track and split to kindling wood another entire train. The big Mogul engine attached to the special was smashed into scrap iron, but not one of the 600 excursionists was seriously hurt.

—Orillia Times—At last the much-talked of litter boxes have been placed on the business thoroughfares, and this week there is a noticeable absence of scrap paper and other refuse on the streets. The boxes are very neatly gotten up, barrel shaped, but smaller, with hinged lid. They are painted inside and out, and their mission is inscribed in bold, black letters. They were placed on Thursday morning, and have been freely used ever since. They are a good thing, and everyone should encourage their use, and assist in keeping the the streets free from litter.

THE DAN SPENCE MEMORIAL.

To the Editor of the Examiner;

Dear Sir,—It is now two years since the late Dan Spence gave his life in defence of the British flag. What is wrong with us that we have not a monument in the Central Park, on the drill ground, where his comrades can see what a loyal people have done in remembrance of one of their number? In the village of Newcastle the people there took action at once to raise the money to erect a monument or memorial in the centre of the village in honour of the late Capt. Milligan, who was killed at Hart's River battle. Here we have a country village which has completed arrangements to honour, with a monument, a citizen, a few months after the event that made him worthy of remembrance, while two years after the death of Dan Spence in the service of the Empire, the people of Peterborough are still only talking, and by the way talking to very little purpose. Are we going to do nothing only have contention between ourselves whether we are to purchase an ambulance, when there is one here now—we don't require two. Some advocated getting a brass knocker or something of that description and hang it on or in the Court House. The public would never see it there. Take the money we have and erect a monument of some kind in front of the drill shed near George street sidewalk. You then have it in the most conspicuous place in the town. Let us have no more arguments, but be a loyal people, and do something out of respect to the late Dan Spence, or return the money to those that subscribed, and let the world see that we do not intend to pay proper respect to one of our fellow townsmen, that went and fought and died for the flag that we love. If there is a committee having charge of the money let them take action at once and erect a tablet with the amount they have on hand, and get it settled at once.

"PETERBOROUGH."

August 22rd, 1902.

Our correspondent directs notice to a matter which should receive immediate attention. In some respects the people of Peterborough pull splendidly together, and show splendid enterprise, but in other respects they find very little trouble in getting at cross purposes. As our correspondent says, two years have elapsed since the death of Dan Spence, and nothing has been done except raise the money for a monument. The fact that this is the most difficult matter, makes the delay in taking action more reprehensible. Let the advocates of the various forms, it is proposed for the memorial to take, adjust their differences—give and take a little—and decide upon doing something. The sum of $500 has been in hand two years. Of course in that time the interest has amounted to $50, which makes the fund $550. If the idea is to increase the fund by interest increments, the memorial might take the form of a street railway which, at the present rate of progress, will be ready for beginning about the time the $500 memorial fund increases to an amount sufficient to build the line. Seriously, it is time that some definite and straightforward action should be taken in both cases. If we are going to erect a memorial to Dan Spence let us do it before the memory of him becomes so dim in the public mind that the monument will have little significance.

SAPPHIRE CORUNDUM COMPANY.

Prospects of Speedy and Extensive Development of Rich Corundum Deposits in Peterborough County —Visit of British Capitalists.

Mr. W. Douglass Wales, Palmerston House, London, E. C., England; Mr. J. Carling Kelly, Managing Director of the Sapphire Corundum Company, of London, England, and Ottawa, Canada; Mr. Taylor McVeity, Sparks street, Ottawa, Solicitor for the Company, and Hon. J. R. Stratton visited the property of the Company on Monday and Tuesday and made a careful inspection of its extent, capabilities and present condition. This property is situated in the Township of Methuen, at the head of Stony Lake, and consists of about 780 acres, comprising the best deposit of corundum in Ontario, if not on the continent. The deposit is considered to be practically inexhaustable, and as to the quality of the corundum, the name of the Company, the Sapphire, adequately expresses the quality of the mineral—the sapphire being the hardest known stone next to the diamond; so this corundum is of very superior quality, of a constant character, the hardness being said to be very uniform, with, contrary to the usual occurence of corundum, but a trifling mixture of foreign matter. The property has been considerably improved, roads, etc., have been made and a tunnel of considerable extent has been driven. The mine is very conveniently situated for transportation purposes, both by rail and water, being five miles from Stony Lake, a part of the Trent Valley Canal system; eight miles from the Canadian Pacific Railway at Norwood, and accessible to the Grand Trunk system at Lakefield.

Mr. Wales visited the mine in the interests of the English shareholders and on his return to London, will make his report, which, it is understood, will be of so favourable a character that it is more than probable that it will be followed by immediate and extensive operations. The Company has secured the services as superintendent, of one of the most capable corundum experts on the continent, and before long the head of Stony Lake in Methuen Township will be the scene of a busy and profitable mining industry for which the conditions are all favourable, the Company being financially competent and the property itself of a character to amply pay for development operations.

SUMMER RESORT NOTES.

STONY LAKE.

The season is rapidly drawing to a close at Stony Lake, the cold weather of the last few days having dispelled the fear that August might close with a warm week. The near approach of school opening also has a great deal of weight in deciding the cottagers to close their summer homes. July and August have been uniformly cool at the lake, and the very heavy night dews have been a matter of constant comment. The records show that there was not a real "scorcher" of day during the entire season, sunshine rather than shade being sought for. The hotels and boarding houses which were rather slimly patronized during July, reaped their harvest in August, and the demand for apartments during the past three weeks was unprecedented. One well known hotel Wednesday night saw a single bed accommodate as high as four occupants, for verification of which fact reference can be made to Messrs. A. W. McPherson, Garnet Bell, Walter Robinson and Harold Armstrong. Three in a bed was the rule, rather than the exception. The Americans who came to the lake to fish can have no room to grumble, as the catches have been magnificent, both as regards lunge and bass.

Mr. "Billy" Currie, of Port Perry, who has been visiting at Rocklands went down to Peterborough on Friday to spend a day with Dr. Burnham, previous to leaving for home.

Mrs. J. J. G. Terrill, after a three weks stay at Viamede, left on Friday to spend a few days with her son, Mr. Alf. Terrill, in Peterborough.

Miss Gertie Kendry, after a pleasant stay a several weeks at Forest Nook, has returned home.

Miss Aileen Fair left for Peterborough on Friday, after an enjoyable week spent with Miss Mollie Meldrum and at the house boat.

The steamboat men have decided to select a number of islands at the lake for regular stopping places, at which the boats will call on the down trips for passengers. An extra charge of half-a-dollar will be made for stops at cottages. This, of course, is intended to apply to the down trips only, when it is necessary to economize time in order to make train connections. The new order of things will not go into effect until next year. It might not be a bad idea if the Cottagers' Association, at its annual meeting, would consider the matter, and submit a list of suitable landing places for the consideration of the steamboat owners.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Parsons, of Rochester, who are stopping at Kilkenny, landed a fine 15 lb. lunge while trawling at Boschink.

Miss Pearl Faint who is spending the week with Miss Alice Donell, at Kilkenny, caught a 10 lb. lunge in Gilchrist Bay on Wednesday morning.

VIAMEDE.

About fifteen of the guests enjoyed a very pleasant trip to Buckhorn on the launch Maida Vale, on the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Babson, of Orange, N.Y., to celebrate the 25th anniversary of their marriage. The ladies decorated the launch most artistically with golden rod, ferns and lilies. Arriving at Buckhorn, a visit was paid to the Indian camp and various little articles were purchased as souvenirs. On the return trip, afternoon tea was served. The guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Lunt, of Rochester; Mrs. Neal and Miss Gracie Neal, of Buffalo; Mrs. J. J. G. Terrill, of Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bliss, of Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. F. Bliss, of Rochester; Miss Muriel Temple-Dixon, of Toronto; Mr. James Barry, Rochester, and Messrs Stanley, Sidney, and Clifford Babson. The happy company returned to Viamede about eight p.m., having had an afternoon of unalloyed pleasure.

The little son of Mr. J. Langton, guide, who drank half of a bottle of laudanum, plays around merrily. His scientific treatment by Miss Church, of Mount Julian, and some ladies of Viamede, saved the little fellows' life.

The Explorers, of Rochester, leave on Saturday for home, and will be much missed both here and at Juniper Island.

John Chinaman, cook, and his brother laundryman, took a sudden notion to lie in bed all day, and in consequence Mrs. Graham dispensed with their services. They acknowledged they were bad, but said "English allee samee."

Miss Muriel Temple-Dixon, of Toronto, and Mr. Sidney Babson, of Orange, N.Y., made a fine catch of nineteen bass on Wednesday. They were mostly of the small mouth variety, and of a large size. They were photographed by a number of camera artists.

GLENWOOd.

Guests at present at "Glenwood," (Breeze's) are,—Mrs. James C. Forgie, Edith C. Forgie, Pittsburg; Alf. B. Jury and wife, and Arthur Jury, Toronto; Lillian B. Dent, Toronto; Alice Taylor, Beaverton; Dorthy A. Hodgson, Beaverton; A. G. Dunlop, Philadelphia; Geo. Cheyne, Hamilton; H. J. Wattam, Toronto; E. E. McNamara, Rochester; Chas. Clarke and wife, Rochester; Miss M. McPhillips, Rochester; W. Menzies and wife, Isabel Menzies, Peterborough; Miss Warner, Toronto; Miss Woods, Toronto; A. B. Cunningham and wife, Peterborough; E. Elkin, Toronto; A. Martin, Toronto; D.O. Pitcairn, Pittsburg; Celia Stant, Rochester; Chas. H. Mertzler and wife and Roy Mertzler, Rochester; Dr. Geo. N. T. Lewis, Harvey J. Buch, Irving J. Mills and wife, Buffalo; Mrs. Albert May, Rochester; Lou Thomas, M. Stephens, Peterborough; C. W. Lyman and Miss L. Lyman.

CHEMONG PARK.

The week has been the gayest of the summer at the Park, afternoon teas, card parties and dances have kept the guests busy every moment.

Mrs. Lee and Miss Hunter, two of the guests at the hotel, walked into Peterborough on Friday. Miss Hunter also walked to Lakefield during the week.

The cottaegrs in the park are thinking about becoming incorporated and a meeting has been summoned of all concerned for Thursday evening, when the matter will be fully discussed.

ALARMING MEDICAL REPORT ON DEAFNESS.

At a late meeting of the Otological Society of Great Britain an eminent aurist made the startling report that out of 1,000 school children he found 520 afflicted by defective hearing. Another medical man also stated that he had detected a similar proportion of deaf children out of 200 examined in a Liverpool school. With such an alarming proportion of deaf people growing up in our midst it is most important to call public attention to the necessity for detecting the beginning of defective hearing. The medical profession in general are doing all they can in this direction, but it has remained for the Drouet Institute to sweep away the scientific verbiage with which aurists have surrounded the investigation of ear diseases and to give publicity to a description, in plain words, of simple tests of the hearing that enable anyone to detect the slightest degree of Deafness This description, with much valuable information on the prevention of ear diseases, the care of the ears, and opinions on the curability of deafness, have been embodied by the Drouet Institute in "The Journal for the Deaf," which is issued quarterly.

This publication, which is devoted entirely to the interests of those who are afflicted by deafness, or by any diseases of the ear, nose, or throat, can be obtained free by post by addressing the Secretary, Drouet Institute, 72, Regent's Park-Road, Primrosehill, N. W., London England. The "Journal" also describes a Method of Treating deafness by external application that has been repeatedly successful in curing ear disease, and in restoring hearing in cases pronounced incurable by the usual aural treatment. Those who are interested in knowing how to apply this method will find that each "Journal" is accompanied by a Patient's Report Form, which enables anyone to receive full particulars as to the use of the treatment at home. Any advice by correspondence is absolutely free.

More Facts as to O & W.

New York, Aug. 23.—To-day's letter is a conclusion of an article on O. & W., commenced in our letter of yesterday. The preceding letter can be had at any of our offices to resume. Some changes will probably take place in earnings, owing to miners suspension, but fact remains; as with the other hard coal concerns their assets remain in the ground unharmed by idleness and saleable at better prices. The physical condition of the property has been improved vastly of recent years, increasing the intrinsic worth of the property greatly. The outlook for the coming year is unusually bright. For consecutive years O. & W. have shown net and gross gains in earnings, while operating expenses have not made any appreciable change. The great source of revenue to this company is its numerous washeries that have been established to work over the culm piles. These washeries, for the preparation of coal, are going up in every direction and those now in operation are pushed to their utmost capacity to care for the demand to-day. They are worth millions. In years gone by, one might have had all he could cart away gratuitously. All these additions in the way of additional tonnage, will increase the output of the O. & W. Here are the strong points of the O. & W. It came into the coal trade last of all the companies; no costly lessons to be learned by experience; community of interest give it assured position without contest. It had secured control of its coal branch and of coal mines at minimum cost. No costly leases or deals causing heavy fixed charges. Its sales agents guarantee all freights. Every ton shipped is equivalent to cash. No loss can fall on the company. The road has been entirely reconstructed, without increase of capital or bonded indebtedness. In the last ten years new cars, engines, bridges, etc., as well as coal piers all paid for out of earnings. Passenger equipment compares with the best in the country. Stock to-day is no higher than one year ago, and it is without a clique in Wall street to boom its shares. It is largely owned abroad, and the present management took it up twenty years ago, when it was a physical and financial wreck, after its experience in being connected with the dramatic building of the West Shore railway. Entrance to Scranton, in 1900, proved its salvation. The idea is to continue along present lines of improvements, turning it over to its owners ultimately a dividend payer. A voting trust, until it pays dividends, prevents a contest for control. Meantime it is earning one million a year above fixed charges—almost two per cent upon the stock. It is a splendid proposition to buy and hold. We recommend its purchase.

LATEST FASHION NOTES.

TAILOR-MADE GOWN OF LIGHT CHEVIOT.

What is more fetching than a woman of perfect figure, and distinguished bearing clad in a severely plain tailor-made gown. The very fact that these gowns are more rarely seen than formerly gives them a greater distinction of appearance.

As they depend entirely upon cut, material, and finish for their effect, everything for such a gown must be carefully chosen and of the best quality. The suit illustrated was of cheviot of a very light grey, the gored skirt being of the most approved cut, close fitting the upper portion, flaring below the knees, and finished merely by several rows of stitching of Corticelli silk in self colour. The single breasted close fitting body coat had a tiny added basque, mounted at the sides with a curving hip seam. The coat collar and sleeve finish hardly to be called cuffs, showed a novel touch in a facing of smooth finished cloth exactly matching the chivoit, and pierced in a Persian pattern, this being overlaid upon figured panne in very brilliant colourings, the touch of colour giving the gown an individuality all its own.

IN MANDALAY.

Thousands of Pagoda Bells Ring at the Setting of the Sun.

Mandalay has its own sky, soft and gray and incurving like a tent, with white cloud lines that seem meant for scrolls if one could read. It is the Very Sacred City, the city of contemplation, the city of all the monks. A thousand pagoda bells give tongue to the wind there when the sun goes down; a crumbling thousand more give up to time the testimony of outworn things.

It lies in a curved arm of blue hills, and something broods over it with solicitude. This you suspect from the air of the place and the way the shrill talk of the parrots and the complaint of the goats and the laughter of the people come to you wherever you are sitting. Afterward you go out, as I did that morning with the commissioner, and see under the very zenith, where the low gray sky is caught up, the square of the dark red crenellated walls of the old royal city, three miles each way, and outside the walls the parallel clear moat thinking back at the sky, and then you are sure that over and above the government of India some spirit is in possession here, some spirit that bends in affection over finished and forgotten things.

Seven roofed kiosks stand at intervals over the gates in the wall—they are called pyathat, but they strike the eye like peaceful conclusions—and low white stone bridges raised in the middle span the moat. The buttresses of the gates are painted deep gray and white, and the bank that slants steeply from the wall to the water has here and there a low, twisted, spreading tree on it, purely for decoration. You may stop at a corner and look two ways along the reflecting water, with bridge after bridge receding across, and pyathat after pyathat diminishing above, and each red and gray and white vista so picked out and finished under the quiet light slipping adorably into the near blue of the hills.

Mandalay seemed aware with bunting that day, flags and arches of welcome everywhere and crowds flocking—aware and almost awake—but you looked again and saw that she only turned in her sleep and smiled, as at a dream.—Exchange.

DO YOU DRINK TEA?

The Use of This Beverage Very Frequently Brings on Stomach Trouble.

There can be no question but that the action of strong tea of any kind is injurious to the mucous lining of the stomach.

The frequent and continued use of even moderately strong tea will eventually bring about a seriously deranged condition of the digestive machinery.

Tea drinking, if carried past a certain point or if the stomach is naturally weak, or has been weakened by something else, has a great tendency to superinduce dyspepsia.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, if taken immediately after each meal, will prevent any ill effects from the action of the tea. They build up and strengthen the stomach, digest the food, and thus prevent the formation of the gas due to undigested food.

It would be a great sacrifice on the part of many people to give up the use of tea. Canadians are great tea drinkers and the drink is so refreshing and grateful that nothing has been discovered that would take its place.

Notwithstanding this, doctors and scientists the world over are forced to admit that the continued use of tea is harmful, if something is not done to counteract its effects.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the simplest, safest and most direct means of preventing Ten-Dyspepsia or any other form of stomach trouble. They are a perfectly reliable protection against, and cure for, the ills of an over-burdened stomach, and may be used with perfect safety and equally good results by the youngest child or the oldest man or woman.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold wherever medicine is sold at 50c a box, six boxes for $2.50. If years of tea drinking has upset your stomach, buy a box and use them according to directions, and note the result.

An Indefinite Fish Story.

Mr. E. F. Clarke, M.P., Toronto, has been up on the Muskoka River fishing. "I had some good fishing, and intend to go up again for a few days. I hooked one big fellow. I do not want to exaggerate, and so I'll not tell you how big he was, but he was too big for myself and another man to handle. We got him alongside the boat, and then he just threw himself aside and went off with the hook and part of the line. But I'm going back, and will try him another tussle if he is willing."

Asthma Can Be Cured.

Thousands of testimonials conclusively prove that Asthma can be permanently cured by inhaling Catarrhozone, a vegetable antiseptic that destroys at once the germs causing the diseases. Catarrhozone gives immediate relief to the distressing cough and suffocating sensations, makes breathing easy and regular and insures undisturbed sleep. Catarrhozone cures Asthma that doctors are unable even to relieve and can cure you. The Catarrhozone inhaler is made of hard rubber, fits into the vest pocket can be used at work, in church, in the street, in bed—any place—at any time. OUTBURST AGAINST GERMANY.

Frenchmen Do Not Forget the Loss of Alsace and Lorraine.

Berlin, Aug. 22.—The outbursts of French feeling against Germany, that took place at the celebration of the anniversary of the Battle of Marsh La Tour (or Vionville, fought Aug. 16, 1870) is described circumstantially by a correspondent telegraphing from Strassburg. Many inhabitants of Lorraine crossed the frontier to participate. Bishop Turinaz of Nancy, addressing these persons, said: "You come across the border in spite of German cannon, and in spite of unhappiness hanging over your provinces to show here, on French soil, your unshaken fidelity to the old Fatherland. Through your very presence you ask the silent, but eloquent, questions: "How long shall we wait for you? When will you come to liberate us?'"

Gen. Cuny, who followed, said: "Comrades of 1870.—You have come here in order to send fraternal greetings across the Moselle and Vosges to those whose hearts remain French, and say to them, that your hope of the future, which will wipe out the defeats of the past, will never die."

KNIFE IN HIS HEART.

Man Named Fortin, Who Has Six Cuts, Arrested on Information.

Quebec, Aug. 22.—A man named Beauchamp, who lived on Champlain street, and bore an evil reputation, was found dead on the cornfields yesterday morning. It is plainly a case of murder, as a knife was found buried in his heart.

On receipt of information given by Sergt. Lyndon of the Royal Canadian Artillery, who was in the vicinity at the time, Detective Walsh went in search of Fortin, who, when arrested, admitted having had a fight with Beauchamp.

He readily went with the officer and bore signs of his recent conflict in the shape of six slight cuts, all on the right hand side of his face. The prisoner is positive in asserting that when Beauchamp first attacked him he did so with his knife, for he had previously threatened him with it. It was only then that he (Fortin), drew his own knife, which was much smaller, in self defence.

TAPS FROM THE WIRES.

The Porte has returned a package of insurance policies taken from Americans.

Mrs. Davis, with an ax, Thursday stopped a mutiny of prisoners in the Des Moines, Iowa, jail.

A cablegram from Portsmouth, Eng., announces the death there on Thursday of Dessie Bonehill, the vaudeville actress.

For stealing a horse bridle, Walter Smitheen was sent to the Winnipeg penitentiary for two years by the Police Magistrate Thursday.

Six thousand people attended the funeral of Striker Sharp, at Lansford, Pa., who was killed by a deputy. One thousand were women.

A report comes from England that Sir Edward Hutton, formerly Major-General commanding Canadian militia but latterly in charge of the military force of the Australian Commonwealth, has been recalled by the War Office.

Harry Drope, Hamilton, received a telegram Thursday evening from H. G. Booth, stating that Charles Gilmour, an old Hamilton man, had been knocked off by a car pole, run over and killed. Deceased was a brother of William Gilmour and John Gilmour of the firm of Boulter & Gilmour, and Mrs. Campbell, wife of John Campbell, dry goods merchant. He left the city a few years ago.

Sir Wilfrid in France.

Ottawa, Aug. 21.—Le Tempe of Paris says Sir Wilfrid Laurier and M. Delcasse, Minister of Foreign Affairs, will together examine several commercial conventions which might be concluded between France and Canada. Sir Wilfrid entertained at luncheon yesterday prominent Canadians in Paris and the staff of the Canadian agency. To-day the Canadian Premier will give a luncheon to the St. Sulpice Seminary, in honor of the St. Sulpician fathers, the first colonizers of Canada.

The British Team in Ottawa.

Ottawa, Aug. 22.—The British team, which is to compete for the Palma trophy, arrived in the city last night and will at once commence practice at the Rockliffe range. The team is commanded by Major Hon. T. F. Freemantle. They were met at the depot and welcomed by Col. Tilton, Col. Hodgins and Col. MacPherson, of the D.R.A.

Eleven Persons Dead.

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 22.—Eleven persons dead, two in the hospitals so seriously injured that little hope is entertained for their recovery, and six still missing whose bodies are supposed to be in the ruins, is the result of the explosion at the Delaware Pulp Mills.

Town in Ecuador Destroyed.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Aug. 22.—The town of Babahoyo, in Los Rios Province, was destroyed by fire Wednesday. Much merchandise from Guayaquil, in transit, was burned. The town is 70 miles from Guayaquil and has a population of about 2,000.

Will Come This Way.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—Many Chicago vesselmen are of the opinion that a vast quantity of grain, formerly shipped for export via Buffalo, lake and rail to New York and other seaboard points, will this year go by way of the Canadian routes.

Drowned While Trout Fishing.

Fort William, Aug. 22.—Erskine Andrews of Chicago, was drowned in Lake Nipigon, 60 miles east of here, Wednesday. The lake and river Nipigon are the famous trout fishing streams of the north shore of Lake Superior. The young man and his father were capsized in a canoe while fishing. The father was rescued. The body of the son has not yet been recovered.

POEMS OF THE DOMINION.

A CANADIAN ON BURNS.

O, bard of the winding furrow,
And the reaper's nimble blade!
Sweet prophet of the carollings
In shaw, and glen, and glade;
Who bent to teach us pathos,
And to pity lend an ear,
And to call the juner echo out
For each man's soul to hear!

And now the world knows better
Than it ever knew before
The woes and pains, the hopes and gains,
That lie at each man's door!
'Tis not the old-time feeling,
"For me, alone, my strife."
But, "Come and know your brother-man,
And live with him his life!"

And whether we guide the furrow,
Or wield the sword or the pen,
Or earnestly heed the extended need
Of the bodies and souls of men,
There's a manly stride beside us,
As of one who would help us there,
Who sowed some seed for the world's sore need,
Langsyne, on the banks of Ayr!

And while we rear him monuments
Of marble or of bronze,
His ever-enduring memory rests
In the hearts of Scotland's sons!
As the Auld Mither thanks her laddies a',
For their many leal "auld turns,"
She whispers our ear, as she wipes a tear—
"The best o' them a' was Brune!"

Malt Breakfast Food

Is Universally Recommended by the Medical Profession.

THE ONLY PERFECT FOOD FOR BODY, BRAIN AND NERVES.

Malt Breafast Food is the only cereal food universally recommended by the medical profession. It is partially predigested, enabling the weakest stomach to appropriate every particle.

Malt Breakfast Food is rich in Malt, Gluten and Phosphates; it therefore is a perfect food for body, brain and nerves.

Malt Breakfast Food is endorsed and recommended by the famous Ralston Club, an organization of over ten millions of members. It is the favourite morning dish with our Canadian people of all classes, and is rapidly superseding all other breakfast foods. You will never thoroughly enjoy your breakfast until you are a user of Malt Breakfast Food. Your grocer recommends it.

Of Benefit to Growing Girls.

It Makes the Pale, Bloodless and Anaemic Strong, Healthy and Vigorous.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

In the life of nearly every girl there comes a time when her system demands just such assistance as can best be supplied by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. The physiological changes which take place put a strain on the system, which is likely to leave paleness, weakness, and a run-down system. This great food cure restores health and colour to the pale anaemic, and frequently relieves parents of a burden of anxiety regarding their growing girls.

Mrs. Goodson, 104 Sebastopol St., Montreal, Que., states;—

"My daughter was very nervous, and seemd to have no strength. Her appetite was bad, and she looked pale and bloodless. Since she has been using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food there has been a marked change in her appearance. She now has a splendid appetite, and seems to be stronger and healthier in every way. I am well pleased with the results obtained from the use of this medicine, and think it is a splendid treatment for growing girls."

HIS DOMESTIC LIFE.

"THE PRIVATE LIFE OF EDWARD VII.," A RECENT PUBLICATION.

An Affectionate Husband and a Loving Father Who Has Never Received Full Credit for These Qualities—As a Churchman—About His Clothes—What His Majesty Eats and Drinks.

A recent publication entitled "The Private Life of Edward VII.," by a member of the royal household, contains many interesting facts pertaining to the domestic life of the King. The writer speaks of the King as an affectionate husband and a loving father, who has never received full credit for these qualities. The book, which first appeared when the King was still Prince of Wales, says of him:—

"The romantic love that induced him, when little more than a boy, to overcome all obstacles to his union with Princess Alexandra of Denmark, has never waned. During the illness which in the late sixties kept her for many months bound to her couch, his devoted attention to her slightest wish, his grief at her sufferings and his delight at her restoration to health, were proofs of his sincere affection. It was practically at the Prince's instigation that the long holiday that followed her convalescence in Egypt, Palestine, Turkey and Greece was planned, and he more than once expressed his delight that the journey, which lasted for many months, proved so successful in restoring the Princess to complete health.

"The same touching affection which existed between the Prince and Princess of Wales was again displayed during his own illness, when her Royal Highness scarcely ever left her husband's bedside. Other trials that must come to all people who undertake to journey through life together, be they Princes or peasants, have only served to draw closer the bonds of affection that unite the royal pair."

Under the head "The Prince is a Churchman," the writer says:—

"When the Prince of Wales was quite a young man traveling abroad, and while the love of sport of all kinds was running high in his veins, a friend of his, hoping to give him pleasure, proposed to arrange a shooting expedition for a particular date. The offer was exceedingly tempting, but the Prince, after a moment's grave thought, replied, 'It is impossible that I should come, for the date you mention falls on a Sunday.'

"The keynote of the Prince's observance of that day is struck in those simple words. From his youth up he has of his own free will, and out of his firm convictions, kept Sunday apart as a day that should be devoted to religious exercises, quiet family life, and such occupations as entail the least labor on those who are in his service. Sunday at Sandringham is, in fact, the ideal day of the English country gentleman. A holy peace and calm reign over the whole estate, and the air that during the week rings with shots from sportsmen's guns, and the whir of the latest improvements in agricultural machinery, is broken only by the sound of the bells ringing the royal household, and the peasants alike to service in the little church that stands within bowshot of Sandringham House.

"When the establishment at Sandringham is in full swing the list of visitors who are invited to stay there from Saturday till Monday, generally includes a notable divine, who is expected to preach on Sunday. Men of almost all opinions have stood up in the carved pulpit, but the Prince follows the Queen's example in preferring short to lengthy sermons. At the same time, whether the preacher be brilliant or dull, the demeanor of the royal family in church sets an excellent example to the rest of the congregation. The Prince's natural gravity is always heightened at these times, and he is most attentive to and observant of the entire service. The Princess of Wales' devotion when in church is most touching. Prince Eddy, whose likeness to his mother, extended to more than outward resemblance, was always very thoughtful and attentive, and the young Princesses follow the service with devout attention."

A chapter of the book is devoted to "The Prince and His Clothes," In this chapter it is made known that the tailor whom the King employed so many years, and whose popularity was established by the Prince of Wales' patronage, owed his own fortune to a slight incident. The writer says that Albert Edward was at the theatre one night to see Fechter as Robert Macaire. "The adventurer's coat was apparently a mass of rents and patches, but the Prince's keen eye quickly noted that the garment was singularly well cut. After the play the King sent for Fechter and asked him who his tailor was." The actor told where his coat had been made, and the next day the tailor received an order to call on the Prince of Wales, "and," as the author puts it, "from that hour he was a made man." He adds:—

"The Duke of Clarence had great faith in the Prince's taste, and always modelled his dress on that of his royal father. The Duke of York's taste is also largely ruled by that of the Prince of Wales.

"When the Prince requires new clothes, patterns of materials are sent to him. He has a correct eye for effect, and can tell at once how a piece of stuff will look when made up, which is in itself an art. He takes a very few minutes to make up his mind, always chooses a soft, light material, and for country clothes and 'ditto' suits has a partiality for broken checks. He also makes up his mind with commendable quickness as to fit and alterations. About the former he is most particular, though his clothes are made of a sensible looseness. The Prince's extraordinary memory has also served him more than once with regard to minor details of his wardrobe. On one occasion when some trousers were accidentally made from a material that he had not chosen he immediately found out the mistake although he had only once seen the pattern of the material he had ordered."

Under the head "What the Prince Eats and Drinks," the writer shows that Edward VII. pays much attention to this subject:—

"When the Prince arrives at the opera for early performances, such as those of Wagner's great cycle, which commence as early as 6.30, his Royal Highness is seen in his omnibus box as the curtain rises, and a short dinner is served to him in his private room at the back of the box during the twenty minutes' interval between the first and second acts of the performance. This brief meal is followed by a cigaretto, and then the Prince is once more in his place."

The writer says also:—

"The Prince has a dislike, which he does not attempt to disguise, to seeing ladies take more than a very little wine; so particular, indeed, is he on this point that iced punch and the various sherbets, all of which are flavored strongly with liqueurs and spirits and by his express orders seldom found on the Marlborough House menu. The Princess and her daughters set an example of exgreatly disapproves of the fashion that prevails in some country houses treme modergtion. The Prince also of sending champagn and other pick-me-ups, to the ladies' dressingrooms. Except in cases of rare necessity such a thing is never done at Sandringham.

"It is largely owing to the fact that the Prince likes to smoke when he has finished dining that after-dinner drinking has gone entirely out of fashion during the last twenty years; for what is done at the Prince's table rules in all classes of society. As soon after dinner as is possible cigarettes are handed round, a practice which must be attributed to royal influence. The Prince popularized cigarettes some years ago."

The book contains chapters on the King as a Free Mason, as a son, and on various other topics.

SHREWD VICTOR HUGO.

The Quiet Way In Which He Bullied the Theatrical Managers.

Here are the methods which Dumas the elder and Victor Hugo employed when they had a new play to offer to the theater. Dumas would write to the director of the Porte St. Martin:

My Dear Friend—I shall bring you on Monday a play in five acts. I shall need Mlle. Georges, Mme. Dorval, Bocage, Lockroy, Provost and five new scenes.

This extravagance would alarm the director, who would put off the production of the play till better days.

Then Victor Hugo would appear and shyly draw a manuscript out of his pocket. He would agree to everything. The stock company would play his piece admirably, since all he wanted was a good ensemble; no new decorations would be needed nor any change at all.

So the piece would be read, and as the roles were distributed Hugo would say musingly, "Dieu, how fine Frederick would be in that part!" "That is true." Horel would murmur, and a few days after he would announce that Frederick was engaged. Hugo would then remonstrate that this destroyed the equipose of the cast and Baucourt, Laferriere and Mlle. Georges would be engaged. Then Hugo would attack the stage setting. Old scenes, that the public had tired of, were almost an insult to these great artists. If Horel showed reluctance at this, Hugo would threaten to withdraw his piece. And so the game would go on, till, little by little, Hugo had obtained everything he wanted, even to changing the paper hangings in the stage boxes.

Pimples, Blotches and Skin Eruptions

How unsightly, sometimes even disgusting, and certainly very mortifying to the sufferer. They are merely an evidence of impure, poisoned blood, and lowered vitality of the elementary organs, which can be quickly changed by taking Ferrozone after meals. Ferrozone cleanses the blood of all poisons and eruptions, makes it rich in red corpuscles that manifest themselves in a healthy ruddy complexion. To have a pure, soft skin and good complexion simply use Ferrozone regularly. Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at Ormond & Walsh's.

Preaching Monkeys.

The author of "The History of Brazil" tells of a species of monkey called "preachers." Every morning and evening these monkeys assemble in the woods. One takes a higher position than the rest and makes a signal with his fore paw. At this signal the others sit around him and listen. When they are all seated, he begins to utter a series of sounds. When he stops these cries, he makes another signal with his paw, and the others cry out until he makes a third signal, upon which they become silent again. This author, Mr. Maregrove, asserts that he was a witness to these preachings.

Birds' Eggs Too Much For Science.

It is not often that science acknowledges herself at fault in an apparently simple matter, but she frankly does so in regard to the color and marking of a large proportion of birds' eggs. A reason there must be for their infinite diversity; it cannot be an æsthetic one, and all we can say with any confidence is that the ever pervading instinct of distrust is probably exhibited in eggshells as in more important things, and the main idea in their scheme of coloration has been the securing of safety from many enemies by harmonizing them with their surroundings. But it is a scheme full of perplexing exceptions, which any one can study for himself.

Had Nervous Prostration.

Mrs. S. W. West, Drayton, Ont., states, "I got terribly run down, and finally became a victim of nervous prostration. I had no appetite, seemed to lose interest and ambition and could scarcely drag myself about. Hearing of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I used three boxes with great benefit, gaining 11 pounds. It made me strong and well and I had such an appetite that I wanted to be eating half the time."

Co-operation in Canada.

There are 747 co-operative cheese and butter factories in Canada, where the farmers erect and equip the factories, and the Government undertakes to manufacture a good article at a cost of 2½ cents a pound to cover all expenses including marketing. They export $25,000,000 worth to Great Britain annually from these factories.

If you have transgressed against the laws of nature, you must suffer. Self abuse, later excesses and private diseases have wrecked thousands of promising lives. Treat with scientific physicians and be cured. Avoid quacks. E. A. Sidney, of Toledo, says: "At the age of 14, I learned a bad habit and at 19 contracted a serious disease. I treated with a dozen doctors, who all promised to cure me. They got my money and I still had the disease. I had given up hope when a friend advised me to consult Drs. K. & K., who had cured him. Without any confidence I called on them, and Dr. Kennedy agreed to cure me or no pay. After taking the New Method Treatment for six weeks I felt like a new man. The drains ceased, wormy veins disappeared, nerves grew stronger, hair stopped falling out, urine became clear and my sexual organs vitalized. I was entirely cured by Dr. Kennedy and recommend him from the bottom of my heart."

A GREAT SPEECH A GREAT SUBJECT.

Hon. G. W. Ross Addresses British Empire League in London—Ontario's Premier's Great Address on Imperial Trade Relations—Canada's Case Clearly Presented.

Your Grace, My Lords, Ladies and Gentlemen:

In seconding the motion that the officers for the previous year be reappointed, I should first say that the work of the British Empire League is much appreciated in Canada. Already it has rendered splendid service in creating deeper interest in the Empire, and in directing public attention to those larger measures of Imperial outlook, on which so much of the future of the Empire depends. In the prosecution of this, the primary object of the League, we are greatly indebted to the distinguished statesman, (the Duke of Devonshire) who presides over our deliberations to-day. Nor need we regret that the scope of the League has somewhat varied from the plan and purpose of the Imperial Federation League, out of which it has emerged, as within its constitution there is still ample room for the discussion of any measure having in view the political federation of the Empire. So far as I am personally concerned, whilst I would hail with pleasure an Imperial parliament at Westminster, in which all the colonies of the Empire would be represented, I am free to say that the necessity for such a parliament is not felt to be so urgent as to cause any uneasiness in Canada if it is not immediately attained. If we are not directly represented, we are and our desires for legislation courteously and favourably entertained whenever we show cause. To us this is a far more satisfactory condition of things than a federated parliament, whose constitution might be hastily considered and its representation settled without that careful consideration which an event so important deserved. If federation should come, as I have no doubt it will, with "the process of the suns," it can only come when public opinion in Great Britain and the colonies point to it as a remedy for some grievance or as a step towards a larger consolidation of political power and interest than the present condition of the Empire calls for. (cheers.) The chief difficulty in effecting such a federation will be to preserve the autonomy of the self-governing colonies and so co-ordinate the powers of this federation with the powers now possessed by the colonies as to permit us still to enjoy the priceless privileges of self-government within our own sphere. Any federation that sensibly diminished these privileges might involve the Empire in internal quarrels and misunderstandings that, instead of promoting unity and good feeling, would have the very opposite effect. (Cheers.)

ALWAYS RESPECTFULLY HEARD

But the other question to which the noble Duke referred, viz., that of closer commercial relations, is much nearer at hand, and in my humble judgment quite within the range of early if not immediate action. Canada has already signified its approval of this principle by conceding a on the Canadian market as against all her other customers. We have done this at a loss to our revenue of nearly $2,000,000 per annum and we do not regret it. (Applause.) We believe it due to the Mother Country that we should show our goodwill in some substantial manner, and nothing, apart from our readiness to defend the Empire in her time of need, could be regarded as a more substantial token of our goodwill than to favour her commerce and her shipping (for it means both) in the manner I have stated. (Cheers.) Now I am not going to speak censoriously, nor to inveigh against any of the economic principles so strongly laid down by our president, but, in the face of our preference towards the Mother Country, what is the attitude of the Mother Country towards Canada, or, for that matter, towards all her colonies? In what respect is her treatment of her own colonial subjects whom she considers bound to defend and who consider themselves bound to defend her, different from her treatment of foreign nations who would humble her to-morrow if they had the power? (Hear, hear.) Russia, Germany, France, Italy and the United States have walled out your goods by a high protective tariff. They have even entered your home market, as the trade returns show, and still they are accorded the same privileges in your ports and custom houses as your colonies. Do not think that we are importuning for privileges in a spirit of weakness or of mendicancy. Far from it. But the logic of the situation as it appears to me is, that if

PREFERENCE TO BRITISH GOODS

BLOOD IS THICKER THAN WATER,

if the children have any rights over aliens, if friends and allies over competitors and rivals, then the case for the colonies is a very strong one. (Cheers.) We do not admit that in the consideration of this question you are at liberty to say we must consider first and altogether the interests of the United Kingdom. The doctrines of the League are that the Empire is one, and the wider sweep of statesmanship which it has promoted accentuates that idea; moreover, we hold that we have a substantial interest, far removed though we may be by many leagues of land and sea, in the United Kingdom. Our fathers before they left these shores gave to it of their best in intellect, in industry, and defence. You inherit what our fathers helped to make great and powerful, and we have therefore, if not equal, at least, substantial claims upon this great estate of which you are for the time being the executors and trustees, and that claim, we believe, is entitled to recognition, not as a matter of grace, but as a matter of justice. (Applause.)

Now, His Grace, in his admirable speech, offers "free trade within the Empire" as the bond of commercial unity. May I be permitted to say with all due respect that I do not think that such an offer could be accepted by Canada. In saying this I can speak without any reserve, as I am not a member of the colonial conference, and am not, like Sir Edmund Barton, under any restraint.

CANADA CANNOT AFFORD to agree to free trade within the Empire just now nor at any future period within the reach of human foresight. I do not say this because I distrust the skill of our artisans to compete with those of other countries or because our manufacturers are wanting in enterprise and incapable of adapting themselves to modern conditions of trade, but I say it because of our proximity to our greatest rival, and very soon to be your greatest rival—the United States. (Hear, hear.)

Now, what has been our experience, for we are not committed to any theory of trade in Canada, we are rather the children of circumstances than the disciples of any school of political economy. Prior to 1879 we had a free trade tariff, as nearly as possible; our duties would probably not average more than 10 per cent. all round — I am now speaking from memory. The highest tariff that affected any substantial part of our imports was only 17 1-2 per cent. You might say that was a pretty large measure of protection. So it would have been if the competition with our rivals was only fair. But with 70,000,000 of people on our borders, with the greatest home market in the world free to their own manufacturers, our markets were treated as a dumping-ground for their surplus goods, and every principle of fair competition for the time being discarded. It was not a case of competition at all, as that word is fairly interpreted; it was a question of the

and of the transfer of our artisans to the United States. That is my answer so far as my American neighbours are concerned. (Hear, hear. But, you will ask, would the same principle apply to free trade with the Empire. To a certain extent it would. The price of manufactured goods depends to a great extent on the output. Your home market, or so much of it as you control, and your large foreign market enable your industries to produce on such an enormous scale that you so cheapen the cost of production as to make if difficult if not impossible for us to compete with you, particularly in textiles and iron goods, and so we have to choose between the closing of our industries (which would be a calamity) and the free admission of British manufactures. Now, self-preservation is the first law of trade, as well as of nature, and I am quite confident that if his Grace, who so stoutly defends free trade, were in our position, he would not hesitate to modify his views, as many of us have been forced to do by the inexorable conditions in which we were placed. (Cheers.) Nor have we had cause to regret the course we have taken. Free trade is claimed in this country to have been the source of all or nearly all your commercial prosperity. I am not going to dispute that proposition. I may, however, be permitted to point out that while your

EXPORTS IN THE LAST TEN YEARS

under free trade have only increased about £1,000,000 — $5,000,000 — the exports of the United States in the same time have increased about £85,000,000; that the trade of France and Germany is increasing in a greater ratio than the trade of Great Britain, and that in Canada we are enjoying greater prosperity than at any previous period in our history. For instance, our total trade in 1869 amounted to $130,000,000; in 1879, the year in which we substantially modified our tariff, to $153,000,000, and, in 1901 to $386,000,000, or, adopting a per capita basis, the trade of Canada in 1869 amounted to $38.35 per head, in 1879 to $37.01 per head, and in 1901 to $71.80 per head. Now this extraordinary increase is not altogether due to change in tariff any more than the increase of British trade is due to your tariff, but still it is such an important fact as to call for careful action in future trade negotiations. (Hear, hear.)

And this leads to the point more directly at issue. While you have manufactured goods to sell, and for which we have given a preference, we have food stuffs to sell, for which you give no preference. Your markets are as open to wheat from Russia or the United States as to wheat from Canada. In fact, 47 per cent. of the wheat imported into this country, 83 per cent. of the flour and 85 per cent. of the oatmeal come from the United States. In addition, you expect enormous quantities of beef and pork from the same country. We think, with a very small preference, we could very soon furnish the greater part of these supplies.

MANITOBA, LAST YEAR,

with only two million acres of land under wheat, harvested fifty million of bushels. (Cheers.) Your entire imports of wheat amount annually to a hundred million bushels. How long do you think it would take to get this from Canada? Not more than five or six years, and perhaps not so long. But you may say; If we tax our food supplies, we will increase the cost of manufactures, and to that extent diminish our power of competition with other countries. My answer is that you have already imposed a duty upon wheat and flour, and there appears to be no perceptible diminution of your powers of competition — at least, from that cause. (Hear, hear.) Why then, not retain the tax, but relieve the colonies from its application? This would be at least one instalment of free trade, which would be of immense value to Canada, while at the same time it would not be such a complete abandonment of free trade as the course you have adopted. It might not yield as large a revenue, but it would be a measure of reciprocity in keeping with the prefcrence given to British goods by Canada. (Applause.)

Closely allied with a preference in trade is the question of defence. When we are asked to contribute to the defence of the Empire, we understand by that term chiefly the defence of the commerce of the Empire. Now, why should we be called upon to defend a commerce in part of which we have no special interest? The United States in British commerce than we are, because they have more at stake. In fact, to ask the colonies to defend a commerce that is as free to aliens as to them is a rather one-sided proposition. If we contribute to the defence of your trade with the United States, we are simply helping to strengthen the position of our only rival in the Western hemisphere. Why should we be called upon to do this? Then, if we should so contribute, on what basis should we pay? According to our population, or to our trade? Surely not, for commerce is not necessarily based on population, and its extent, even, might not be a fair basis for charges of defence. For instance, our trade with the United States is greater than our trade with this country. That trade needs no defence by land. The contiguity of the two countries renders naval defence unnecessary. It is quite evident, then, that the question of defence cannot be worked on the basis of an accident insurance policy. It involves a variety of considerations which render it extremely difficult to apportion the cost, such as distance of transportation, exposure to attack, the value of the articles imperilled, the consequences of a blockade, or a loss of trade, etc.

The other question of a defence of the Empire from attack from its enemies is much simpler, and on this point, Col. Denison, who represented the Canadian branch of the League, has spoken with much force and clearness. I congratulate him on the services he has rendered Canada in this respect, as well as on his able speeches on the whole field of the Imperial relations. Canada is certainly prepared of Imperial defence in any reasonable way that may be suggested. We took care of your estates in Canada during the war of 1812, and the Fenian and other raids of 1866. We helped you in South Africa (cheers) and we would do it all over again if the necessity arose, but we have some difficulty in settling what might appear to be a just apportionment of the annual cost of that defence. The appropriation of a certain amount of the duties collected in the colonies over and above the sums required for the needs of the colony has been suggested, and there is much to be said in its favour. (Hear, hear.) The better solution for present purposes is to strengthen the colonies by directing towards them emigration from this country, and by giving them such preference in your markets as will increase their trade, and thus make them feel—on the grounds of self-interest, to take no higher for the present—that to defend the Empire commercially and nationally is to defend themselves against the dominant on of any other nation in whose hands their property and liberty would be less secure. (Applause). Patriotism is not necessarily altruistic. It has its practical side. And, while I believe you may count upon the loyalty of the Canadians as being as genuine as your own, I trust you will not consider I am reflecting upon the intrinsic merits of either your or our loyalty, when I say that in both cases loyalty can be greatly stimulated by the national and commercial considerations which call it into activity. (Loud applause.)

WHAT SIR WILFRID SAID.

Premier Delivers Eulogy of His Country in London, England.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who was received with prolonged cheers, at the coronation banquet held at the Guildhall, London, on July 11, replied on behalf of the self-governing colonies. It was, he said, his privilege five years ago to represent his country, Canada, at the celebration held in this ancient city in commemoration of the jubilee year of a reign forever made famous by the personality of the Sovereign, by the remarkable advance which took place under it of all the arts and sciences which contributed to the happiness of mankind, but whose characteristic for them would be the still more remarkable development of the British Empire as it existed to-day. (Cheers.) The British Empire, as all other creations of human effort, had been the cause of many conflicting sentiments. It had inspired, and perhaps more than ever would inspire, in the breasts of millions of men a deep sense of enthusiastic attachment. (Cheers.) British subjects could call the world to witness that the British Empire, wherever it had held sway, especially within the last 60 years, had carried with it everywhere an instrument of good government. In all His Majesty's possessions there was at this moment a remarkable and in some instances an almost phenomenal degree of prosperity, and among all those peoples, to whatever race they belonged, there was a universal sense of satisfaction and pride in British institutions. (Cheers.) Such, at all events, was the case in the self-governing colonies. Canadians present could bear testimony to the truth of his assertion that Canada to-day was a free, prosperous and happy country. (Cheers.) It was not always so, but the granting of representative institutions had worked that miracle. Prosperity and contentment had followed in the path opened by freedom. What was true for Canada was equally true for New Zealand and for Australia—indeed, there was only one shadow to that picture—one exception, which was South Africa. Until a few weeks ago, South Africa was scourged by war, which would not have broken out, if free civil rights under the law of full citizenship to all had been given there without any discrimination. He was convinced, however, that what had taken place elsewhere, would now be seen in South Africa under British rule. It was not in the genius of British history to make political changes simply for the gratification of a theory, or to round off sharp angles, but it was in the genius of British history to proceed slowly and cautiously, and never to change the condition of things, until there was a grievance, and then to remove the grievance and to go on further. Historic experience taught with almost unvarying certainty that political changes brought about in the hope of carrying an object not immediately prompted by practical necessity generally failed. He afterwards referred to the steadfast allegiance of Canada to this country. There was no finality in human affairs. He did not say that the time might not come when they might have a Parliament assembled in London from all parts of the globe. That would be a great spectacle no doubt, but not greater than the spectacle presented at this moment of a galaxy of free nations bound together by a sole allegiance to the same Sovereign. (Cheers.)

A DINNER SET FREE.

The dinner set on exhibition in the window of Stroud's Tea Store, George street, will be drawn for at the concert in the opera house, on the evening of Labour Day. Each adult adult admission ticket to the driving park in the afternoon will entitle the holder to one chance in the draw. Numbered coupon tickets will be issued; the purchaser retains the coupon, and should the number thereon be the duplicate of that drawn at the Opera-house, he or she gets the dinner set free. 25c adults admits you to the grounds, and gives you one chance for an $18.00 dinner set. Somebody will get it; it may be you. 1d.

FATAL FLOOD IN THE JOSIE MINE

Water From an Unused Level Breaks Into the Workings—Then Formed a Cataract Along the 300-Foot Level to the Josie Shaft—Shower of Boulders Carried Along in the Cataract—Two Escaped.

Rossland, B. C., Aug. 25.—Charles Hoskins and Josiah Lobb were drowned in the Josie Mine of the Le Roi No. 2 group Saturday morning, under circumstances that are rarely paralleled. The two men were at work in the bottom of the Josie shaft, 900 feet below the surface, where they were cutting a continuation of the shaft. In another section of the mine, a disused shaft is located, and this had filled with water until it contained many thousand gallons. The water broke through the wall of this section, penetrating through a seam of talc and greasy clay for a distance of 60 feet into the workings beneath. From the workings immediately beneath the water flowed in a cataract along the 300 foot level to the Josie shaft, where four men were at work. A shower of boulders was carried down in the cataract, and it was presumed that Hoskins and Lobb were stunned before being drowned. Their partners, Hocking and Thomas Strick, climbed the shaft through the falling water and escaped alive.

of the Canadian Premier, had an interview with M. Delcasse, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Saturday, lasting half an hour. W. S. Fielding, the Minister of Finance of Canada, and William Paterson, the Minister of Customs of the Dominion, accompanied the Premier. The conversation was mainly confined to an exchange of courtesies. Some reference was made to tariff concessions. It is understood that France is not adverse to certain reductions in return for equivalent concessions on the part of Canada.

The Canadian Premier will be received in audience by President Loubet to-day.

Sir Wilfrid is confident that he will eventually succeed in reaching an understanding with the French Government about reciprocity trade between France and Canada, in which French imports into Canada will benefit by a reduction of 15 per cent. in customs duties, and Canadian products will be imported into France at minimum tariff rates. Sir Wilfrid is also pushing his favorite project of a direct line of steamers from France to Canada receiving an annual subvention of $120,000, half to be paid by France, half by Canada.

EVERYTHING LOVELY.

12,700 Eastern Harvesters Have Already Arrived at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Aug. 25.—Sunday was one of the hottest, brightest days of the year and has been of tremendous advantage to the crops. Harvesting, which is general, will be carried on in earnest to-day from daylight till dusk. Thousands of the men from the east will be at work.

Up to 8 o'clock last evening the total arrivals of harvester hands amounted to 12,700. There is a big demand from the country for hands and some farmers, fearing that they would be unable to obtain men, were in the city Saturday picking men, to whom they offered good wages.

First Harvester Hurt.

Port Arthur, Aug. 25.—The first accident to occur to any of the excursionists going to the west happened yesterday at Schrieber. A man named Martin of Wroxter, Huron County, aged 73 years, bound for Winnipeg, is thought to have walked off one of the trains in his sleep. He was picked up by a following train and brought to the hospital here. He is in a critical condition, a number of bones being fractured.

Last evening No. 2 ran into a Finnland section man, working on the Black River section, and killed him. The man was on a handcar and the train coming round a curve ran into him. He was cut in two.

THE COAL STRIKE.

Several Methods Proposed For a Settlement—President Roosevelt Asked to Call Special Congress.

New York, Aug. 25. — President Roosevelt will be asked to call a special session of Congress to take action to end the coal strike. This was decided at a meeting yesterday of the Central Federated Union, representing 250,000 workingmen.

Mitchell Is Conciliatory.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Aug. 25. — The Public Alliance of this city, which waited on Senators Quay and Penrose at Atlantic City last week and urged them to use their good offices to bring about arbitration in the coal strike, performed a like mission in this city yesterday, when they called on President Mitchell and requested him to co-operate with the Pennsylvania Senators in bringing about a settlement of the strike. Mr. Mitchell said he would do anything that was honorable to bring about an adjustment, and he furnished the committee with the statistics of the strike from the miners' point of view, which were forwarded to Senator Quay last night.

People's Alliance Moving.

Hazelton, Pa., Aug. 25.—D. J. McCarthy, chairman, and Matthew Long and Harry Silverman, members of the Executive Committee of the People's Alliance of Hazelton, went to New York, yesterday to endeavor to put into operation some plan looking to a termination of the strike.

Losses to Date.

At the beginning of the sixteenth week of the strike the losses and expenses are as follows:

Operators in price of coal	$35,700,000
Strikers in wages	19,900,000
Employes other than miners	4,500,000
Business men in coal region	12,120,000
Business men outside region	6,700,000
Maintaining coal and iron police	900,000
Maintaining non-union workers	400,000
Damage to mines and machinery	6,500,000
Maintaining troops in field	225,000
Total	$86,945,000

State to Buy Coal Mines.

Rochester, Aug. 25.—Leonard Henkle of Rochester has a scheme which he is going to Harrisburg to-day to lay before Governor Stone, relative to the settlement of the coal miners' strike. He proposes that the State shall interfere and in time shall acquire the mines, paying for the property a price determined by a commission.

PREMIER AND PRESIDENT LOUBET

Trade Beneficial If Properly Managed—The Brittany Agitation—Project For a Direct Line of Subsidized Steamers Between Canada and France—An Annual Subvention of $120,000, Each to Pay Half.

Paris, Aug. 25.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier has expressed the opinion to a prominent Parisian journalist that trusts, if properly managed, are great benefits to all concerned, and that "our age is dominated by a powerful concentration of interests, a vast grouping of forces and a unification of methods in all branches of industry."

Sir Wilfrid declined to express any opinion on the agitation in Brittany, although he traveled through some of the disaffected districts there, but he said that the republic was the only form of government under which modern France could live and prosper.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Premier, had an interview with M. Delcasse, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Saturday, lasting half an hour. W. S. Fielding, the Minister of Finance of Canada, and William Paterson, the Minister of Customs of the Dominion, accompanied the Premier. The conversation was mainly confined to an exchange of courtesies. Some reference was made to tariff concessions. It is understood that France is not adverse to certain reductions in return for equivalent concessions on the part of Canada.

MISSIONARIES MURDERED.

Although Regarded as a Local Incident Murders Cause Uneasiness.

Shanghai, Aug. 23—A native evangelist, who has arrived here, confirms the reports of the murder of an Australian missionary named Bruce and an English missionary named Lewis at Chen-Chou, in Hu-Nan province. The missionaries disregarded the warnings of natives who foretold the outbreak. Although the murders are regarded in some quarters as being a local incident they are causing some uneasiness.

Edict Against Murderers.

Pekin, Aug. 24.—An edict has been issued ordering the murderers of an English missionary named Lewis and an Australian missionary named Bruce to be punished. The crimes were committed at Chen Chou, in Hu Nan Province. The Government expresses deep regret at the occurrence, and promises to make reparation.

TAPS FROM THE WIRES.

A proclamation has been issued by the Ontario Government, officially setting apart Monday, Sept. 1, as a public holiday.

Ephraim Adair, of Blenheim, wanted on a serious charge, escaped from the county constables by jumping through a window.

Brown Mills, of Toronto Junction, a brakeman, fell off a car at Brumbo Saturday and broke his leg. It will not have to be amputated.

In a head-end collision between two cars on the Bay Shore Terminal Line at Norfolk, Va., Sunday afternoon, three people were killed and sixteen others badly injured.

William Brown, a young man, resident of Trail, B.C., who was on a visit to relatives at Bethbridge, N. W. T., was drowned while crossing Old Man's River at Kipp Saturday.

William McGill, nephew of J. McGill, Mimico, fell between the tender of the engine and a car whilst at Milton Saturday and had his leg broken in two places, between the knee and the foot.

Joseph Bergeron, a Montreal boy, was accidentally pushed into a tub of boiling water by his brother and was literally boiled alive. The child's back was so badly scalded that death came to his relief within an hour.

J. D. King, president of the J. D. King Company, boot and shoe manufacturers, Toronto died on Saturday evening, after an illness of only a week. He came to Canada from Binghamton, N. Y., where he was born, over 40 years ago.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Hamilton is happy—it will soon be able to rival Toronto. Swift, of Chicago, is to establish a hog factory in the Ambitious City.

Balfour, the new British Prime Minister, is learning—that the Government's popularity is waning by a sort of educational process. He had hardly taken the reins when one of his supporters was bowled out, and at the election at Seven Oaks a reduction of the Conservative majority by four thousand is the handwriting on the wall.

The Dominion Coal Company's foreign sales have increased so rapidly of late that the Company find it necessary to reopen old abandoned workings, which will probably be done at Port Morien and Victoria mines at an early date. The output for last month was 310,000 tons, and it is believed that the output for the past year has been considerably over 3,000,000 tons, which is double that of the previous year.

In a letter received by the City Clerk of Montreal, Sir Wilfrid Laurier complains of his weariness of dinners and receptions, and speaking of the colonial conference, Sir Wilfrid said that the subjects discussed had been most interesting, and at times the discussion had been quite animated. The suggestions of the Colonial Premiers were well received by the Home Government, and given every consideration. In fact, he says, the colonial statesmen have no reason to complain of the treatment they have received from the Home authorities. The greatest consideration has been displayed towards them on every occasion, and everything has been done to make their stay as pleasant and profitable as possible to themselves and to the countries which they represent. He expects much good will come of the conference, but does not state the conclusions that have been reached.

CANADA'S GREAT NEED.

The crying need of the Dominion is settlers on its uncultivated lands. Respecting the attractions of these for agricultural immigrants, there is still wide-spread ignorance throughout the United Kingdom. This is more especially the case in the agricultural counties of the old land, to which, it is said, the Canadian immigration agents have paid far too little attention, having confined their energies mainly to cities and large towns. The need of Canada is, however, not for settlers whose avocations are those pursued in a city, but for men whose experience and whose tastes are agricultural, either as cultivators of the soil, or breeders of cattle. It would have been wise to have had a few representatives of such newspapers as circulate amongst the rural population of the United Kingdom. If an angler wishes to catch trout he fishes in a trout stream and has specific bait for his prey. If Canada desires, as she does, to induce men who are adapted for settlement on farm lands to immigrate from the United Kingdom, they must be fished for where they live with the bait they will take. General appeals to the people in large centres of population are largely a wasted effort. Newspapers that circulate only in London or in some industrial centre may publish the most eloquent, the most convincing arguments in favour of immigration to the farm lands of Canada, but those who read them will regard such appeals without taking any personal interest in the matter. We would, therefore, suggest that the Government should make a well arranged effort to induce the conductors of those newspapers that circulate in the rural districts to publish a series of articles on the attractions of Canada as a home for settlers. In organizing such an effort it would be most useful to advise with some of the farmers and cattle breeders in the Northwest who know from experience what arrangements it is desirable to establish to promote the settlement of British immigrants on the farm lands of Canada.

CANADIAN APATHY.

Ever and anon we have taken occasion, not for fault-finding but for patriotic motives, to point out that for a nation which quite frequently boasts of its energetic northern blood, Canadians are singularly slow in taking hold of the opportunities which often present themselves. At one time it is a valuable mining property which falls into the hands of the Yankees; then the latter gain control of some of the most valuable pulp concessions on the continent. Canadians gain all sorts of honours at World's Fairs for the fine quality of their cheese, but then they pat themselves on the back and wait for other countries to overtake them. They wisely go to great expense in educating expert cheese makers and instructors, and then foolishly offer them such meagre salaries that the experts are forced to remove into other countries, and help our competitors to win against ourselves. They oftentimes acknowledge an investment to be good and then wait to see whether other people, principally from the United States, think so too. If the latter do think sufficiently highly of it to take it up then Canadians are anxious to do the same—when it is too late. Like Micawber they have a tendency, a decreasing one, however, to wait for something to happen; and as often as not, when the something does happen, it is the other fellow who has had time to reap the advantage. Philosophy and patience are good, but sometimes action is better.

And now comes another example of this characteristic habit of waiting for an opportunity instead of making one. Mr. J. G. Jardine, the trade commissioner in South Africa, writes, saying there is a fine opening in that country for many articles of Canadian manufacture, such as flour and canned goods, pulp wood, furniture and lumber, textile goods, etc. He adds that while German and United States houses are flooding the country with circulars and other advertising matter, and making every preparation for doing a great and growing trade, Canada is doing almost nothing. This will never do. There, in South Africa, is a great field for all sorts of manufactured articles. Canada has the power of supplying that field, provided her manufacturers and exporters will do their proper share of exploiting their own enterprise. But they have powerful competitors, and they must throw themselves into the work with vim and persistence. And above all, they must keep their wares and their country in the world's eye. They must advertise and keep advertising. —Monetary Times.

WHAT ARE PTOMAINES ?

Often we hear of persons poisoned by eating tainted meat, fish, cheese, canned flesh of any kind, ice cream, etc. The poisons in these articles are called ptomaines, from a Greek word signifying "a dead body." They are produced in the dead body by putrefaction. Ptomaines are alkaloidal in their nature, like the vegetable alkaloid, strychnine, etc. Not all ptomaines are equally poisonous. They are formed also in the living body whenever the stomach is out of order, and by the normal processes of the body when the tissues break down with labour, but they are usually eliminated quickly by the depurating organs. They are formed also during fevers, contagious diseases, cholera, etc. If depuration does not go on through the skin, lungs and kidneys sufficient to keep them from accumulating in the system, the person may seem die. It is probable that a sick headache is due to ptomaines formed from the albuminous elements in our food. Those who use principally food from the vegetable kingdom and keep themselves clean interiorly as well as exteriorly, suffer little. It is believed that the Turkish bath brings them out of the system most quickly, and those who suffer from slow poisoning and depression from their accumulating in the blood are relieved by the use of this agency. —Health.

BOERS NOT CONTENT.

Article Credited to Kruger Denies Good Will to Britain.

The Hague, Aug. 25.—An article supposed to be dictated by former President Kruger and Dr. Leyds, appears in The Courant of Rotterdam. It says that the stories of good will between Boers and Britons are largely false, and adds:

"Though for the time being we are humiliated and gnash our teeth in impotent rage, the best plan is to become good friends with the British. By these means the Boers will be enabled to re-obtain before very long something very considerable to say in their own house."

Kaffirs May Cause Trouble.

Vienna, Aug. 24.—The Fremdenblatt Saturday publishes an interview with an Australian who traveled from South Africa to England on the steamer with the Boer Generals Botha, Dewet and Delarey. The Australian is credited with saying that in the course of a conversation, General Botha said to him: "It is probable that England has no need to fear further trouble from the Boers, but the civilization of South Africa is threatened by the Kaffirs. Unless the English authorities display the greatest energy, the Kaffirs are likely to cause great trouble."

CLARK WANTS BIG DAMAGES.

Sues Detective Cuddy For $5,000 For False Arrest and Assault.

Toronto, Aug. 25.—This morning at Osgoode Hall writs prepared by Messrs. Johnston & Falconbridge Saturday in which George Clark asks for five thousand dollars from Detective Alfred Cuddy for false arrest, will be served. As a cause of action the petition alleges that the officer arrested young Clark without a warrant, locked him in a cell without due process, where he was held some time before a complaint was prepared or a warrant issued. The claim is set up that the detective was guilty of assault, false imprisonment and persecution.

Suit Against the Government.

Montreal, Aug. 25.—The suit which the Dominion Iron and Steel Company are bringing against the Dominion Government will begin at Sydney next Tuesday. Judge Burbridge of the Exchequer Court left Saturday by the Maritime Express, also Messrs. Aylesworth and Moss, who will represent the Government, while Messrs. Lash and Chysler will look after the interests of the company. The first session will be held in Sydney on Tuesday, after which the case will be adjourned to meet either in Montreal or Ottawa.

Cotton Along the Nile.

London, Aug. 25.—Major Count Gleichen, secretary to the Sirdar of the Egyptian forces, Major-Gen. Wingate, addressing the British Cotton Growers' Association at Manchester recently, said that experiments made on the banks of the Nile show that the quality of cotton grown there is equal to any in the world. Fifteen million acres of irrigated land is available there. The only difficulty is the labor supply, the Deverishes having depopulated the Soudan.

Impaled on a Fork Handle.

Stratford, Aug. 25.—A frightful accident occurred at Ellice, as a result of which a young man named Peonkie lies in a critical condition. Peonkie was working on the farm of Mr. William Buck, near Wartburg, as a harvest hand. He had been building a load, and when he finished jumped off to the ground. He alighted on the handle of the fork, which had been stuck upright. The handle penetrated his body several inches. He was at once removed from the field to the house, and Dr. Paul of Sebringville summoned. The injury caused considerable internal bleeding.

Shot While Duck Shooting.

Winnipeg, Aug. 25.—Cecil Hart, clerk of the Bank of Hamilton, at Indian Head, was fatally shot, while duck-shooting Saturday afternoon, near town, by a companion, Elwood Blakely. The unfortunate young man had not recovered consciousness and was slowly sinking Sunday night. He was a son of Mrs. D. H. Cole, and nephew of Lady Schultz, Winnipeg.

Nearly Caught Their Man.

Toronto, Aug. 25.—Clayton Howard, a middle-aged man, who is wanted at Island Park, N. S., to answer a charge of stealing about $600 in cash belonging to the proprietor of the Pontiac Hotel there, came very near being run down in this city on Saturday morning. Howard successfully eluded an American officer, who traced him to Toronto, and his present whereabouts are unknown. Howard was employed in the Pontiac Hotel in the capacity of bookkeeper, and as such handled the cash. Manager Ward of the Arlington Hotel declined to discuss the case, except to say that Howard and a woman had registered there on Saturday morning as "Geo. Wallace" and wife of Montreal. The woman who accompanied Howard here did not make known her identity even to the officers, who interviewed her. She left for her home in Belleville on Sunday night.

Dead on Conviction.

City of Mexico, Aug. 23.—Jose Madiedo, an alleged "dead" man, who attempted to defraud the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York, out of $20,000 on a policy, was convicted yesterday, and sentenced to four years and a half in prison. Dr. Perez, who signed the death certificate, was acquitted.

PREMIER ROSS HOME.

Brief Impressions of His Holiday in Great Britain.

HIS HEALTH GREATLY BENEFITED

A Pleasant Trip—Importance of the Recent Imperial Conference—More Interest Shown—Canada Occupying a Larger Share of Public Attention in England Than Heretofore—Sir Edmund Barton Coming.

Toronto, Aug. 25.—Hon. Geo. W. Ross, Premier of Ontario, arrived home on Saturday evening from his trip to England, where he spent a very pleasant holiday. He was interviewed at his residence on Elmsley place, and he talked in a most interesting manner of his two months' outing. He appeared to be in excellent health and to have greatly benefited by the relief from public cares. Mr. Ross sailed for the old land on June 14 and arrived in London in ample time for the coronation, which was to have been held on June 26. When announcement of the postponement of the ceremony was made he left for Scotland and spent a portion of the interval in Edinburgh and Glasgow. He had intended to return to Canada early in the present month, but remained over in order to attend the coronation. He did not want Ontario to be unrepresented, especially as the Premiers of all the other Provinces and of the other colonies were present.

Heard Education Debates

"I was in London," said Mr. Ross, "while the Premiers of the self-governing colonies were in conference with the Colonial Office, and kept myself well informed regarding its proceedings. I accepted a number of invitations to functions given in honor of the colonial Premiers by the Imperial League, the British Empire League, the Constitutional Club, and other bodies. At these affairs opportunities of seeing and hearing prominent men from all parts of the empire were afforded. I also attended the debates in the House of Commons at Westminster during a great portion of the discussion of the education bill, a subject in which I was much interested. I found the members of the House wrestling with phases of the educational question which we settled many years ago, particularly the subject of religious instruction in elementary schools."

The Imperial Conference.

Regarding the Imperial Conference Mr. Ross said: "The Canadian Ministers were most assiduous in their attendance at the meetings. I have reason to believe that the conference, although it may not bear immediate fruits in every particular in which Canadians are interested, will ultimately, to use the words of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, 'produce considerable results.' The Imperial Ministers took great interest in the deliberations of the conference, and showed the keenest anxiety to make it a means for promoting the unity of the empire. In this result, I am satisfied, they will be successful. A full report of the resolutions approved at the meetings will soon be made public.

"The importance of preferential trade between the United Kingdom and the colonies was fully discussed. I was informed that, in view of the result of the recent election in North Leeds and the opposition offered to the bread tax in the House of Commons and by some of the leading journals of Great Britain, the Imperial Government considered prudent not to commit itself to any preference to the colonies at the present time, notwithstanding that this question was strongly pressed upon its attention by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues. The doctrine of free trade have still a very strong hold of the public mind, and it requires special leadership to direct the movement in the mother country in favor of a preferential tariff, although it has many supporters both in England and Scotland, some of them in very influential quarters.

Fast Steamship Service.

The question of a fast steamship service between Great Britain and Canada was also discussed, but, so far as I could learn, no definite conclusion was reached. It was greatly to the advantage of the members of the Canadian Government to have an opportunity of discussing this question with the large capitalists and others interested in the shipping commerce of the old country. The opinion was very freely expressed by many influential men during my stay in England that something must be done to counteract the effect of the great steamship combine formed by Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan. A fast service between the United Kingdom and Canada appeared to be the best way to meet this combination.

Inquire For Canadian Goods.

"I was glad," continued the Premier, "to learn that there is a general desire on the part of English merchants to trade with Canada to an even greater extent than heretofore, and that inquiries are being made at the High Commissioner's office more frequently than ever as to whether certain goods now on the British market, which were purchased abroad, could be supplied by Canadian dealers. I believe that nothing could better promote trade with Great Britain than a well-equipped depot and commercial agency in London for the distribution of information respecting Canadian products of every kind. It was most gratifying to hear such good reports on every hand with regard to Canadian bacon, butter, cheese and beef. A leading cattle dealer at Liverpool informed me that in the past two years a great improvement in the quality of the live stock shipped to the British market from Canada had been apparent.

Increased Interest in Canada.

"There seems to be an increased interest in Canadian affairs on the part of the press and of public men in almost every position of influence in Great Britain. Invitations were extended to the colonials, as they called us, by all the leading clubs of the city, and there seemed to be no end to the list of receptions, within and without the City of London, which were given by men of the highest rank in the Empire. As far north as Edinburgh and Glasgow, and over in Dublin, hospitalities were freely offered to those of the colonials who were in a position to accept them."

Mr. Ross said that Sir Wilfrid Laurier had suffered a good deal during his ocean trip, but that after a few days' rest in London he had greatly improved in health. When he started for a tour of the continent he was in excellent spirits.

Sir Edmund Barton Coming.

"I have just had a cablegram," said the Premier, "from Sir Edmund Barton, Prime Minister of the Australian Commonwealth, saying that he expects to be in Toronto on September 1, and that he will remain here until the fourth of that month. This will give him an opportunity of seeing at the great Industrial Fair the wealth of fruit, of grain and of forest products which Ontario contains. He is worthy of a hearty welcome from the people of this province, as he is a man of rare ability, who represents a rising and prosperous Commonwealth.

HON. JOSEPH ROYAL DEAD.

A Prominent Canadian Active in Quebec and Manitoba Politically, Passed Away in Montreal on Saturday.

Montreal, Aug. 25.—A well known figure has passed away. The Hon. Joseph Royal died Saturday night at the private hospital of Dr. Brodeur, where he had been under treatment for the past three weeks. He was operated upon, and seemed to be recovering, but congestion of the brain set in and he became unconscious on Thursday. He never rallied, but passed away calmly, surrounded by the members of his family. The funeral of the ex-Lieutenant Governor of the Northwest Territories will take place Tuesday morning at the Gesu.

Although a lawyer by profession, the late Joseph Royal devoted a great deal of his time to literary work. He began his journalist career on La Minerve in 1857, and took an active part in organizing the Papal Zouave Brigade, sent from Quebec in 1867-8. In 1870 he moved to Manitoba, and there established Le Metis, and became active at the bar, defending Lepine and Hand, who were tried for the murder of Thomas Scott by the provisional government of Louis Reil. He was elected in 1870 to the first legislature given to Manitoba, and remained a member of that body to 1879, when he was returned to the House of Commons. He was elected to fill the office of Speaker in Manitoba, and was successively Provincial Secretary, Attorney-General and Minister of Public Works, continuing to sit as a member till July 1, 1888, when he was appointed Lieutenant-Governor of the Northwest Territories. He was awarded the Confederation medal by Lord Lansdowne in 1885, and elected to the Royal Society of Canada in 1893, in which year he ceased to be Lieutenant-Governor, and returning to Montreal, became editor-in-chief of La Minerve in succession to the late Hon. Joseph Tasse. He later occupied a similar position on Le Journal.

KING MAY VISIT CORK.

Royal Yacht Cruising Around Coast of Wales and Ireland.

London, Aug. 25.—The royal yacht Victoria and Albert, with King Edward and Queen Alexandra aboard, is now at Milford Haven, on the coast of Wales, opposite Queenstown, and only about one hundred and fifty miles from there. The yacht is expected to remain off Milford until to-day.

The impression is strong that the King will cruise along the south and west coast of Ireland, calling at Cork and other Irish ports.

No details regarding the cruise is known, as the King only orders the next day's course the night before.

The officials are preparing for a seemingly expected visit to Cork by making elaborate police arrangements.

Should the King land at Cork the visit will be informal, and he will drive from the quay to the exhibition returning within an hour.

The King is also expected to land on Valentia Island on a brief visit to the Knight of Kerry.

Tale of King's Double.

Paris, Aug. 25.—The Revue Hebdomadaire publishes a strange article in which it alleges that it is quite certain that King Edward did not go through the whole coronation ceremony personally, but that after the actual crowning a man who is the King's double and was clad in royal robes, personated Edward VII.

Despaired of Being Cured.

Mrs. W. E. Jeffries, 44 Hicks avenue, Kingston, Ont., writes, 'I suffered agonies with itching piles. In fact I don't believe that any person who has not had piles can realize what I endured. The first application of Dr. Chase's Ointment brought relief and it has since entirely cured me. I hope that this testimonial will be the means of bringing comfort to other sufferers by making known the great power of this Ointment."

CHURCH CHIMES.

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH.

Rev. Derwyn T. Owen, formerly of town, but lately returned from England, preached two splendid sermons in All Saint's yesterday. Mr. Owen goes early in September to assume his duties as second Curate of St. James' Cathedral, Toronto.

At the evening service in All Saints' the choir rendered the hymn-anthem "Gently Lord, O Gently Lead Us" unaccompanied, with good effect.

The Sunday school and Bible class of All Saints' will meet next Sunday at three o'clock.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

Miss Nellie Davies sang in very pleasing voice in St. Andrew's last night the solo from Mendelssohn's "Elijah," entitled 'Then Shall the Righteous Shine Forth as the Sun.'

MURRAY STREET BAPTIST.

Rev. Mr. Marshall, of Cobourg, occupied the pulpit of the Murray street Baptist church on Sunday, and delivered two very helpful discourses.

At the Murray street Baptist church yesterday Miss Florence Hall sang "Moment by Moment" in the morning and "The Light of Eternity" at night. Mr. Martin's solo was entitled "Ninety and Nine."

ST. LUKE'S.

The Rector, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, occupied his own pulpit yesterday at both services. The services, attended by large congregations, were hearty and dignified, as is always the case at St. Luke's. In the morning the Rector preached on "Conversion," from St. Matth. 18;3. "Except ye be converted and become as little children, ye cannot enter the Kingdom of Heaven." Mr. Langfeldt pointed out that these words, spoken by Christ, were not addressed to heathen, nor to Pharisees and Publicans, nor to the Jews, but (as the first verse indicates) to disciples. These disciples had been with Christ nearly three years, and yet Christ says to them at that time,—"You must be converted." This clearly shows that conversion is something different to what Sectarians make it to be. The speaker then went on clearly to define the position of the Apostles, and explained too, step by step, how their conversion was brought about. The sermon was a lucid explanation of the true Catholic teaching on the subject of conversion, refuting the unscriptural and bigotted teaching of many sects. In the evening "Naaman the Leper" was the subject of an interesting sermon on the Leprosy of sin and its cure.

ST. JOHN'S.

At St. John's church last evening the service was taken by Rev. J.H. McCollum, and Rev. Walter Archibald, of Craighurst, preached an excellent sermon.

Rev. J. H. McCollum took his last service of the season at the pavilion, Chemong, yesterday. Mrs. Tiffany presided at the organ, and this service, like all the services of this series this summer, was well attended.

Mr. J. L. Aunger, of Blairton, was in town to-day.

Mr. Jas. Connal has been in Toronto for the last few days.

Dr. Clarene Peter is in from the lakes for a day or two.

Mr. and Mrs. John Crane and family have returned from Stony Lake.

Mr. R. E. Wood has returned after spending a day or two at Stony Lake.

Miss Bennett and Miss Coleman, of Port Hope, are spending a few days in town.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. McDonough, of town, are visiting friends in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Davis have closed their Stony Lake cottage for the season.

Mr. Jim Hamilton spent Sunday at the lakes, the guest of Mr. Ormond Bradburn.

Miss Minnie Argue, of Janetville, is visiting with Mrs. Robert Sheridan, Ashburnham.

Mrs. J. J. G. Terrill returned to Belleville at noon, after spending a few days in town.

Mrs. Fred Brown will be at home to her friends on Wednesday and Thursday, at 665 Bethune street.

Mr. W. H. Hamilton is having rather a bad time through having run foul of some poison ivy on his island.

Mr. F. F. Young, mate on the Steamer Majestic, was in town for a few hours this morning on business.

Miss Allie Whiten has returned after enjoying a pleasant month's yavtion with friends in Woodstock and Toronto.

Mr. Norman Bell, of the Ontario Bank, has returned to town, after spending some weeks in Ottawa on relieving duty.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Dixon, of Boston, who have been visiting the former's relatives in this vicinity, return home to-morrow.

Miss Jessie Fairweather, Gilmour street, has returned home after a very pleasant stay at Stony Lake, a guest of Mrs. A. L. Davis.

Messrs Wm. and Thos. Alexander, who have been spending a couple of weeks with their sister, Mrs. Buchanan, Stewart street, returned this morning to their home in Pittsburg.

Mr. E. C. Complin left on Saturday afternoon to spend a few days in London prior to starting for Manitoba, where he assumes the duties of Manager of the Bank of Commerce branch at Carman, which he will open.

Mr. F. W. Thompcon, of Toronto, who is holidaying with his family at Hastings, was in town to-day. Fred is well known to all the older lacrosse enthusiasts in Ontario. He is one of the directors of the Toronto Lacrosse Club this year.

Toronto Globe:—Mrs. Geo. A. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. H. Cox, and Miss Emma Morrow, of Peterborough, arrived in the city on Saturday after an extended tour through Holland, Germany, Switzerland and France, returning to London for the Coronation festivities.

Mr. J. M. Taylor is in town to remove his family to Ottawa. His home, 77 Gilmour street, which he has sold, is to be vacated by Sept. 1st. This removal of Mr. Taylor's family will represent no small social loss to Peterborough, and the Murray street Baptist church will feel acutely the loss of the services of Miss Maud Taylor, who has been a most untiring assistant in all forms of church work.

A MUSICAL ACQUISITION.

An English Musician Becomes a Resident of Peterborough.

Mr. Wildgust, organist and vocalist, late of Nottingham, England, who came to Peterborough about a month ago, is creating a very favourable impression by his singing and general musical attainments.

On Sunday morning he sang in Charlotte street church. His selection, which was Adam's "Man of Sorrows," was very heartily enjoyed and appreciated by the large congregation present.

In the evening Mr. Wildgust sang at St. Paul's, and also took part of the organ service. His selection on this occasion was "After the Harvest," by Hamilton Grey, and his rendering of the solo gave further pleasing evidence that Mr. Wildgust is a valuable addition to the musical forces of Peterborough.

THE CORDAGE COMPANY

Temporarily Closed for Installation of New Motors.

The Canadian Cordage Company's works, which have been running under temporary power supply, are closed for a few days to permit of the installation of new motors and other machinery. It is confidently expected that the new equipment will be installed and the works ready to re-open to full capacity on Sept. 15th.

THE LAST WEEK.

This will be the last week in our present premises. We have commenced moving our reserve stock. We wish the last week to be a record breaker in sales and to accomplish this we will sell goods cheaper than we have ever done before. We want everyone to participate in the bargains. Come early and bring your friends.

DEATH OF HESTER CHARLES.

The Little Ten Year Old Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Hughes Charles.

At two o'clock this afternoon the remains of winsome little Hester Charles were laid at rest in the Little Lake Cemetery. Taken ill only on Friday last, she fell a victim to a maglinant form of scarlet fever, and breathed her last on Sunday, although every effort known to medical science was put forth to save her. Of a sweet and sunny disposition and gifted with rare beauty, little Hester was idolized not only by her parents, but by all who knew her. Mr. and Mrs. Charles will have every sympathy extended to them in their sore trouble. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. J. C. Davidson.

NIGHT BLOOMING CEREUS.

Mrs. E. A. Kemp's night blooming cereus came into flower on Saturday night. The magnificent bloom expanded like a floral dream and the process was watched by a large number of interested neighbours. It seems a long time to wait for this species of cactus to bloom, but the result is a rich reward.

NEW FALL GOODS!

We are pleased to announce the arrival of new Fall Goods. It's refreshing to ourselves as well as our customers to see them, because they represent the latest and newest styles for fall 1902 that are to be.

AN EARLY START—Our Dressmakers are back from their holidays. Our Milliners are now busy in the centres of fashion preparing for the fall trade, every indication points to early fall, and we will be better prepared than ever to cater to the wants of the Peterborough public.

PRETTY POLKA DOTS

Polka Dot Cashmeres in the different colours are pretty and popular for Waists. You can choose here from a lot of very pretty colours, and you will find the prices reasonable as well.

AFTER SUNDOWN

You frequently need a light protection for the throat and neck. These lovely Chiffon Ruffs and Collarettes afford it and, at the same time, add a charming finish to the costume. They come in blacks and whites and black and white mixtures. They are New York goods, the finest quality and beautifully made.

CORSET COVERS

A particularly nice display of particularly nice covers, made of fine cambric and trimmed with laces, embroideries and dainty ribbons in white or light colours. Prices are about anything you please—from 25c up to a dollar or so.

SLUMBER GOWNS

Of cambric, muslin, or fine cotton, made in the new styles and trimmed with ruffles and embroidery. Your choice starts at 75c, and goes up by easy steps to $2.25, and every price a low one.

NEW DRESS GOODS

Some very pretty Fabrics among the new Dress Goods. If you are interested or intend purchasing later, you better see these new weaves and fabrics . . . . . .

KIDNAPPED YOUTH LANDS AT QUEBEC.

Stolen From Ireland he Engages With an Ontario Farmer.

Was Assisted at Peterborough by Rev. Father D. O'Connell.

A despatch from New York reads as follows:—Weary of America and longing for his mother and the green sod of Ireland, Charles Coleman, fourteen years old, came to the Emigration station at Ellis Island yesterday and begged for transportation across the sea.

He told a story of being kidnapped by the members of a travelling theatrical troupe more than two years ago, when picking berries beside a country road four miles out of Belfast, and of being landed in Quebec a few months later. There, he said, he applied for relief to a charity organization and was hired out to a farmer for four years and six months.

After serving one year and a half working from early dawn till late at night, he ran away and found a friend in a Roman catholic priest at Peterborough, the Rev. Daniel O'Connell, who furnished the means for the boy to go to Rochester, N.Y. He communicated with his mother, and the answering letters told him of the death of his father, a sergeant of pioneers in the second battalion of the Royal Irish Rifles.

AN AUGUST WEDDING.

Celebration of the Hayes-Cain Nuptials in Emily.

The residence of Mr. Robert J. Hayes, of Emily, was the scene of a pretty wedding, on Wednesday last, when that gentleman's sister, Miss Henrietta Hayes, was married to Mr. Daniel Cain, of Bobcaygeon, by the Rev. W. M. Kannawin, B. D., of Omemee, assisted by Rev. Mr. Cain, of Grenville, brother of the groom. A large number of relatives and interested friends had assembled to witness the pleasing ceremony. Promptly at eight o'clock, to the strains of the wedding march, sweetly played by Miss Carrie Balfour, the bridal party took their places under a green arch, decorated with flowers. The bride was attired in a becoming costume of white silk, with yoke of guipure lace and trimmings of chiffon, while she carried a spray of white carnations. The regulation bridal veil, prettily adjusted with a large clasp of brilliants, completed the dainty costume. As support she had her sister, Miss Annie Hayes, who was nicely gowned in pale blue with touches of black lace and carried pink carnations. Mr. Cain acted as best man.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, the newly wedded pair received the hearty congratulations of the onlookers, after which a recherche wedding supper was served.

Flowers, in rich colourings, entered largely into the decorations of the rooms, and at the refreshment tables, ropes of smilax were suspended from overhead, and caught at the various corners. Lady friends of the bride waited on the guests untiringly.

A pleasant evening was spent in social intercourse and games, enlivened with music.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful presents, testifying to the esteem in which she is held. The happy couple left next morning on the eight o'clock train for Toronto, Niagara Falls, and other western points. The groom is a thriving merchant of Bobcaygeon, where the couple will in future reside.

The best wishes of friends in this vicinity go with them to their new home.

Among those from a distance were noticed Rev. John and Mrs. Cain, of Grenville; Miss K. Marshall, Orillia; Miss Cain, Bobcaygeon; Mr. M. Cain, Toronto, and Mr. D. D. Cain, Woodstock.

BITTEN BY A FIERCE RAT.

Lindsay Children Attacked by a Hungry Rodent—The Mother's Attention was Attracted by Their Cries.

(Lindsay Post.)

Two little daughters of Mrs. Michael Houlihan, were bitten by a large rat last evening. The house is a one-storey frame, is without foundation, and consequently it makes a comfortable home for rats. The house may probably be infested with these little animals, but they have never given the occupants any trouble before. Last evening, Mary, a child of eight summers, her younger sister, Annie, aged 4 years, and a baby, slept in one bed, and while enjoying their peaceful slumbers, a large rat became hungry and made good use of the opportunity by getting a taste of the children's blood. The baby was not molested, but Mary and Annie were bitten badly about the mouth and arms—so seriously, indeed, that the mother, fearing that poisonous symptoms might set in, called in Dr. McAlpine. The countenances of the children will be disfigured for a few weeks, but serious results are not looked for.

Over 30,000.

More than 30,000 invalids have taken Merrill's System Tonic and the result has proven that this wonderful new medicine is not a doubtful compound, but one which always effects a radical cure of stomach, nerve, liver and kidney troubles. The 50 cent bottles last three weeks. Sold by Ormond and Walsh.

MASTODONTIC "LABOUR DAY" DEMONSTRATION

With Splendid Morning, Afternoon and Evening Features—A Grand Morning Street Parade—An Afternoon Programme of Sports and Miscellaneous Entertainment—A Grand Evening Concert and Entertainment in the Opera House.

The labour interests of Peterborough are all alive and are making extensive preparations for celebrating the day sacred to their interests—Labour Day, Sept. 1st—in a manner worthy of the great interests they represent.

The demonstration will be made under the auspices of the Trades and Labour Council of Peterborough and the Trades and Labour Unions of Peterborough and the surrounding district.

It is expected and, more than expected, humanly certain that large contingents will be present from Lindsay, Port Hope, Cobourg, Hastings, Campbellford, Lakefield, Millbrook and other places.

A general indication of the day's programme may be given, which it will be observed promises to be most comprehensive and interesting.

IN THE MORNING.

There will be a trades and labour street parade at 10 o'clock. This parade will be representative of the several occupations followed by those taking part. A prize will be awarded and given to the union making the best representation in the parade.

IN THE AFTERNOON.

In the Driving Park a magnificent programme of novel and interesting attractions, which are attractions, will be presented, including sports and games for which valuable prizes will be given; a lacrosse match between the Peterborough and Uxbridge teams, and other sensational and entertaining features. These will include the celebrated New York fancy danseuse who will give an unique exhibition of the latest and most fetching Terpsichorean novelties. Daring aerial acts surpassing in thrilling interest anything ever previously seen in Peterborough, will also be given and the Marvellous "Musical Team" will be heard in a repertoire of high-class vocal and instrumental music and vaudeville. The 57th Band will be in attendance all the afternoon.

The price of admission to the Driving Park is 25 cents for adults, and 10 cents for children. It will be of interest to know that the holding of an adult admission ticket to the Driving Park entitles the holder to one chance in the drawing for a handsome tea set, now on exhibition at Stroud's Tea Store, George street. The drawing will take place in the evening at the concert in the opera house.

IN THE EVENING.

The day's programme will conclude by a grand band concert in the opera house, by the splendid band of the 57th Regiment, assisted by Mr. Owen A. Smiley, Canada's greatest character humourest and vocalist. The admission to the concert is 25c. and 35c.

The above programme represents a day of enjoyment and festivity never before presented in Peterborough. It is incumbent upon every member of every labour organization to give his active support and co-operation. If the labour men of Peterborough fail to unite in making the day set apart as sacred to labour, the occasion of interest it can and should be made, the public will, apart from unpreventable causes, be justified in concluding that the Labour Unions and organizations do not mean all they profess.

Let every labour representative in town heartily join in assisting the already over-worked committee, and make Labour Day, 1902, a long-to-be-remembered anniversary, marked by a demonstration in every way worthy of the great cause of Labour in the best town of the Dominion.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—The Charity Board will meet this evening.

—St. John's Sunday school meets at three o'clock on Sunday afternoons hereafter.

—The Chief of Police wants an owner for a purse picked up by an honest lad in what is known as "Boswell's Field," south of Charlotte street west.

—General Booth has just acquired 30,000 acres of land in Western Australia, where he will establish a great Salvation Army agricultural and industrial colony, which he will populate from the London slums.

—Two hundred prominent merchants of Reading, Pa., have declared against placing advertisements in any medium other than the newspaper. They have decided that hotel registers, wall cards, and like mediums are devoid of results. Newspapers are good enough for them, and therefore they will make use of them only.

—The Government dredge will complete the opening of the new channel into Rice Lake, at the mouth of the Otonabee river, about the end of the month. This is what is known as the eastern channel. By the latter route the distance to points eastward on Rice Lake will be shortened two miles and three-quarters. The dredge has been steadily employed there since August 4th, and is doing a first-class job. The new channel will lie from eight to nine feet deep at low water, and about 125 feet wide.

HIS BACK WAS BROKEN.

Omemee Man Meets With a Fatal Injury.

His Horse ran Away and he was Thrown Against the Sidewalk.

Mr. Richard Morton, a blacksmith in Omemee, was the victim of an accident in that village Friday afternoon which may have fatal results. Mr. Morton was driving a spirited horse recently purchased, and when opposite the Presbyterian church the animal took fright. In spite of Mr. Morton's efforts to hold it, the horse ran away. He was thrown out of the buggy against the sidewalk, and when picked up was unconscious. On being taken to the office of a physician it was discovered that his back was broken and that he had concussion of the brain.

A BUCKHORN FISH STORY.

After This the Sea Serpent is Easy.

The Toronto Star in its illustrated Saturday columns, devoted to summer resort records, tells an astonishing fish story. If bait was as hard to swallow as the following fish yarn the average catch would be pretty small. This is the story, which is a "Star" storey in a double sense:

"A fishing party consisting of A. O. Hurst, T. L. Lewis, Toronto; O. L. Lewis, Chatham; and W. S. Hurst, Wodstock, have just finished a ten days' fishing trip through Stony and Kawartha Lakes. The best point for fishing they found to be at Buckhorn, where maskinonge are plentiful. Bass fishing is fairly good. They had first-class accommodation at the notable Tom Eastwood's, where they had a cottage to themselves. A. O. Hurst gives this fish story, which is said by the rest of the party to be true: While fishing for bass Mr. Lewis was landing, or, in other words, playing, with a four-pound bass on his line, and as it came to the top A. O., who is noted to be a crack shot, took up his .22 caliber Winchester and shot Mr. Lewis' bass through the head. While the party were congratulating A. O. on his good sporting, Mr. Lewis of the city got a strike and landed his bass. When the Indian guide drew attention to a hole through the tail of the fish, Mr. Lewis had just landed. This fish story is made more easy to believe when the guide explained that as a bass is being brought to the surface others follow. This accounts for the second bass being shot through the tail. A. O. says he has enough 'lunge and bass to keep the cottagers of Balmy Beach in fish for the rest of the season. Their total catch was about fifty 'lunge and sixty bass."

A Bisley 1,000-yards target would be a barn at point blank range for a marksman like the one whose exploit is given above. It's a toss up, head or tail, whether you believe the story, but the splendid audacity entitles the relator to all the glory—as a story-teller, or an expert shot, which the occasion evolves.

LACROSSE.

When the Torontos won from the Shamrocks in Montreal by four goals to one on Saturday, the biggest surprise of the lacrosse season was sprung on the public. The N.A.L.U. record for the season now stands as follows;—

	Won	Lost	To Play
Shamrocks	6	1	5
Torontos	6	2	3
Capitals	6	2	3
Cornwall	4	3	3
Nationals	2	7	1
Montreal	1	7	2

	Won	Lost	To Play
Brantford	3	2	1
St. Catherines	6	4	2
Tecumsehs	4	7	1
Orangeville	3	9	2

Brantford won from Tecumsehs on Saturday by fourteen goals to two.

Millbrook plays a return game in Hastings on Friday of this week.

Hastings lacrosse team will play Marmora at Havelock on Labour Day.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Walter Jackson, of town, carried off several prizes at the Roman Catholic picnic in Campbellford on Civic holiday, and Tommy McGrath tore off a hundred yards dash and won first place with such speed as to cause a stampede amongst his opponents.

HOCKEY.

If reports can be relied upon, there promises to be plenty of hockey played in town this season, and several speedy septettes will likely figure on the local ice.

BASEBALL.

A Peterborough nine and the Toronto Junction club will play at the Roman Catholic picnic in Havelock on Labour Day.

REVIVAL OF TAFFETA.

It Is Used For Dust Coats, Evening Wraps and Dressy Gowns.

Dust coats of glace silk are being much used. They have the advantage of being suitable for evening wear as well and will stand a shower of rain with no evil effects.

Smart dust cloaks in a poppy shade of red are cut Japanese fashion, but ornamented with a collar and turned back cuffs of lace. The addition of a lace collar may sound incongruous, but it is very becoming, and it tones down the vivid color near the face.

Truly taffeta has had a revival in its favor. Smart evening dress dust cloaks and evening wraps are made of it. They are mostly in plain colors, and very few of the old fashioned shots have appeared, though they are still procurable and certainly take wonderful lights and shades. In the matter of colorings fashion is very decided this year. She likes them bright and mixes them in a most indiscriminate way and not always in the best taste.

There is a great fancy for spots in lawns and foulard as well as in batistes.

A very useful dust cloak is here shown. It is made of taffeta silk, with an empire yoke, a scalloped turnover collar faced with lace and full sleeves gathered into a flare cuff. The garment is unlined. JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE POSTMASTER.

Old Gentleman's Narrow Escape From Death.

A Very Interesting Personal Experience Which Contains Some Good Advice for Others Whose Liver may be Threatened.

Lovett, Ont., Aug. 24th. (Special).—Every man, woman and child for miles around knows Mr. C. A. Harries, the genial postmaster at Lovett. Mr. Harries is a hale old gentleman, 75 years of age, and considering his advanced years, is remarkably well preserved, strong and healthy. But he was not always so. Five or six years ago he was at the point of death, being fearfully run down, and a complete wreck, with Bright's Disease.

He was so low that no one ever dreamt that he could pull through, and yet he is alive and well to-day. This is a statement of the case in Mr. Harries' own words;—

"In 1897 I was at the point of death with Bright's Disease, and was a wreck. I could not even dress myself or turn in my bed, but now I am a well man, and I attribute it all to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I am 75 years old, and for a man of my years I feel quite strong and healthy. I consider Dodd's Kidney Pills a good medicine to take in the spring, as I have found it a great blood purifier.

"As postmaster, I come in contact with a great many people, and I know of my personal knowledge that a great many in this country are using Dodd's Kidney Pills, with the best results."

Such evidence should be most convincing to any who may still doubt that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure Bright's Disease.

The honest, earnest, straightforward testimony of such reputable people certainly deserves the confidence of everyone.

If Dodd's Kidney Pills can and do cure Bright's Disease, which is the very worst form of Kidney Trouble, they certainly will cure any of the lesser forms.

Didn't Count in the Bill.

Dr. Jalap—Well, you may thank your fine constitution for pulling you through. Nothing else could have saved you.

The Convalescent—But I cannot see that you have made any reduction in your bill for my fine constitution's share in the cure.

Congreve would prepare a drama for the stage in a week or ten days, though four or five times this period was spent in revision.

AT CAMP IRENE.

A Homely Talk by One of the Canadian Teachers Who Went to South Africa to Teach Boer Children.

At last, after five nights on the train, we arrived on Saturday morning, June 1st, at Camp Irene, from which point we were to be sent to our different destinations.

We were met by Mr. Barry, the head master, and some of his staff, and from that moment until the day we got our marching orders we received the utmost consideration from all whom we met. Nothing that could add to our comfort and convenience was forgotten, and the week we spent at Irene will remain in our memories as one of the pleasantest of our South African experiences.

There were all sorts of merry-makings that week, partly in our honor, and partly to celebrate the peace. A dinner on Monday evening, at which the dignitaries of the Education Department from Pretoria were present, and which was really a very enjoyable affair.

Toasts were drunk in good port, speeches were made—one by Dr. Mullen, of New Brunswick, who is to be principal of the new Normal school at Johannesburg—and afterwards in the drawing-room we had some extremely good music. Mr. Barry, who has a fine voice, sang "The Bandoleers," and "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes." Mr. Ligertwood one of the Education Department men, playing the accompaniment as well as a professional. Mr. Usher, one of the officers, sang "Sigh no More, Ladies," in the sweetest of tenor voices, and altogether the music lovers amongst us had a genuine treat.

Then there was an ox-cart picnic, where we sat on mattresses— about twenty of us—in a huge wagon that seemed to be quite without springs, and jolted jollily over the rough veldt, the driver cracking his whip, shouting at his ten oxen, and taking the utmost pains to drive over every stone and hillock he could get in the way of. After the usual picnic tea we were surrounded by Kaffir children, clamoring for what was left. I could do nothing but gaze at them and admire their varied costumes.

There was one little girl who appealed very strongly to my sympathies, because she seemed to be humpbacked, a thing very unusual among these sturdy, straight-limbed dwellers in the open air. I pointed her out to the colonel, and he was overcome with mirth at my expressions of pity. "Come and see," he said, and he caught the little girl, who looked about ten years old, pulled her shawl down from her shoulders and there was the funniest little black baby hanging to her neck, its little beads of eyes staring up at me, and its queer head covered with tufts of wool that looked exactly as if they were stuck on at intervals, and never could have grown out of the scalp in the ordinary way.

We visited the schools too, and found the children doing excellent work. The teachers all seemed enthusiastic, and their pupils are evidently very fond of them. It was charming to hear the little things whenever we met them, say, "Good morning," with a pretty English accent, while they looked up at you with bright, smiling faces full of an eager desire to catch a look or word of approval.

Preparations were being made for the coronation festivities, at which there is to be a May-pole dance, the children to be dressed in red, white and blue. We saw them at their practices and I don't think I ever enjoyed anything more than the sight of those little Boer boys and girls singing "Come Lasses and Lads," keeping perfect time to the music as they marched and sang.

We'll "threep" it, "threep" it
"threep" it, "threep" it,
"Threep" it up and down.

Then at the close "God Save the King," sung with as much gusto as if they had been loyal subjects of Edward the Seventh all their lives.

One evening Mr. Barry took me to a Burgher dance, where on a floor plentifully besprinkled with what a young Boer called camilo-grease, I careered madly through a "barn-dance" with a young gentleman who, a few months ago was popping a rifle from behind a kopje at our poor unfortunate Tommies, and our brave, if sometimes foolhardy officers.

And the way that young son of the dusty veldt could dance was a revelation to me. Long before the music stopped I was obliged to call a halt and ask him to take me to the bench at the head of the room, where my hostess sat in state, presiding over a table on which was laid out a most tempting array of refreshments—jammy biscuits, lemon squash and lime juice. And you needn't laugh, because if you were in a refugee camp you would think these confections were rare delicacies and the fresh air life would give you an appetite that would scorn to stick at trifles. I ate my biscuits, which tasted like cotolene, and drank my lime juice with a zest that, delighted the comfortable looking vrouw and brought a smile of appreciation to the countenance of my bearded and serious-looking host. Altogether, I enjoyed my first ball in Boerland very much indeed, and was sorry when Mr. Barry took up the lantern and told me it was time to go.

Golf to Blame.

A fisherman noticed a lonely lady sitting on a rock at North Berwick, knitting, and remarked to his companion, "That's a lonesome lookin' wumman. She sits on that rock a' day aye knittin', she never speaks to a livin' sowl, an' auld maid, I suppose." "Auld maid," replied the other. "No her; I ken her fine. Her man's a gowfer!"—Edinburgh Despatch.

JAPANESE JOTTINGS.

Chrysanthemums served as a salad are a favorite article of diet among the Japanese.

At a Japanese banquet it is considered a compliment to exchange cups with a friend.

Japanese cooks are the most cruel in the world. They cut every atom of flesh off a living fish piecemeal without first causing death.

The lower class of the Japanese employ hardly any other material than paper for their clothing. Where wages are exceedingly low, cloth is an impossible extravagance.

Every hotel in Japan has a fan, special to itself, containing a view of the hotel and a blessing from the writings of Confucius. One of these is always given to the departing guest.

Many Japanese women are undergoing the slight surgical operation necessary to straighten the slant of the eyelid, which distinguishes them so unmistakably from Caucasian women.

The Japanese eat more fish than any other people in the world. With them meat eating is a foreign innovation, confined to the rich, or, rather, to those rich people who prefer it to the national diet.

Valuable Advice to Rheumatics.

Eat meat sparingly, and take very little sugar. Avoid intoxicants, keep away from dampness, drink water abundantly, and always rely on Nerviline as a quick reliever of Rheumatic pains. Being five times stronger than ordinary remedies. Nerviline's power over pain is simply beyond belief. It cures also Sciatica, Lumbago, Neuralgia, and all pain, whether internal or external. Large bottles, price 25c.

Sure to Please One.

George Selwyn, the famous English wit and man about town, took an extraordinary interest in deathbed scenes, criminal executions and funerals, and in "Jesse's Memoirs" the story is told of him that when the first Lord Holland was dying and learned that Selwyn had called to inquire after his health he said; "The next time Mr. Selwyn calls show him up. If I am alive, I shall be delighted to see him, and if I am dead he will be glad to see me!"

Too Queer to Pass.

"Yes, I still have the first dollar I ever made," said the gray haired passenger.

"The idea!" exclaimed the traveling acquaintance. "And how did you keep it so long?"

"It was very imperfect, being my first, and I'd have had trouble in passing it."

Don't Waste Money.

If you have any nerve troubles or dyspepsia take Merrill's System Tonic—it cures by purifying the blood and regulating the bowels. Then dyspepsia and nervous diseases disappear. This is the scientific and correct way of doing. Get a 50 cent bottle of Merrill's System Tonic, which lasts three weeks at Ormond and Walsh's drug store.

Poetry at Home.

"Posterity will discover me," said the poet.

"If it does," replied his wife, who was all tired out because they couldn't afford to keep a girl. "it will probably regret any time it wasted in doing so."

Children sweeten labor, but they make misfortune more bitter. They increase the cares of life, but they mitigate the remembrance of death.

Of Benefit to Growing Girls.

It Makes the Pale, Bloodless and Anaemic Strong, Healthy and Vigorous.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

In the life of nearly every girl there comes a time when her system demands just such assistance as can best be supplied by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. The physiological changes which take place put a strain on the system, which is likely to leave paleness, weakness, and a run-down system. This great food cure restores health and colour to the pale anaemic, and frequently relieves parents of a burden of anxiety regarding their growing girls.

Mrs. Goodson, 104 Sebastopol St., Montreal, Que., states;—

"My daughter was very nervous, and seemd to have no strength. Her appetite was bad, and she looked pale and bloodless. Since she has been using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food there has been a marked change in her appearance. She now has a splendid appetite, and seems to be stronger and healthier in every way. I am well pleased with the results obtained from the use of this medicine, and think it is a splendid treatment for growing girls."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto, Ont.

WHAT IS THE FLAG?

ALL OVER THE EMPIRE ARE MISTAKES MADE IN ITS FLYING.

A Puzzling Question Satisfactorily Settled—The National Flag—When and How it Should Be Flown—Blunders in Flag Making—Flag Lore That Is Intensely Interesting Just at the Present Juncture.

The flag of England, of Britain, is flown all over the Empire, and yet in this flying there are many mistakes made. The Pall Gazette thinks so, and in a recent issue has an article which must interest all who fly the flag in Canada.

"What is the flag of England? Winds of the world declare," is the question with which Mr. Kipling starts one of his patriotic poems. If the winds that blow over London were asked to give their impression as to the answer, during these days of peace celebrations and coronation rejoicings, they would be rather puzzled to reply.

For the average Londoner, alike in St. James' and St. Giles', appears to be in hopeless bewilderment as to the national flag. He is not so sure which flag he ought to display. He is often utterly at sea as to how it ought to be made and how it ought to be hoisted. He flies the flag of other peoples under the mistaken impression that he is hanging out the British colors. He makes unwittingly signals that move the seafaring man who can read them to a quiet laugh at the ignorance of mere landsmen. It is strange that such things should happen in the capital of a race of sailors and travelers, for whom every flag should have a distinct and well known significance.

First of all, there is a widespread misuse of a purely personal flag, the Royal Standard, which many otherwise well-informed people suppose to be that of the nation. If Sir Gorgius Midas were to quarter on his carriage panels the Lions of England, the Red Lion Rampant of Scotland, and the Irish Harp, everyone would think he had taken leave of his senses. When he flies the same heraldic device from the flagstaff on the roof of his stately mansion it is not regarded as an eccentricity on his part. But it is almost as bad as displaying the Royal Arms on his carriage or putting his servants into the royal liveries.

The Royal Standard is the King of England's banner and denotes his actual presence as Sovereign where it is flown. Thus it is not hoisted even on a royal palace unless he is in residence. It is displayed from the flagstaff of the parade when he is reviewing his troops. It is run up by a warship as he comes on board. Even the ambassadors who represent him abroad do not fly his flag. It is purely personal, like the golden yellow standard marked with a broad black cross and decorated with eagles and Imperial crowns, which in Germany denotes the Kaiser's presence, and which no German ever mistakes for the national flag. Our own Royal Standard should not be vulgarized in the present unmeaning fashion.

The national flag, the flag of the Kingdom and the Empire, is—to give it its popular name—the Union Jack. There are various flags of which it forms only a part and which are used for special purposes. It is a common mistake to take these for the national flag.

Among these are, first, the White Ensign with the Union in its top corner near the flagstaff or halyard, and the great red cross on a white ground—the cross that marked the flag of England in crusading days and in the wars of the Middle Ages. This red cross is still the central device of the Union flag.

The White Ensign is the flag of our navy. In the same way the Red Ensign is the flag of our merchant marine. To fly the White or Red Ensign on a house is rather unmeaning. What one ought to fly is the Union Jack, more correctly called the Union flag, but then one must take care to get the real thing and hoist it right side up.

Most of the flags imported from abroad, and many of those made in England, blunder about the right combination of the three crosses. On both sides of the central red cross of St. George there is the same width of white bunting or silk, but the X-shaped red cross of St. Patrick has not the white that shows on both sides of it of equal width. On the side nearest the halyards it is broad above the red and narrow below, and this arrangement is reversed on the other side of the flag, the explanation being that the red cross is here superposed unevenly on the white cross of St. Andrew, so that the Scottish emblem may not form a mere even border to it. To neglect this difference alters the whole appearance of the flag. But those who thus blunder err in distinguished company.

When General Baden-Powell designed a poster some years ago for a military tournament he made St. Andrew's cross into a mere even white border for St. Patrick's. When Sir G. Robertson and the gallant little garrison of Chitral improvised a Union Jack to fly over their beleaguered fort they made the same mistake. When after the relief it was pointed out to them that such a flag, being the same which ever way it was hoisted, could not be reversed as a signal of distress, Sir George replied that they never thought of its use for such a purpose being in any way necessary. Mr. Punch, who as a rule is scrupulously accurate in matters of detail, drew the Union Jack in the same incorrect fashion a couple of weeks ago. To come down to lesser folk, several firms of decorators are now circulating in London illustrated price lists, with the national flag thus misrepresented. It is a very common mistake to hoist the correct flag upside down, thus signalling "In distress. Want assistance." And it is also to be seen, on some London houses, flying with a broad white border. This is another special signal flag, "I want a pilot," flown by ships nearing home.

By the way, Mr. Kipling, who one would think the last man to make such a slip, writes in "Stalky and Co." of a coaster in distress flying the Union Jack reversed as a signal for help. Of course a merchantman in such a position reverses the Red Ensign.

As red, white, and blue are the colors in the Union Jack, there seems to be a vague impression in many quarters that any combination of these colors may be flown, if a Union Jack, Red or White Ensign, pilot flag, or signal of distress is not handy. Hence the display of so many foreign tri-colors, the familiar French flag, the Dutch flag with its bands of color horizontal, and occasionally the flag of the Russian merchant marine. This last is probably the result of the misguided energy of some amateur flag-maker, who sews three strips of bunting together, white at the top, blue in the middle, and red at the bottom. No doubt some few of the French and Dutch flags are hoisted by foreign residents. But most of them are used merely because they are "red, white, and blue." There is no disposition to fly foreign flags as such in London. Otherwise, how are we to account for the absence of a flag once popular in schemes of decoration, the handsome "Dannebrog," the flag of our Queen's native land? And why is there such a marked absence of the showy red and white flag of our ally, Japan? In much traveling about London we have only seen one solitary specimen of this flag.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

SEVEN PER CENT. DEAD..

The Terrible Cost of War in South Africa Computed.

The advent of peace has set British journalists counting up the losses in the war. From Oct. 11, 1899, to June 1, 1902, in all 31½ months of war, the ultimate triumph of the British arms has cost 21,579 lives or nearly 7 per cent. of the troops engaged.

Taking the killed and wounded together, the casualties work out at 30,120 men, or nearly 10 per cent. of the total forces.

The surrenders of armed men total 9,714, or about 3 per cent. of the fighting line. Of these, six battalions, on whom fell the ordinary bad luck inseparable from a great campaign, account between them for 3,000 prisoners.

The health of the Imperial army, in spite of the severe strain imposed, has been remarkable; the figures of 13,000 deaths from disease spread over an average force of 200,000 men, in two and a half years, giving an annual death rate of only 26 per thousand.

Taking a per capita basis, we find the war has cost the colonies three lives for every 9,000 of their population, while it has cost the United Kingdom four lives for every 9,000 of its population.

Generals Symons, Wauchope and Woodgate were killed, and Generals Lord Methuen (twice), Macdonald, Knox, Wood, Barton, Ian Hamilton (twice), Little, Rundle and Kekewich have been wounded. Lord Methuen was the only general to suffer capture.

Deaths from accidental causes throughout the campaign number no fewer than 785, of which 223 were cases of drowning. Train accidents account for 141 deaths, lightning for 52, accidental self-shooting for 16, mistakes by sentries for 4, and miscellaneous accidents, chiefly among mounted men, for 349. There are, moreover, six reported cases of suicide, one being a lieutenant-colonel, one a major, and four privates. Mining explosions claimed three lives; two men were killed by lions, one by a bull, one by a crocodile, and one is reported shot while attempting to escape from his captors.

Finally, the Victoria Cross has been gained—perhaps a better word than won or earned—by every division of the Empire, except Wales and New Zealand, England claiming 29, South Africa 10, Scotland 9, Australia 4, Canada 3, Ireland 2, and India 1.

English as 'tis spoke.

The gradual spread of the English language leads sometimes to curious results. Take, for instance, the following, which recently appeared in an English paper printed in Korea: —"Seoul, Korea, May 23, 1902.—Lately the police headquarters ordered to forbid the servants, &c to run the horses fastly on the big streets, as they sometimes pressed the children down and hurt them on the ground and the police stopped a mapoo running a horse hardly on its back, but a number of soldiers came along quickly and captured the police away." Compare the foregoing with the choice English of the modern American newspaper, as expressed in a recent issue of The Girard, Ill., Weekly Observer, in the following sentences:—

"There is a mad dog scare here at present. Every dog that acts like he had wheels in his head is killed. Three dogs, one old cat, and an old rooster has been killed that was claimed to have been bitten.

Pimples, Blotches and Skin Eruptions

How unsightly, sometimes even disgusting, and certainly very mortifying to the sufferer. They are merely an evidence of impure, poisoned blood, and lowered vitality of the elementary organs, which can be quickly changed by taking Ferrozone after meals. Ferrozone cleanses the blood of all poisons and eruptions, makes it rich in red corpuscles that manifest themselves in a healthy ruddy complexion. To have a pure, soft skin and good complexion simply use Ferrozone regularly. Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at Ormond & Walsh's.

Oriental Logic.

A man brought three pounds of meat and brought it home to his wife to cook for dinner, and then went his way to his place of business in the bazaars. The wife was hungry and ate the meat.

In the evening the man came home and asked for his dinner.

"There is no meat," said his wife, "for the cat ate it."

"Bring the cat," said the man, "and a pair of scales."

"Weigh the cat," said the man, The cat weighed three pounds.

"If this is the cat," said the man, "where is the meat? And if this is the meat, where is the cat?"

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Lacked Heart.

"Once there was a lawyer out near Galesburg," said an Illinois congressman, "who made a brilliant defense in a certain case. Men praised his effort. 'Will he make his mark for ability as an advocate?' some one asked. 'No,' replied the veteran lawyer. 'His ability begins here at the Adam's apple and extends upward. He must have something under his left breast.'" The congressman cited this as an example why some speeches fall in the house of representatives.

Had Nervous Prostration.

Mrs. S. W. West, Drayton, Ont., states, "I got terribly run down, and finally became a victim of nervous prostration. I had no appetite, seemed to lose interest and ambition and could scarcely drag myself about. Hearing of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I used three boxes with great benefit, gaining 11 pounds. It made me strong and well and I had such an appetite that I wanted to be eating half the time."

Scotch "Drip Stone."

Years ago a Scotch great-grandpa brought to America a piece of sand rock that some persons thought was intended for a grindstone. What caused them to think so was not because it was round, but on the upper side it was hollowed out like a saucer, and the other side had a small projection like a chocolate drop in shape and size. Soon this was discovered to be what is termed a "drip stone" and when set in a shady place and the saucer side filled with water will deliver crystal pure and cold drops from the underside. The water is absolutely clean and pure as the result of this homely process. The idea was originally taken from the orientals, no doubt.

GORE'S LANDING.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Miss Roberts, Cobourg, is a great of her aunt, Miss Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Miller, the Misses Clara and Ruth Miller, Miss Bancroft and Mr. Mortimer Miller, are guests of Mrs. Geo Braithwaite.

Miss Clara Philp, Peterborough, spent Wednesday and Thursday with her aunt, Mrs. A. Harris.

Miss Tennant, Toronto, is visiting at Mr. Alex. McLeod's.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Cruso, Miss Cruso, Miss Weller and Judge Armour drove out from Cobourg to attend St. George's Bazaar on Wednesday.

Miss Scott, Peterbrough, has been spending the week with Mrs. Borradaile.

The Bazaar and Sale in aid of St. George's church on Wednesday proved an unqualified success. Though somewhat uncertain in the morning the weather eventually turned out fine and the attendance from the surrounding country was very large, in addition to the summer visitors, some of whom remained over especially for the sale. A football match in the afternoon between Baltimore and Harwood, resulted, after an exciting contest, in a score of 1—0 in favour of the latter. Tea was served at 5 p.m. on Mr. Edwin Harris' lawn, after which canoe races were run off as follows:

Boys' Single—Kenneth Hayward, New York; Chas. Herald, Gore's Landing.

Men's Single — Fred Harris, Gore's Landing; Ed. Young, Harwood.

Boys' Double — Kenneth Hayward, New York, and Lee Willis, Galveston, Tex.; Chas. Herald, Goer's Landing, and W. Sheffield, Peterborough.

The Coldspring's Brass Band arrived at 6 p.m., and furnished music for the remainder of the evening. One of the most successful features of the afternoon was the fish pond, under the management of Masters Bruce Curry, Toronto, and Garnet Greer, Peterborough. The display of useful and fancy articles for sale was much larger than was expected, and only about a dozen articles were left after the afternoon and evening sale. The refreshment stand was also well patronized. The total receipts amounted to $250.00, a return which must be highly gratifying to the Ladies' Aid Society, under whose management the sale was held.

Recent guests at "Lilac Lodge" are: — Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Parmelee, Miss E. C. Johnston, Miss A. L. Richards, Miss E. L. Parmelee, Elizabeth, N. J.; Mrs. R. Stuart Latrobe, Baltimore, Md.; Thos. T. Caswell, Annapolis, Md.; Jas. D. Haig, Mrs. Haig, Mrs. D. H. Minaker, M. E. Minaker, L. Minaker, Cobourg; Miss Bella Haig, Mrs. W. Beatty, New York; Miss Ada Dekey, Toronto; A. M. WE SENT 7,608 WESTWARD.

Number That Attended the Harvesters' Excursions.

Ontario Will not Supply as Many Men as Last Year, However—The Comparative Figures—Second Series This Week.

Ontario furnished in the three days' harvesters' excursions that were run out of Toronto last week the big total of 7,608 people for the assistance of the western farmers in getting in their enormous grain crop. The numbers that went out each day were; Wednesday, 2,505; Thursday, 2,773; and Friday 2,330.

The total for the first series of excursions from the same territory last year was 7,349, so that the increase this season is 259. However, the second series of excursions last year took 4,068 people, so that from Ontario last year there went to the west 11,417 excursionists.

It is not expected, however, that this number will be equalled this year. The second series will be run on Aug. 30th and Sept. 1st and 2nd, and it would not surprise railway men at all if they were lightly attended. It is thought that most of those who intend going to the west patronised the first series of excursions, as it was not announced until they had started that there was to be any second series.

MR. MORGAN COMES HOME.

A very prominent event of the financial week has been the return to the shores of the United States of that great and wonderful man, Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan. So great is he considered in that home of the free and equal that even the reporters metaphorically go down on their knees and "kow tew" before him, and when they speak of him their voices are hushed and their pencils tremble in their hands as they try to record the reverential manner in which his lackey tied his shoe strings. We are told that "he was not treated like an ordinary passenger, even by the United States Government." Even the next-to-the-chief customs officer, who would have had no respect for a Tennyson or an Emmerson, did not examine and wreck his luggage in the eye of the public, but he went respectfully to Mr. Morgan's own cabin and there took his declaration as to the dutiable goods he brought with him. The reporters knew what the public of the United States wants to read, no doubt. Assuming that, such toadyism and snobbishness and the worshipping of false gods was surely never so fulsomely shown before. Let us give Mr. Morgan the credit for his healthy disgust of the whole business, and let the United States press and people no longer wonder that their successful business men seek obscurity abroad. The reporters tell us how he was dressed to the last detail, excepting his underclothing, which he sems to have successfully kept private. Then we come to a chapter that might be entitled "Mr. Morgan and his photographers," and which the late Oliver Wendell Holmes would have delighted to deal with in the style of "it's very hard to lose your purse, but harder to be shot." Mr. Morgan, who counts only in six figures, said that he would prefer losing five million dollars to being shot in this way. So persistent were the photographers that Mr. Morgan raised his cane and was either about to strike the photographer or break his camera. "Did he make a photograph?" asked Mr. Morgan, referring to one of the fiends, "his face flushing with rage," and with uplifted cane. Bier, his secretary, replied, whether humorously or with arriere pensee, is not said, "in the negative." But supposing a royalty had threatened to strike a photographer in the land of the star-spangled banner, or anywhere else for that matter, and supposing British people had displayed half the flunkeyism to royalty that New York has to Mr. Morgan, what shafts of satire would have been aimed at us, what pretence of pity would have been ladled out! The next thing we shall expect to hear is that the great trust organizer has gone to live in England, along with Mr. Carnegie and Mr. Astor and Mr. Yerkes, where he can walk about and say, with Mr. Croker, "Here nobody cares a hang about me."—Montreal Witness.

NEW ROUND DANCES.

Three new round dances have just been approved and adopted by the Normal Association of Masters of Dancing of the United States and Canada, which recently met in New York. They are the Military Dip Waltz, the Olympia Schottische, and the Antler's Gavotte. The Military Dip Waltz is said to be the simplest and most graceful of the three. It has been predicted that this dance will sweep the country, and may take the place of the two-step in the matter of popularity. The movements are thus described: Take a position facing your partner, as if for waltzing. The left foot of both lady and gentleman should be in the fourth position, front; that is, about the length of one step in front of the right foot. At the beginning of the strain the gentleman dips forward upon his left and the lady backward upon her right; then both reverse the movement. The gentleman next makes a quick change, stepping forward on the left and then on the right. The balance is repeated in this position, the two dip movements having occupied just four measures in all. From this point glide into the waltz, waltzing four measures; then repeat the balance movement again, and so ad libitum. The dance is simple, easy, and fascinating. The Olympia Schottische is designed for the more agile and spirited dancers. It is begun in the open position assumed for any schottische, the gentleman holding the lady's left hand with his right, the two facing one another. The lady starts with the right foot, the gentleman with the left. Dip backward with a graceful bend of knee, then bring the rear foot forward and rise on the toes. Repeat the movement with the other foot; glide four times to the right, repeat both movements, face forward and hop on left foot, kicking right with toe touching the floor; then hop on right, kicking left. Next assume the closed position and take four glides, a half turn, finishing with four more glides in the same direction. The Antler's Gavotte is made up entirely of familiar steps. This is begun in the closed position. March two measures, two-step four, take three glides to the left, finishing on the right foot, and waltz to the close of the strain. This is a new combination of the two old favourites, two-step and waltz, with the march step for variety.

SAFEST PLACE ON EARTH.

Not One Passenger Killed on English Railway Trains in a Year.

The Board of Trade returns of railway casualties in the United Kingdom during 1901 show that in the course of that year out of the millions and millions of passengers whirled along behind the iron horse not a single one met his death through an accident to a train. And it speaks eloquently for the arrangements of the companies, the care and skill of their servants, and the soundness of their material that this record, as it is, should be established at a time when services are fuller, speeds faster, and travelers more numerous than at any previous time since George Stephenson's great invention was put to general public use. It is true that there were mishaps, and that some persons were killed and many injured, but not one of the former was a passenger, and the number of the latter was about 400 short of the corresponding figure for 1900. To be exact, during last year accidents to trains, rolling stock, permanent way, etc., were responsible for the death of eight railway servants and three persons other than passengers, and for injuries to a total of 637, out of whom 476 were members of the public.

It is evident that if anyone is going to have anything at all to do with railways, one is safest on a train that is on the move, for in the course of the year 135 passengers were killed and 1,669 injured by falling between carriages and platforms, getting into or out of compartments, tumbling on to the lines or crossing them at inopportune moments, or in other ways that could easily have been avoided by the exercise of a little care and prudence. All casualties whatever on railways or the premises appertaining to them, including those affecting employes, caused the deaths of 1,171 persons and injuries to 6,740 others. Nor does the board omit to record that during the twelve months 45 horses, 3 donkeys, 30 bulls and cows, 125 sheep, 6 pigs, 3 dogs, and 1 deer strayed on to the lines with effects disastrous to themselves.—London Telegraph.

The Canadian Venice.

Muskoka the ideal—Muskoka the enchanted land, in whose waters one bathes and forgets the world without and its life inconstant. They call it the Canadian Venice, so much a thing of water is it and so beautiful, like the famous "City of the Sea," only more satisfying because the habitations of man are less numerous there, and nature is as God intended it to be.

It is a common remark among Americans who visit the Muskoka region that it is not fully appreciated by Canadians themselves. Its beautiful lakes and picturesque scenery are not to be equalled anywhere on the continent. The result is a greater rush of Americans there every summer—so much so that 5,000 people were turned away last year through lack of hotel accommodations. The universal opinion is that Muskoka is an unrivalled holiday ground, with its agreeable combination of waters and islands and woods and shores, with their incidental fishing and bathing and boating, the sparkling days and the cool, hushed nights that conduce to restful, refreshing sleep.

From a business standpoint the Muskoka region is one of Canada's most valuable assets. It is easily reached from the most densely populated portions of the United States [illegible] everything possible ought to be done to encourage American tourists. There are at present something like 125 hotels in Muskoka with a total accommodation for 7,000 people. That ought to be doubled and trebled very quickly with good management, and those who cater especially to the wants and wishes of American guests will have little cause to complain. There is no good reason why millions of dollars should not be spent in Canada every summer by American tourists, but that means something different from ordinary slip-shod methods and something better than the average hotel accommodations.

A Japanese Retraction.

The art of retracting without taking anything back—if the bull may be allowed—seems to be understood in Japan. A young orator at a political meeting called a public official a thief. A policeman on duty gravely rose and addressed a remark in a low tone to the speaker, who thereupon said, "The chief of police requests me to retract the word which I have just spoken. Although the word of a sage should never re-enter, let us make a concession; let us take back the word and keep the idea." Great applause and cries of "Bravo!" greeted the orator's escape from his dilemma.

Why Tennyson Wrote No Letters.

Tennyson once told Sir Henry Taylor that he thanked God Almighty with his whole heart and soul that he knew nothing and that the world knew nothing of Shakespeare but his writings and that he knew nothing of Jane Austen and that there were no letters preserved either of Shakespeare or of Jane Austen; that they, in fact, had not been "ripped open, like pigs."

ROSSLAND'S BIG FIRE

The Damage Amounts to Seventy Thousand Dollars.

DYNAMITE HELD IN READINESS,

At One Time It Was Thought It Would Be Necessary to Blow Up Certain Buildings to Save the City—Start of the Fire—On Spokane Street Near First Avenue—It Spread Rapidly.

Rossland, B. C., Aug. 26.—In two hours, yesterday afternoon, fire did $75,000 damage in the business and residential sections of Rossland. Earlier in the day it was believed that the loss would be substantially greater than this, but close scrutiny of the facts indicates that the lesser estimate is as nearly accurate as can be obtained for several days.

The fire broke out at 3 o'clock in the establishment of P. Burns & Co., butchers, two doors south of First avenue on Spokane street, where a fire was in use for rendering lard. The blaze was not discovered until it had secured considerable headway, and by the time the alarm was turned in, flames were issuing from the roof. The department was on the ground quickly, and water was playing on the flames two minutes after the alarm sounded.

The Burns building was in the centre of a solid block of wooden buildings, and the strong breeze prevailing, speedily spread the flames to north and south, despite the torrents of water thrown by the firemen. In 20 minutes from the first outbreak, the fire had spread north into the Anaconda Saloon, west to the M. and M. Saloon, and south to the Coeur d'Alene Saloon, while Thompson's Restaurant, immediately adjoining the Burns block, was involved with the Burns place in the first outbreak.

Within the space of time indicated the fire had jumped to First avenue to some large three-storey buildings used as stores, and these were totally wiped out within an hour of the outbreak. The fire was spreading east rapidly, but the wind changed and wiped out half a dozen business houses on that side, together with all the residences in the block.

The fire started about the intersection of blocks 13, 16, 27 and 28 of the city town site. The burned areas comprise the north half of 13, the southwest corner of 16, the northeast corner of 27, and the northwest corner of 28. Adjoining the Coeur d'Alene Saloon, but separated by a 30-foot vacant lot, is the International Hotel, and Music Hall, an immense wooden structure. This was in imminent danger for an hour or more, and, at one juncture, was given up as doomed.

The sudden change in the wind saved the big building, and an important business section, as the burning of the Music Hall would have carried with it the whole of block 28, and run the damage into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The only casualty was an accident to Chief Guthrie, of the city brigade, who was struck on the cheek by a live wire, but it did not burn or render him unconscious. This led to a report that the chief had been killed, but he recovered immediately upon reaching the fire hall, and resumed direction of the brigade.

At one juncture it was believed that the buildings would have to be dynamited to save the city, and a considerable amount of giant powder was brought down from the War Eagle Mine, having been handed over by the company on request, which alternative was not resorted to, however. Ten constables were sworn in to preserve order and protect the thousands of dollars' worth of merchandise of every description scattered about the streets, where it had been hurriedly deposited in the first panic.

BOTHA AS LEADER

Said That Mr. Kruger Will Now Abandon His Claims.

RESULT OF RECENT CONFERENCE

The Transvaal Legation in Europe Will Be Abolished at the End of September—Employes Notified to Quit Them—When Leyds Disappears Ex-State Secretary Will Try to Become a Power.

London, Aug. 26.—Cabling from Brussels the correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says he hears that as a result of the conferences between Former President Kruger and the Boer generals, Dewet, Botha and Delarey, Mr. Kruger is to resign the leadership of the Boer people. General Botha, adds the correspondent, was unanimously designated future leader of the Boers.

Leyds Asked to Quit.

Brussels, Aug. 26.—The Boer generals have notified the employes of the Transvaal legation that their services will no longer be required after the end of September, when the legation will be abolished.

When they conferred with Dr. Leyds last week the generals suggested the desirableness of his surrender of his position as representative of the former Transvaal republic.

On the disappearance of Dr. Leyds it is thought probable that ex-State Secretary Reitz will become leader of the irreconcilables and attempt to organize an anti-British campaign in Europe.

St. Catharines Farmer Thought He Bought $1,000,000 Building Cheap.

Buffalo, Aug. 26.—Gordon Pearsall, a farmer living near St. Catharines, Ont., has purchased the mammoth Ellicott square building for $1,200. The fake deal was put through by a confidence man who secured $600 down and then lit out while the unsuspecting farmer went home to get the balance of the money. The swindle was perpetrated a week ago yesterday and has just leaked out. Pearsall came to Buffalo to deposit $600 and wandered into the Ellicott square, where he met the confidence man, who introduced himself as J. Milton McCormick, the reaper manufacturer. He was shown through the building by McCormick, who gave orders to the employes and had the air of a man of wealth. Pearsall confided in him and finally a bargain was struck.

Strike in Hemp Trade.

Manila, Aug. 26.—In spite of the arrest of the labor agitators who caused the recent strike among the cigarmakers, the Chinese and Filipinos engaged in the hemp industry are getting ready to strike. They demand an increase in their wages of 66 per cent.

TRIED TO BLIND HUSBAND.

A Woman's Horrible Deed in Her Death Agonies.

Toronto, Aug. 26. — Mrs. Jennie Smith, 56 Walton street, died at 2.15 o'clock this morning at St. Michael's Hospital, from carbolic acid poisoning. The woman swallowed part of the contents of a four ounce bottle of poison and threw the balance over her husband because he had been drinking early in the evening with some friends in the house and had used bad language to her.

The couple, about 25 years of age each, have rooms in the Walton street house. It is understood both had been drinking. Shortly after midnight the landlady was awakened by cries, and, running to Smith's room, she beheld a pitiable sight. The woman was in bed suffering untold agony, while the husband was crying also with pain. Smith said that shortly after they had retired his wife suddenly swallowed a quantity of the acid, and threw the remainder of the bottle into his face.

PLACE OF BIRTH DECIDES.

The Alien Labor Law in the Toronto Police Court.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—F. B. Hayes, Secretary-Treasurer of the Toronto Carpet Company, was convicted yesterday morning at the Police Court on one of two charges laid against him of committing a breach of the alien labor law.

The employes of the Carpet Company have for some time past been on strike, and Mr. Hayes was alleged to have brought two men named Pierre and Frederick Derocher from Lowell, Massachusetts, to work here. The evidence showed that in engaging the men Mr. Hayes had technically contracted with them for their work here, and also that he had endeavored to obtain French-Canadians, former residents of Canada. These persons, in the opinion of the Magistrate, could not be termed aliens under the act, and had both men been Canadian born no conviction could have been registered. Twenty-seven years ago Pierre Derocher and his parents left Canada for the States, where his brother Frederick was born. The court held, therefore, that Pierre was not an alien, but that his brother was. A conviction was then registered in the second case, namely, that of bringing Frederick Derocher to the city under contract to work, he being an alien. He imposed the minimum fine of $50 and costs or 30 days in jail. The fine, if paid, goes to the Carpet Weavers' Union as informers.

Shot Policeman and Escaped.

Buffalo, Aug. 26.—About 11.45 o'clock last night while Policeman Shickler was guarding three prisoners in a patrol wagon one of the men pulled a gun and shot Shickler through the head. As soon as the shot was fired all three prisoners made their escape. The names of the prisoners are not known. Shickler will likely die.

Picked Up Unconscious.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—A man was picked up unconscious on the C. P. R. track near Ottawa yesterday morning. His skull was fractured and an arm broken. He was brought to St. Luke's Hospital and is lying there in a critical condition. Nothing is known about him, but the name Burland is tattooed on his arm.

UNPATRIOTIC NEWSPAPERS.

They say that Editor Willison, of thr Toronto Globe, is writing Sir Wilfrid Laurier's biography. It is to be hoped that he will correctly report his conversation with Sir Wilfrid on the train coming home from Chicago, when the Boer war broke out.—Hamilton Spectator.

If he fails to furnish a "correct report" of the suggested conversation, perhaps the sneak representative of the "Spec." who was hiding under the seat of the coach will make good the omission. This is a dastardly sort of journalism, to insinuate, in respect of a prominent public man, something presumably unworthy, which the writer dares not put in words. The Spectator has easily led the unpatriotic coterie of small-bore journalists, who, during the visit of Canada's Ministers to Great Britain, have seized and sometimes made opportunity to make disparaging insinuations. True patriotism would have suggested the making of the best of our representatives. They are the choice of the people, and not self-constituted representatives; honoured in the Old Land by royalty and commonalty alike, the men, whom all unprejudiced persons acknowledge, worthily up-held the good name of Canada, and did all in their power to advance its interests. But with a certain class of newspapers, patriotism has always to step aside and make room for party bigotry, no matter how much the country is discredited. Where party interests are concerned the spirit of this now historic disloyal cry, "so much the worse for British connection," comes like the froth of a beer pot to the surface.

TRANSPORTATION DIFFICULTIES.

Mr. D. A. Watt, the honourable secretary of the Montreal Shipping Conference, in an interview with the Herald on the great question of transportation difficulties, among other things, said:

"Then as regards rates from the interior of Ontario, this is how the combination of the three railways works out:

"To reduce it to figures and assume a rate of 15 cents per 100 lbs. from a given shipping point to Montreal. Not only is the rate to Boston, 300 miles or more further off, exactly the same, but out of this 15 cents the Canadian railways pay out say 5 cents to the Yankee connection railway.

"The result therefore is that the Canadian railways charge Montreal traffic 15 cents per 100 lbs., while they carry the same traffic to more distant points, such as St. John's and Newport, for 10 cents, thereby building up the port of Boston to the injury of Montreal.

"If the newspapers would devote their attention to the excessive inland rates now and for long levied by the railway combine and pressure some amelioration, they would do good service in the public interest from both the domestic and the export point of view."

EDITORIAL NOTES

The crusade against dirty bank bills will not probably amount to much. "Filthy" lucre has held its own for a long time, and with the average dollar, so hard to get, few will be inclined "to look," so to speak, "the gift horse" in the mouth. All's money that come to the everyday purse. Money is money, crisp and new or ragged and old, so long as its face, no matter how dirty, is good as the gold.

"It is now announced that the total production of beet sugar in the country last year was only about 125,000 tons, whereas the people of the United States in the same time consumed more than 2,372,000 tons of sugar. Just how long the people are going to continue to pay a tax on the 2,372,000 tons in order that the producer of the beet sugar may make a profit on his 125,000 tons is one of the interesting conundrums of politics."—Chicago News.

The essence of "protection" seems to be to make the many pay a higher price to make beneficiaries of the few.

OIL VERSUS COAL.

"Will oil ever become a substitute for coal in the matter of fuel? It seems probable. The high price of coal has necessitated experiments in ocean travel of a satisfactory kind. Oil has been used in factories as fuel with good results. Can it be used for house heating and cooking? It seems so. There is no disadvantage without a compensating advantage."—Kingston Whig.

The foregoing paragraph was published just ahead of a statement that Mr. Ralph Smith, M.P., the British Columbia labour leader, has been recalled suddenly from Ontario to the Pacific coast on account of a likelihood of coal mines there closing down because in California oil is beginning to be extensively used instead of coal.

Now, says the Ottawa Journal, what the coal mining conditions may be in British Columbia we do not know. But on this side of the continent it would be a God-send to nearly everybody, mine-workers included, if an oil supply offered itself so widely and cheaply as to compel the coal owners in Pennsylvania to come off their perch. The owners and operators of the Pennsylvania coal mines deliberately frame their policy to keep the price of coal high by restricting the output. They do not allow the mines to be worked steadily. In order to limit the supply, and so keep up a high price, the operators shut down the mines and turn the miners out of work a considerable part of each year. The great coal miners' strike which is going on is in its creation of idleness merely an extension of what the operators compel every year.

Oil for fuel might not displace coal, but it would bring coal down in price, and cause the coal mines to be worked steadily to supply the greater demand which cheaper coal would cause.

ELECTRIC AGRICULTURE.

Electricity is now coming so rapidly into play in almost everything connected with our common procedure that it is not surprising to be told that it will soon be witnessed in operation as a necessary adjunct of agriculture, not as a power providing light and the easy means of driving the machinery required on a farm, but as an aid in culture.

Without our knowing it, the electric storm, and the subtle play of the fluid in other ways, has been aiding vegetation, and now science proposes to bring an artificial application of the mysterious element into operation.

Already a start has been made, and a Frankfort paper of a recent date describes at considerable length some experiments made in the Island of Elba, by a wine maker, in the use of electricity in grape growing. Mr. Fuchs, some years ago, planted four fields with native vines in a district which was devastated with phylloxera, and treated two of them with electricity. The experiments immediately made the difference in the development in the grapes of these fields very apparent. Those treated with electricity yielded a much larger crop in quantity and quality alike, and phylloxera was exterminated. In the other two fields, not so treated, it continued its ravages.

Now, if the influence of electricity on disease, and the pests which affect the growth, was all that Mr. Fuchs experiments prove, they would not amount to very much, except as far as they show the way to artificially apply nature's remedy. But, if his investigation really proves, as he claims, that electricity exercises a fertilising power, then his discovery becomes of most vital importance to the agriculturist generally, for it will, of course, not be applicable to grapes only.

And it seems that Mr. Fuchs has proved his case. At present his procedure is not of the most simple nature. It is not sufficient to simply conduct atmospheric electricity to the earth, but a direct metallic conduit with the main stem of the plant must be made. The Frankfort paper describes Mr. Fuch's modus operandi as follows; "On a field of about 2.1-2 acres, five masts are erected, the tops of which are supplied with an arrangement for accumulating atmospheric electricity. These accumulators are connected with each other by wires. Wires are laid in the soil about 1 1-2 feet deep, forming an evenly distributed metallic net. Every accumulator is connected with this metallic net by a wire running along the mast. Short wires connect with the plants, the free ends being stuck into the stem or into the root thereof."

The procedure is reported to more than fulfil expectations, and it is to be hoped that the Provincial Government will at once take steps to bring the invention into operation in the fruit districts of the Province which are afflicted with disease. The importance of the discovery can readily be appreciated, and no time should te lost in taking advantage of it. Doubtless Mr. Dryden with his wonted zeal on behalf of agriculture, will act promptly.—Ottawa Free Press.

Is Your Summer Life Made Miserable by Nervous Depression, Sleeplessness and a Dread of Coming Disease?

Carry Home a Bottle of PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Use it, and Note its Quick and Happy Effects.

If you are one of the summer unfortunates made miserable, unhappy and despondent through nervous depression, sleeplessness and general physical weakness, we sincerely urge you to carry home to-day a bottle of Dr. Phelps' marvellous discovery, Paine's Celery Compound, and test its health and strength-giving powers.

Paine's Celery Compound is a prompt and effective banisher of summer "blues." It rescues shaky, enfeebled nerves from prostration and wreck; it removes those deathly feelings of exhaustion so common in the hot weather; it gives energy and a new life to all weakened and nervous men and women. Mrs. J. H. Pierce, King street, St. John, N. B., writes thus:

"I consider it a duty to recommend your Paine's Celery Compound to suffering humanity. I suffered terribly from constipation, weakness, nervousness, kidney and liver troubles; I was also subject to those tired, weary feelings, and had a slight touch of skin disease. The first dose of Paine's Celery Compound relieved me; and now, after having taken three bottles, I feel much better. I am not constipated, have no weak feelings, and I eat and sleep well. It is a grand remedy, and I hope all who read this benefit by my recommendation."

Canada Very Much Alive.

London, Aug. 26.—Speaking at a meeting of the Milford Docks Company in London yesterday, the chairman, Mr. Newborn, said he had reason to hope that Milford would become the terminal port of the Anglo-Canadian fast mail service. America was showing Great Britain that she must wake up, and Canada in this matter was much awake.

I have introduced "FORCE" at my breakfast table, and must say it is the most pleasant breakfast dish I have ever found. I have gotten so now that I look forward with expectancy to my breakfast, which is something I have not done in a long time, and as the "FORCE" Food is at my plate every morning, I eat it with the greatest relish. I don't say this as "taffy" or flattery, but it is an honest fact that I think "FORCE" Food is the most delectable breakfast dish I have ever tasted for its health-giving qualities. Its crispness and savory flavor is something new and unrivaled.

Yours very sincerely, —— ——

MANITOBA'S HARVEST

Much of the Great Wheat Crop Has Already Been Cut.

AT POINTS IT IS COMPLETED.

Ten Thousand Acres in the Regina District Cut—Harvest Will Be on Generally by Wednesday—A Yield of 30 Bushels on the Average Seems to Be Almost Assured—Some Interesting Details.

Winnipeg, Aug. 26.—Weather for the past two days has been fair and clear, and every one interested in the Western Canadian harvest feels assured that this year's enormous crop will be safely garnered. Reports from all over the province and Territories indicate that cutting is well advanced. At some points it is completed, particularly in Southern Manitoba.

In the Regina district upwards of ten thousand acres, or 15 per cent. of the crop, are now cut. These are principally on the high and lighter land, but the binders have attacked the heavy lands and by Wednesday harvesting will be general.

The yield is heavy and is estimated to average 37 bushels, with some record-breakers. The quality, too, is splendid, and there has been no damage by lodging either by wind, rain or hail.

In Qu'Appelle district the wheat harvest starts this week and will be general by September 1. The estimate of 25 bushels per acre promises to be away below the mark—35 bushels per acre will be nearer the average.

The cutting of the largest crop in the history of Moosejaw will begin this week. The last four days have been ideal weather for ripening.

At least 80 per cent. of the wheat in Emerson district is cut. Many farmers have all the grain cut and are stacking. Prospects are that the average yield in this district will be 27 bushels to the acre.

There is no scarcity of twine, and there is a sufficient number of farm hands here to handle the crop, the Galician settlement of Sturatburn giving ample supply.

Cutting around Brandon has begun on lighter land, but it will not be general until Thursday or Friday. Figures as to the probable yield of wheat vary greatly—between 25 and 30 bushels seems to be the safest estimate.

The crop around Mamiota, in Northwest Central district, promises a magnificent yield. The average in this district last year was 30 bushels to the acre, and it is anticipated this year the yield will be fully five bushels an acre larger. There are numerous fields which if safely harvested will yield from 40 to 50 bushels to the acre.

The recent rains, while retarding ripening to some extent, have been a benefit to the wheat.

Wheat cutting will not be general here until about the end of the week, although in odd places farmers have already commenced operations.

There is a good demand for farm help and no men need be idle from now until threshing is over.

Twenty per cent. of wheat is cut around Baldur, in Southern Manitoba. The farmers are all cutting and by Saturday 90 per cent. of the wheat will be cut. The yield of wheat is about 20 bushels. Hired help is scarce and Eastern farm hands are asking $50 a month. The oat crop is fair and barley and speltz are good.

Harvesters Help Themselves.

Winnipeg, Aug. 26.—A report from White Mouth, on the C.P.R., says the storekeepers there suffered considerably on Saturday night. A train load of harvesters arrived there, and, finding the store closed, forced their way inside and helped themselves.

Gone Across the Line.

Winnipeg, Aug. 26. — About one hundred of the Ontario farm laborers have gone to North Dakota. These left Saturday. Some have also driven across country from Deloraine. Interesting developments may follow for the Alien Labor Law may be invoked.

Record Wheat Crop.

Windsor, Aug. 26.—Frank Reaume, a Sandwich East farmer, harvested 2,400 bushels of wheat from a 70-acre field. This is believed to be a record for Essex County.

Railway Directors Elected.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—The provisional directors of the Ottawa, Brockville and St. Lawrence Railway Company met here yesterday and elected the following directors: J. Carling Kelly, Ottawa; W. Douglas Dales, London, Eng.; Dr. A. T. Shillington, Ottawa; Capt. John Hutt, Liverpool, N.S.; Capt. J. T. Curry, Toronto; John Bingham and Frank O'Reilly, Ottawa. The road will connect with the G.T.R. at Brockville, and give that system direct connection with the Capital for its Toronto and western traffic.

Pacific Cable's Progress.

London, Aug. 26.—A cable which is to connect Canada with Australia across the Pacific, now being laid at the joint expense of the United Kingdom, Canada and the Australian Commonwealth, has already been completed from Vancouver, B.C., to Fanning Island, just south of the Hawaiian Islands, and it is expected the entire line will be completed by the end of the present year.

Tom Jones Lynched.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 26. — Tom Jones, a negro, has been lynched. He was caught by a posse of three, taken to Mrs. Smith's house and identified. He confessed his crime and gave up a ring he had stolen from his victim's husband. He was put in a barn to await the arrival of the sheriff, but ten men, disguised as negroes, took him out and hanged him.

Chronic Catarrh Cured.

In Merrill's System Tonic one finds a pleasant-to-take but powerful blood purifier. It is this feature that makes it a never failing cure for Chronic Catarrh and Chronic Rheumatism. Money spent in snuffs is only wasted. Remove the cause—take Merrill's System Tonic. Price 50c for 50 doses. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

Earthquakes Across the Sea

London, Aug. 26.—Mount Alto, in Calabria, has been in eruption since last Friday and is emitting showers of stones and flames.

"Violent earthquakes were felt last Friday," cables the St. Petersburg correspondent of The Daily Mail, "at Andishan and Pavlovsk, near St. Petersburg."

Mount Alto is in the extreme southwest of Italy, "the toe of the boot," near the town of Reggio.

France Was Ready to Fight.

Paris, Aug. 26.—A yellow book recently issued by the French Health Department, makes the revelation that at the time of the Fashoda dispute with Great Britain, in 1898, France, fearing war with Great Britain, concentrated thirty thousand troops at Cherbourg, where a serious outbreak of fever occurred among the soldiers. A thousand cases were reported and there were one hundred and twenty deaths.

Two Killed by Sunstroke.

Winnipeg, Aug. 26.—Alexander Martin, a boy, was killed while playing near his home in Brandon.

Miss Gardiner, 15 years of age, of Rapid City, received a fatal stroke while visiting friends at Pendennis.

Atlantic Liner Disabled.

New York, Aug. 26.—The German tank steamer Diamant, from Shields for this port, while passing Fire Island yesterday afternoon signalled: "Passed disabled steamer Fuerst Bismarck with thrust shaft broken." No particulars were signalled.

May Lose His Life.

Woodstock, Aug. 26. — William Crawford, who formerly carried mail to Hodgins Corners, was thrown from a horse yesterday and his skull was fractured. There are but slight hopes of his recovery.

At the King's Hands

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—It was learned here yesterday that Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia, received the investiture of knighthood at the hands of His Majesty the King personally.

Stabbed in the Eye.

Winnipeg, Aug. 26.—Fred Burr was stabbed in the eye at Delhi, a fishing resort on Lake Manitoba, by Baptiste De Fowe. All were engaged in the fish business.

RURAL DEANERY MEETING

To be Held in Hastings, September 8th and 9th.

The Rural Deanery of Northumberland and Peterborough will meet in Hastings on Monday and Tuesday, September 8th and 9th, when the following programme will be carried out—Monday, 8 p.m., evening service with sermon by Rev. C. H. Brooks, of Grafton; on Tuesday morning a celebration of the Holy Communion, followed by a Devotional Hour, conducted by the Rev. W.L. Armitage. Papers will be read by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt on "Preaching," by Rev. J. C. Davidson and Rev. A. G. E. Westmacott on the "State of the Church in the Rural Deanery," and by the Rev. A. J. Reid, of Campbellford, on "The Position and Policy of the Church of England in Canada."

GEORGE STREET LEAGUE.

An Interesting Address was Given by Dr. Jessie Birnie.

Seldom indeed has a more enjoyable evening been spent by the Leaguers of the George street Methodist church than was spent last evening in the Sunday school room, and the thanks of those present is due to those who had the management of the affair in hand.

The meeting was presided over by the pastor, Rev. J. P. Wilson, and the topic, which was a talk on the Eye and the Ear, was placed in the hands of Dr. Jessie Birnie, who explained the delicate structure of those organs in an address that in point of interest could not be surpassed. She held the undivided attention of her audience throughout, and was in every way deserving of the many compliments bestowed upon her. Her remarks more than substantiated the saying—"Man is the noblest work of God."

At the conclusion of the address Miss Parnell sang a solo, and her sweet voice was never heard to better effect. The evening was one of unusual interest and keen enjoyment.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—The Town Council meets at eight o'clock to-morrow evening.

—The 14th Field Battery goes into camp at Deseronto on Sept. 15th.

—A meeting of the Board of Works and the Property Committee is called for Wednesday night.

—Next Sunday the Holy Communion will be administered at St. Mark's Church, Otonabee, after the afternoon service.

—The Chief of Police has a pocket book for which he would like an owner. It was picked up on the street this morning.

—A d. and d. was before the Magistrate this morning, but as he was going to Port Hope Mr. Dumble thought that would be punishment enough, and imposed no fine.

—A citizen who got corned on Coronation Day was before the Magistrate this morning charged with breaking a window in the premises of Susan Brault. As the damage had been repaired, the offender was allowed to go with a fine and costs, amounting to $5.55.

—A Hamilton judge has ruled that a hotelkeeper or his servant has no right, after selling a man liquor to make him drunk or disorderly, to turn him out on the street, but he should call in a constable to remove the victim. It cost a Hamilton porter $5.00 and costs to find this out.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Notes Concerning the Movements of Peterborough People and Their Visitors.

Mr. J.A. Aylmer, of Gamebridge, is in town on business.

Mr. J. Gracy has returned home from a trip to Belleville.

Mr. A. E. Moseley is being welcomed back from his trip to England.

Miss Killingbeck and Miss Graham are visiting friends in Lindsay.

Mr. John Fanning is home again after a pleasant holiday in New York.

Mr. Arthur Piper has left Stony Lake for Toronto, after a two weeks' holiday.

Miss Alta Bradd is home from Stony Lake where she was the guest of Miss Marley Hall.

Mr. Hubert McBain has returned to Toronto, after spending his holidays at Stony Lake.

Miss Mercier, of Richard Hall & Sons, has re-opened her workrooms for the fall season.

Mr. Walter Peters, of the Examiner News Room, is visiting at "Cheeseville," near Coboconk.

Mr. Wm. Johnston, Belleville, Inspector of weights and Measures, was in town yesterday.

Miss Ethel Tennant, of Spencer avenue, Toronto, is the guest of Mrs. Robert Kerr, Rubidge street.

Mr. Ed. Knott, of Port Perry, formerly of the Examiner job rooms, has ben in town for the last few days.

Rev. O.J. Boulder, M.A., principal of St. Alban's school, Brockville, is visiting His Worship Mayor Denne.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. McDonough have returned to town after a very pleasant holiday spent in Campbellford and Belleville.

Miss Adele Thomas, of Carleton street, Toronto, who has been staying with Miss Ethel Piper, at Stony Lake, returned home yesterday.

Mrs. Hodgins and Miss Lillian Roccap, of Toronto, who have been visiting Mrs. James Eakins at her Stony Lake cottage, left for home yesterday.

Mr. John Jayes and daughter, Miss Ethel, accompanied by Miss Irene Munro, are visiting friends in Toronto.

Port Hope Guide—Miss Molly Blois, who has been visiting her friend, Miss Pearle Wood, Smith street, returned to her home in Peterborough this afternoon.

Messrs. Gerald and Basil Hall and Douglas Hammond returned last night from Stony Lake, where they have been camping on Juniper Island for the last month or so.

Rev. F.H. Hartley, Rector of St. Matthew's church, Toronto, passed through Peterborough on his way to Stony Lake, where he intends spending his holidays at Forest Nook.

Rev. J.C. Farthing, M.A., of New St. Paul's church, Woodstock, was in town yesterday, and took a portion of the service in connection with the funeral of the late little Hester Charles.

Mr. Jarvis, who was in town on relieving duty at the Bank of Commerce in the spring, has again returned to Peterborough until an appointment for the post of accountant is made.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts and the Misses Roberts, of Toronto, who have been occupying the cottage of Mrs. Dunn and Mr. S. Hunter at Stony Lake for the past couple of months, passed through on their way home yesterday.

The Examiner sanctum was brightened both materially and sentimentally to-day by the gift of a magnificent bouquet of sweet peas contributed by the thoughtful kindness of Mr. H. Nesbitt, governor of the jail. Magnificent is a big word, but none too big to describe the splendid size and rich colourings of this beautiful mass of the sweet bloom of the Lathyrus Odorata. Mr. Nesbitt's hospitality is sometimes unpleasantly persuasive but his liberality with the flowers, he so successfully cultivates, is very acceptable.

Mr. J. D. Griffith, of St. Louis, Missouri, is in town on a visit, the guest of his sisters, the Misses Griffiths 183 Antrim street. Mr. Griffith is an old Peterborough boy, and has made a financial success of life in the far west. His memories of Peterborough are chiefly of his school boy days — the "bowled-Barlee-et-Clementi" cricket days of the town. He has a minute and most interesting memory of the events of this period, and when he meets one of his old school mates there's a tremendous digging up of old time reminiscences.

Mr. Charles Tucker, travelling representative of the Sherwin-Williams Paint Company, leaves to-day for New York. From which place he will go to South America on a business tour in the interests of the Company. Mr. Tucker's itinerary will include Brazil and the Argentine Republic. The selection of Mr. Tucker for so important a commercial mission indicates to how large an extent he possesses the confidence of his principals. Mr. Tucker is also another example of how Canadian boys, with their steady habits and devotion to business win a reputation for reliability which opens to them the doors to positions of trust wherever they go.

A BIG FISH.

Mrs. R. R. Hall Lands an 18 1-4 Pound Lunge.

Mrs. R. R. Hall, who is summering at Boschink, while out trawling yesterday, in Gilchrist's Bay, Stony Lake, caught and landed a very fine lunge weighing 18 1-4 pounds. The fish was one of the liveliest of its kind, and great trouble was experienced before he could be induced to enter the boat. It was weighed on the unerring scales of justice—Police Magistrate Dumble's. Mr. Adam Hall was paddling Mrs. Hall at the time the fish was caught.

WEDDING BELLS.

Marriage of Miss Lexa Taylor and Mr. A. C. Thorburn on Wednesday Last.

Peterborough people will be interested in reading the appended account of the wedding of Miss Lexa Taylor, daughter of the late W. H. Taylor, M.D., formerly of Peterborough:

"A very pretty wedding in which the young people of Niagara Falls South were greatly interested took place on Aug. 20, at 7 o'clock in Drummond Hill Church. The happy couple were Miss Alexandrina Margaret, daughter of the late Wm. H. Taylor, M.D., and grand-daughter of the late Rev. Wm. Taylor, D.D., of Montreal, and Mr. Allan Cameron Thorburn of Gore Bay. The altar of the church was beautifully decorated with rare evergreens and palms, intertwined with many lovely flowers, the work of the members of the choir, friends of the bride, besides some other friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. James Wilson, of Glencoe, formerly of this town, while the musical service was executed by A. C. D. Blanchard, B. Sc., C.E. After the ceremony at the church the reception was held at the home of the bride's mother on Lundy's Lane, and amid good wishes and enthusiastic assistance the wedding couple made their departure for Atlantic City and other eastern cities. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Wm. Taylor, of Montreal, was gowned in white taffeta silk, trimmed with real lace, and wore the traditional veil and orange blossoms, which were worn by her mother. Her sister, Miss Etta Taylor, assisted her, and looked charming in pale pink lace organdie. She carried a shower bouquet of pink roses, while the bride's was also a shower bouquet of white roses. The bride's little nieces, Amy and Jean Hill, daughters of Mr. W. H. Hill, town, acted as flower-girls, and wore India silk organdie and carried baskets of sweet peas. Mr. Bertram Nelles, of Toronto, ably supported the bridegroom. Messrs. Palmer and Soule had the agreeable duties of ushers to perform, which they did very acceptably. Among the guests from a distance were noticed Rev. James Wilson, of Glencoe; and Mrs. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Hill, of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. McGregor, of Hamilton; Col. and Mrs. Nelles, of Parkdale; Mrs. John Bertram, Miss Jacks, Mr. B. Nelles, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Thorburn, of Brantford; Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Brown, of Montreal; Mr. Taylor, Mrs. W. G. Duncan, of Toronto; Mrs. and Miss Bessie Steele, Mrs. Smearing, of Buffalo; also Miss Ewart, Miss Erskine, of Ashburnham; Mrs. Bennett, of Niagara Falls, N. Y.; Mr. H. L. Taylor, of Cincinnati.

Asthma Can Be Cured.

Thousands of testimonials conclusively prove that Asthma can be permanently cured by inhaling Catarrhozone, a vegetable antiseptic that destroys at once the germs causing the diseases. Catarrhozone gives immediate relief to the distressing cough and suffocating sensations, makes breathing easy and regular and insures undisturbed sleep. Catarrhozone cures Asthma that doctors are unable even to relieve and can cure you. The Catarrhozone inhaler is made of hard rubber, fits into the vest pocket can be used at work, in church, in the street, in bed—any place—at any time. Two months' treatment (guaranteed.) price $1.00; trial size 25c. Druggists, of N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

FUTURE OF PETERBOROUGH.

Its Present and Prospective Importance as a Manufacturing Centre.

A correspondent who has evidently given considerable attention to the subject, presents some very interesting statistics relating to the manufacturing importance of Peterborough and the prospects and capacity for development in the same direction. Peterborough has apparently reached the status of a city and seems to be ripe for assuming the dignity of a city, not only in fact but in name. The following relating to our future will be read with interest:

Anyone who can take in the town with its great water powers now being harnessed, and can realize the importance of the manufacturing establishments now planted here and not yet in full operation, must come to the conclusion that Peterborough must speedily develop into a great manufacturing city.

The new Cordage Company is only beginning its operations with a few hands until the connection is made with the new power from No. 5 dam.

The Cereal Works will open next month with about 800 hands, to be increased to ten or twelve hundred. Other manufacturing establishments are locating here, and soon Peterborough will be known chiefly as a manufacturing centre.

The new dam now under construction will more than double the power of the old Dickson Dam, and the Burleigh power, not yet developed, will equal nearly all the power on the river between here and Lakefield. At present every house is occupied and those under construction are spoken for as soon as the foundation is laid. To stand on the streets at five o'clock and see the streams of employees emerging from the shops will impress one with the fact that we are already a hive of industry.

The hands employed at the several factories may be put as follows:

Canadian General Electric Co	800
William Hamilton Mfg. Co.	200
Peter Hamilton Agricultural Works	150
Peterborough Lock Works	100
Auburn Woollen Mills	160
Canadian Cordage Co., with new power	300
Three Canoe Factories	60
Turner's Tent Works	25
Ackerman's Wholsale Harness Fac.	100
Cereal Works, in September	800
Three Saw Mills	100
Flour Mills	50
Tailors and Mantle Makers, etc	200
The Geo. Matthews Co	80
Three Printing Offices	100
Total	3,125

Here, then, we have nearly thirty-two hundred factory hands, a large proportion of them being skilled men drawing high wages.

There are a great many shops and business places whose employees we do not mention. It is enough to establish the fact—we are a manufacturing town and we are only at the beginning of our development.

The Campbellford power can be brought here by wire with little loss, and it is bound to come, for once a place is established as a manufacturing town it develops along that line.

We have now, with Ashburnham, a population of over 7000. Union of these two places is now established for business, but there must be municipal union and then let the bright little city forge ahead to her natural destiny.

AT WINONA ASSEMBLY.

An Interesting Letter From Rev. J. G. Potter.

Rev. J.G. Potter writes as follows from Winona, Indiana, Assembly and Summer School:

The eighth Annual Bible Conference held at Winona Lake, Indiana, has proved an over-whelming success in point of interest and numbers. Over 2,000 ministers gathered together for Bible study and prayer is an inspiration. The directorate has spared no pain or expense to bring to Winona men most eminent and prominent in pastoral, educational, evangelistic and Sabbath school work, and in consequence the blessings are great to all who meet. Here we have been able to meet and hear Rev. Dr. George Johnston, Ross, the Scottish preacher in Cambridge, England, Dr. George Stewart, the distinguished British Wesleyan, Henry Varley, the celebrated British evangelist, and Rev. John Robertson, successor to Rev. John McNeil, in Glasgow, Scotland. Among the American speakers whose words have been most helpful and forceful are Rev. Prof. Moorehead, Rev. George Stewart, the distinguished southern evangelist, Rev. Balcom Shaw, of New York, Rev. Dr. R. S. McArthur, Baptist, of New York, and the Rev. Dr. Munhall, so long associated with the late D. L. Moody in evangelistic work.

The Rev. Dr. McArthur stated publicly that of thirteen such assemblies in eleven States visited this summer, Winona stood pre-eminent in interest and spirituality. He has written the following appreciation:

AN APPRECIATION.

We, the Baptist ministers and other workers in Baptist churches in attendance at the Winona Bible Conference directed by Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, D. D., wish to express our appreciation of the spirit and work of the conference, and also our gratitude to God for the great spiritual blessings received. We also recommend to our brother ministers and others in our churches who may find it possible to do so, that they plan to attend and to enjoy the rich spiritual feasts of future conferences.

We wish also to express the conviction that many of our Baptist pastors and evangelists, who are in attendance at the conference this year, will go forth with renewed zeal for evangelistic effort among our own churches. We especially appreciate the most excellent work of the Evangelistic Committee of the Presbyterian church, and feel that a similar work should be undertaken by our own denomination, and we sincerely hope that steps will be taken at our coming state conventions looking toward the realization of this desire.

DROWNED IN MISSOURI.

Sad Death of a Bright Lad, a Recent Visitor of Peterborough.

The following, taken from the Cairo, Ill., Daily Telegram, refers to a fatal accident to a son of Mrs. Richard E. Gannon, of Cape Girardeau, Mo. Mrs. Gannon is a relative of Mrs. Thomas Henry, of town, and will be remembered by many who met her during a recent visit to Peterborough, where she was accompanied by two bright boys, one of whom was the victim of the accident recorded below:

The distressing news of the drowning of little Loren Gannon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Gannon, of Cape Girardeau, Mo., reached this city late yesterday afternoon, and caused a feeling of intense regret in the hearts of their many friends. Full particulars were not obtainable then, and Mr. Thomas W. Gannon, Dr. James McManus and Mr. Bernard McManus, jr., at once started to drive overland to the scene of the disaster. They returned by rail at 10.45 this forenoon, accompanied by the bereaved parents and the remains of the unfortunate child.

Mr. Gannon is superintendent of the water works at Cape Girardeau, and yesterday afternoon went to look after some business of the plant at Sloan's Creek, near where it empties into the Mississippi. He was accompanied by his seven year old son, Loren. About three o'clock the lad was missing, and Mr. Gannon began a search for him. It seems from the circumstances surrounding the case that the boy had wandered away to a point on the creek where the water until recently, had been very shallow, and where he and the other boys had been in the habit of bathing, but a few days ago a considerable quantity of sand had been dredged out, making a deep hole. Loren was unaware of this fact, and had undressed to indulge in a play in the water alone.

The first intimation of his fate was given when some men in passing heard the mournful bowling of a dog, and on searching for the cause found a little water spaniel, a pet of Loren's, lying on the boy's clothing, and making his anxiety known by his cries. Immediate search was made, and the body recovered, but life was extinct. Mr. Gannon, who was searching for his boy, soon learned of his tragic death. The little body was borne to his home, and then to the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. B. McManus, Sr., and thence was tenderly laid away in the cemetery.

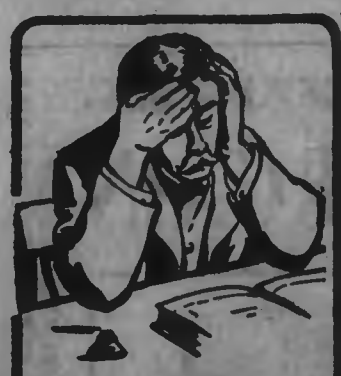
AN ENJOYABLE TRIP.

The Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Coy's Employees and Their Friends Have a Delightful Outing.

The excursion held under the auspices of the Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co. employees on Saturday was one of the most enjoyable trips which the City of Peterborough has taken down the river this season, and all who went were unanimous in urging that the event be made an annual affair. The committee in charge was composed of Commodore John Smith and Messrs. J. Sharp, Leslie Scott, J. Johnston, E. Cronk, H. Batsford, and S. P. McFadden. Of course, with an energetic bunch like the aforementioned looking after the details, the excursion could not very well help being about the best of the year. The 57th Band was in attendance and furnished a delightful programme of music during the afternoon and evening. The committee wish to thank the boat hands for universal courtesy with which every want was supplied.

Valuable Advice to Rheumatics.

Eat meat sparingly, and take very little sugar. Avoid intoxicants, keep away from dampness, drink water abundantly, and always rely on Nerviline as a quick reliever of Rheumatic pains. Being five times stronger than ordinary remedies, Nerviline's power over pain is simply beyond belief. It cures also Sciatica, Lumbago, Neuralgia, and all pain, whether internal or external. Large bottles, price 25c.



Headache.

Pain across the forehead or at back of head is dangerous. It slowly but surely weakens the intellectual powers, impairs the vitality and will. Headache is sometimes from the eyes but more frequently is caused by a disordered condition of the stomach and digestive organs.

Do not suffer. The pain can be cured by the harmless remedy

Abbey's Effervescent Salt

It never loses its effect. Cures by driving out the poison, and does not simply deaden the pain as do so many preparations containing narcotics.

Abbey's in the morning will make you well and keep you well.

THE COLLECTOR WHO KNEW

An Illustration of the Danger of Being Too Self Confident.

"The trouble with you fellows is you want things, but you know nothing about 'em. You come over here and carry home a lot of truck that a European collector wouldn't give house room, and when you see a really good thing you don't know it, or you won't pay a price for it unless some dealer makes you. You see, you don't know; that's what's the matter; how can you? Nobody in America wanted antiques before the Centennial. If you'd lived here twenty years, like me, you'd learn something, you'd find out that collecting isn't a thing of money, but knowing."

We had been walking in Venice down a narrow calle while the collector was speaking. "Look at that old brass scale," he resumed, pointing to a fish stall in the little outdoor market on which we had just emerged. "There's a gem, not very old, but of the finest seventeenth century Venetian work. If you saw that in a New York dealer's, all cleaned up, you'd give up a good deal for it; but you'd 'a' passed it by a dozen times if I hadn't spoken about it. See that old junk stand over there? I never pass a thing like that. You can never tell what you may pick up—if you only know."

We had scarcely reached the stand when the collector thrust out his hand with the swiftness of a hawk darting on its prey, and swooped upon a little jewel box.

"Carnelian! Russian, I should say, from the Ural mountains. It's not of great value, but it's a pretty little thing, if it was cleaned up. It's mine, anyway." To the keeper of the stall: "Quanto?"

The Venetian slowly uncoiled himself and came down from the church steps, where he had been sleeping.

"Does the signore want the pretty trifle? The signore knows its value better than I, and he'll be generous?"

"I'll give you a lira for it. It isn't worth it, but one mustn't be hard with the poor."

"I had hoped I should get five!"

"Well, I'll make it two."

"It is the signore's."

"There, you see!" exultingly chuckled the collector. "That's what it is to know. An exquisite carnelian Russian jewel casket for 40 cents! You'd never have thought of looking among a lot of rusty old iron for a thing like that, would you?"

While speaking he held the box with a miser's clutch.

"May I see it, please?"

He reluctantly handed it to me as though fearing I might make a sudden dash down the calle with his treasure.

"Phew!" said I contemptuously, handing the box back to him. "It's not carnelian at all. It's glass, nothing but glass."

"Glass!" drawing a magnifier from his waistcoat pocket and mutely examining the purchase. "I'm—I'm—afraid—it is!" he said sheepishly.

"Of course it is."

"I—don't know," sadly. "Yes, it is glass! You see, it's so dirty. Oh, well, we all make mistakes at times. Do you want it?" disgust taking the place of sadness. "You can have it for a quarter."

"Well, I guess it's worth a quarter." I think my eyes must have snapped. "Yes."

And that is how an almost unique example of the cinque cento came into my collection of Venetian glass.

THE POSTMASTER.

Old Gentleman's Narrow Escape From Death.

A Very Interesting Personal Experience Which Contains Some Good Advice for Others Whose Liver may be Threatened.

Lovett, Ont., Aug. 24th. (Special).—Every man, woman and child for miles around knows Mr. C. A. Harries, the genial postmaster at Lovett.

Mr. Harries is a hale old gentleman, 75 years of age, and considering his advanced years, is remarkably well preserved, strong and healthy.

But he was not always so. Five or six years ago he was at the point of death, being fearfully run down, and a complete wreck, with Bright's Disease.

He was so low that no one ever dreamt that he could pull through, and yet he is alive and well to-day. This is a statement of the case in Mr. Harries' own words:—

"In 1897 I was at the point of death with Bright's Disease, and was a wreck. I could not even dress myself or turn in my bed, but now I am a well man, and I attribute it all to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I am 75 years old, and for a man of my years I feel quite strong and healthy. I consider Dodd's Kidney Pills a good medicine to take in the spring, as I have found it a great blood purifier.

"As postmaster, I come in contact with a great many people, and I know of my personal knowledge that a great many in this country are using Dodd's Kidney Pills, with the best results."

Such evidence should be most convincing to any who may still doubt that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure Bright's Disease.

The honest, earnest, straightforward testimony of such reputable people certainly deserves the confidence of everyone.

If Dodd's Kidney Pills can and do cure Bright's Disease, which is the very worst form of Kidney Trouble, they certainly will cure any of the lesser forms.

AFTER RAIN.

"For three whole days across the sky,
In sullen packs that loomed and broke,
With flying ringes dim as smoke,
The columns of the rain went by;
At every hour the wind awoke:
The darkness passed upon the plain;
The great drops rattled on the pane.

"Now piped the wind as far aloof
Fell to a sough remote and dull;
And all night long, with rush and lull,
The rain kept drumming on the roof;
I heard till ear and sense were full
The clash or silence of the leaves,
The gurgle in the creaking eaves.

"But when the fourth day came—at noon,
The darkness and the rain were by;
The sunward roofs were steaming dry;
And all the world was flecked and strewn
With shadows from a fleecy sky.
The haymakers were forth and gone,
And every rillet laughed and shone.

"Then, too, on me that loved so well
The world, despairing in her blight,
Uplifted with her least delight,
On me, as on the earth, there fell
New happiness of mirth and might;
I strode the valleys, pied and still;
I climbed upon the breezy hill.

"I watched the grey hawk wheel and drop,
Sole shadow on the shining world;
I saw the mountains clothed and curled,
With forest ruffling to the top.
I saw the river's length unfurled,
Pale silver down the fruited plain,
Grown great and stately with the rain.

"Through miles of shadow and soft heat,
Where field and fallow, fence and tree,
Were all one world of greenery,
I heard the robin singing sweet,
The sparrow piping silverly,
The thrushes at the forest's hem;
And as I went I sang with them."

—Archibald Chapman.

Hard on the Hack Business.

That great discovery made by a Brantford druggist and known as Four T's does away with hacking and coughing in two days. As a lung tonic and lung tissue reconstructor it has no equal. Children take Four T's and it cures whooping cough and croup. Price 25c per bottle. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

Had $11,000 With Him.

Winnipeg, Aug. 25. — H. R. Forsythe, ex-mounted policeman, has been arrested at Medicine Hat charged with the robbery of Dixon Bros.' store at Maple Creek, Aug. 6. Forsythe has just been released from Stony Mountain penitentiary, where he served a term for cattle stealing. About $11,000 in cash was found on him when arrested.

Declares War on Pigeons.

Paris, Aug. 25.—An order has been issued to the troops in the department of the Hautes-Alpes to kill all pigeons crossing the frontier. This action has been taken by the Government because of the discovery of the fact that spies were utilizing pigeons to send reports from the country.

Anticipated Great Earthquake.

Paris, Aug. 25.—The instruments at Oyaella in Hungary and at Strassburg in Alsace-Lorraine, registered several earthquake shocks on Friday evening. The direction was from east to south. At Strassburg they were felt at 4.10 p. m., 4.28 p.m. and 4.60 p.m. It is believed that a great earthquake has occurred in Eastern Asia, the Philippines and Japan..

Denies the Report.

Montreal, Aug. 25.—Charles M. Hays, who has just returned from Great Britain, denies the report circulated last week that he was to be made President of the Grand Trunk and that Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson would become chairman of the board. No changes are contemplated in the executive.

A WELL MAN AT 80 YEARS.

Was Rescued From Kidney Disease and Dreadful Suffering by the Use of

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Mr. R. J. McBain, Niagara Falls, Ont., a man of eight years, and well known throughout the Niagara district, writes;—"I believe that if it had not been for Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills, I would be in my grave before this. I was very bad with kidney disease, and suffered with dreadful pains in my kidneys. Being disappointed in the use of many medicines, I had almost given up hopes of ever getting better.

"One morning, after a night of especially severe suffering, a friend called to see me, and asked why I did not try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I got a box at once, and took two pills, which was rather a heavy dose; one pill is plenty at a dose. I used them regularly for a month, and at the end of that time was a changed man.

"It is now about five years since I began using this pill, and since that time I have felt as good as I did 40 years ago. I am almost 80 years old, and am free from all disease, except rheumatism, and this is much better than it used to be before I used this medicine. I recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills with all my heart to any person, man or woman. This is my opinion of these valuable pills, and you may use it for the benefit of others.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are especially appreciated by people of advanced age. The kidneys are frequently the first organs of the body to break down, and there are few old people but suffer from kidney disorders, and resulting pains and aches. One pill a dose, 25c a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto, Ont. 8

STRENGTH IN SOME FORM.

The Quality Above All Else That Woman Admires In Man.

Women abhor cowards and still more sneaks, though I regret to say they often endure cads in a way that belies their intelligence and good taste. They have a quite pathetic desire to look up to men, to feel men their superiors in strength of body and of mind, in calmness of judgment and clearness of intellect. And it is indeed a pity that men so often seem to go out of their way to destroy their most cherished illusions.

Above everything a woman admires strength in a man. It may be strength of body—she will worship a Hercules with the brain of a guinea pig. It may be strength of intellect—she will adore a savant with the body of a gibbon monkey. It may be strength of character—she will break her heart for a politician or a financier who is unswervingly wrapped up in dreams of personal advancement, and who possesses no more heart than an oyster. But strength in some form she craves unceasingly. It is a hereditary instinct that has been bequeathed to her through Eve's first disappointment when Adam was tried in the balance and found wanting. Woman, secretly conscious of her own physical weakness and lack of intellectual strength, demands strength from man to make up for her own deficiencies. Even the strongest women, strong in body and mind, well balanced as Athene herself, though they may shield and protect the weakness of the men they love and stoop to help them, will never do so without a secret feeling of contempt which is destruction of all ideals. Man, in spite of that deplorable start made by Adam, was intended to be woman's protector and refuge from all harm, upon whom she could lean and rely in every event of life's pilgrimage, and when the roles are reversed, as they often so unfortunately are, it is a bad thing both for man and woman. Strength, however is what women love in men.

PRECOCIOUS AUTHORS.

Successful Plays That Were Written by Boys In Their Teens.

Was a successful play ever written by a boy of fourteen? asks a correspondent. Yes. This seeming miracle has happened at least three times. The best known example of the precocious playwright is the celebrated Lope de la Vega, the most prolific dramatist known to history. He produced his first play, a comedy, entitled "La Pastoral de Jacinto," before he had completed his fourteenth year, and this was considered such a marvelous performance that he is known to this day in Spanish literature as "the Prodigy of Nature." Another Spaniard and contemporary of La Vega, Pedro Calderon, wrote his first play when he was thirteen. Metastasio wrote his tragedy "Giustino" and had it produced when he was fourteen on the stage at Bologna.

Of English playwrights Douglas Jerrold, the famous author of "Black Eyed Susan," also furnishes an answer to the question. In 1818, before he had completed his fifteenth year, he wrote a very well known farce entitled "More Frightened Than Hurt." It was very successful on the English stage, and the French considered it good enough to steal. Curiously enough, this French translation was retranslated into English and again produced on the English boards under the title of "Fighting by Proxy." Another very remarkable instance of a different sort of precocity was that of William Henry Ireland, who when he was about fifteen actually produced some plays which he attributed to Shakespeare and which, although afterward proved to be forgeries, were accepted by the experts of the time as genuine.

Sympathetic.

Recently a lithographic firm received a circular announcing the death of the head of a well known business house. In reply they wrote:

"We regret to learn the loss sustained by your firm in the death of Mr. —— and beg to express our heartfelt sympathy.

"We notice your circular is printed by Messrs. ——. We are confident that had you asked us we could have quoted you cheaper and better than any other firm in the market, and in the event of a future bereavement we hope you will afford us an opportunity of making you an offer."—London Tit-Bits.

Don't Be Foolish.

Look at your friends and acquaintances. You see them deliberately acting the fool every day. Possibly you can look your friends over with less prejudice than you can look yourself over. Are you acting the fool and causing yourself unnecessary annoyance? There are so many foolish people in the world that you often find startling things in looking yourself over with candor and fairness.

Breathing of Insects.

Insects generally breathe through special pores in various parts of their bodies, and if these pores are closed by oil they are suffocated. Any one may test this by dropping sweet oil on the thorax or back of a wasp. It very soon dies. For this reason oil has been found one of the best things to use for the destruction of insects.

Strictly Business.

"Have you observed that man who has been abusing you?"

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum placidly. "I've been watching him with a great deal of interest. If I wanted anybody abused, I don't know but I should hire him in preference to anybody I know of."—Washington Star.

FASHION NOTES.

Length of Skirts, Picture Hats, Long Veils.

Two items are indispensable to the up to date toilet, the cape ruffle and corsage bouquet.

Parasols are in delicate coloring or in white decorated with black or ecru lace. The chine sunshade has a Dresden china ball for a handle and gold wires. The fluffy type of parasol, on the other hand, is lined with puffed or drawn chiffon and rows of soft lace.

Skirts for country wear should be quite short. In Paris they are wearing their morning gowns to clear the ground. All the dressy gowns, however, are unusually long and trailing.

Picture hats are being worn to a large extent, particularly black ones trimmed with a single large ostrich feather.

Veils are being worn even longer than ever, the ends in some cases reaching to the waist line. Du Barry veils of black net trimmed with a wide lace edge are very popular.

A pretty child's gown for cool summer days is here shown. The material is white veiling made over taffeta and trimmed with narrow insertion. The belt ribbon is of pale blue louisine.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Keeping Up Appearances.

THE COUGAR'S FIGHTING.

How a Bull Elk Won a Battle by a Solar Plexus Blow.

The cougar does not leap upon its big game nor drop upon it out of treetops, but sneaks close or lies in wait upon the level and goes from cover in a straight rush like the tiger or the hunting leopard. It endeavors to seize upon the lower throat or shoulder with its teeth and to twist the quarry's head against this "purchase" in its powerful forearms until the neck is broken. Failing in its attempt, yet making good its catch hold, the cougar will—to put it modernly—go in and finish in any old style. It will usually finish once tooth and claw are engaged, but sometimes it fails and even gets the worst of an encounter.

Felix Michaud, a most reliable free trapper of the old regime, once told me he had watched a lion stalking a bull elk. It was a Teton mountain cougar of the big variety. It went from cover in a headlong rush, but missed its neck stroke as the bull lunged ahead, catching him at the point of the shoulder and going under his belly. Both animals were bowled over in a mixup of hair, hoofs, claws and horns. In a brief struggle, as they rolled over together, the cougar was thrown into the air, as if hoisted by a spring trap, by a convulsive kick from the bull's hind leg. The maddened elk gained its legs and chased its enemy off the field. An unlooked for punch in the wind had taken the sand out of pussy.—Outing.

No More Pale Women.

Merrill's System Tonic supplies iron necessary to make good, rich, red blood in anaremic women. It is a positive cure for Constipation— the greatest foe of womankind. Honesty In Perfection.

To find honesty in its full perfection it is said that one must go to the Welsh colliers of the Ogmore valley, who travel by a workmen's train which runs from Maesteg to Abergwynfi every morning and returns in the evening. There are heavy penalties for taking pipes and matches down the pit, so when the train reaches its destination in the morning every smoker lays his pipe on the seat, and when he returns in the evening it is exactly where he left it. During the day the coaches are shunted to a siding, the doors are not locked, but there is no single instance of a pipe having been stolen.—London Answers.

Pimples, Blotches and Skin Eruptions

How unsightly, sometimes even disgusting, and certainly very mortifying to the sufferer. They are merely an evidence of impure, poisoned blood, and lowered vitality of the elementary organs, which can be quickly changed by taking Ferrozone after meals. Ferrozone cleanses the blood of all poisons and eruptions, makes it rich in red corpuscles that manifest themselves in a healthy ruddy complexion. To have a pure, soft skin and good complexion simply use Ferrozone regularly. Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at Ormond & Walsh's.

Synchymens.

A French gentleman, rescued from a ducking in the river and taken to an adjacent tavern, was advised to drink a tumbler of very hot brandy and water and thus addressed the waiter who was mixing it:

"Sir, I shall thank you not to make it a fortnight."

"A fortnight!" replied Joe. "Hadn't you better take it directly?"

"Oh, yes," said monsieur, "directly, to be sure, but not a fortnight—not two week."

Fear of the Future.

Most people who dread the future are victims of some terrible disease. Mrs. W. Francis, 204 Colborne street, Kingston, was in a bad state with kidney disease. She had severe pains in back and legs, was gradually losing flesh and felt a dread of the future. A friend recommended Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and the result was a complete cure. There is no medicine more reliable, none so certain to produce a thorough cure. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

CHEESE MARKETS.

Lindsay, Aug. 25.—Lindsay Cheese Board met here to-day. Buyers: Flavelle, Fitzgerald, Hogg and Gillespie, present; 1770 boxes were boarded, and sold at 9 5-16c. Mr. Flavelle took 800, Mr. Fitzgerald, for Hodgson of Montreal, 700, and Mr. Hogg the balance.

Strike in Ottawa.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—Forty plumbers have gone out on strike in Ottawa. They want 25½ instead of 23½ cents per hour, and better regulations.

VARICOCELE NERVOUS DEBILITY CURED.

If you have transgressed against the laws of nature, you must suffer. Self abuse, later excesses and private disease have wrecked thousands of promising lives. Treat with scientific physicians and be cured. Avoid quacks. E. A. Sidney, of Toledo, says: "At the age of 14, I learned a bad habit and at 19 contracted a serious disease. I treated with a dozen doctors, who all promised to cure me. They got my money and I still had the disease. I had given up hope when a friend advised me to consult Drs. K. & K., who had cured him. Without any confidence I called on them, and Dr. Kennedy agreed to cure me or no pay. After taking the New Method Treatment for six weeks I felt like a new man. The drains ceased, wormy veins disappeared, nerves grew stronger, hair stopped falling out, urine became clear and my sexual organs vitalized. I was entirely cured by Dr. Kennedy and recommend him from the bottom of my heart."

THE OLD 40TH COLOURS.

To be Hung in St. Peter's Church, Cobourg, as a Coronation Memento.

We are informed, says the Cobourg Sentinel Star, that on Coronation Day, after the service in St. Peter's church, Col Vance Graveley, late of the 40th Northumberland Co. Regiment, offered to the Rector and the Church Wardens of St. Peter's Church, Cobourg, the old colours, many years ago given by the patriotic ladies of Cobourg to the Cobourg Volunteers. It was in 1862, and the impressive ceremony of the consecration and presentation by the venerable Archdeacon Bethune, then Rector of that parish, on the common south of where the Arlington now stands, will no doubt be remembered by many of our old residents. Col. Petterson was then resident here as Brigade Major of this Brigade Division, and with his good wife and the late Mrs. Vance Graveley, took an active part in getting up the presentation. The Cobourg Volunteers of that day consisted of the well known Cobourg Rifles, under the late Col. Smith, the Infantry Co. under Lieut.-Col. C. Elliott, and the Highland Co. under Capt. Railton. When the 40th Regiment was formed in 1866 the Cobourg Rifle Co. became No. 1, 40th, the Infantry Co., No. 2, 40th; the Highland Co. had ceased to exist, bu was the neuclus from which the present Garrison Artillery Co., of Cobourg was formed.

On the formation of the 40th in 1866, consisting of companies from outside of Cobourg, namely, Cold Springs, Grafton, Colborne, Brighton, Castleton, Warkworth, and Campbellford, it was believed by the colours officers that the colours given to them as Cobourg Volunteers should be the colours of the new organization of the 40th Regiment, and so the inscription on them was changed, and "XL" substituted. The condition, however, was imposed that the colours so donated should not leave Cobourg except they left with the 40th regiment. After a number of years, this condition not being agreeable to a number of the officers of the regiment, a new set of colours was obtained, and the old colours handed to the late Col. Wm. Smith, the first commander of the 40th Regt., who had retired. Before his death he transferred them to Lieut.-Col. J. Vance Graveley, who, before his appointment to the staff, was an enthusiastic officer of the 40th Regt.

Col. Gravely has carefully preserved the old colours, which are in good condition, and now presents them to St. Peter's Church, Cobourg, on the occasion of King Edward's coronation. The colours consist of "The King's Colour," being the Union Jack in silk, with royal crown embroidered, fastened on staff with heavy bullion silver cord and tassel fringe; the regimental colour of royal blue silk, with Union Jack at corner, with heavy bullion lace crown and XL Northumberland embroidered, the crown surrounded with a wreath of maple leaves most beautifully embroidered in the fall tints by the nuns in the Grey Convent at Montreal. The staffs are surmounted by heavy silver and gold bullion crowns, with solid silver lions on top, and are very valuable as works of art, as well as intrinsically being solid silver and gold, and originally cost over $600.

It is right and fitting that these old relics of the past should have their resting place in the sacred edifice, and St. Peter's, Cobourg, the county town of the County of Northumberland, is deemed the most suitable. Arrangements are being made to have the formal services of presentation held on Sunday, Sept. 7th, in St. Peter's Church. The ritual to be observed on such occasions is very impressive.

20 Years of Itching Piles.

Mr. Alex. McLaughlin, Bowmanville, Ont., writes that for twenty years he suffered terribly from itching piles. Seven years ago he asked a druggist for the best cure for piles and was told to use Dr. Chase's Ointment. He continued this treatment until entirely cured, and as he has never had any return of his old trouble considers his cure permanent and remarkable on account of the length of time he suffered.

CHALLENGE ACCEPTED.

Mr. George Taylor accepts the challenge of Mr. Fred McGrath to a 100 yard race, best 2 in 3, on the same conditions as he won the championship cup by. The race to take place on Labour Day at Exhibition Grounds, or Race Course.

THE RING.

Robert C. Gray, manager of the Southern A. C., of Louisville, says there is every indication that a record-breaking crowd will witness the "Young Corbett"-McGovern bout on September 22. The boys will fight under a three-pole tent, accommodating between 10,000 and 15,000 persons. Pictures will be taken of the battle. The figures and the club will each receive one-third of the profits accruing from the same. Scale of prices to see the struggle has not been determined upon, but box seats will be held at $20.

Y.M.C.A. LACROSSE.

Members of the Junior and Senior Y.M.C.A. Lacrosse Clubs are asked to return sweaters and sticks, which are the property of the Club. Kindly leave same with W. D. Campbell, Sec.-Treas., or H. E. Ayers, at the building.

THE TURF.

The track at the Driving Park has been put in splendid condition for the fall races on Sept. 15th and 16th. It has all been graded and hand raked, and the drivers of the horses, which are now being jogged on it every morning, state that it never was in better shape for fast time being made. It is expected, from the letters which are being received, that a large number of exceptionally good horses will be brought together. Applications are now being received for booth and pool privileges.

GOLF.

The programmes are out for the eighth Annual Golf Tournament, to be played on Fort George Golf Links, Niagara-on-the-Lake, on September 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th. The events are open to members of clubs which, in the United States, are recognized by the United States Golf Association, and in Canada by the Royal Canadian Golf Association. The events consist of a handicap, the open event for the Niagara Challenge Cup, a ladies' driving contest, ladies' approach and putt contest, men's approach and putt contest, the men's driving competition for points and accuracy, and the consolation handicap. The Fort George Golf Links are at the mouth of the picturesque Niagara River, and encircle the stretch of common which surrounds the ruins of the old fort.

TAKING SPORT SERIOUSLY.

One of the evils of the day is thoroughness as applied to sports and recreations. There is no game, however difficult or however simple, but is hedged about by difficulties which actually turn pleasure into pain, says the Boston Transcript. Time was when a game of whist, for example, was a genuine diversion; now it has become so scientific that it is distinctly hard work to play a good game. So as to bicycling, golf, ping-pong — everything, in a word. We have got so into the habit of taking our pleasures seriously that those pleasures are no longer recreations, or at least not the recreations they might be were perfection not so persistently insisted upon. In these days no sooner is a game invented or imported from other lands than somebody has to go to work to make its playing a science, and in order to make to this end a newspaper or magazine devoted to that particular game is indispensible and inevitable. So that the drain upon the mental faculties produced by the playing of the game is redered more drastic by the reading one has to do to keep up with the times. Oh, for a game that cannot be made scientific, that will forever escape a literary organ, and which will always and forever be just good fun and nothing more!

MISCELLANEOUS.

COAL WILL BE PLENTIFUL

And Prices not Higher Than Last Year.

New York, Aug. 25th.—This statement is made by W. H. Truesdale, president of the Truesdale, Lackawanna and Western, one of the greatest anthracite coal roads in Pennsylvania, and comes as welcome news:

"I think work at the mines will be resumed in time to produce plenty of coal for the fall demand. Many of the workman want to come back to work now, and they will return just as soon as they feel they will be thoroughly protected. It has been decided by the anthracite producers not to advance the price of coal when it is rushed to market."

The coal roads have decided to sell coal at the same prices which prevailed a year ago. Prices vary according to the month in the scale of prices, which have been in vogue for some time past. Whatever price should prevail, according to this scale, when the strike ends, that price will be charged.

Mr. Truesdale added that there was no foundation to the rumor that the anthracite coal operators will make any concessions to the miners, in order to end the strike.

SUIT AGAINST ORILLIA.

Company That Built the Power Plant Wants to be Paid.

Suit has been entered by the Electrical Supply and Maintenance Company against the Town of Orillia for over $220,000 as payment for the construction of the power plant at Ragged Rapids, on the Severn River.

The work was completed about a year ago, and the cost was considerably in excess of what the town was authorized to pay under the by-law voted on by the electors. The question came before the Private Bills Committee of the Legislature last session, and the point was raised whether the Company's claim should be left to another popular vote. The compromise reached was that the Company should be entitled to collect whatever it could prove in the courts without depending on another by-law. This is the origin of the writ. Several prominent Torontonians are interested by reason of advances to the Company.

Fred. Rice's Confession.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—Crown Attorney Curry says that Fred Lee Rice confessed to him that he (Rice) had fired the shot which killed Constable Boyd. The confession was not used against him at the trial because the prisoner had not been given the usual warning.

It is also said that he had a lancet with which he could have committed suicide, but he gave it up to the officer of the law the day before he was hanged. This is supposed to be for love of his mother or because of his newly awakened religious convictions.

To Welcome Premier Barton.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—The Board of Trade have arranged through the Hon. G. W. Ross for a banquet to be given to Sir Edmund Barton, Premier of the Commonwealth of Australia, on Wednesday evening, Sept. 3. Sir Edmund will be in Toronto from the 1st to the 4th of September, and his other engagements will include a visit to the Exhibition, and possibly attendance at the banquet on Sept. 1 to Lord Dundonald.

The Cause Removed.

In curing disease its only a waste of time to treat the symptoms. The medicine must reach the cause. Merrill's System Tonic does this. LATEST FASHION NOTES.

An Early Fall Coat.

The Directoire Eton front, arranged to be worn open or closed, as the exigencies of Dame Fashion and our equally capricious climatte demand, is a special feature of many of the coats of the season, whether long or short. This natty little coat is an exceptionally happy example of this design. It is made of satin finished cloth of a brilliant dark blue colour, all the facings being finished with a strap of tan panne cloth, stitched with Corticelli spool silk in self colour. The coat collar is bordered by a similar strap, but the facings of revers is of white moire antique. The buttons are very handsome examples of baroque.

A DOCTRINE OF DUTY.

Held Up to U. S. in Connection With Venezuela's Defiance.

MUST KEEP PIRATES IN ORDER.

Venezuela Must Be Taught a Lesson This Time—International Law Must Be Respected by All Governments on This Side of Atlantic—3,000 British Subjects Said to Be Abandoned.

London, Aug. 26.—The Daily Mail, in an editorial article on Venezuela's defiance of European powers in maintaining a blockade and seizing Dutch vessels, declares it to be impossible for Europe to allow a piratical and predatory government of this type to disturb the commerce of the West Indies and the security of the Caribbean Sea.

"This time Venezuela must be taught a lesson," says the paper. After inveighing against the Monroe doctrine the editorial concludes: "America should keep her disorderly states in order and chastise them when, relying on their weakness and her protection, they offend against international law."

Taken No Official Form.

Washington, Aug. 26.—In view of cable reports from Europe indicating that a movement is on foot to have the United States join Germany, France and other powers with a view to suppressing disorder in Venezuela, it is learned at the State Department that the fifth movement as the one suggested has taken official form.

3,000 Britons Abandoned.

Caracas, Venezuela, Aug. 26.—Ciaudad Bolivar is still in the power of the revolutionists. The town was fired upon day and night by the gunboats Bolivar and Restaurador, which attempted to land forces to reoccupy the place. About 600 shells were fired into the city. When the ammunition of the Restaurador was exhausted she left for La Guayra to obtain additional supplies, after which the bombardment will be resumed.

There are no foreign warships in the Orinoco River to protect the interests of the powers, and the British government is being blamed in certain quarters for abandoning the 3000 subjects of Great Britain who reside in the district of Ciaudad Bolivar.

Blockade Not Recognized.

Willemstad, Island of Curacao, Aug. 26.—The Dutch government has notified Venezuela that it refuses to recognize the blockade of Venezuelan ports, as being non-effective.

A Twelve Hour's Fight.

Cape Haytien, Aug. 26.—The village of Limbe, 32 miles north of Port au Prince, has been attacked and recaptured by troops of the provisional government. Limbe was in the possession of Firminite soldiers from the Artobonite district. The fighting was severe, and lasted from midnight last night to midday to-day. Many men on both sides were killed. The town was completely destroyed by fire.

DECLINE IN WAGES BILL.

Tendency to Conciliation Noted in Industrial Life in England.

London, Aug. 27.—The annual report of the Labor Department of the Board of Trade records a decline in the wages bill of the United Kingdom for the first time since 1895. The decrease was mostly in miners' wages, no less than 625,000 miners being affected during the first half of 1902. The report says it is satisfactory to note the increased tendency to settle changes of wages by conciliation or arbitration. Only 2 per cent. of the workers whose wages were reduced in 1901 engaged in disputes on this account.

FELL TWENTY FEET.

William Vansickle, Aged 67, May Die From Injuries.

St. Thomas, Aug. 26.—William Vansickle, a farmer, residing at Dexter, was the victim of a very serious accident yesterday afternoon, which may yet cost him his life. Mr. Vansickle was in the act of shingling a barn when he lost his footing and fell to the ground, a distance of 20 feet. Medical aid was immediately summoned, and the discovery made that the unfortunate man's shoulder had been fractured and several ribs broken, one of the ribs puncturing his lung.

Mr. Vansickle's advanced age—67 years—will be a great handicap to his chances for recovery.

Kaiser to Be King's Guest.

MINISTERS VISIT RAMBOUILLET.

Premier of Canada and the Dominion's Minister of Finance at the House of the President of France—M. Delcasse and Baron D'Estournelles de Constant Also Present—Program For Rome.

Paris, Aug. 27.—The Premier of Canada, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and the Canadian Minister of Finance, Hon. W. S. Fielding, visited President Loubet, at Rambouillet yesterday and remained there to luncheon, at which the Minister of Foreign Affairs, M. Delcasse, and Baron D'Estournelles de Constant, the French Deputy and diplomat, who recently visited the United States, were also present.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, it is expected, when in Rome, will discuss with the Italian Government a commercial agreement with Canada. He will also endeavor to arrive at an understanding with regard to Italian emigrants sent to the Dominion.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. Messrs. Fielding and Paterson yesterday interviewed the director of the Commercial Department of the Foreign Office concerning interchange of trade with Canada.

TO URGE A STARTLING REFORM.

Lawyer William S. Forrest Would Stop Murder Trials By Papers.

London, Aug. 26.—William S. Forrest, the well-known criminal lawyer, will propose a startling reform on his return to Chicago in September. Mr. Forrest says that he will lay before the Illinois bar a proposal to make it contempt of court for a newspaper to publish the details of a crime in advance of the trial.

The proposal aims to stop all newspaper investigation into crime and was suggested to Mr. Forrest by the recent charge of Justice Willis to a Midlands jury advising them to convict a newspaper for having published supposed details of a murder previous to a trial.

Mr. Forrest thinks the statute on which this charge was based a most excellent device and believes that if a similar law were in effect in Illinois the work of the prosecution and defense would be unhampered by "newspaper trials." He says that it was Judge Holdom who first called his attention to the British method.

The newspapers of New Zealand are already subjected to governmental supervision in this particular. When a person is arrested or arraigned for any crime, the newspapers are prohibited from "trying his case," making any comment referring to his crime, or stating that he has committed the crime. Such a police case is sub judice until the jury has rendered the verdict. Very severe penalties and fines, ranging from $500 to $1000, would be inflicted for a breach of this law. The idea is to give the man justice, and not have his case prejudiced in the public mind, or the man's reputation ruined before he has been proven guilty by a jury of twelve men.

TROLLEY STRIKE PROBABLE.

Chicago Lines May Be Tied Up—President Mahon Offended.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Grave possibilities of a strike that may tie up all the street railway lines on the north and west sides of this city confront the officials of the Union Traction Company. Yesterday, by an overwhelming vote, the local union of the Amalgamated Association of Street Car Employes refused to accept the proposition made by President Roach several days ago. An agreement between the union and the railway company exists whereby disagreement shall be settled by arbitration. William Mahon, international president of the street car men, tried to exert his influence to avert the strike action and to urge that the union live up to the laws. A rupture, however, occurred, between the local officials and President Mahon, and he left their meeting with a statement that if the men struck without trying arbitration the general union would not support them in the issue.

Railway Bonus Voted Down.

Windsor, Aug. 27.—To the surprise of many people, the property holders of Sandwich West voted down the by-law to grant a bonus of $5,000 to the Sandwich, Windsor and Amherstburg Railway Company to extend its line to Amherstburg. The property-owners believed that the railway people would extend the line to Amherstburg whether they got a bonus or not.

Royal Russian Betrothal.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 27.—It is reported that Grand Duke Michael Alexandrovitch, 24, heir to the Russian throne, is engaged to marry the second daughter of the Grand Duchess Anatisa of Mekienburg-Schwerin, 17, the Duchess Cecile Augustine Marie.

CANADIAN JUDGES.

Canada has always had reason to be proud of the personnel of her judiciary. We have always very properly regarded our judges as judes, as, like Caesar's wife, above suspicion, and sans peur et sans reproche. But of late they have established a somewhat peculiar reputation. Two or three judges have distinguished themselves by asserting with all the force attached to their dictum, that a certain Ontario statute did not mean what it said, and what the legislators who made it, say it did say, and what the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council said it meant. This may have been all right but ordinary people, level-headed laymen, failed to fully understand why words, in ordinary use, did not mean what they are usually held to express. But this is not the limit of the vagaries, or rather, to be on the safe side of contempt of court, peculiarities, of judges. A Toronto judge has revived the role and malodorous memory of the late unlamented Judge Jeffries of cruel memory. He declared that the proper way of dealing with a street rising in the city of Toronto was by the persuasive and penetrating argument of ball cartridges. That is, a gathering of citizens inclined to be boisterous and destructive are to be shot down like so many wolves, when a stream from fire hose, turned upon them, might answer every purpose and be more in keeping with the "sunny ways" of conciliation that find so much favour in this Edwardian age. It also appears that judges get big heads. A British Columbia judge who had had the dignity of the court infringed upon, instead of fining the offender plunged him into a dungeon for a period of nine months immurement. And what adds to the enormity of the punishment, the offender was a newspaper man, the last man on earth to be wantonly guilty of intentional contempt of judicial dignity. It is all very well to preserve unbent the stiff dignity of the court, but it does not seem to be a good way to uphold the dignity of a judge to take a course which suggests lack of common sense, and a lack of sympathy with the milder methods of an advanced civilisation, which has succeeded the days and methods of the dungeon, the rack and the thumbscrew. A Nova Scotia judge took an exaggerated view of his dignity. He was coming out of a court house, on the steps of which was an innocent group of individuals posing for a photograph. This judge, it seems, was a little inconvenienced in getting out of the building and regarded the group as an infringement upon his convenience and a derogation from his dignity. As unforgetful of the real dignity of his position as of the laws of common courtesy and decency, he called the members of the group "blackguards," and in a subsequent discussion on the incident he ordered the sheriff to arrest one of the members of the group who "spoke up" to his lordship. It would be interesting to have the limits of the court precincts defined and also to have a definite understanding as to where the divinity that doth hedge a judge on the bench merges into the respectability of a private gentleman, with only the privileges such a status confers. Of course there are judges and judges, some perhaps with an exaggerated idea of their own importance. As a rule there will be occasions when the impersonal dignity of the court will be infringed upon in a technical way, but also as a rule a judge who is worthy in his official as well as personal capacity of respect will be cheerfully accorded all he deserves.

THE TRADE OF CANADA.

The total trade of Canada for the year 1901-2 was nearly $424,000,000. The increase since 1896 has been nearly $185,000,000. The steadiness and rapidity of the increase during the last six years make a strong contrast with the history of the period between 1879 and 1896. Soon after the National Policy was adopted trade went up with a bound. It was $153,455,682 in 1879. It was $280,339,826 in 1883. It then fell off, until it got as low as $189,675,875, rose again to $247,638,638, and fluctuated for several years, so that in 1896 it was $239,025,000. From that time the increase has been steady and rapid. The $300,000,000 mark was passed in 1898, and the $400,000,000 mark was approached in 1900, and is now very considerably exceeded. Even for those protectionist doctrinaires who can see no good in trade except on the export side there is ample comfort, for the exports are now $90,000,000 more than in 1896, and more than double the exports of 1891.

The effect of the British preference is plainly seen. These imports had been falling, until in 1897 they reached the very low figure of $29,412,188. Since the adoption of the preference, which was increased in 1898 and again in 1900, there has been an almost continuous increase, and last year the figure was $49,206,062, an increase of nearly $20,000,000, or 70 per cent., since 1897. It is no wonder the Tory journals have dropped the contention that the British preference is a sham, and have begun to hint that it is so effective that it ought to be abolished. The American imports have, it is true, increased very rapidly also, but it must not be forgotten that a large proportion of the American imports are articles used by our own manufacturers and farmers in their business, and converted into more highly finished products, with great profit to our own people. We may instance cotton and corn. The increase in the importation of these is an indication of the rapid growth of the manufacturing of cotton fabrics and the raising of stock respectively. There are other American imports, such as machinery and agricultural implements, which tell the same story. We need not grudge the money paid to American manufacturers for implements when we remember that it is largely a result of the influx of American settlers into our western territory and the rapid development of that region. The bulk of the trade goes to our own manufacturers.

The disparity between our exports to the United States and our imports from that country naturally attracts attention, but to clap on high duties merely with the view of equalising the two would be a clumsy expedient. If, as the high protectionists say, there are some $60,000,000 worth of American imports that might as well be manufactured in this country, let them give the details. What great Canadian industry is now suffering from the American importations? The mere recital of the figures showing the aggregate trade is not a conclusive argument. The American imports are either free, which indicates that they are articles required in our own industries, or they come in under the maximum tariff, which is 50 per cent. higher than the tariff on British goods.—Globe.

There were reasons why Canadians made a creditable record in the South African war. To natural ability and natural alertness they added courage and quickness of resource and adaptability to new conditions. Col. Gibson, Attorney General, gives another reason why Canadian volunteers were a success in South Africa. He was at Bisley and said the success of the Canadians marksmen—volunteers—in the McKinnon match was due to their practice at long ranges. He thinks that Canada had the best long range team at Bisley. We sometimes hear of long-range patriots who fought the battles of a war from the snug security of their arm chairs, but the long-range patriots in the shape of Canadian volunteers we sent to South Africa, were real and important factors in winning victories—they woke up the Boers across a thousand yards of veldt to good purpose.

UNDESIRABLE EDUCATIONAL CONDITIONS.

Montreal Protestant school commissioners are troubled concerning shortage of funds. New schools are needed, but the revenue is insufficient to provide them.

This brings to notice the fact that Montreal, and we presume other Quebec cities and towns, are by the law of the province limited to ignorance, as compared with Ontario municipalities.

In Ontario, no statutory limit is set upon expenditure for school purposes. In each municipality the local school board makes its estimate of what should be spent upon education; the municipal council must then provide that sum, increasing taxation if necessary. In the case of Ottawa, the school tax is at present 6 mills on the dollar (of all assessment) for the public schools, and 7 mills for the Separate schools.

In the case of Montreal, the school tax is limited by the Quebec legislature to 2 1-2 mills on the dollar of assessment of real estate only. Thus, although Montreal is proportionately a much wealthier city than Ottawa, with far less proportionate exemption from taxation, the school revenue in Montreal is proportionately less than half what it is in Ottawa—and we have none too much. Perhaps the best way in which to give an idea of the comparative premium which Montreal is forced to put on ignorance may be given by the comparative figures of school taxation per head of population. Ottawa's school appropriation this year is $163,350, which for a population of 60,000 means $2.70 per head. Montreal's total at present is $335,440, which for a city of 270,000 people means $1.25 per head. That is the greatest city of the Dominion the amount spent on education should be so small is a regrettable and a discreditable fact, an injury, not merely to Montreal, but to the Dominion.—Ottawa Journal.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Details of New Arrangement Concerning Mailing Parcels.

London, Aug. 17.—By the latest arrangement the British postoffice will mail parcels to the United States. The Cunard and White Star lines will convey the parcels to the United States and the American Express Company will deliver them in that country. The charges will be 24 cents for packages weighing from 7 to 11 pounds, to principal points in the United States, with an additional charge of 24 cents for a British Customs clearance fee, The United States Customs fees will also be added. A similar parcels post service is to be inaugurated from the United States to Great Britain.

The weight and size limitations of parcels accepted under this service will be the same as those now controlling the British inland parcels post, namely, a maximum weight of 11 pounds and maximum length of 6 feet for length and girth combined.

The morning papers warmly welcome the arrangement for a parcel post service between Great Britain and the United States as another link which draws the two countries together.

MANITOBA'S HARVEST

Reports in Detail Indicating Some Distinct Progress.

WHEAT CUTTING NOW GENERAL.

A Yield of 20 Bushels of Wheat to the Acre Seems to Be Assured as an Average—A Grain Blockade Predicted—Railway Companies, However, Are Making Big Efforts to Take Care of the Crop.

Winnipeg, Aug. 26.—(Special.)—The following is a synopsis of the crop report of the Canadian Northern Railway for the week ending August 23. What it contains may generally be offered as representing other sections:

Elmo—Wheat cutting is general. The estimate of yield of wheat is 22 bushels; oats and barley, 37 bushels.

Steinbach—Oats and barley nearly all harvested. About half of the wheat crop cut.

St. Anne—Several farmers have cut their wheat and oats and are threshing. Average yield of wheat 25 to 30 bushels.

Ellі—Harvesting is general. Wheat average 22 bushels.

Oakville—Harvesting is general. Wheat 25 to 30 bushels.

Portage la Prairie—Wheat cutting will be general next week.

Beaver—Cutting general on Monday; average 25.

Gladstone—Wheat cutting will be general next week.

Plumas—Cutting will be general next week; 23 bushels per acre.

Makinak—Harvesting will be general on Monday; wheat 20 to 25 bushels.

Oohre River—Harvesting will be general next week.

Dauphin—Harvesting began Monday.

Ethelbert—Cutting begins in a week.

Minitonas—Cutting will be finished next week.

Swan River—Harvesting will be general next week.

Gilbert Plains—Cutting has started and will be general next week.

At St. Agathe, Morris, St. Jean, Letellier and Emerson—Cutting general.

Roland—Harvesting is in full swing; yield very heavy.

Rosebank—Cutting general.

Miami—Harvesting is general.

Somerset—All grains are ready to cut; wheat will average 30 bushels to acre.

Swan Lake—Cutting is general.

Baldur—Harvesting in full swing.

Belmont—Wheat cutting in full swing.

Hilton—About 10 per cent. of wheat cut.

Wawanesa—Wheat cutting will be general in a day or two.

Methuen Junction—Cutting will be general the first of the week.

Rounthwaite—Cutting will be general by the end of next week.

Brandon—Cutting will be general in a week.

Minette—Cutting is general.

Dunrea—Cutting will be general next week.

Margaret—Cutting is becoming general.

Minto—Cutting is general.

Elgin—Cutting has commenced.

Hartney—Cutting will be general the middle of next week.

Sperling—Harvesting is well under way.

Homewood—Cutting is general.

Carman—Cutting general.

The yield, generally, from nearly all points is reported at from 25 to 30 bushels an acre.

No frost or damage of any kind.

Some papers thru the West predict a grain blockade this fall, claiming there is not sufficient rolling stock to take care of the harvest products. The railway companies, however, have some hundreds of box cars under construction, and are making big efforts to be ready for it.

Threshing has commenced in Morden district on the farm of Mr. Dick, south of the town. A sample was extra No. 1 hard, and averaged over 30 bushels per acre. Wheat will all be cut around Morden by Saturday night. Threshing has also commenced at St. Anne, east of Winnipeg.

This season C. C. Casell, warehouse commissioner, issued permission for the erection of 157 elevators in Manitoba and Northwest Territories, with a total capacity of 4,500,000 bushels. All will be ready to receive this season's crop.

Will Want 20,000 Men.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—Hugh McKellar, Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Manitoba, wired the Manitoba Government's office in this city yesterday morning, as follows: Harveat on with a rush; men all picked up on arrival. Will want full complement of 20,000 men, as announced.

Getting down to figures, Mr. Hartney said that official figures showed that up till Monday 8800 harvesters had passed North Bay from Ontario and the East. Since then an excursion of 43 coaches has gone thru, and Mr. Hartney estimates that 2200 persons were carried on it. Further, there was an excursion from Quebec, which he estimated would include at least 1000 souls.

This would bring the total to 13,200.

ARE THE NATIVES RISING?

A Strong Force Dispatched to Western Border of Transvaal.

Johannesburg, Aug. 26.—A strong force of British troops has been despatched to the western border of the Transvaal, ostensibly to relieve troops ordered to India, but it is currently reported that this step is taken owing to disturbances among the natives. Rumors are also current here of an intention to annex or establish a protectorate in Swaziland where a strong force of constabulary is now posted.

Boer Refugees Killed.

Bloemfontein, Orange River Colony, Aug. 26.—A shunting engine crashed into a train conveying refugees to Johannesburg yesterday. The front cars were wrecked, and a number of women and children were killed.

50 Tons Fell 50 Fatal Feet.

Whitehall, N.Y., Aug. 27.—William Flannery and Patrick Shields were buried in a gravel pit here yesterday. Nearly 50 tons of rock and earth fell 50 feet, covering them. Shields was taken out alive, but Flannery was instantly killed.

Rich Iron Veins in Norway.

Christiania, Aug. 27.—A despatch to The Aftenposten from Vadso, Northern Norway, says great veins of iron have been discovered in that neighborhood. Experts regard the deposits as incomparably rich, there being veins of from 70 to 200 metres covering a field of 15 square kilometres. It is stated that a great part of the ore which has been tested contained from 50 to 60 per cent. of iron.

STEEL COMPANY'S SUIT.

Trial of the Action Commenced at Halifax—Statements For the Suppliants and For the Government.

Halifax, Aug. 26.—The suit of the Dominion Iron and Steel Company v. the Dominion government, an action to recover the sum of $190,057.15, alleged to be due the company, for bounties, was commenced in the Exchequer Court to-day before Judge Burbidge. Mr. Chrysler, K.C., for plaintiff, stated that their claims were based on the statutes, which provided for the payment of bounties on all steel ingot manufactured in Canada, for a certain period after June 30, 1901, from ingredients not less than 50 per cent. of which consisted of pigiron, manufactured in Canada, and for the payment of bounties in the pigiron manufactured in Canada during the same period.

Mr. Aylesworth, K.C., representing the government, stated that the metal in molten state, was pigiron, and that the product of the blast furnace is all known as pigiron, whether cast in pigs or not. The suppliants were not content with the single bounty, but put in a double claim by refraining from solidifying the molten metal into pigs.

The suppliants effected a considerable saving in the manufacture of steel, as compared with the manufacturer who bought the pigs. The government intended the suppliant to receive the same bounty as the manufacturer, who independently manufactured pigiron or steel.

The process of transforming the metal into a molten state was not in use or contemplated in Canada when the statute on the question was passed. The whole question at issue is whether or not the metal in a molten state was pigiron or not, in the meaning of the statute.

The witnesses examined to-day were David Baker, manager of the company, Graham Fraser of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company, and C. A. Meissner. The case was adjourned until to-morrow.

MINERS ESCORTED BY SOLDIERS.

Great Excitement Prevails in the Mining Towns in Coal Region.

Summit Hill, Pa., Aug. 26.—Excitement prevails thruout the Panther Creek Valley to-day. At daybreak the strikers assembled to prevent non-union men from going to work. Anticipating trouble, Major Gearhart sent two companies of soldiers in trolley cars from the camp in Manila Park to this place, and their presence prevented a possible outbreak.

Several non-unionists had been attacked and the town was in a turmoil. The soldiers escorted the workmen thru the mob which had collected and placed them in safety on the cars, which carried them to their work.

Danger in the Hazleton District.

Hazleton, Pa., Aug. 26.—Suspecting that another attempt would be made to resume operations at No. 40 colliery of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company to-day, the strikers had pickets stationed along all of the approaches to the mine. Most of the non-union men who attempted to reach the colliery were turned back, but no serious trouble occurred.

Three strikers who, it is alleged, participated in yesterday's riot at No. 40 colliery, are under arrest. Other arrests are expected.

Although the medicine business should, above all, be carried on with the utmost conscientiousness and sense of responsibility, the unfortunate fact is that in no other is there so much humbug and deception. The anxieties of the sick and their relatives are traded upon in the most shameful manner; impossible cures are promised; many preparations are also lately worthless, and some are positively dangerous to health.

As a consequence, all proprietary remedies are regarded with suspicion by many people, and the good suffer for the bad.

For these reasons we announce that our proprietors are the principal shareholders in

AMERICANS COMING TO CANADA.

Building Hatcheries on the Pacific Coast—British Laws Permit.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 26.—American salmon canners are establishing hatcheries on the Fraser River, in British Columbia. The canners asked the government to become partners in these hatcheries with them. The government replied that, if they built hatcheries they would not want any partners in the concern.

Puget Sound canners realized, however, that unless hatcheries were built, the salmon would become exterminated, and, as the nurseries of the salmon, which were caught in Puget Sound traps, were the Fraser River streams and tributaries, and hatcheries must be built on the Fraser, they inquired into British laws, and found that they could build American hatcheries in Canada, if they wanted to, in spite of British sentiment.

As a result, John Crawford, representing the Pacific Coast canneries, is here, negotiating for the erection of hatcheries on the Canadian side of the line.

20 Years of Itching Piles.

Mr. Alex. McLaughlin, Bowmanville, Ont., writes that for twenty years he suffered terribly from itching piles. Seven years ago he asked a druggist for the best cure for piles and was told to use Dr. Chase's Ointment. He continued this treatment until entirely cured, and as he has never had any return of his old trouble considers his cure permanent and remarkable on account of the length of time he suffered.

RETURNED HOME.

St. John's Choir Boys Broke up Camp Yesterday.

The St. John's choir boys' camp, which has been located at Jacob's Island, Pigeon Lake, for the past two weeks, broke up yesterday and the boys returned to town last night. The party was conveyed to Chemong by the steamer Lady of the Lake, and came down to town by 'busses.

The choir boys camp at Jacob's Island was highly successful and the older members of the choir who managed the camp are receiving warm praise for the happy manner in which the affair was conducted. The parade state of the camp showed on an average of 23 members. Fishing during the two weeks was excellent, there having been 24 'lunge and a great many bass landed. Mr. Walter Wesley caught two beautiful 'lunge weighing 18 and 20 lbs.

Mr. Jas. R. Bell was one of the older members of the choir who remained with the boys during the two weeks' outing.

Every person speaks enthusiastically of Jacob's Island as an ideal camping ground. The facilities for bathing and sailing are excellent and the fishing is the best to be found in the Karwartha regions. Jacob's Island, too, is centrally situated, being only 6 miles from Bobcaygeon.

COMMUNITY OF ST. JOSEPH

Assisting in Developing New Ontario Educationally.

That educational matters are not being neglected in New Ontario is evident from the number of the Sisters of St. Joseph who are going there. Last January four went to Fort William and there opened a magnificent school. This has already to be supplemented by more teachers who leave here this week. Yesterday four Sisters left for Port Arthur to assist in the hospital and convent, and to-morrow morning five more go to the Canadian "Soo" to open another school.

This is the tenth institution opened by the Sisters since coming to the Diocise of Peterborough, which in itself is proof of the excellent work being done by the zealous and devoted Sisters.

RIVER AND LAKE.

The Traffic on the Otonabee Continues Brisk.

The steamboat traffic on the Otonabee River and Rice Lake waters continues brisk, and the returns of Lock Master Collins will likely show that there were more lockages during the season 1902 than for many years previous. The fine weather of the past few days has had an additional stimulating effect upon the passenger trade and the Rice Lake route has been well patronized. The splendid service that the North Star has built up has been thoroughly recognized by the travelling public, and each day the Star has a fair sized crowd of passengers.

The City of Peterborough yesterday had a Sunday School excursion from Coldsprings, Otonabee, to Jubilee Point. There were about 150 on board. The City will take down the T.A.S. excursion on Monday.

The Water Lily yesterday brought up a cargo of wheat to the McAllister Milling Company.

Auction Sale.

There will be for sale, by auction, on the market Square, on Saturday next, August 30th, an eight-year-old bay mare, weight 1,200 lbs. and 16 hands high. The horse is of very kindly disposition and this is an excellent opportunity to obtain a fine animal. Three months' credit will be given. John Haggart, Auctioneer.

Mr. D. Morrison, of Beamsville, who has been with the Grand Trunk surveying party, was in town to-day, the guest of his friend, Mr. H. E. Ayers.

Mrs. Sarah Mackie and Miss Rose Mahood, Toronto, who were spending their vacation with Mrs. David Jordon, of George street, left this a.m. for home.

Miss Sheppard, late of St. Catherines, who will take charge of Richard Hall & Sons' Millinery Department this season, is in town, registered at the Oriental.

Mrs. J. S. Sullivan (nee Jennie Forbert) who has been spending the month at Chemong with her parents, returns to her home in Durand, Michigan, to-day.

Mrs. Perks, Oakburst, Gilmour street, and Master Walter, are at present enjoying the hospitality of Mr. D. H. Burnett, at Prospect Cottage, Chemong.

Lindsay Post—Miss Clinkscale and neice, Miss Clara Clinkscale, of Orillia, who had been the guests of Mrs. L. McIntosh for a time, are now visiting friends in Peterborough.

Capt. Reynolds, of the Steamer Empress, is taking a week's holidays in the oil country across the line. Mr. Ed. Young is in charge of the Empress for the time being.

Miss Maggie Forbert, Chemong, goes to-day to Durand, Michigan, where she enters upon the teaching of vocal and instrumental music at Owassa, with prospects of the good success which her many friends wish her.

Mr. W. H. Nelson, of Toronto, Master Cecil and Miss Beatty, of Peterborough, Miss Harwood, of Cannington, Miss Beucanon, of Campbellford, the Misses Smith, of Montreal, and Master Gorden, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. Nelson, Lakefield.

Mr. Dodsworth, of Pittsburg, has closed his Stony Lake cottage for the season, and passed through yesterday on his way home with his family. Mr. Dodsworth, as usual, brought a number of Y. M. C. A. boys with him for a portion of the holidays.

Mrs. H. I. Farnum, College street, has gone to Muskoka to meet a brother and two nephews—Rev. G. W. Morse, late of Melbourne, Australia, Dr. J. F. Morse, of the Medical and Surgical Sanitarium, Battle Creek, Mich., and Prof. O. A. Morse, of Emanuel Missionary College. The father and grandparent, Elder Washington Morse, of Peterborough, is also staying there. Thus, their progenitor, Prof. F. B. Morse, who has "taught the lightning the English language," (inventor of the telegraph) is well represented at that popular resort.

AT NASSAU.

The Steamer Alert Came Down the Canal.

The steamer Alert of Lakefield this week navigated the Trent Valley waters as far down as Nassau. She had a scow in tow. Those who saw the Alert make the trip state that it appeared odd indeed to see a steamboat on the canal at this point. There appears to be no reason why navigation could not be opened on the canal from Lakefield to the Norwood Road affording facilities for bringing cord wood to Peterborough this fall.

THE DRUG STORES

Will Close at 8 o'clock After September 1st.

The agreement amongst the druggists of the town whereby the drug stores, with the exception of one each evening, closed at seven o'clock, expires on September 1st. So admirably has the system worked that the druggists have now entered into an agreement for the next three months, providing for the closing of all the drug stores, excepting one each evening, at eight o'clock instead of seven. The drug stores will remain open until ten o'clock or later during December, but it is likely that they will return to the eight o'clock closing system after January first.

New Dental Parlours.

Dr. H. A. Wood, dentist, who announced some time ago his intentions of locating in Peterborough for the practice of his profession, and who, since, has been waiting on the completion of his new dental rooms, at 408 George street, in the Schneider Block, expects to be able to occupy them in about ten or twelve days. Further and definite announcement will be made next week.

NEW FALL GOODS!

We are pleased to announce the arrival of new Fall Goods. It's refreshing to ourselves as well as our customers to see them, because they represent the latest and newest styles for fall 1902 that are to be.

AN EARLY START—Our Dressmakers are back from their holidays. Our Milliners are now busy in the centres of fashion preparing for the fall trade, every indication points to early fall, and we will be better prepared than ever to cater to the wants of the Peterborough public.

PRETTY POLKA DOTS

Polka Dot Cashmeres in the different colours are pretty and popular for Waists. You can choose here from a lot of very pretty colours, and you will find the prices reasonable as well.

AFTER SUNDOWN

You frequently need a light protection for the throat and neck. These lovely Chiffon Ruffs and Collarettes afford it and, at the same time, add a charming finish to the costume. They come in blacks and whites and black and white mixtures. They are New York goods, the finest quality and beautifully made.

CORSET COVERS

A particularly nice display of particularly nice covers, made of fine cambric and trimmed with laces, embroideries and dainty ribbons in white or light colours. Prices are about anything you please—from 25c up to a dollar or so.

SLUMBER GOWNS

Of cambric, muslin, or fine cotton, made in the new styles and trimmed with ruffles and embroidery. Your choice starts at 75c, and goes up by easy steps to $2.25, and every price a low one.

NEW DRESS GOODS

Some very pretty Fabrics among the new Dress Goods. If you are interested or intend purchasing later, you better see these new weaves and fabrics . . . . . .

NEWS NUGGETS.

—St. Andrew's choir will practice this evening at 8.30.

—A meeting of the town council will be held this evening.

—All Saints' church choir will practice this evening at a quarter to 8.

—The granolithic pavement in front of the Snowden House is being repaired.

—The village council of Millbrook are putting down granolithic pavements.

—The ladies of All Saints' church will give an "At Home" to the congregation on Thursday evening, September 4th.

The Little Lake Cemetery Company have had a telephone service put in at the office in the cemetery for public use.

—The Board of Works, the Finance and Property Committees of the town council will meet at 7.45 o'clock this evening.

—A lady's bicycle was stolen yesterday from the rear of Mr. Benj. Shortly's store. There will be trouble if it is not returned at once.

—The Manitoba potato crop will be only fair this year. The acreage is smaller than usual, and the weather has not been altogether favourable.

—The evangelists, Crossley and Hunter, will conduct union evangelistic services in the Agricultural Hall, Dungannon, beginning Sunday, Aug. 31st.

—As a further instance of how Western Canada lands selling, it may be noted that the immense block controlled by the Canadian-American Land Company along the Soo line, has all been disposed of.

—Robert Kerr, passenger traffic manager of the C.P.R., who has just returned from an extended trip through the west, reports everything in readiness to move the immense crops, which will be harvested within a few days.

—At Vancouver, B. C., the United States Consul and the Canadian officials have raised the Canadian and American flags on one pole as a intimation that the two countries have combined to stamp out the smuggling of Chinamen.

—Judge Fisher and Idding Brothers, of Columbus, Ohio, have been in Winnipeg seeing the immigration agent with a view of making a purchase of 1,000,000 acres of land in Western Canada, on which to settle the best class of Ohio farmers.

—If a man got out on the street at night in Peterborough and howled loud and long enough to wake the whole neighborhood, he would be arrested, for creating a disturbance. But a dog can do the same thing with impunity, even if he doesn't pay as much taxes as the man.

—One of the largest transactions in timber limits that have taken place in Ottawa in recent years was concluded recently when the W.C. Edwards Company paid some $300,000 to the Arthur Hill Company, of Michigan, for a big limit in the Temiskaming region, which is said to contain some of the best timber in Canada.

—The Lindsay Light, Heat & Power Company's plant at Fenelon Falls is being doubled in order to meet the Lindsay demand. The new plant will mean an addition of about 600 horse power. Orders have been placed for forty miles of No. 4 copper wire, one 400 k.w. generator, with switch board, transformers, etc., a waterwheel of sufficient capacity, and a steel flume.

—The Examiner has recieved a copy of the autumn announcement of the Port Hope Model School, which sets forth the alleged advantages the school presents. Its record is a good one, and while the kindness of sending a prospectus is appreciated, it is to be remembered that we have an excellent model school at Norwood, which has also a good record, and presents advantages which it is not probable can be surpassed by any other school.

DAN WHETUNG'S ANNUAL OUTING.

—Dan Whitung's annual excursion takes place from Bridgenorth to Lindsay this year on the Steamer Kenosha on Wednesday, Sept. 3rd. The boat leaves Bridgenorth at 8 a.m., calling at Chemong station at 8.20, Chemong village at 8.45, and Gannon's Narrows at 9.15 o'clock.

MR. DUMBLE'S VIEWS.

On the Matter of Having Play Grounds for Children.

Police Magistrate Dumble had no grist to grind at the Police Court this morning, but being in a conversable mood he addressed a few words to the reporters upon the matter of having playgrounds throughout the town for the convenience of the children. The scheme is not a new one of Mr. Dumble's as he has often before advocated the advisability of having several half acre lots in the various wards on which the children might be permitted to enjoy themselves. He claims that it would take the children off the streets at night, and we would, as a result, have better boys. Day after day there are complaints made to the police department of havoc having been committed by young boys, who, as a matter of fact, have no place to play and drift into evil doings. Each ward thinks that it possesses the worst boys, but the magistrate thinks that there is little, if any choice.

Continuing, the Magistrate said, that New York was one of the first to introduce the system of having half acre parks for the use of the children as playgrounds. They bought and tore down buildings in the slums of the city and turned the lots into attractive playgrounds. Again he believes that we should do more for the children of the town in the matter of amusement, as it is when they are young that they can enjoy such advantages in this regard.

The great amount of damage done to orchards and property of other kind, leads the Magistrate to conclude that Peterborough should seriously consider the plyground proposition.

Mr. Dumble writes, further, on the same subject as appended:

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—There is constant complaining from the citizens of the Town regarding the conduct of boys, each person complaining asserts that the worst boys of the Town are right at his neighbourhood. The complaints are that the boys gather at night, and by their language and conduct make themselves an offence, and that these frequently commit petty but annoying offences for which there appears to be little remedy. These boys indulge in cigarettes, profanity, stone-throwing and petty larceny, but they go from bad to worse and from this school come many whose lives and habits have got their bent and in too many cases a misdirected life is the result of this early schooling in evil. The question is as to the remedy. Of course it is easy to say that the parents are to blame, both in keeping their boys in the house at nights, but it may be asked if the community who regulate our manners and habits so largely through municipal regulations have done their duty to the boys. Parents toil and slave and deny themselves in order to accumulate money or property to leave to their children, and in most cases they would have done better by the children to have exercised towards them in early years wisdom in establishing them in [illegible] which would be more sure of securing prosperous lives than the gift at death of a little money. The boys must work off their energy in some way. Would it not be wise to provide for them playgrounds on which they could indulge in such legitimate sports as would make them more ready to stay in at nights, and seek an early couch. These thoughts are suggested by an item in the Montreal Herald stating "that three more playgrounds are required." How many play grounds has the Council of Peterborough provided for the boys? We often speak of God's acre, surely the acres set apart for innocent enjoyment of lawful gains would deserve that appellation. Could any better service be rendered by the community than to take of the public money and buy in every ward of the Town an acre or even half an acre, and call it the children's own grounds, where no policeman can order them off the grass, and no person can complain of the innocent noise of innocent youth in innocent play. I know that the ordinary council will look at this suggestion as an unjustifiable expenditure of money, but the law will permit it, and the community would sanction it, and no better service will ever be rendered to the people than thus providing for the people's children. I suggest this, not as a mere fancy of the mind, but as a practical matter of business, which should be seriously taken hold of and dealt with, for I am sure the entire community will justify an expenditure of $5,000 for four or five children's playgrounds. Some one will answer by referring to the town parks. Those outside are too remote, the two centre parks are not available; the parks should be brought right to the children's homes, and there should be not less than one in every ward. What councillor will have the courage of his convictions and by taking this up, earn for himself the everlasting gratitude of the boys and the thanks of the people.

I am, sir,
Your obedient servant,
D. W. DUMBLE.

The well-known grocery firm of Kerneghan & Gordon announces for sale either the store at No. 140 Hunter street, (Butler's old stand) or the one on the corner of George and Brock streets. Either store will be sold on terms which will be made known to intending purchasers.

ABUSING LIVERY HORSES.

Proprietors Should get Together and Take Action in the Matter.

Some people imagine that it is a smart trick to drive a livery horse almost to death in their endeavour to get their money's worth out of the proprietor of the stable. Fresh youths pay a couple of dollars for a horse for an afternoon, and then drive the poor brute without mercy until he is ready to drop. It is a pity that local liverymen cannot get together and make an example of one or two of these idiotic, heartless horse-killers. We feel assured that if such persons were brought before the Magistrate they would get what they justly deserve. The man who abuses a dumb animal is a cur and a coward, and the people should know who he his and how to treat him.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

SPRINTING.

Mr. Fred McGrath wishes to state that he is perfectly willing to meet the holder of the Schneider Cup in a hundred yards race on either the 15th or 16th of September, the days set apart for the Peterborough race meet. He will not consent to race on Labour Day, owing to the fact that a severe cold, as well as his past active anticipation in lacrosse, has prevented him from being in proper condition for a satisfactory race. He will contest for the cup on the conditions named, having before him a clear track, and no favouritism shown. The race must start with the crack of a pistol, the starter to be chosen at time of race.

VICTORIA CHEESE BOARD.

1770 Boxes Boarded at This Morning's Sale.

The Lot Cleared at Only 9 5-16c, but the Salesmen Expected a Higher Price.

(Lindsay Post.)

A meeting of the Victoria Cheese Board was held this morning in the market room, commencing at 10 o'clock, and was well attended by salesmen and others interested in the dairy industry. The buyers present were Messrs. G. Fitzgerald, Wm. Flavelle and A. O. Hogg.

The following factories boarded the number of cheese set opposite:

Star	115
Cameron	116
Dunsford	147
Mariposa	134
Janetville	59
Omemee	150
Fenelon Falls	85
North Verulam	115
North Ops	89
Pine Grove	90
Reaboro	125
Bobcaygeon	300
Maple Leaf	120
Palestine	98
Red Rock	175
Total	1,770

How the Bidding Went.

Mr. Flavelle started the ball rolling by calling 9c., Mr. Fitzgerald made it 9 1-8c., Mr. Hogg went a point better making it 9 3-16c., Mr. Flavelle jumped to 9 1-4c., and Mr. Fitzgerald raised to 9 5-16c. At this figure the bidding stopped and President Robertson tried his best to induce the buyers to make it 9 1-2c., but they failed to respond. Mr. Fitzgerald secured first selections at 9 5-16c., he called Omemee, Dunsford, Star, Reaboro and Maple Leaf, all refusing except Star.

Mr. Fitzgerald—"It's rather strange that factories should refuse that offer. The price is high enough, considering the drop in the market."

Mr. Robertson—"You're a long way off 9 5-8c., Mr. Fitzgerald."

Mr. Fitzgerald—"That's the price I paid in Belleville last week."

Mr. Flavelle—"Some of the western markets are not selling at all."

Mr. Robertson—"Perhaps they are hanging on for better prices."

Mr. Ray—"That price is not as high as was paid for August cheese last year. I think we got 9 1-2c."

Mr. Flavelle—"I think not. The price last year was 9 5-16c., and September cheese sold at 9 1-8c."

Mr. Sandford—"Make it another sixteenth, Mr. Flavelle, and we will sell."

Mr. Flavelle—"According to the market the price offered is the best I can do."

Pres. Robertson said he would sell Star at 9 5-16c. He had got raked over the coals by the patrons before for being the first to sell, and for some time had held out, but he was going to be the first to sell to-day. However, the other salesmen should not govern themselves by him.

Mr. Flavelle said he would give 5-16c for Cameron, but Salesman Parkin refused the offer.

Mr. Flavelle—"I heard there was a lot of cheese sold on the Peterborough board last week that was refused by the buyers after being inspected. Is that true, Mr. Fitzgerald?

Mr. Fitzgerald—"Yes."

Mr. Flavelle—"Well that has never occurred on this board. We have always taken the cheese."

Mr. Parkins—"If we cannot get a higher price, I, for one, would favour an adjournament. The cheese could be stored in Mr. Flavelle's cold storage.

Mr. Robertson—"It's too busy a time now for us farmers to attend another meeting next week. We cannot spare the time."

Mr. Parkins—"I expected to get 9 7-16c anyway, and perhaps 9 1-2c.

Mr. Flavelle—"Mr. Fitzgerald's offer is equal to about 19c per pound for butter."

Mr. Parkins—"I am surprised at Pres. Robertson for accepting Mr. Fitzgerald's price on first selection. He is always telling the other salesmen to be careful and hold off—now he is the first man to break that rule."

After some further discussion Omemee, Dunsford, Reaboro, and Maple Leaf sold to Mr. Fitzgerald at 9 5-16c, and Mr. Flavelle secured Cameron, Fenelon Falls, North Verulam, Bobcaygeon, North Ops and Pine Grove at the same price. Mr. Hogg fell into line at the same price and got the three remaining factories—Palestine, Mariposa and Janetville—securing 263 boxes.

The next sale will be held on Monday, Sept. 8th.

THE PREMIER IN PARIS.

Change in Attitude of Press Towards Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Paris, Aug. 26.—There is a distinct change visible in the attitude of a portion of the Paris press towards Sir Wilfrid Laurier since his last visit. Then he was extolled as the greatest British colonial statesman and his French origin was proudly referred to. Now when the same statesman openly glories in the fact that he is a British subject and asserts his loyalty to the Crown, he is represented as "accommodating himself to Anglo-Saxon conquests."

The Francais says in its issue of last evening: "Imagine fifty years hence the premier of Alsace-Lorraine, if these provinces are then still German, thinking fit to praise the German Emperor and insult the old Fatherland. Sir Wilfrid Laurier is such a man, therefore let him leave our midst like the evil-minded stranger he has become to our eyes."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir William Mulock, and Hon. W. S. Fielding will lunch with President Loubet today. In the evening they will dine with M. Delcasse. The Canadian colony in Paris will banquet the Dominion premier on September 1.

FRENCH PREMIER TO RESIGN.

M. Combes Considers He Has Fulfilled Mission Entrusted to Him.

London, Aug. 26.—In a despatch from Paris the correspondent there of The Daily Chronicle, says M. Combes, the French premier, has announced his intention of resigning on the reopening of the Chamber of Deputies. M. Combes considers that he has fulfilled the mission entrusted to him by President Loubet in carrying out the law relating to unauthorized congregationalist schools, and, according to the correspondent, he will now advise the president to call M. Rouvier, Minister of Finance, or M. Waldeck-Rousseau, the former premier, to succeed him.

AN EMBASSY TO MORGAN.

Kaiser Sends a Royal Commission to Discuss Trade Matters.

Berlin, Aug. 26.—A royal commission, headed by Count Plele-Winckler, an owner of mines and a leading financier of Germany, leaves here within a few days for the United States.

The Count will meet Mr. Morgan and discuss the subject of friendly relations with the German industrial and commercial interests.

The Count is commissioned by the Kaiser to make this trip. It is understood that the meeting of the capitalists will be an outcome of the interview between the Kaiser and Mr. Morgan at Kiel.

THE POSTMASTER.

Old Gentleman's Narrow Escape From Death.

A Very Interesting Personal Experience Which Contains Some Good Advice for Others Whose Liver may be Threatened.

Lovett, Ont., Aug. 24th. (Special).—Every man, woman and child for miles around knows Mr. C. A. Harries, the genial postmaster at Lovett.

Mr. Harries is a hale old gentleman, 75 years of age, and considering his advanced years, is remarkably well preserved, strong and healthy.

But he was not always so. Five or six years ago he was at the point of death, being fearfully run down, and a complete wreck, with Bright's Disease.

He was so low that no one ever dreamt that he could pull through, and yet he is alive and well to-day. This is a statement of the case in Mr. Harries' own words:—

"In 1897 I was at the point of death with Bright's Disease, and was a wreck. I could not even dress myself or turn in my bed, but now I am a well man, and I attribute it all to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I am 75 years old, and for a man of my years I feel quite strong and healthy. I consider Dodd's Kidney Pills a good medicine to take in the spring, as I have found it a great blood purifier.

"As postmaster, I come in contact with a great many people, and I know of my personal knowledge that a great many in this country are using Dodd's Kidney Pills, with the best results."

Such evidence should be most convincing to any who may still doubt that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure Bright's Disease.

The honest, earnest, straightforward testimony of such reputable people certainly deserves the confidence of everyone.

If Dodd's Kidney Pills can and do cure Bright's Disease, which is the very worst form of Kidney Trouble, they certainly willour e any of the lesser forms.

Millionaire Commits Suicide.

Honolulu, Aug. 18, via San Francisco, Aug. 26.—A. G. Mitchell, reputed to be a millionaire from Michigan, a passenger on the steamer Coptic, committed suicide Aug. 12, when the vessel was three days out from San Francisco by jumping overboard. His mind, it is thought, was unhinged by illness.

The Cause Removed.

In curing disease its only a waste of time to treat the symptoms. The medicine must reach the cause. Merrill's System Tonic does this. It purifies the blood, builds up the system, strengthens the nerves and is the only positive cure known for Constipation, Dyspepsia, Nerve Troubles and Kidney Diseases—all disappear when it is taken. Three weeks treatment for 50c. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's.

Coronation Soldiers Reinvited.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—Seven satisfied soldiers who received the salute of the King as representatives of Canada, returned to this city yesterday. They were the majority of the second Canadian coronation contingent and although their second stay in England was only a short one, lasting but nine days, they all aver that it was a pleasurable continuation of the first. The decoration presented by the Prince of Wales for the coronation honor is a ribbon with a navy-blue stripe in the centre, and a hairline white stripe on the outside of two blue stripes annexed to the red stripe.

Wanted to Hang Motorman.

New York, Aug. 26.—Because one of a party of 15 Italians was run over at Grove avenue and Potter place by a trolley car, the men in the party attacked the motorman. John O'Neill, pulled him off the car and beat him, and attempted to drag him to a tree with the intention of hanging him. Then the passengers of the crowded car interfered, and fighting ensued, but police reserves appeared, drove the crowd of 2,000 away, which took nearly an hour, and rescued O'Neill.

Hard on the Hack Business.

Ship Trust After Collieries.

London, Aug. 25. — An American syndicate interested in shipping is negotiating to buy three Lancashire collieries whose daily output is a thousand tons.

Sir Wilfrid's Answer.

London, Aug. 28.—The Paris Journal says Sir Wilfrid Laurier being asked why Canada did not join the United States replied:

"We should disappear. French Canada would disappear much more quickly in that gigantic furnace than in the flood of Anglo-Saxon immigration. All who love the French language ought to wish for us to remain Canadians."

"Besides," concluded the Canadian Premier, "there is nothing nowadays to foreshadow such a change."

Second Thought.

"Dear Mr. Hicks," she wrote, "I am very sorry that what you ask I cannot grant. I cannot become your wife. Yours sincerely, Ethel Burrows." Then she added: "P. S.—On second thoughts, dear George, I think I will marry you. Do come up tonight and see your own true Ethel."

A WELL MAN AT 80 YEARS.

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Mr. R. J. McBain, Niagara Falls, Ont., a man of eight years, and well known throughout the Niagara district, writes:—"I believe that if it had not been for Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills, I would be in my grave before this. I was very bad with kidney disease, and suffered with dreadful pains in my kidneys. Being disappointed in the use of many medicines, I had almost given up hopes of ever getting better.

"One morning, after a night of especially severe suffering, a friend called to see me, and asked why I did not try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I got a box at once, and took two pills, which was rather a heavy dose; one pill is plenty at a dose. I used them regularly for a month, and at the end of that time was a changed man.

'It is now about five years since I began using this pill, and since that time I have felt as good as I did 40 years ago. I am almost 80 years old, and am free from all disease, except rheumatism, and this is much better than it used to be before I used this medicine. I recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills with all my heart to any person, man or women. This is my opinion of these valuable pills, and you may use it for the benefit of others.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are especially appreciated by people of advanced age. The kidneys are frequently the first organs of the body to break down, and there are few old people but suffer from kidney disorders, and resulting pains and aches. One pill a dose. 25c a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto, Ont. 8

CANADA'S INDIANS.

Nearly 100,000 Red Men Live in the Dominion—They Are Pretty Well Behaved—Cost to the Country.

Among the books in which the noble red man figures, that issued annually by the department of Indian affairs of the Canadian Government is, in its matter-of-fact way, as interesting as any the romanticists have given to the world. It is in agreement with the more stirring volumes in one thing at least. In it the Indian is regarded as a child in mind, who has to be educated up to the civilized man's standard. And the process is a slow one. Old Crowfoot of the Blackfeet, one of the cleverest and one of the most loyal of the Western tribesmen, was opposed to his people becoming owners of cattle because their possession of herds, he said, would be followed by the closing of the Government's ration-house. The ration-house and other services designed for the Indians' benefit cost the Government last year $1,019,329. There were also disbursements of $274,063 from the proceeds of the trust funds managed by the Government and which reached the considerable total of $3,941,393, or about $40 a head of the Indian population, which is given for the last year as follows:

Ontario	20,763
Quebec	10,865
Nova Scotia	2,020
New Brunswick	1,655
P. E. Island	315
British Columbia	24,567
Manitoba	6,840
Northwest Territories	17,927
Outside treaty limits	14,566
	99,527

This is an increase over the figures of 1900 of 517, spread generally throughout the provinces and due partly to natural growth, partly to accessions to the bands from outside the country or in the non-treaty regions. The natural increase is given as 239, the births recorded having numbered 2,479 and the deaths only 2,240. The larger proportion of deaths is attributed, directly or indirectly, to scrofulous or pulmonary troubles, and it is added that, apart from epidemics, the average of health depends largely on the character of the winter. The latter statement means much as to what has not been accomplished in bringing the subjects of it to an appreciation of the comforts of civilized life and to an acceptance of the steady toil by which they can be secured.

The policy of the department is described as that of amalgamating the Indians with the other classes of the community, first fitting them for the full responsibilities of citizenship. This policy, or the machinery provided thereunder, the report says, while satisfactory up to a certain point, has not proved as successful as desired. In Ontario an extended experience shows that the graduates of the schools, educational and industrial, with the rarest exceptions, return to the communities of their race, and, although, perhaps, better equipped than the majority of those who seek employment of various kinds among the whites in their vicinity, none the less to all intents and purposes remain Indians, with all their deepest interests, affections and ambitions centered in their reserves. The state of affairs is naturally more marked in the newer regions, but this may have a good as well as a bad side, as, in the opinion of those who study the situation, until the Western tribes reach the standard of those which in the east have been longer in contact with white men, "the graduates of the schools may be doing the greatest amount of good in the direction of elevating their race by returning to live on their reserves." In regard to them the department's duty is in the direction of guarding against their retrogression, and it is experimenting in the direction of establishing little colonies of them on the reserves in the hope that they will not only retain for themselves the benefits received at the schools, but exert a beneficial influence upon the people.

Laurier as a Prompter.

We are told that at the review of the Canadian and other colonial troops last week on the Horse Guards parade, the crowd refrained to an unwonted degree from indiscriminate cheering, perhaps out of sympathy with the Queen. What cheers were given were hearty enough, but were perhaps of an "organized" nature. According to the Westminster Gazette, they appeared to be led by an elderly gentleman in the front row of the stand nearest to the Horse Guards. He stood with his back to the parade ground, waving his hat and his arms, when a cheer seemed to be appropriate, and led off with a stentorian "Hip, hip, hip——" When he relaxed his exertions and turned round the gentleman was seen to be —Mr. Seddon! But Mr. Seddon was not the real leader in the cheering, for a correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, pointing out that people in the neighborhood of the Colonial Premiers soon became aware of their dissatisfaction at the frigid demeanor of the crowd, states that at length Sir Wilfrid Laurier lost all patience. "Look here, Seddon," he said, turning to New Zealand's Premier, "you have a good voice. For Heaven's sake get them to raise a cheer." Hence the stentorian "Hip, hip, hips" on which the chronicler admiringly congratulates Mr. Seddon.—Canadian Gazette.

Medicinal Uses of Salt.

Salt is one of the greatest of natural remedies and antiseptics. A weak solution—an even teaspoonful in a glass of water, cold or hot—is excellent for indigestion. A solution of about the same strength will often relieve a cold in the head if snuffed up through the nose.

Severe pains in the bowels are often relieved by the application of a bag of hot salt.

Necessary Precautions.

Life Insurance Agent—My dear sir, have you made any provision for those who come after you?

Harduppe—Yes; I put the dog at the door and told the hired girl to say I'm out of town.

The ashes, so called, from volcanoes are simply lava that is finely pulverised.

SILK COATS AND HATS.

Dust Coats Have Become Very Elegant and Elaborate.

Dust cloaks are now so elegant and elaborate that they form quite a smart toilet. To show the prevalence of gay colors a pink alpaca cloak seen at the races was trimmed with tinted lace and black satin and had large enamel buttons in black and pink touched with gold. A pale blue dust cloak seen on the same occasion had quaint trimmings of bronze silk edged with floral embroideries in blue and yellow.

Another smart dust cloak of biscuit colored mohair was decorated with Russian embroidery in shades of red and pink, and the tucked collar was edged with an applique of embroidered poppies cut out in taffeta and shaded with crewel silk.

Many of the newer summer hats are trimmed with fruit and foliage. One shape seen recently had for sole trimming a big wreath of red and white currants which fell over the brim, while the foliage formed a wreath around the crown. Tiny pears nestle in folds of blue tulle, and their foliage is almost exact to nature.

The pretty little garden party dress shown is of tucked white silk mull trimmed with wide bands of black chantilly lace. The waist has a bolero of the lace, with three narrow velvet ribbons for shoulder straps. The front is of the white mull softly draped. The sleeve ruffles are also of the mull. The sleeves as well as the skirt are tucked perpendicularly. There is a full gathered ruffle around the bottom of the skirt.

The hat is of velvet leaves and black velvet. JUDIC CHOLLET.

No More Pale Women.

Merrill's System Tonic supplies iron necessary to make good, rich, red blood in anaremic women. It is a positive cure for Constipation— the greatest foe of womankind. After taking for a short time all female troubles disappear, as their cause is removed. 50 doses for 50c. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

Municipal Bridegrooms.

An amusing story is told of the crowning of a rose queen of a country district near Paris. The selected queen, as one of the formalities of awarding their dower, was asked by the mayor for the name of her fiance. "I have none," she replied. Notified that a sweetheart was indispensable, the young lady added timidly, "I thought the municipality provided everything necessary." Straightway a young swain presented himself as an aspirant, and, being as promptly accepted, all things became regular and in order.

Pimples, Blotches and Skin Eruptions

How unsightly, sometimes even disgusting, and certainly very mortifying to the sufferer. They are merely an evidence of impure, poisoned blood, and lowered vitality of the elementary organs, which can be quickly changed by taking Ferrozone after meals. Ferrozone cleanses the blood of all poisons and eruptions, makes it rich in red corpuscles that manifest themselves in a healthy ruddy complexion. To have a pure, soft skin and good complexion simply use Ferrozone regularly. Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at Ormond & Walsh's.

Encourage the Happiness Habit.

The art of laughter should surely be cultivated—in fact, all and everything that leads to joy. The wish to be happy, the love of gladness and beauty, is, I am sure, a thing to be desired. Consequently it is worth a little cultivation. Play is as essential a factor in men's lives as work. Philosophers tell us that no man lives his own life until he plays. Work comes from the exigencies of life, from the "musts" of this world, which often push a man along very different paths from those he would choose to travel by from inclination or capacity. Play is, however, his recreation, and here at his leisure time comes out his whole soul, his power of and choice of play, his greater or lesser necessity for it, to recuperate mind and body from the strain of daily work.

Fear of the Future.

Most people who dread the future are victims of some terrible disease. Mrs. W. Francis, 204 Colborne street, Kingston, was in a bad state with kidney disease. She had severe pains in back and legs, was gradually losing flesh and felt a dread of the future. A friend recommended Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and the result was a complete cure. There is no medicine more reliable, none so certain to produce a thorough cure. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

No Excuse.

A member of a volunteer fire brigade did not appear on the scene of the conflagration until after the fire was under control. He was severely taken to account by the chief for thus neglecting his duty.

"I could not help it," replied the fireman. "I live a long way from the fire."

"That's no excuse," snapped the chief. "You must move nearer the next fire."—London Answers.

"HALLELUJAH WEDDING."

Interesting Ceremony at the S. A. Barracks on Monday Night.

A wedding in which Peterborough people will be interested was celebrated at Barrie on Monday evening. The appended account is given in the Barrie Gazette:

"The Salvation Army Barracks was the scene of an interesting ceremony on Monday evening, the occasion being the celebration of a 'hallelujah wedding,' and though the weather was extremely unpropitious, a large audience witnessed the novel event. The contracting parties were Sergt. Thos. A. Lang, of Peterborough, and Capt. Mary Wilson, whose home is in Shanty Bay, and was lately stationed at Newmarket. The bridal party entered the barracks to the strains of a wedding march, played by Miss Rankin. The bride, who leaned on the arm of her father, was attended by Capt. Melissa Northcote, of Peterborough, both being simply gowned in the Army uniform, and wore white satin sashes. The groom was supported by Mr. Albert Beane, of Newmarket. Sergt. Stapleton gave an address on behalf of the Barrie corps, and spoke in complimentary terms of the bride. Ensign Smith also addressed the gathering on behalf of the officers of the district. Brigadier Pickering read the rules of the Army relating to marriage, to which the bride and groom subscribed, and the nuptial vows were then administered by the Brigadier. During the service Capt. Gravette and Ensign French sang solos. The ceremony closed with prayer. After the wedding about seventy invited guests sat down to a marriage supper served in the Barracks. The officers present for the occasion were; Ensign Sherwin, Capt. Hutchinson, Midland; Capt. Rose, Lieut. Scott, Orillia; Capt. Gravette, Capt. Stephns, Collingwood; Ensign French, territorial headquarters staff.

"The bride was the recipient of many useful and handsome presents. The happy couple left yesterday morning on a trip to the north, before taking up their residence in Peterborough."

MILLBROOK.

An entertainment was given in the town hall last night at which Mr. Owen A. Smiley was the chief attraction.

The death occurred on Wednesday morning of Edward Evans, who for the past four years has managed the Octogan Flour Mills. Mr. Evans was forty years of age, and leaves a wife and family of small children to mourn his demise.

Mr. R. B. MacPherson, who has carried on a restaurant business in Millbrook for the past two years, has sold off his stock and intends returning to his farm near Mount Pleasant.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Duncan, of Cleveland, Ohio, who have been spending the summer at their old home here, have returned home.

Mr. H. M. Wood and Misses Annie and Gertrude Wood are spending a while at Muskoka.

Miss Glendening, of Toronto, is the guest of her cousin, Miss Margaret Leach.

The Millbrook Citizen's Band is getting into excellent condition and the Friday evening concerts on the Town Hall Square are much enjoyed.

Mr. Fred Duncan is erecting a handsome new house on the site of the old one that was destroyed by fire some time ago.

Mr. Edgar Burnham, of Toronto, spent Tuesday the guest of his father, Dr. Burnham.

The Millbrook Colts Cricket Club is in a flourishing condition, and the boys are becoming quite expert in handling the willow.

Messrs. Wm. Archer, Fred Pendris and Allie Payne have returned from a camping outing at Muskoka.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Nugent will regret to learn that they are both suffering from an attack of typhoid fever.

KEENE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Walter Bryce, of the public school teaching staff, Toronto, is home for a few days.

A great many young folks enjoyed the moonlight on Friday night. It is said that the harvest moon has exceptionally fine qualities, but it excelled itself on that evening. It is to be regretted that such a lamentable misunderstanding occurred between Keene and Harwood parties. It is understood it arose from the smallness of some private parties whose feet were larger than the crowd warranted and therefore had not room enough to dance.

J. Weir has gone to Toronto for a term in the Normal.

T. Stockdale is spending a few days in the village, or rather in the village to the north of us.

Ed. Porter is renewing acquaintances here.

Wall Wood, of Ashburnham, returned home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Andrews, of Toronto, are the guests of Miss Hope this week.

The boys of Villiers and Westwood intend running a private excursion up the lake on Friday afternoon.

Ducks are reported very scarce just yet.

Mrs. (Dr.) Laurison, of Richmond Hill, is spending a few days with her parents here.

We are having a cement walk laid on Hill street.

STOCK MARKETS.

Union Pacific Will Follow Southern Pacific.

New York, Aug. 26th.—Our special letter of Aug. 6th, appertaining to Southern Pacific, which was written and advertised for distribution under a stock that should sell 20 points, came pretty close to hitting the mark. It was the first announcement in Wall street of the coming wise of this stock, and was issued when it was selling at 68. It has already advanced one-third of the amount we stated, and with time will advance the full 300 points. It is a purchase right now on each and every reaction to hold for much higher prices. We now state it to be our belief that the long dormant Union Pacific will soon commence to advance, and that it should be good for 15 to 20 points of a raise. The increase in marked values of its great asset, Southern Pacific would be sufficient reason for the Southern Pacific folks are preparing to make their specialty pay dividends. This will give Union Pacific an additional income of $3,000,000 annually. The crops along the U.P. are simply enormous, and the stock will probably show fully 12 per cent. earned for it the coming twelve months. Both Southern and U.P. are based for very much higher prices. The other market is good to buy also—both railway and industrial shares. There was more doing last week in the industrial department of the stock exchange than for a long time past. These stocks are hardening, and making their preliminary upward move prior to a bull speculation of some considerable dimensions. This is one of those kind of markets where additional stocks should be purchased when the market is advancing, utilizing your profits as margin upon your additional purchases.

AFRICA'S NIAGARA.

The Wonderful Falls of Zambesi—White Man to Put Black Man's God Into Harness for Work.

Cecil Rhodes had a notion that some day, long after he had gone to his rest beneath the boulders on the Matappo Hills, South Africa would rise up to compete with the United States, just as the United States had risen up to make Europe "hustle."

Whether or not that dream was too big for its foundation of facts, it is certain that one branch of its support is about to be erected, and that the results are going to be of far-reaching interest and importance.

It will not be permissible to call Africa the Dark Continent when it has a tremendous electric light in the middle of it. Yet that is what it is going to have. The plan is not merely a dream, for within a few weeks an expedition sets out from London to make an actual beginning on the work of establishing at Victoria Falls on the Zambesi River an electric power plant that will in time put to blush the famous turbines at Niagara Falls, just as Victoria Falls themselves greatly exceed in height, width and grandeur those at Niagara.

It is to be a dramatic sort of invasion, for the falls thunder out to-day on the silence of an almost unbroken jungle; hippotami and crocodiles bask undisturbed in the Zambesi and lions stalk in the long grass.

To the Barotsi, the native tribe which inhabits the surrounding country, the great cataract is a god, and they pray to it, and offer up burnt sacrifices for its propitiation. And now the white man is coming to put the black man's god into harness and make him do the work of more than 100,000 horses.

It was Prof. George Forbes, an American engineer who had taken a prominent part in the "harnessing" of the Niagara Falls, who first suggested that the millions of horse power which had been going to waste in the heart of Africa should be put to practical use.

One night, five years ago, he and Alfred Haggard, a brother of the author of "King Solomon's Mines," who had just come back from Africa, sat in the Athenaeum Club in London, when the explorer told the electrician about the great falls in the Zambesi, that Livingstone had been the first white man to see, and that made the wonder of America seem a dwarf. He told him how the river, more than a mile wide, flings itself over the edge of a gorge 400 feet deep, and then zigzags its way through a rocky canyon 20 miles long.

"Why not make that cataract generate electricity and carry the power down to Rhodesia?" suggested the American engineer, and Mr. Haggard jumped at the idea.

It didn't take long to form a syndicate called the Africa Trust, to push along the scheme, and Prof. Forbes and Mr. Haggard were sent down to Rhodesia to see Cecil Rhodes about getting a concession from the Chartered Company.

Eventually Mr. Rhodes thought so well of the project that he went into partnership with the Africa Trust, but in the beginning he gave them the 25-year concession they asked for. The Colossus placed no restrictions on the company as to the amount of water they might divert, but made it conditional that the beauty of the falls should not be injured, which was characteristic of him.

Since that time Sir Charles Metcalfe, the famous engineer has visited the falls and reported favorably on the plan of "harnessing" them, and the Africa Trust and the Chartered Company have joined forces and now are all ready to spend $5,000,000 on the installation.

A commission of electrical engineers which may include two or three Americans, is now preparing to leave England to make all arrangements for putting in the plant as soon as the machinery can reach the falls. That will be when Rhodes' Cape to Cairo Railway, over which the material will have to be sent, is built up to the great cataract. The line is now laid for 40 miles north of Buluwayo, but the falls lie 275 miles farther on, and probably that distance will not be covered much before the end of next year.

The country over which the railroad will have to be built before it reaches the falls, is about the most difficult its engineers have had to tackle yet—a mass of hills and hollows of hard basaltic rock like that which forms the canyon of the Zambesi. In the swampy land near by, malaria is rampant, and the dense forests which stretch away in the direction of civilization are the deadly "tsetse" fly's happiest hunting ground.

The men who are to build the power plant at the Victoria Falls probably will have as many close calls from wild beasts as those who have been working on the Cape to Cairo Railroad and telegraph line, have had, but they are not likely to have any trouble with the natives.

A Simple Cure for Earache.

"I am afraid I have greatly interfered with my own practice," said a celebrated aurist, "by giving the following advice to many of my friends:

"At the first symptoms of earache let the patient lie on the bed with the painful ear uppermost. Fold a thick towel, and tuck it around the neck; then with a teaspoon fill the ear with warm water.

"Continue doing this for fifteen or twenty minutes. The water will fill the ear orifice and flow over on the towel. Afterward turn over the head, let the water run out and plug the ear with warm glycerine and cotton.

"This may be done every hour until relief is obtained. It is an almost invariable cure and has saved many cases of acute inflammation. The water should be quite warm but not too hot."—London Tit-Bits.

Street Etiquette.

In meeting a lady in a public thoroughfare in America a gentleman always waits for her bow of recognition before lifting his hat or addressing her. In Europe, however, the contrary is the established rule, it being the gentleman's place to bow first, when, if the lady desires not to recognise him, she ignores his salutations, thus giving the cut direct. It is not good form in any place for a lady to stop a gentleman in the street for the purpose of chatting with him, though she may with perfect propriety pause to speak if he take the initiative. Prolonged talks in the street are not, however, considered good form, even between persons of the same sex, the better plan being to walk on slowly until the conversation is concluded.

Why Coughing Is Weakening.

The amount of energy expended in coughing is very considerable. Indeed one of the patient statisticians for which Germany is renowned has calculated that a patient who coughs once every quarter of an hour for ten hours expends energy equivalent to 250 units of heat, which may be translated as equivalent to the nourishment contained in three eggs or two glasses of milk. In normal respiration the air is expelled from the chest at the rate of four feet per second, whereas in violent coughing it may attain a velocity of 300 feet.

Considerate.

Paterfamilias—See here! What does this mean? The parlor clock is stopped. Mr. Nicefellow was here last night, as usual, wasn't he?

Daughter—Yes, pa, and I told him what you said about the cost of coal and gas in the parlor every night, and we began to wonder how we could economize for you, and finally Mr. Nicefellow decided that we could at least stop the clock and save wear and tear on the works, you know.

SOUTH AFRICAN SERVICE.

Terms of Contract Entered Into by the Dominion Government.

Montreal, Aug. 27.—The full text of the contract between the Imperial and Canadian Governments and the Allan, Elder-Dempster and Furness lines for the South African service was received yesterday by the agents of the line interested. The vessels must be under the British flag, have cold storage accommodation and to be furnished with electric light. The contract is for five years; the vessels to carry the mails between Canada and South Africa. The vessels may coal at another Canadian port. No preference is to be given against shippers of Canadian goods, and goods are to be shipped in priority according to the time received.

The total subsidy is £80,000, not £45,000, as before reported. Canada contributes two-thirds.

It is announced by the agents that the rates will be higher than the New York cut rate, but lower than the combine rates. The steamers are to run once a month. The rates are subject to the approval of the Government.

CABINET WAS IN SESSION.

Certificates Granted to Teachers of Domestic Science.

Toronto, Aug. 27. — The Ontario Cabinet was in session a couple of hours yesterday afternoon, doubtless discussing matters pertaining to the political situation. Premier Ross and Hon. Messrs. Davis, Dryden, Gibson and Stratton were in attendance.

Among other matters of business transacted was the granting of certificates to teach domestic science to the following candidates:

Ontario Normal School of Domestic Science, Hamilton— Mary C. MacPherson, A, C. Sutherland, Lilian M. Burke, Helen Holland, Bertha C. Copland.

The Guild, Toronto.—Miss McPhedran, Olive Patterson, Meta Macbeth, Carrie Worster, Jessie Spafford, and Hanna Bustin.

Toronto School of Domestic Science—V. Miranda Akes, Roberto M. Christie, M. Maude Fanquier, L. Gray, G. Kingsmill, Violet McGully, S. A. Morris, Annie Morrison, Gladys Sutherland, L. B. Thomson.

Fight on Millionaire's Yacht.

Halifax, N.S., Aug. 26. — George W. Childs Drexel's yacht Alcedo, which sailed for Philadelphia tonight, was the scene this afternoon of a fight between several Halifax policemen and crew.

Several of the crew had been drinking heavily, and there were three fights on board. The captain told the chief of police that fittings on the yacht worth $50 had been destroyed.

The captain afterward came up and paid the men off. They will be arraigned before the police magistrate to-morrow.

Mr. Drexel and a party of friends who are cruising with him were ashore during the fight at the residence of Geoffrey Morrow.

W. DURHAM LIBERALS

A Great Picnic in the Stronghold of Liberalism.

ADDRESS BY HON. MR. STRATTON

Hon. Israel Tarte, Minister of Public Works, Speaks on the Unification of Canada, Urges the People to Foster Feeling That We Are a Nation, and Extols Liberal Rule—Dr. Mitchell Honored.

Bowmanville, Aug. 28.—The Liberals of West Durham, Hon. J. I. Tarte and Hon. J. R. Stratton held a picnic in Pollard's Grove, in the Township of Clarke, yesterday. It was not an ordinary picnic, it was a good, old-fashioned political picnic, held in a beautiful maple grove, with clothes baskets full of apple pie and cocoanut cake, three vigorous brass bands and a baseball game to vary the monotony of the politics.

Mr. Tarte unfortunately missed connections at Toronto, and did not reach the grounds until 5 o'clock, but he accepted his misfortunes with the best of good humor, and spoke for nearly an hour with great spirit.

Address of Great Interest.

Mr. Stratton delivered an address on Ontario politics that was of very great interest.

Perhaps the most pleasant feature of the picnic, however, was the presentation to Dr. Mitchell, one of the old stalwarts of Liberalism in Durham, of a remarkably handsome cabinet of silver. Among those present were D. B. Simpson, K. C., Bowmanville; Hon. J. I. Tarte, Hon. J. R. Stratton, Senator Kerr of Cobourg, Wm. Ross, M. P., of Port Perry, Samuel Clarke, M.P.P., of Cobourg, Wm. Rickard, M.P.P., of Newcastle, J. D. Hayden, of Cobourg, Dr. Powers, of Port Hope, George Wilson of Port Hope, F. L. Fowke (Mayor of Oshawa), Lieut.-Col. Farwell, of Whitby, E. Mundy of Oshawa, T. Underwood of Orono, Horace Moulton of Orono, E. V. Dyer of Port Hope, R. D. Davidson of Bowmanville, R. Philp of Cartwright, W. Mountjoy, of Cartwright, Fred Hatch of Whitby, Hugh Ross of Whitby, Prof. Squair of Toronto, G. Meadows of Clarke, Dr. Tilly of Bowmanville, M. A. James of Bowmanville, Dr. Cameron of London, A. E. McLaughlin of Bowmanville, H. F. Hunter of Bowmanville, W. Foster of Newcastle, Thomas Patterson of Bowmanville, W. F. Allen Dr. Montgomery of Oshawa, John Courtice of Port Hope, H. H. Walker of Port Hope, E. A. Powers of Port Hope, H. Ling of Port Hope, H. A. Rosever of Port Hope.

Letters of regret were received from Hon. Thomas Greenway, an old Durham boy; Hon. Geo. W. Ross, Hon. J. M. Gibson, Hon. James Sutherland, Hon. E. J. Davis, Hon. A. G. Blair and a number of other prominent Liberals. Mr. Robert Beith, M. P. for the riding is in England.

Mr. Tarte Well Received.

Hon. Mr. Tarte, as he appeared on the stand, was greeted with a hearty cheer. After a word of introduction by the chairman, the honorable gentleman said: "I have the reputation of getting there on time, but I am sorry to say that my star went back on me to-day, as, owing to a delay on the railway, I could not get here sooner. It is a great pleasure for me to be in this very fine part of Ontario. I have a fancy for the people of Ontario. It is not because they do not abuse me, but because I think they are ready to listen to reason. I think it is of the greatest national interest that the two great provinces of the Dominion should understand each other, and it was for that reason that I accepted the invitation to be here to-day. You are doing right by meeting here as you do to discuss public questions. We have the finest country under the sun, and the trouble is that we do not know our country as well as we should. Let us admit it frankly that we have been a little slow in the past. Our population has not increased as rapidly as we expected, but with the opening of the new century, our country has entered a new era. (Applause.) Our country has never been so progressive. Some might say that no credit is due to the Government for it, but I do not think that the fact that we are in power has stopped Providence from smiling upon us. The national sentiment, too, is more genuine than ever. We are beginning to feel that we are bound to be a nation. French-Canadians, Irishmen, Englishmen, Protestants and Roman Catholics, have all come to the conclusion that we must agree for the excellent reason that we are to live on the same soil and under the same flag.

"In my humble opinion there are two great questions we have to face if we make up our minds to be a nation. Let me say at the outset that I came from a province that is, perhaps, more essentially Canadian than you are in Ontario. It may seem peculiar to you to hear me speak as I do, but I will say that if you have heard that the French-Canadians are not loyal, there is no more damnable lie told. Of course such lies are told for party purposes. We are not all fools in Quebec; we are pretty sensible fellows. (Applause.) We know that the future of the French-Canadian is intimately bound with the future and destiny of our English citizens. Are we not happy? I am sorry you do not come more often to see us. We look like decent citizens and are happy, and do not desire any change. Speaking on my responsibility, I say without fear of contradiction that the French-Canadians have more interest than you have in remaining loyal. You could be annexed to the United States to-morrow, and you would be with your own Englishmen; I would be swamped—would be nowhere. I have been accused of saying that business is business, and I will add to it that it is the business of the French-Canadians to remain under the British flag. (Applause.)

"If we make up our minds to remain Canadians we must develop our country on Canadian lines. In my recent trip through the lakes, I saw Americans carrying on all sorts of trade. They have ships running nearly as large as those seen on the Atlantic Ocean. Where are we in that trade? Where is our navy on the lakes? We are strong enough and wealthy enough to hold and handle our own trade if we make up our mind to do it. When I had the pleasure of meeting representative Americans not so long ago, I took pleasure in telling them, 'you are an energetic nation; you have accomplished wonders, but there is one thing you cannot do, and that is displace the lakes or the St. Lawrence.' The most effective means of development is to establish a system of transportation, and allow the east to trade with the west. I do not understand those who say we cannot produce everything we want ourselves. I am anti-American—not in an unfriendly way, but from a national standpoint. I want to know if we cannot teach them a lesson. Americans are coming to this country, taking our raw material and shipping back the finished product. I would say, 'by the living jingo can't I do that myself.' I for one am ready for a more determined policy to provide for the manufacture of ships. The safest way to keep this colony under the British flag is to build a nation and build up our trade.

"I do not boast as a man of great virtue; I am simply an ordinary Christian, but to be a successful minister in my mind, a man has got to go straight ahead, forgetting the little differences of the past, and to do his best for the interest of his country. Six years ago many thought the country would go to hell under Liberal rule. But what has been the result? Prosperity has increased in leaps and bounds since then. 'As I said before, we must try and understand each other better. When we appear before the Almighty we will not be asked if our father or mother were French or English or Catholic or Protestant—but simply if we have been good citizens and good Christians. For God's sake let us realize that we are bound to go on living together, and let us forget all prejudices. When I heard the King, when Prince of Wales, address a banquet, I was convinced that at the head of the British nation was a noble man, not only in sentiment, but that he is a safe man, and it is such rulers that we want. (Applause.)

Hon. Mr. Tarte referred once more to the greatness of Canada, and as he resumed his seat was given three cheers.

This brought the speaking to a close, and cheers were given for the King and Liberal party.

NEWS IN A NUTSHELL.

Important Happenings Condensed Into Small Space—Fatal Accidents at Winnipeg and Rat Portage.

A London boy named Harry Clark fell off Kensington bridge and was very seriously injured.

Henry Hall, Emo, Ont., deckhand on D. L. Mathers' tug, was drowned off Coney Island, Rat Portage, Wednesday afternoon. He was 19.

George Mabee, an employe in the wholesale hardware house of James Robertson, Winnipeg, was accidentally killed in the elevator Wednesday afternoon.

Four people were thrown out of a carriage in Sydney Township by the horses running away. Mrs. J. P. Sharp, a lady 83 years old, was probably fatally injured.

Claus Spreckels, sugar refiner, was in Montreal on Wednesday, and it is said forwarded the papers to Ottawa for the formation of a $6,000,000 company to refine sugar by his new process in Canada.

George Jacques, a seaman on the schooner F. B. Wade, of Halifax, fell from the topmast to the deck, a distance of 70 feet, Wednesday afternoon, and the only injury he sustained was a broken nose.

At Nice Lopez Garcia was arrested on Wednesday yesterday after a violent struggle with the police. He arrived at Nice yesterday from Spain. The police received warning that he was a dangerous Anarchist who had been selected to kill some European ruler, supposed to be Emperor William.

PRACTICAL PATRIOTISM.

The Toronto Star is carrying on a spirited crusade on the "made in Canada" cry. If the practice of the people at large were as patriotic as as the work of our contemporary, there would be little need for such a crusade. If Canadians would, in their buying, give preference to articles of Canadian production and manufacture, they would be doing both themselves and the manufacturers and producers a benefit. No citizen can live to himself and the more he helps his neighbour the more he naturally helps himself. Nobody asks any Canadian to buy an article simply because it is Canadian, but it is certainly not too much to request preference for Canadian goods when they are equal in quality and value to foreign products. If this principle were acted upon more extensively, the encouragement it represents would result in a great improvement in the quality of goods of Canadian manufacture. It is estimated that 75 or 80 per cent of the Canadians now domiciled in the United States were attracted by the manufacturing industries of our neighbours. If we would keep our young men at home we can do so by increasing our manufacturing industries and of course the employment they afford. We can do this by increasing the home market for Canadian manufactured articles, and this increase can be brought about by a larger patronage of home industries. A certain section of our people are clamouring for a preference in the British market for Colonial products. It would be more to the purpose if they would direct their clamours and their practical attention to the development of a preference for Canadian products in the home market.

A GREAT EDUCATIONIST.

In these days when educational questions come to the front so conspicuously, the history of a great Ontario Educationalist acquires unusual interest. In England the educational problem has assumed a supreme importance, displacing in the public mind all other domestic political questions, and all questions of foreign policy. So acute is the situation, so great the interest, that the educational question seems to be the rock upon which the Balfour Government will be wrecked. In France, Gallic excitability has reached fever heat over an educational question. In Quebec financial insufficiency in the matter of support available for "Protestant" schools is engaging attention. In Ontario we have the educational problem with us always. In a school system, as in any other human device, there is no finality. Improvement and progress are always live considerations, especially in Ontario where the progressive spirit of our citizenship forbids anything like marking time. Any contribution to our educational literature which promises us a better understanding of the conditions and circumstances which have attended our educational progress to the exalted position we now hold in this regard, is a matter of moment and of interest. "The late Egerton Ryerson, D. D., LL. D., as a Public Man and an Educationalist—1825-1882," by Mr. J. George Hodgins, M. A., LL. D., Toronto, former Deputy Minister of Education and Librarian and Historiographer of the Education Department, is a little work of most absorbing interest to every person who takes the subject of our educational interests at all seriously. The late Dr. Ryerson was closely and actively associated with our school system for nearly 60 years and Dr. Hodgins has had exceptional opportunities for acquiring information which would permit him to deal effectively and intelligently with a record of his services. And his own enthusiasm and ability as an educationist create in him a sympathy which is an added factor in his especial equipment for dealing in the most effective way with the work of Dr. Ryerson as the practical founder and developer of the school system of Ontario. Dr. Hodgins' little work is published by Wm. Briggs, Toronto, and may be procured for the small consideration of 25 cents through any bookseller.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The funny man of the Toronto Star states a fact which is not at all funny to the effect that no matter how much the assessment increases the tax rate never lowers.

With $360,000,000 on deposit in the banks and a 60,000,000 bushel wheat crop in sight, the Montreal Herald thinks, Canada is in a position to buy at least half a ton of hard coal.

Crown Attorney Curry, of Toronto, tells us that Rice told him that he, Rice, shot Constable Boyd. That's late news, the jury told us that long ago. Canadian justice is pretty level-headed.

The Mail and Empire works up a good deal of spurious indignation over what it alleges, with its usual disregard for fairness, the Liberal press is doing. It asserts that the Liberal press is to blame for discussing the probability that the Government will cut into Mr. Whitney's following by seducing some Opposition member into accepting the Speakership of the House. The Mail knows that it was a Conservative paper in London which originated the yarn.

The increase in the trade of Canada since the Liberal party came into power in 1896 has been the very large sum of $185,000,000. This increase is over seventy-eight millions greater than the total trade of the country was when the Conservatives came into power on the N. P. cry in 1879. This increase is in itself only some nineteen millions less than the total trade of Canada in 1889 after ten years administration of the Conservative panacea for national ills. This is a pretty good record for a Liberal Government under which, according to its opponents, when it came into power, Canada was to be speedily and irretrievably ruined.

There are many sides to the advantages development of the Canadian West brings to Ontario. The increase of population there means a largely increased market for the wares of our manufacturers, and the different agricultural conditions mean a big market for the improved stock raised by the advanced farmers of Ontario. A British Columbian man man is now in Ontario arranging for the purchase of some 1,500 head of Ontario cattle to replenish and improve the herds of the Pacific Province. Cattle and other kinds of stock can be raised to advantage in Ontario, and the immense expanse of country yet to be opened up in the middle west will absorb for years to come, large numbers of Ontario-bred stock of the right kind.

Valuable Advice to Rheumatics.

Eat meat sparingly, and take very little sugar. Avoid intoxicants, keep away from dampness, drink water abundantly, and always rely on Nerviline as a quick reliever of Rheumatic pains. Being five times stronger than ordinary remedies. Nerviline's power over pain is simply beyond belief. It cures also Sciatica, Lumbago, Neuralgia, and all pain, whether internal or external. Large bottles, price 25c.

LEYD'S DEPOSITION.

Boer Doctor Would Not Account For Shortage From Exchequer—To Lead a Home Rule Agitation.

London, Aug. 28.—In a despatch from The Hague, the correspondent of The Daily Mail declares that Dr. Leyds, who was the European representative of the former Transvaal Republic, has been deposed because he refused to account for a large sum of money missing from the Boer exchequer.

The Boer cause, continues the correspondent, will now be agitated through the length and breadth of South Africa on the model of the Home Rule campaign in Ireland, and this agitation will call for all the foresight and firmness of which British statesmanship is capable. The first move in the game will be the proposals the Boer generals will make to the British Government as the price of their assistance in the conciliation and resettlement of South Africa.

TO VISIT JAPAN.

Contemplated Journey of Hon. Mr. Fisher in Interest of Trade.

Ottawa, Aug. 28.—It is understood that Hon Sydney Fisher has decided to postpone his contemplated trip to Japan until next year. The probability is that he may leave for the Orient early in 1903, when the Japanese International Exposition at Osaka will be in progress. The trip will occupy three months at least, so that if the Minister of Agriculture were to start from here in February he would not be back again until the end of May. There is said to be a likelihood that Prof. Robertson, Commissioner of Agriculture and Dairying, will accompany the Minister, who will take advantage of his trip to carefully investigate the possibility of reciprocal trade relations between Canada and Japan on a larger scale than now exists.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Overcome by Well Gas.

Strathcona, N.W.T., Aug. 28.—Thos. Roney of this place was overcome by gas in his well yesterday. He went down to repair a leak in the piping, and shortly after fell helpless against the curbing. The gas was so powerful that it was impossible to render assistance for almost an hour, when life was extinct.

Killed by a Binder.

Virden, Man., Aug. 28.—The four-year-old son of Thomas Bryson got in front of a binder his father was driving, and the knives cut his leg off at the knee. His father drove him eight miles to a doctor, but the child died.

BANQUET TO PREMIER AT LILLE

"In Industry There Is No Sentiment Other Than That Inspired by the Best Market," Says the Prime Minister of the Dominion—Canadian Products Under Exceptional Conditions.

Lille, France, Aug. 28.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premier of Canada, inspected the exposition here yesterday. A banquet was given him last evening, and, in responding to a toast to his health, Sir Wilfrid referred to the sympathies existing between France and Canada, and expressed a hope for freer commercial relations between the two countries, and that France would become an open market for Canadian products, which, the speaker continued, could be supplied under exceptional conditions.

"In industry there is no sentiment other than that inspired by the best market," said the Prime Minister, and, in conclusion, he invited Frenchmen to settle in Canada, where, he said, they would be heartily welcomed.

Death Rate on Decrease.

Toronto, Aug. 28.—The report of the Provincial Board of Health for the month of July shows a total number of deaths of 2,015, as compared with 1,946 for the same month last year. Only 706 out of a total of 777 municipalities have reported as against 740 for July, 1901. Deaths from contagious diseases were much fewer. This year the number from all causes was 198, while last year it was 263. Tuberculosis carried off 144, a decrease of 38.

O.R.A. RIFLE MATCHES

Quite a Number of Possibles Were Made Yesterday.

WIND UNSTEADY--TARGET HAZE

The Canada Company's Match, the Canadian Club Match and the Duke of Cornwall and York Match Were Shot Off on Wednesday—The Scores Made in These Matches.

Toronto, Aug. 28. — With a stiff wind and a haze in the air that rendered accurate work difficult, the Ontario Rifle Association opened the three days' work at the Long Branch ranges yesterday. The attendance was excellent and much enthusiasm was displayed, but the general average of shooting was not up to former days.

The reconstructed range presents a very satisfactory appearance and evokes much comment. Firing tickets have been issued to 226 men, as against 225 in 1901. About a dozen more are expected to arrive today. In the Canada Company's contest there is a slight falling off in the entries. In former years the entries in this match reached 80. This year it is 52.

Every province is represented and the Pacific Coast furnishes a number of men for team work.

The first shot was fired by Color-Sergt. Phillips of the Royal Grenadiers at 8.15. He scored an inner in the extra series at 600. The work was kept up rapidly until the "cease firing" gun was discharged at 5.40.

A GREAT WHEAT PROSPECT.

From Samples Cut in Manitoba It Looks as If 80 Per Cent. Will Grade No. 1 Hard.

Winnipeg, Aug. 28.—From the appearance of the samples of wheat already cut it looks as if about 80 per cent. will grade No. 1 hard.

It is understood that the railway companies have decided not to sell any more large tracts of land to syndicates. Their intention is to handle their land by an extended system of agencies, and thus reap the benefit of increasing values.

The weather will keep fine, and farmers are taking full advantage of it in gathering the harvest.

By Saturday night half of Manitoba wheat crop will be cut. Wheat threshing commenced on the farm of Peter Herbert in Gretna district yesterday. Yield was 27 bushels of fine quality.

A dozen machines will start in Mennonite district to-day, where cutting has finished.

Special train of harvesters arrived from Quebec yesterday with 600 on board, making 12,000 who have arrived to date.

Big Wheat Yield in Essex.

Toronto, Aug. 28. — The Ontario Department of Agriculture has received a report from Essex County, in the neighborhood of Kingsville, of an actual yield from 13 acres of 520 bushels of wheat, an average of about 40 bushels an acre. Eight acres yielded an average of 50 bushels. This was on the farm of Herbert Wigle, and is considered a big crop.

Adjourned Till Sept. 8

Sydney, N. S., Aug. 28.—The suit of the Dominion Iron and Steel Company was resumed yesterday. Judge Burbidge and the counsel interested visited the works, and then heard the evidence of A. J. Moxham, the former manager of the Steel Company, and Mr. Means, the manager of the blast furnaces. The court then adjourned to meet on Sept. 8 at Ottawa.

20 Years of Itching Piles.

Mr. Alex. McLaughlin, Bowmanville, Ont., writes that for twenty years he suffered terribly from itching piles. Seven years ago he asked a druggist for the best cure for piles and was told to use Dr. Chase's Ointment. He continued this treatment until entirely cured, and as he has never had any return of his old trouble considers his cure permanent and remarkable on account of the length of time he suffered.

Tide Catches Four Persons.

London, Aug. 28. — Four persons who were spending a holiday at Kirtonskeldyke, Lincolnshire, yesterday were drowned. The party were strolling on the sand and before they were aware of their dangerous position were cut off by the tide.

A Pure Invention.

Ottawa, Aug. 28. — Immigration Commissioner Pedley has investigated the report that a movement was on foot to settle 30,000 Pennsylvania miners in the Canadian west, and finds the story to be a pure invention.

No More Pale Women.

After taking for a short time all female troubles disappear, as their cause is removed. 50 doses for 50c. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

MORE TROOPS CALLED OUT.

Serious Disturbances Feared in the Coal Strike Regions.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 28.—The second troop, Philadelphia City Cavalry, was last evening ordered by Governor Stone to report to General Gobin at Shenandoah for duty in the anthracite coal regions. The troop will take the place of the Governor's troop of Harrisburg, which was sent by General Gobin from Shenandoah to Lansford, where there had been serious disturbances. The request for the city troop was made by General Gobin.

Railway Manager Resigns.

Montreal, Aug. 28.—"I leave the road with the best possible feeling towards all connected with it," was the statement made Tuesday evening by ex-Manager Russell of the I.C.R. The official car of the I.C.R. was attached to the Maritime express last evening. Mr. Russell being sent through to Buffalo by the management of the Government railway.

Pockets Filled With Stones.

Lindsay, Aug. 28.—Norman McMurchy, a lawyer here for some years past, has been missing from town since last Friday. Yesterday a small boy found his body floating in the river near the pump-house. His pockets were filled with stones. Suicide is thought to be the cause of his untimely end.

For Fattening Chickens.

Ottawa, Aug. 28.—T. C. Hare of the Department of Agriculture has returned from the Maritime Provinces, where he has established six stations for fattening chickens of P. E. I. There will also be one in Cape Breton, one in Nova Scotia and one in New Brunswick.

Died From Injuries.

Belleville, Aug. 28.—Robert Darling, a farmer of Amelliasburg, was driving a binder Tuesday afternoon when the horses became frightened and ran away. The unfortunate man was thrown on the knives and so badly cut and mutilated that he died.

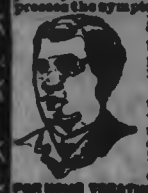
BLOOD DISEASED MEN

If you ever contracted any blood disease you are never safe unless the virus or poison has been eradicated from the system. Have you any of the following symptoms? Sore throat, ulcers on the tongue or in the mouth, hair falling out, aching pains, sickness of the skin, sores or blotches on the body eyes red and smart, dyspeptic stomach, sexual weakness—indications of the secondary stage. Don't ruin your system with the old fogy treatment—mercury and potash—which only suppresses the symptoms for a time only to break out again when happy in domestic life. Don't let quacks experiment on you. Our New [illegible] Treatment is guaranteed to cure you. Our guarantees are backed up by bank bonds, that the disease will never return. Thousands of patients have been already cured by our New Method Treatment for over 20 years. No mercury used without written consent.



Mr. H. A. C. writes: "Your remedies have done me more good than Hot Springs and all the doctors and medicines I had previously tried. I have not felt any of those pains or seen any ulcers or blotches for over seven years and the outward symptoms of the loathsome disease have entirely disappeared. My hair has grown in fully again and I am married and happy."

Mr. LeBrun's Windows.

Mr. H. LeBrun's new store on Hunter and George streets is assuming a finished appearance—many watched the work yesterday of placing in the curved plate glass windows on the George street entrance. These plate glass windows were made to order in London England. They are of a rather peculiar shape in as much as they are not exactly oval and the work of bending the glass to the exact demensions must have been rather difficult. The plan was prepared by Architect John E. Belcher. The glass fitted the windows to perfection.

THE NEW RINK.

A Meeting of the Shareholders is now Called.

Subscribers for stock in the Peterborough Hockey Club are reminded of the organization meeting of the Company, which will be held in the Town Council chamber on Friday evening. The election of directors and the transaction of general business will come up before the meeting, so that it is desirable that there should be a large attendance of subscribers.

A NATIONAL RIDER.

Mr. C. G. Grant the Trick Bicyclist Here.

Mr. Charles S. Grant, the famous trick bicyclist, representing the National Bicycle Company, is in town, and will give a free exhibition on the market square this evening. Mr. Grant has a national reputation as a trick bicyclist, and has accomplished the wonderful feat of riding down the steps of the White House, at Washington. His exhibition tonight, as before stated, will be free, will take place at 7.15 o'clock, in order that he may conclude his performance before dark. There should be a large crowd to see him.

AT THE BUTTS.

The 57th Boys Doing Some Good Shooting in Toronto.

The Peterborough representatives are doing well at the annual matches of the Ontario Rifle Association at Long Branch.

In the Canada Match Sgt. A. E. Jackson scored 40 against 47 high, and won $4.00. In the Canadian Club match Pte. Jos. Gibson made 46 as against 47 high, winning $12.00. Pte. Geo. Fitzgerald made 39 in this match winning $3.00, and amongst the tyros shooting, Sgt. Jackson won $3.00 more.

In the Duke of Cornwall and York Match, as against 34 high, Sgt. Jackson made 30, as did Pte. Geo. Fitzgerald. Sgt. D. Cameron and Pte. Jos. Gibson each made 28. This qualifies all four for the second stage of the match.

ACCIDENT ON THE RIVER.

A Canoe Upset and Two Boys had a Hard Time Keeping Afloat.

Messrs. Chill. and Webber Turner had a very narrow escape from being drowned on Wednesday last, whilst they were canoeing in the river. The canoe upset and the former, who is the only one of the two who can swim, had great difficulty in keeping his brother's head above water until help arrived. Webber was almost unconscious when rescued, and it took a great deal of work to relieve him of the large amount of water which he swallowed.

"Home Nursing."

We have recently received a book entitled "Home Nursing," published by the Davis & Lawrence Co., Ltd., of Montreal. This publication contains practical information for the performance of all offices pertaining to the sick. It tells what to do in case of accidents, treats with nearly all the diseases to which human flesh is heir, as well as containing many recipes for preparing solid and liquid food for the sick. No home should be without a copy of it. It is a very attractive book of about 50 pages, and can be obtained upon application to the publishers, Davis & Lawrence Co., Ltd., Montreal, enclosing to them 5c in stamps to cover the expense of mailing, etc. 1dw

The event of the season is St. Peter's T.A.S. excursion to Jubilee Point on Labour Day.

WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Miss Helen J. Haggart and Mr. Albert E. Mutton Last Evening.

An exceedingly pretty wedding took place, last evening, in the presence of about thirty-five intimate friends, when Miss Helen J. Haggart, only daughter of Mr James E. Haggart, was united in marriage to Mr. Albert E. Mutton, of London. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. P. Wilson, pastor of the George street Methodist church, at the family residence, corner of Sherbrooke and Aylmer streets, the bride being given away by her father.

The bride was tastily costumed in a pretty brown travelling suit and carried white roses. She was assisted by Miss Lottie Scott, who was gowned in greyish fawn Venetian and carried pink roses. The groomsman was Mr. W. T. Cartner.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a dainty wedding feast was served, after which the bridal party repaired Tto the G. T. R. station where Mr. and Mrs. Mutton were given a most enthusiastic send-off by the large crowd of friends who had congregated there for that purpose.

The gifts which were received were very numerous and handsome.

PETERBOROUGH'S MODERN STORE.

NEW FALL GOODS!

We are pleased to announce the arrival of new Fall Goods. It's refreshing to ourselves as well as our customers to see them, because they represent the latest and newest styles for fall 1902 that are to be.

AN EARLY START—Our Dressmakers are back from their holidays. Our Milliners are now busy in the centres of fashion preparing for the fall trade, every indication points to early fall, and we will be better prepared than ever to cater to the wants of the Peterborough public.

PRETTY POLKA DOTS

Polka Dot Cashmeres in the different colours are pretty and popular for Waists. You can choose here from a lot of very pretty colours, and you will find the prices reasonable as well.

AFTER SUNDOWN

You frequently need a light protection for the throat and neck. These lovely Chiffon Ruffs and Collarettes afford it and, at the same time, add a charming finish to the costume. They come in blacks and whites and black and white mixtures. They are New York goods, the finest quality and beautifully made.

CORSET COVERS

A particularly nice display of particularly nice covers, made of fine cambric and trimmed with laces, embroideries and dainty ribbons in white or light colours. Prices are about anything you please—from 25c up to a dollar or so.

SLUMBER GOWNS

Of cambric, muslin, or fine cotton, made in the new styles and trimmed with ruffles and embroidery. Your choice starts at 75c, and goes up by easy steps to $2.25, and every price a low one.

NEW DRESS GOODS

Some very pretty Fabrics among the new Dress Goods. If you are interested or intend purchasing later, you better see these new weaves and fabrics . . . . . .

THE 14TH FIELD BATTERY.

Will Go Into Camp Next Tuesday at Cobourg.

Orders by Major Neil F. McNaughton—Quick Firing Guns—New Equipment.

The 14th Midland Field Battery will go into camp at Cobourg on Tuesday next, and there should be a full representation of all ranks when the men go under canvass. As will be noticed by the orders published below, the 14th is the only battery in the Canadian Artillery to be equipped with the latest quick-firing guns. The camp this year promises to be a most successful one. The following orders have been issued:—

Headquarters 14th Midland Field Battery, Cobourg, August 26th, 1902.

1. The 14th M.F.B. will go into camp at Cobourg on Tuesday, 2nd September.

2. The drivers No. 1 and draught horses will assemble at Port Hope on Monday, September 1st, for the purpose of fitting the new quick release harness.

3. Captain Cairns with one Non-Com. Officer and two men will report at Cobourg on Monday, September 1st, to lay out the camp ground and have the camp in readiness for the remainder of the battery.

4. The men who leave Peterborough on Monday will be in command of Lieut. Ackerman.

5. Transport will be arranged for the men leaving the several points.

6. Each man will provide himself with knife, fork and spoon, and the necessary material for cleaning clothes, and boots and helmet and horses.

7. It is the wish of the Commanding Officer that the men of the Battery will do their best to uphold the honour of the Battery and as the Battery is now equipped with the only quick firing guns that have been issued in Canada, and quick release harness there is no reason why, with close attention to the work and interest in the welfare of the corps, that the 14th should not be one of the first batteries in the Dominion. Extra rations will be issued to the men at camp same as last year at Deseronto.

8. The drivers will be allowed an extra day's pay for their attendance, also the Nos. 1, the owners of draught horses will be allowed for one day extra, provided they report in Port Hope on Monday making 13 days for the camp.

NEIL F. MACNACHTON,
Major.

THE PROPERTY COMMITTEE

reported as follows through its chairman, Ald. Batten;

1.—We advertised for tenders for a new boiler for heating the town buildings and for radiators and pipes, including the work of putting in the boiler and other fittings.

2.—We recommend that Adam Hall's tender for the vertical steel boiler, with the other fittings and work, be accepted, provided he executes a proper contract and guarantee.

3.—We recommend that the Clerk write to Mr. John McGrath and inform him that the Council will pay him $150 for the piece of land for the opening on Antrim street, at the corner of Harvey street, as shown on the plan made by Mr. T. A. S. Hay, and tell him if this offer is not accepted in writing by Sept. 10th, 1902, it will then be withdrawn.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOS. BATTEN,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

THE BOARD OF WORKS

reported through its chairman, Ald. Best, as subjoined;

1.—That we examined the petitions for a sewer on the lane leading from Inverlea street to Smith street, on Smith street to Water street, and on Water street to Dublin street, and found them sufficiently signed. We recommend that the petitions be granted, and that the Town Engineer T.A.S. Hay advertise for tenders for the work in two contracts, one contract including the lane, and the other the balance of the work, providing that Mr. R.M. Dennistoun gives an agreement to the Town to purchase at par the debentures for the cost of the work on the lane, bearing four per cent. interest.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

HENRY BEST,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

By-laws were passed, authorizing the execution of contracts with Adam Hall, for the new heating apparatus required in the town buildings; with Richard Sheeby, for the construction of a sewer on Harvey street, and with Wm. Henry and Samuel Kennedy for the construction of a granolithic pavement on Walton street.

The Council then adjourned until Tuesday evening.

TAKEN FOR TRAMPS.

An Amusing Adventure Which was met With by Crossley and Hunter up in Muskoka.

The Belleville Intelligencer tells the following good story:

"Messrs. Crossley and Hunter, the evangelists, had an amusing experience on one of the islands of Muskoka where they have been spending the summer.

"They had been out canoeing and came to an island where a woman kept a boarding house. They were dressed in true camping costume, and their somewhat unkempt appearance made them look like rather hard citizens and when they accosted the boarding house "misses" with a request for dinner she looked at them rather suspiciously. As they intended paying for their dinner, however, they were accommodated, but their appearance was against them, and the landlady sat them at a table in the kitchen, and refused to allow such apparently disreputable characters to sit at the table with the other boarders. They ate a hearty dinner, paid for it, and went on their way.

"The evangelists afterwards visited another island where a party, including Mrs. L. W. Yeomans, of Belleville, are rusticating, and they laughingly told of the manner in which they had their dinner in a kitchen. The joke reached a more amusing point later when Mrs. Yeomans was visiting some friends on the island where the boarding house is. In conversation with the landlady, the latter told her of having fed two suspicious looking tramps. Mrs. Yeomans had one of the dodgers which the evangelists had distributed while holding their meetings in Belleville, which contained their portraits. She showed this to the boarding house keeper, who promptly said: 'Yes, those are the men.' The surprise of the woman can be imagined when she learned that the two men whom she fed as suspicious looking tramps were the well known revivalists.

"None enjoyed the joke better than Messrs. Crossley and Hunter themselves."

"ALERT"

and

PALACE BARGE, "LADYSMITH,"

(W. E. White, Captain.)

This fast and popular little steamer is open for charter for excursions for the season of 1902. The steamer and barge have a carrying capacity of 500. The "Alert" has been fitted with the most modern improvements, including machinery, etc., and has a speed, with the barge, of 7 miles an hour. The crew will be found to be careful and obliging, and the best of attention is guaranteed the travelling public.

Parties wishing to take a day's outing on Stony Lake, or any of the Kawartha Lakes, cannot do better than charter the fast sailing steamer Alert. Parties of fifteen people and upwards can charter this steamer for the day at a very reasonable price. Prices made to suit parties. This gives the people a splendid chance of seeing the Lakes and gives more time at the different points of interest than by going by the regular steamers. No crowding. Hot and cold water always provided on board the steamer.

A GENEROUS EDITOR.

Cheated by a Fake Story in His Own Newspaper.

The following true story of a New York reporter is told by a correspondent:

"As a reporter my friend had not won the regard of his city editor. He frequently failed to return from an assignment with 'a good story.' So when he was told to draw $10 from the office, go out and give it to a man genuinely in need of it and then write, as a social study, the needy man's valuation of current reports of abounding prosperity in the country my friend thought he had a task that was easy, but organized charity would not, because of principle, encourage such 'indiscriminate giving' and refused to tell of any one who was in extremity. Going down to the Bowery, the reporter questioned a policeman and was directed to a certain tenement. When he got there, the man had been dispossessed and had taken his family out of the neighborhood. After no success with two other devices for discovering a man really in want it looked as though the reporter would once more have to go back to the office and report failure.

"But what so preposterous as to say to the city editor that a man who was badly off for the lack of $10 and who had views on the subject of prosperity was not to be found?

"Press time was near. Some plan of action had to be decided on. Meeting a friend who, though earning a good deal, always spent more, the reporter said, 'For heaven's sake, don't you need $10?' With excellent presence of mind the man answered in the proper way, and the reporter dashed back to his desk to write his little social study. He imagined a poor man who had a pitiful need and told an imaginary tale about him.

"It was charming, but very sad. The city editor next afternoon praised him; it was 'the finest story of the day.' He added: 'Already several men have stopped in to leave checks, and here is a fifty dollar bill the chief himself just dropped on my desk for the poor man. You cash these checks and take all the money to him and write something about the relief it will afford to him. Wait a moment; here's another $25. Why, it's from the chief again; you see what an impression you've made!' Taking the money, the young reporter hesitated, fumbled it. 'Well?' inquired the city editor.

"Then the young reporter had to give the account of the hunt for a needy man as here set forth. After looking out the window a long time the city editor said:

"'Of course you are indefinitely suspended. I ought to devise some torture for you also. You might,' he concluded, rising, 'picture to yourself what feelings the old man will have—that kindly old chief to whom I must return this $75—when he hears that he was cheated by a fake in his own newspaper!'"

BILIOUSNESS.

A Very Unpleasant and Common Complaint and one Easily Cured.

When by any impairment in the action of the Liver or Digestive Organs the bile, which the liver secretes, is backed up through the system, the result is biliousness; with bilous fever, bilous headache, sallow complexion, nausea or vomiting.

These conditions are often extremely dangerous and always distressing, and the very first symptom of biliousness should be instantly treated till set right.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the most successful remedy in the treatment of such cases.

There is every reason why they should be, for they have been compounded for this especial purpose.

In every box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will be found two kinds of Tablets.

The large white tablets are digestive medicine, which acts immediately on the food in the stomach, digesting it—every bit of it, animal and vegetable—without the assistance of the stomach itself, thus preventing the accumulation of masses of undigested and decomposing matter in the bowels. This undigested food is very hard to carry off, and has an extremely injurious effect on the liver.

In a small envelope contained in every box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will be found a number of small brown tablets, which are intended to be used when the liver and bowels are not working naturally, and which should always be used with the larger white ones in cases of biliousness.

These are the very best liver regulators, and a few doses will soon relieve the very worst cases. They ae a gentle laxative, acting without purging or pain, and have never failed to give satisfactory cure when used as directed.

Why He Cried.

Old Gentleman—Why are you crying, my little man?

Small Boy (sobbing)—I dreamed last night that the school burned down, and—

Old Gentleman (sympathetically)—Oh, but I don't believe that it has.

Small Boy—Neither do I. I kin see the top of it over the hill.

The Cause Removed.

In curing disease its only a waste of time to treat the symptoms. The medicine must reach the cause. Morrill's System Tonic does this. It purifies the blood, builds up the system, strengthens the nerves and is the only positive cure known for Constipation, Dyspepsia, Nerve Troubles and Kidney Diseases—all disappear when it is taken. The Way in Which Two English Actors Once Paid a Visit.

Here is an amusing story of Messrs. Toole and Brough, the English comedians. Having appeared conjointly in a drama, "Dearer Than Life," in which they wore very ragged, woebegone costumes, they visited the well known artists Fradelle and Marshall to be photographed in their rags. While waiting "between the plates" Toole, who was fond of a lark, suggested to his brother comedian to sally out and call upon a certain mutual acquaintance, who would be horribly shocked at receiving visitors in such a garb. Brough at once assented, and, popping on their battered hats, out into the street the pair slipped and made for the house of their friend. Of course the neat housemaid and the neater Buttons were horrified and declined even without being asked to purchase matches or the like.

"I axes your pardon," said Toole in an assumed tone. "You're making a slight mistake. We want to see your master." And he mentioned the gentleman's Christian name and that of his wife.

"We have important business with him," chimed in Brough.

The girl's face wore a dazed aspect, and she said: "Master never sees the likes of you at his house. He's most perticklar, ain't he, Charles?" appealing to the page. "You must be making a mistake."

"Oh, no, we ain't!" responded Toole with supreme gravity. "But I'm sorry William"—the Christian name of the gentleman—"is out. I haven't got a card about me," pretending to fumble among his rags, "but tell your master that his two cousins from the workhouse called as they were passing through London."—London Tit-Bits.

PENNY POSTAGE.

The Incident That Led to Its Establishment in England.

Many years ago, when Queen Victoria first began to reign, it cost ninepence to send a letter from one English city to another. In those days the postage was not paid by the sender of the letter, as is now customary, but by the receiver. So, of course, there were many poor people who could not afford to pay ninepence when their mail arrived, and it often happened that they were obliged to forfeit the letters.

One day a man named Rowland Hill was riding on the outskirts of a city, and he saw a postman bring a letter to a young girl and demand ninepence for it. The girl took the letter, scrutinised it carefully and then handed it back to the man, saying she could not afford to pay the postage. Thereupon Rowland Hill, being a kind hearted man, rode up and insisted upon paying it himself. When the postman had gone, the girl confessed to her benefactor that the letter was from her lover, and to avoid paying ninepence on every letter he made certain marks on the envelope which she alone could decipher.

"But," said Rowland Hill, "don't you know you are doing something very dishonest in thus cheating the government?"

The girl admitted she did, but there was no other way to do.

Hill rode away and meditated over this little incident, and his farfamed idea of "penny postage" was the result. At first he was laughed at by every one, but he fought bravely and finally was rewarded by seeing his idea in practice all over the land.

The Source of Complexion.

According to Dr. York, offspring always takes the complexion from the father; hence, if a father of a negro baby has any white blood in his veins, the child at birth will be nearly as white as a Caucasian. On the other hand, the child of a white mother and a black father will, after a month's time, be nearly as black as the full blooded negro.—London Standard.

How Like a Man!

Mrs. Nocknoodle—Oh, Norris, if you would always be as good and gentle and kind as you are at this moment, how happy we might be!

Mr. Nocknoodle (losing his temper instantly and bellowing at the top of his voice)—Do you mean to say, madam, that I am not always as good and kind as I am at this moment?

Hope For the Future.

"Come, come!" cried the candidate's friend, "don't be disheartened so easily."

"But I'm sure to be beaten," replied the candidate dismally.

"Nonsense! Let your motto be, 'He who runs and fights away, may live to run another day.'"

PLOWING WITH ELEPHANTS

Barnum's Reply to the Farmer Who Asked Whether It Would Pay.

It may be said of P. T. Barnum that he was the major domo or lord of laughter and fun, the protean dispenser of amusement. How well he became known through this function one curious incident certifies. Some years before he died an obscure person in some remote part of Asia wrote a letter, which he dropped in the postoffice near him, directed to "Mr. Barnum, America." The letter reached its destination without an hour's delay. The great showman unaffectedly enjoyed being known from the very beginning of his celebrity, and when he found his celebrity was a tremendous factor in his success he did everything that he could think of to extend the exploitation of his name. This was not to nourish vain imaginings or because he felt exalted. It was to promote business.

Around his successive homes at Bridgeport, Conn., he was fond of putting something that suggested a show. Queerly marked cattle, the sacred cow or an elephant was frequently among the stock to be noticed in his fields. On one occasion he had an elephant engaged in plowing on the sloping hill where it could be plainly seen by the passengers on the New Haven and Hartford railroad, an agricultural innovation that he knew would get notice of some sort in every newspaper in the country. It was even said that he received letters from farmers far and wide asking how much hay one elephant ate and if it was more profitable to plow with an elephant than with horses or oxen. His replies were invariably frank and were of this purport: If you have a large museum in New York and a great railway sends trains full of passengers within eyeshot of the performance, it will pay, and pay well, but if you have no such institution then horses and oxen will prove more economical.

Asthma Can Be Cured.

Thousands of testimonials conclusively prove that Asthma can be permanently cured by inhaling Catarrhozone, a vegetable antiseptic that destroys at once the germs causing the diseases. Catarrhozone gives immediate relief to the distressing cough and suffocating sensations, makes breathing easy and regular and insures undisturbed sleep. Catarrhozone cures Asthma that doctors are unable even to relieve and can cure you. The Catarrhozone inhaler is made of hard rubber, fits into the vest pocket can be used at work, in church, in the street, in bed—any place—at any time. Two months treatment (guaranteed,) price $1.00, trial size 25c. Druggists, of N. C. Poison & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Trifles.

There is no such thing in life as a trifle; every event and action, however unimportant seemingly, has a root below and a branch above which twist and turn into some other root and branch, making part of the great substance on and in which we live. Its presence and absence both affect the entire mass of which it forms a part.—Exchange.

He Was Not.

"Frankly, we would not."

"Neither would the millionaire. I asked him last night."

Had Bleeding, Itching Piles

And now Claims That the Best Thing in the World for Piles is

Dr. Chase's Ointment.

The doctors are wrong. They usually claim that an operation, with all its risk, pain and expense, is the only cure for piles. We can prove by the statements of thousands of good, honest men and women that Dr. Chase's Ointment not only promptly relieves the suffering from piles, but also positively cures this dreadful ailment. It frequently cures after the knife has failed.

Mr. J. F. Miller, who is employed as cooper by the Kennedy & Davis Milling Co., Lindsay, Ont., states,— "I believe that Dr. Chase's Ointment is the best thing in the world for the piles. I say this because it has positively and thoroughly cured me of itching, bleeding piles, and this after all other remedies I could procure had failed. I can recommend this ointment to anyone suffering from piles, knowing that it will certainly cure."

IMPACTED EAR WAX.

Where It Comes From and How It Should Be Treated.

The normal secretion of the orifice of the ear is the product of glands situated in the outer half of the canal only. This secretion—the cerumen, or ear wax—is slowly poured from the gland ducts as a thin, yellowish liquid. As it quickly loses a large amount of its watery elements by evaporation and becomes admixed with dust it forms a thin layer, waxlike in color and consistency, which normally covers only the outer portion of the canal, that in which the glands are located.

This layer of material probably has its chief function, in common with the few small hairs in the same location, in protecting the vibratory membrane—the drum—from the contact of dust.

It is interesting to observe that the exit of this layer of wax is accomplished by nature chiefly with the aid of the motion communicated to the ear canal by the movement of the jaw in chewing and talking, a motion readily felt by touching the orifice with the finger tip during these processes. The constant increase of the secretion is therefore provided with a corresponding loss, which takes place almost as imperceptibly as the constant loss of the superficial layer of the skin from the surface of the body.

This explanation serves to make clear why the use of ear spoons, pins or hairpins is unnecessary. The use of such objects is not only superfluous, but it is often the cause of the very condition which those who use them would prevent.

Even too vigorous washing with a twisted cloth or sponge, for example, may result in pushing the wax back into the canal until a mass sufficient to block the entire opening is accumulated.

The first intimation of the presence of impacted wax is often the sudden occurrence of a considerable degree of deafness. This is most likely to happen on a damp day or just after or during a bath. A slight amount of moisture causes the mass to swell so that the narrow chink previously existing between the mass and the canal is closed. If it is not now removed, the mass may shrink and the hearing power be temporarily restored, only to be lost again when conditions arise causing an increase in the size of the mass.

Firm, gentle syringing with warm water from a piston ear syringe is usually regarded as the safest and best method of removing the mass, the handling of which had better be intrusted to a physician or trained nurse, if possible.

THE COOKBOOK.

In making any sauce put the flour and butter in together, and your sauce will not be lumpy.

A heavy salad is always out of place in an elaborate dinner. Mayonnaise is permissible, but French dressing is better.

If corned beef is very red, which means it is very salt, put it to cook in cold water. This draws out a portion of the salt.

When croquette mixtures are too wet to mold and shape, put in more chopped meat or fish or in a desperate case finely pounded breadcrumbs.

In making custard for lemon pies it is better to partly bake the crust before adding the mixture so that it may not be absorbed by the paste.

Gingerbread is improved by adding to it, when mixing, a cupful of chopped prunes. Use the juice of the prunes instead of water and mix the dough a little stiffer.

Fried breakfast bacon is much improved if cooked in some of the bacon fat saved from the previous day. There should be just enough for the bacon to float in, and it must be hot before the rashers are added. Cook three minutes.

"Stonewall" Jackson's Baptism.

Robert E. Lee and Thomas Jonathan ("Stonewall") Jackson were once stationed at Fort Hamilton, New York harbor, the former while it was being built. Jackson was baptized at old St. John's church at Fort Hamilton, and the records contain the following entry: "On Sunday, 29th of April, 1849, I baptized Thomas Jonathan Jackson, major in the United States army; sponsors, Colonels Taylor and Dimmick, also of the army." The baptismal font used for this ceremony is still preserved

Wholesale.

A Frenchman was teaching in a large school where he had a reputation for making some queer mistakes. One day he was taking a class which was rather disorderly. What with the heat and troublesome boys he was very snappish. Having punished several boys and sent one to the bottom of the class, he at last shouted out in a passion, "Ze whole class go to ze bottom!"

Relatively Speaking.

"He must be put out of the way," said the feudal king. "But, your majesty," protested the lord high executioner, "he is your first cousin." "I know; but I prefer to have him my 'cousin once removed.'"

Good Advice.

"Help! Help!" came the cry of distress through the midnight stillness.

The policeman in the neighboring doorway stirred uneasily. "Advertise in the want column," he muttered and resumed his nap.

A celebrated physician declares that the increase in height and weight of Britons and Americans during the last half century is chiefly due to the increased consumption of sugar.

THE GIANT'S CAUSEWAY.

Formation and Appearance of This Odd Freak of Nature.

The Giant's causeway is situated at the northern extremity of County Antrim, a short distance from Port Rush, Ireland. It consists of countless hosts of basaltic pillars, varying in shape from a pentagon to an octagon, the average length of each column or pillar being about eighty feet, the whole stacked so closely together that a knife blade could hardly be inserted between them. But the formation of these pillars is not the least wonderful part about them, for, although they may be counted by thousands and tens of thousands, each column is fashioned with a symmetry that suggests a mason's handiwork. Their composition is a perfect fusion of one-half flinty earth, one-quarter lime and clay, one-quarter almost pure iron, each pillar being divided into regular lengths or joints which come together as a perfect, natural ball and socket union.

Although to be found in small detachments (imbedded in the cliffs, sands, etc.) for some distance along the shore, the principal aggregations forming the causeway proper consist of three projections or tongues known as little, middle and grand causeways. These singular columns are of different lengths and present an astonishing appearance as they stand, an army of at least 40,000 strong marshaled on the shores of Erin as if ever ready to do battle with the rising tide.

THE HUMAN STOMACH.

How It Is Overworked by Three Big Daily Meals.

It requires about five hours for the stomach to work on an ordinary meal and pass it out of itself, when it falls into a state of repose; hence if a man eats three times a day his stomach must work fifteen hours out of twenty-four. After a night's sleep we wake up with a certain amount of bodily vigor which is faithfully portioned out to every muscle of the system and every set of muscles, each its rightful share, the stomach among others.

When the external body gets weary after a long day's work, the stomach bears its share of the fatigue, but if when the body is weary with the day's toil we put it to bed, giving the stomach meanwhile a five hours' task which must be performed, we impose upon the very best friend we have—the one that gives us one of the largest amounts of earthly enjoyment—and if this overtaxing is continued it must as certainly wear out prematurely as the body itself will if it is overworked every day.

And if persons eat between meals then the stomach has no rest from breakfast in the morning until 1, 2, 3 or 4 o'clock next day; hence it is that so many persons have dyspepsia. The stomach is worked so much and so constantly that it becomes too weak to work at all.

Quick Justice at Ascot.

Not only the horses, but the powers of the law, says the London Chronicle, are swift at Ascot, for the course has a special tribunal for the punishment of evildoers. No sooner is the pickpocket, welsher or ticket snatcher arrested than he is standing in a little room in the royal stand, where the evidence is heard and the verdict and sentence pronounced before the offender fully realizes that he is caught. Nowhere else does punishment so swiftly follow crime as at this court, which is decreed by clause 31 of the indictable offenses act of 1848.

This race course tribunal arose curiously in the eighteenth century from an assault upon a royal personage. In his indignation at the impossibility of instant punishment of the assailant he ordered that in future a magistrate should always attend the royal race meeting. This has ever since been done, and by the above mentioned act the chief magistrate of Bow street was constituted ex officio a justice of the peace of the county of Berks in order to enable him to hold this court at Ascot.

Pimples, Blotches and Skin Eruptions

How unsightly, sometimes even disgusting, and certainly very mortifying to the sufferer. They are merely an evidence of impure, poisoned blood, and lowered vitality of the elementary organs, which can be quickly changed by taking Ferrozone after meals. Ferrozone cleanses the blood of all poisons and eruptions, makes it rich in red corpuscles that manifest themselves in a healthy ruddy complexion. To have a pure, soft skin and good complexion simply use Ferrozone regularly. Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at Ormond & Walsh's.

The Word "Joss."

"It's a mistake to suppose that 'joss' is a Chinese word," says a retired ship's carpenter. "I've traveled a good bit in the orient in my time, and among the odds and ends of interesting information I picked up was a knockout of the genuineness of 'joss' as a Chinese word. Chinamen only know 'joss' when they come in contract with Europeans. A Chinese priest that I became chummy with in Hankow told me that there was no such word in Chinese. He explained that the word was a corruption of the Spanish word 'Dios' and had come into use through the missionaries. Many early missionaries, he said, were Spanish priests, and their pronunciation of 'Dios' was speedily corrupted into 'joss' by native tongues and applied to the Chinese deities. It's only on the Chinese seaboard that the word is understood by Chinamen. In the interior, the priest told me, the Celestials had no knowledge of it."

Fear of the Future.

Most people who dread the future are victims of some terrible disease. Mrs. W. Francis, 304 Colborne street, Kingston, was in a bad state with kidney disease. She had severe pains in back and legs, was gradually losing flesh and felt a dread of the future. A friend recommended Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and the result was a complete cure. There is no medicine more reliable, none so certain to produce a thorough cure. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

THE TWO GREAT AIMS of a man's life are:

Protection for his Family
Protection for Himself

The Endowment Assurance effects them both. Here is the result of an Endowment Policy:—

No. 1406 for $5,000 taken out 25 years ago. CASH $6,823.50. Total premiums paid in 10 years, $3,495.00. (the policy was a 10 pay 25 year Endowment.)

This is a return of all premiums paid with $3,328.50 in in addition, to say nothing of the 25 year Life Assurance.

The assured had an investment of over 4 per cent. compound interest in addition to having his life insured for twenty-five years.

PETERBOROUGH

THE NORWOOD BUDGET.

What is Going on in the Village to the East.

August 26th, 1902.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Brown, of Peterborough, gave our village a call on Thursday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pearce, of Marmora, were the guests of Mr. J. B. Pearce on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Meharry, of Peterborough, spent Thursday of last week with their daughter, Mrs. J. E. Roxburgh.

Misses F. and W. Miller, of Keene, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Eaton, Ridge street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. F. Campbell, of Georgetown, are the guests of Mr. J. B. Pearce.

Miss Mabel Foster, who has been spending a couple of weeks at her home, here, returned to Trenton on Thursday last.

Mr. Geo. Nichol, C.P.R. agent here, leaves to-night for a couple of weeks' holidays in western Ontario. During his absence his place will be filled by Mr. Bacchus.

Dr. S. P. Ford has greatly improved the appearance of his residence on Ridge street by the erection of a new wire fence.

The Norwood High and Model Schools will re-open on Tuesday next, Sept. 2nd, when once more our village will ring with the merry laugh of the school boys and girls.

Mr. W. A. Torrie, of Lakefield, was in town to-day attending the funeral of the late J. A. Wilson.

Mr. W. E. Roxburgh was down from the lake to-day attending to business.

Miss B. Anderson, of Whitby, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John McMillan, on Queen street.

On Sunday the pulpit of the Presbyterian church here was occupied by the Rev. F. D. Roxburgh, who preached two very impressive sermons to large congregations. The Rev. J. F. Somerville conducted services for Mr. Roxburgh in Smithville.

It is our sad duty this week to record the death of one of Norwood's most popular sons, in the person of J. Arthur Wilson. Mr. Wilson has been living in the United States for the past few months, and while there contracted typhoid fever, which proved fatal on Saturday afternoon. The remains were brought to Norwpod on Monday evening and the funeral took place to-day at 2.30 o'clock, from his mother's residence, on Queen street. The deceased was in his 27th year, and was the only son of Mrs. M. A. Wilson, whom he leaves with two sisters to mourn his loss.

The Village Council met on Wednesday evening, pursuant to notice. All members present. The Reeve, John Finlay, Esq., in the chair.

L. H. Kirkpatrick appeared before the council re ingress and egress to his lot on Ridge street.

Moved by A. J. Robertson and E. P. Cuffe, that I. N. Ackerman, with the movers of the motion, be a committee to adjust the approach to Mr. Kirkpatrick's lot on Ridge street.—Carried.

Moved by I. N. Ackerman and F. Fry, that the following accounts be paid, and orders drawn on the treasurer for the same.—Carried:

D. Harrison, work	6 00
Geo. Peters, teaming	10 25
Geo. Peters, 150 ft. cedar	2 50
H. Fife, use of jacks	1 00
W. Harrison, 76 ft. cedar	75
Wm. Morrow repairing sidewalks...	2 00
Geo. Reynolds, work	1 25

Moved by A. J. Robertson and I. N. Ackerman, that this council procure 1,000 feet of lumber for repairs.—Carried.

High and Public School Debenture Rate—Bylaw No. 264 read 1st time. Councillor Robertson in chair for 2nd reading. Moved by Councillors Fry and Cuffe, that bylaw No. 264 be read 3rd time.—Carried.

County and Village Rate—Bylaw No. 265 read 1st time. Councillor Cuff in chair for second reading. Moved by Messrs. Robertson and Ackerman, that bylaw No. 265 be read 3ed time.—Carried.

Street Watering—Bylaw No. 266 read 1st time. Councillor Ackerman in chair for 2nd reading. Moved by Councillors Fry and Cuffe, that bylaw No. 266 be read a 3rd time.—Carried.

Moved by Councillors Fry and Robertson, that this council take no action in rebating the taxes against lots 23 and 24, Queen street.—Carried.

Moved by Councillors Ackerman and Cuffe, that the clerk notify the owners of weigh scales to have the same removed from streets in 14 days. If not, that the council will remove same at owner's expense.—Carried.

Moved by Councillors Fry and Cuffe that the council hold next meeting on the first Monday in October.—Carried.

Hard on the Hack Business.

That great discovery made by a Brantford druggist and known as Four T's does away with hacking and coughing in two days. As a lung tonic and lung tissue reconstructor it has no equal. Children take Four T's and it cures whooping cough and croup. Price 25c per bottle. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

A SEQUEL TO MR. DUMBLE'S LETTER.

Another Phase of the Question Presented.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In yesterday's issue of your paper Mr. Dumble has a sensible letter in regard to recreation grounds for our young people. But I question whether this remedy he proposes as a safety valve for too much juvenile animal spirits will be effective to remove what he complains of, namely, the unruly conduct of youngsters. I am inclined to think that the evil largely has its origin, negatively at least, in the very department over which he presides. It seems to me that our police service has not the deterrent effect it should have. The most important function of the administration of the law, is, I take it, prevention. Our police force is a forcible example of centralization. We have them centred round the station and the signal of the stomach—meal time—seems to be the chief call that withdraws them from the sedentary luxury of their well polished arm chairs in the station. We hardly see them outside of a very limited beat within a few squares of the police station. If they were to patrol the outskirts of the town they would see many infractions of the laws or bylaws, which require their attention. The other day a young woman tooled her wheel on the sidewalk in front of the Chief's private residence. She was cited before the Police Magistrate and fined for a breach of the by-law; and very properly, too, and it would have been much more proper, if the hundreds of others who break the same bylaw scores of times a day were similarly treated. Every day in the outskirts of the town where my business frequently calls me, I see men, women and children riding wheels on the walks, with jaunty indifference, and with to them, blissful impunity, for in these remote parts there is no policemen to take note of the offence. The public wont act as informers when they pay a police force to do such work. When an offender has to come under the very noses of the police to commit an offence, in order that punishment may be inflicted, is not this evidence that police surveillance is exercised in too limited an area in the central part of the town. For a good deal of the hoodlumism Mr. Dumble complains of, the responsibility rests in the very block of buildings where his daily court is held. If he would see that our police force made regular, and not too infrequent patrol of the outlying districts, the minor but, nevertheless, annoying breaches of the law would be prevented. Some of these fine days some reckless bicyclist, riding on the sidewalks, will run down some child or elderly person and maim or seriously injure them, and then, perhaps, the police will take cognizance of a dangerous practice, without those who follow it coming to the very doors of the police to get their attention. I speak of this because it is the most palpably common offence. But in many other ways there is laxity. Thousands of weeds are growing in vacant lots promising an abundant harvest of seed for future crops of the pests, and there are hundreds of dogs in the town, which have never paid taxes—many of them curs which are a nuisance to citizens who, in all conscience, pay enough taxes on their properties and incomes. These are a few of the things which nobody seems to look after, and can we wonder that with such laxity bad boys sometimes work off their animal spirits to the annoyance of their elders. I am in favour of boys having all the play that is good for them—if the boys had a little more play and the police a little less there would, perhaps, be not so little cause for complaint. I don't blame the police so much, individually; I am sure that their time must hang heavy on their hands. But the authorities should see that the civic machinery of administration of our bylaws is jogged a little out of the rut. Let the police magistrate make the police court precincts the centre from which a little vigilance would radiate beyond the market square and some of the evils he referrs to in his timely letter of yesterday would be minimised if not removed.

Yours truly,

G. ROWLER,

Aug. 27th, 1902.

Our correspondent is pretty hard upon the authorities and the police, but he is a considerable tax-payer and claims the right to plead for better value for the taxes he pays. But whether his specific complaints are justified, he approaches the truth when he hints at the laxity that, as a rule, characterizes, no more in Peterborough than elsewhere, general, civic administration. Civic bodies pass bylaws by the ream and little thought is given to their enforcement. In some cases it is perhaps as well that this is the case. If all our laws and bylaws were rigidly enforced a good many of us would be in jail. Our correspondent should not be too hard on the police. A stream doesn't rise above its source and if the general civic administrative body is apathetic it is not human nature to go beyond the precident thus set forth. And are policemen always upheld in the discharge of their duty? A policeman hauling a person to jail does not get any too much sympathy from the surrounding crowd. The glee when a prisoner gets the better of a representative of the law, is not very carefully concealed. If citizens generally helped the police by themselves, conforming to many of the minor bylaws there would be less bad example set to the unruly. But we can't hope to set up Utopia at once, and Mr. Dumble and Mr. Bowler will have to write a good many letters before they bring about the ideal state of society.

CRICKET.

The Millbrook Colts Cricket Club is desirous of getting on a game with a junior aggregation from Peterborough.

LACROSSE.

The Athletics will practice to-night night and to-morrow night.

An effort is being made to have the Port Hope team come to Peterborough for Labour Day.

The Hastings and Millbrook lacrosse teams were to have come together to-day. However, Millbrook wanted to strengthen up their metal by playing a couple outsiders and the Hastings men called the game off.

An effort is being made to have the Shamrocks, of Toronto Junction, come down for a game here on Saturday, September 9th.

An interesting game of lacrosse was played on Victoria Park yesterday afternoon, between two juvenile teams, the Victorias and the Aylmer street 12, resulting in a victory for the later team by a score of 5 to 2. Both teams possess splendid material and the next game between the two twelves should be of interest to all. The teams were as follows; Victors—E. Barber, goal; A. Hill, Hill, point; M. Dobbin, b. point; V. Morphet, 1st def.; B. Grange, 2nd def.; C. Lech, 3rd def.; R. Lynch, centre; K. Lech, 1st home; B. Hawkins, 2nd home; F. Hawkins, 3rd home; S. Lang, outside. Aylmer street — W. O'Brien, goal; P. Lynch, point; P. Holland, c. point; W. Coones, 1st def.; A. Huffman, 2nd def.; L. Lafore, 3rd def.; W. Sinnett, centre; J. O'Brien, 1st home; W. Cahill, 2nd home; S. Holland, 3rd home; Clancy, outside.

Sunday afternoon the last nail was driven into the coffin of lacrosse at Quebec, by a disgraceful row at a match between two local teams, on Savard Park, in which both players and spectators took part, and not a few were more or less seriously injured. It is said no more matches will be played in the city league.

Hastings will play Norwood in Havelock on Labour Day.

A great game was played in Hastings, the other day between the "Has-Beens" and the Hastings seniors. The "Has-Beens" included many of the prominent business and professional men of the town who had not been in harness for years. The score has not as yet been given out by the referee.

RUGBY.

The rugby season is fast approaching and local chasers of the pig skin are becoming impatient to get on the field. The annual meeting will be held in September, when the Club will be well officered for the season. The Peterborough senior team is considerably shaken up this season through the absence of Andy Scott, Revell, Smith, Hurtieboise, Norman Bell and several other of the stalwarts of last season. However, the management expect to place some new material in the field. An effort should also be made to place a junior fifteen in the O.R.F.U. Port Hope, Cobourg and other towns in this district will likely do likewise.

"If I had 100 or 1,000 children," says E. Benjamin Andrews, chancellor of the University of Nebraska, in a recent lecture, "I would want every one of them to play football, if they were strong enough, and to play it hard and strenuously. Boys ought to be trained in strenuousness. That is the great value of football; it is a school in endurance, courage and resolution."

TENNIS.

The game of tennis has not flourished in Peterborough to the extent it might have this season. In fact there has been less tennis played so far this year than for several years past. This may in a measure be due to the unfavourable weather that prevailed during June, July and the early part of August. The indications are that we are going to have a fine September and favoured with such an event there is no reason why the various clubs should not get down to business.

At the International Tennis Tournament at Niagara, McDonald beat F. D. Kerr, of Peterborough, yesterday, in the preliminary round of the men's handicap by 6—4, 6—2.

Newport, R.I., Aug. 27.—For the third time in eight years English aspirations for the highest American Tennis honours in singles, have been dashed when they seemed almost within reach of the persistent foreigners, for to-day William A. Larned, of Summit, N.J., successfully defended his title as champion by defeating Reginald F. Doherty, of England, three sets to one. The scores were 4—6, 6—2, 6—4, 8—6. It was a grand game on both sides, but it sapped the vitality of each player until it became a question of endurance, and the American proved to be in better condition. A scorching sun was no insignificant factor in the result, and at the end Doherty, unused to such hot rays, almost collapsed. It was generally acknowledged that had the day been cool like those of last week, the battle would have been fought longer, harder, and perhaps with a different result. Larned, however, played the game of his life, for Doherty is undoubtedly the strongest player who ever came to America. The defeat of the Englishman was not only a surprise, but a bitter disappointment to the Dohety brrothers. They will not go home empted handed, however, for the pair are the American champions in doubles, and next year they will return, not only to defend this title, but for another chance at the more important single championship.

But if the result was disappointing to the English it set nearly 4,000 loyal Americans, who watched every stroke, almost frantic with joy, and the demonstration which followed the last play when Doherty sent the ball into the net will live for many years in the annals of sport.

The Englishman was outplayed, probably at every point, for the first time in his life. Larned was stronger at the net, covered court far better, proved a sterling baseline player, and when the strain came in the third and fourth sets, showed himself to be in magnificent condition.

DEMANDS WITHOUT THREATS.

A Solid Phalanx of 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 Workingmen to Ask For an Advance of From 10 to 20 Per Cent. on the Present Scale of Wages — Denial by Morrissey.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—The Record-Herald says: Operating employes of every railway system in the United States and Canada are planning the greatest labor movement in the history of their organizations, and as a result the railway managers of the entire country will soon be facing the most serious problem of the kind presented in many years.

The movement which is well under way, is one of concerted action for higher wages for every class of workmen employed in the operation of trains. It includes engineers, conductors, trainmen or brakemen, firemen, car men and switchmen. Back of the movement will be a solid phalanx of between 1,000,000 and 1,500,000 workingmen bent upon forcing the railroads to give them what they deem to be a just share of the proceeds of the phenomenal prosperity that has come to the companies. It is understood that the demands will range between 10 and 20 per cent. higher than the present scale of wages, and that the demands will be made upon certain groups of roads by the middle of September.

The demands will not be accompanied by threats to strike, but of course the strike spectre will from now on be constantly behind the chair of every general manager in the country. Should a strike result it will be the greatest in the history of railroads, and will paralyze the transportation facilities from one end of the country to the other.

Patrick H. Morrissey, Grand Master of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, passed through Chicago Tuesday. In regard to the movement of the trainmen for increased wages "all along the line," he said that no concerted action was being taken so far as he was aware, adding that the trainmen's organization was growing rapidly and making new agreements with railroads constantly.

The Canadian End of It.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—For some time past the local branches of the Railway Brotherhood have been discussing the proposal as outlined in the above despatch. The details have not as yet been given to the Toronto members, the working out having been left to the Executive Boards of the Brotherhood.

Demands Formulated at Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 29.—By Sept. 15 the large railway systems of the country will be confronted with a demand by 100,000 members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen for an increase in wages, which will mean an additional outlay of $1,000,000 a month for wages by railroads in the country or the alternative of a strike, which will eclipse all previous strikes, including the demonstration of the American Railway Union in 1894.

The demands, which have been formulated here, but not yet presented, are for an increase of 20 per cent. in wages.

FIGHTING IN COAL FIELDS.

Two Strikers and Two Guards Killed in West Virginia — Collision Between Troops and Miners at Tamaqua, Pa.

Tamaqua, Pa., Aug. 29.—The first clash between the striking miners and the troops occurred yesterday morning, and, as a result, five prisoners are in the guard house at the 12th Regiment camp, and Capt. J. Beaver Gearhardt of Company F, 12th Regiment, is suffering from a wound in the shoulder, made by a stone thrown by a striker.

Two Strikers Killed.

Roanoke, Va., Aug. 29.—Advices received at the general offices of the Norfolk and Western Railway Company from the coal fields say that two mine guards and two strikers were killed in a battle on Crane Creek, in Mercer County, W. Va. yesterday morning. ...

Situation Acute.

Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 29.—The troops ordered to the New River strike district yesterday by Governor White arrived there during the afternoon, and established headquarters at Thurmond. The situation is very acute.

Protest in Lisgar.

Winnipeg, Aug. 29.—The prothonotary, acting as master under the Election Act, has given notice of trial of the petition presented against the election of D. A. Stewart as member for Lisgar. The trial will be held Sept. 23 at Manitou.

Wilson Found Guilty.

Guelph, Aug. 29.—George Wilson, the man arrested about ten days ago at the Grand Trunk station and charged with attempted burglary, was found guilty, but sentence was deferred by Judge Jamieson until Saturday.

COMPETING CRACKS.

Made Many Bulls and Inners at Long Branch Thursday.

AN IMPROVEMENT ON FIRST DAY

The Results in Thursday's Competition —City of Toronto Match—Duke of Cornwall and York Match—Osler and Macdonald Matches—Crack Shots Greeted by Clear Atmosphere and a Brisk Wind.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—It was a clear atmosphere, but a brisk wind that greeted the crack shots of Canada at the Long Branch rifle ranges yesterday. The second day's work was much more accurate as a result of the absence of the haze of Wednesday. The little white circle with the black dot in the centre, indicating a bull's-eye, was kept bobbing up and down incessantly, and there was considerable enthusiasm manifested. The attendance was slightly better than the day before.

The semi-annual meeting of the association, better known as the "Kickers' Club," held an animated session in the afternoon. The attendance was large, and the points were brought out on several subjects that elicited much attention.

$400 presented by the corporation of the City of Toronto and $240 added by the association, open to members, to competed for in two stages. First stage, 500 and 600 yards; second stage, 800 yards, open to the highest to be competed for in two stages First places of the 50 competitors will be decided by their aggregate score in the two stages.

Number of rounds at each range—Seven at 500 yards, ten at 600 yards, and seven at 800 yards.

Ranges and positions, 500, 600 and 800 yards, prone.

First stage 500 and 600 yards—Pte. John T. Peddle, 5th R.S., 82; Major W. P. Moore, 20th. 82; Pte. PATRIOTIC OPTIMISM.

The large environments of the west apparently breed largeness of mind. In the contracted east we sometimes find narrower minds. There are several Conservative journals in Ontario whose party bigotry and narrowness lead them to gratuitously vilify public men of an opposite political faith, with no other apparent object than that of exhibiting party rancour. It is no matter to them how in the process these "dirty birds" foul their own nest—discredit Canada abroad by decrying the men who represent it. British Columbia with its environment of magnificent expanse—the azure sweep of the crystal Pacific on the one hand and the terrestrial ocean of billowing dips of golden grain on the other—furnishes an opposite example of journalistic spirit. The Victoria, B. C., Colonist, Conservative in every line but with honourable and patriotic instincts which subordinate one-sided party bitterness, is "bold enough to be honest" in dealing with the standing and record of a public man. It finds space and opportunity to pay the following well-deserved tribute to the tireless energy and unsleeping aggressiveness of Hon. J. Israel Tarte, Minister of Public Works, who is rapidly living and working down the prejudices of political opponents, and of even political friends, whose natural caution, has had difficulty in following the spirited lead of the Minister of Public Works. The Colonist, referring to Mr. Tarte, says:

"He is a man of big ideas. His projects leap ahead of time and circumstance, but they are in the womb of destiny for Canada, just the same. He is the optimist of Canada, and this country needs optimism above all its wants and requirements. Furthermore, he is a man of intense and burning patriotism, as are most optimists. Furthermore, he is a man of geniat and charming personality."

Mr. Tarte may seem daft on the transportation question, but he is bringing the public to see that it is the one question of supreme importance in relation to the development of the great natural resources of Canada, and the realization of the future of greatness that development will bring. Trade intercourse and transportation are co-related factors in international advancement. Our mineral wealth, our wealth of forest and field might as well be dormant for the future forever, if they do not, through transportation facilities receive the ultimate utilization of trade interchange. We are moving for fast Atlantic transportation, whose value will be largely neutralized if the complementary conditions of more perfected internal transportation facilities are not provided. Mr. Tarte may be regarded as visionary by the unreflecting, but a careful analysis of his projects reveals behind them a calculating prescience justified by the conditions, that give them weight.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Some are fearing danger from the American invasion of our North-West—that is, American farmers settling there. Hon. Sidney Fisher says that these new settlers from the south cease to be Americans. Seventy per cent. of the Americans settling in the Canadian North-West have become naturalised British subjects.

The hog cuts a good deal of ice even outside of Toronto. One would hardly think the husky porker contributed about 12 1-2 million dollars to the export trade of Canada, not counting the millions represented by home consumption. The export trade would have been larger, too, if the farmers could supply the demand of the packing establishments.

GROWTH OF OUR BACON INDUSTRY.

No part of Canadian export trade—outside of wheat—shows such rapid expansion as that connected with the bacon hog. In 1890 our exports of bacon and hams were valued at a little over half a million dollars; by 1898 the figure was up to three and three-quarter millions; and by 1900 it was twelve and three-quarter millions. For the year ending June 30th last the total was a little less than twelve and a half millions. The cause of the falling off, as compared with 1900, is not due to any decrease in demand. It is simply because the hogs were not in the country to meet the requirements of the trade. Supplies are, however, evidently coming up again, as our exports of bacon and hams for the fiscal year ending June last were well over half a million in excess of the previous twelve months.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

CUTTING NEARLY ALL OVER.

By End of Week Crop Will Be Ready For Threshing.

Winnipeg, Aug. 29.—Already wheat cutting is over in several districts in Manitoba, and threshing begun in at least one place, so that by the end of this week the great crop will be ready for stacking or threshing from the stock.

The weather continues settled, bright and warm. The last of the first series of harvest excursions arrived Wednesday, and the men were rushed out yesterday to their destinations. Fully 10,000 more will be required when threshing is in full swing.

A dozen machines will start up in this district to-day.

A LIBERAL REUNION IN WEST DURHAM.

A Most Successful Political Picnic—Hon. J. I. Tarte and Hon. J. R. Stratton Present—Both Delivered Addresses.

At a highly successful political picnic of the old time variety held at Bowmanville Wednesday, addresses were given by Hon. J. I. Tarte and Hon. J. R. Stratton. Hon. Mr. Tarte's address was printed in yesterday's issue, and below will be found a summary of the speech delivered by Mr. Stratton on the occasion, as reported in the Globe:

Hon. J. R. Stratton was warmly received. He said that he was much pleased to have the opportunity of addressing so many of the people of the Riding of West Durham, a constituency where political interest had always been so keen, and which had taken such a prominent part in the public life of the Dominion and of the Province of Ontario. He referred to the many prominent men who had represented the riding in Canadian politics. The Administration in the last election came out of the contest with a majority of one, and he supposed that the Liberal electors of West Durham would claim that Mr. Rickard was the one. That majority of one appeared to be a great source of disquietude and uneasiness to the Conservatives. It worried them terribly, but the Administration were not at all anxious over it. The situation reminded him of the business man who found himself in rather a tight place financially. He could not meet his debts as they came due. He confided his troubles to a friend. "It worries me greatly," he said; "I can't rest. Sometimes I get up and walk the floor all night." "You great fool," replied his friend, "Why don't you take it calmly, and let the other fellow walk the floor?" It was the Conservatives, not the Liberals, who were on the anxious seat, who were doing all the fretting and fuming over the majority of one. Some people were very hard to satisfy. For years they had been raising the cry that the Government majority was too large. Now, when they had a small, he might say a compact, majority, they didn't seem a bit better pleased. They couldn't see how Mr. Ross could carry on the Government with a majority of one. He would commend to their attention the alternative proposition, "How is Mr. Whitney going to form and conduct an Administration with a minority of one?" They were satisfied that their position would be sustained when the House met. If their majority was small, it would grow. This was the growing time. The farmers had had splendid crops, and he did not doubt that the political field would yield equally well after the winnowing process was over. The election courts would undo much which the Conservatives had accomplished by those corrupt and unworthy methods which he regretted to say, had been largely resorted to by that party, in pursuance of their usual tactics. When a number of constituencies had been thrown open he was confident that the practical business sense of the electors would assert itself, and that many who had from motives of pique or resentment rather than from political feeling voted against the Government would realize their mistake.

THE GROWING TIME.

Speaking of the harvest, he said that the lastest returns were of a highly satisfactory character. The figures respecting the wheat crop showed the average yield of fall wheat per acre to be nearly 26 bushels, as compared with the general average of 20 bushels. Spring wheat had yielded on the average considerably over 19 bushels per acre, the general average for that crop being 15 1-2 bushels. Barley and oats showed an even greater increase, while the apple crop, which was a feature of growing importance, would amount to over forty million bushels, or three times more than in 1901. The bounteous harvest was a guarantee for the continuance of that prosperity which the country had fortunately been enjoying for some years, and towards which the judicious policy and legislation of the Liberal party had largely contributed. There was no better or more reliable barometer of the general financial condition than the banking business of the country. Taking the month of June last, and comparing its banking business with that of June, 1901, he found that the subscribed capital stock of Ontario banks had increased from $23,246,400 to $25,050,000, their deposits had risen from $137,803,308 to $152,994,201, and their loans in Canada from $135,744,791 to $151,529,402. The note circulation in Ontario banks had increased from $19,349,053 to $21,633,487. There was no mistaking this evidence of the general properity and business activity which everywhere prevailed, of which the farmer was receiving his full share, as evidenced by the great improvements in the buildings and surroundings of the farms observable everywhere. The Province of Ontario had more money in the bank. On the tenth day of July last there was approximately a balance in the hands of the banks to the credit of the Provincial Treasurer of $1,704,000, of which $1,447,431 were special deposits drawing interest. It would be rather difficult to convince any farmer who had his land paid for, and a good round sum to his credit in the bank, that he was on the verge of bankruptcy and ruin. Yet that was the position of Ontario.

The policy of the Ross Administration was one of the progressive development of all our vast natural resources to the highest degree possible by Canadian skill and labour. It was their object that all the raw products drawn from our lands, forests and mines, should be worked up into articles of finished manufacture at home, instead of exporting the raw material, and the measures so far adopted had been steadily framed with that end in view, and would be reinforced and amplified from time to time by additional legislation, until it was fully attained, with as little disturbance of existing interests as possible.

Among other examples of the effect of this policy, he said that three times as much iron ore was taken out of Ontario mines last year, as in 1900, the yield amounting to over 278,000 tons. The beneficial effects of the Government policy of granting bounties for the production of pig iron, and thereby encouraging the working up of our iron ore within the Province, was shown by the phenominal increase in the output of pig iron, of which 116,000 tons, or more than double the quantity made the previous year, was produced, the value being over $1, 700,000. Steel manufacture, too, was beginning to take an important place among our industries, as over 14,000 tons of steel was produced, worth $347,000.

After explaining thee ffect of the development of New Outario, in stimulating old Ontario interests, Mr. Stratton alluded to the enormous increase in Canadian exports, particularly in those concentrated food products on which Ontario was the chief producer.

20 Years of Itching Piles.

Mr. Alex. McLaughlin, Bowmanville, Ont., writes that for twenty years he suffered terribly from itching piles. Seven years ago he asked a druggist for the best cure for piles and was told to use Dr. Chase's Ointment. He continued this treatment until entirely cured, and as he has never had any return of his old trouble considers his cure permanent and remarkable on account of the length of time he suffered.

TO FIGHT SHIP TRUST.

British Government Completes Plan Against Morgan.

London, Aug. 29.—The Daily Mail yesterday morning said it believed the Government's plan for meeting the Morgan shipping combination is now completed and that the Government departments are discussing and working on the details. The plan is in charge of the Colonial Office, says the paper, which fact is an augury for thoroughness and efficiency.

Steel Trust International.

Berlin, Aug. 29.—The combination of American and English steel and iron exporting interests continues to supply food for discussion.

The announcement is made by way of prelude that the English, American, Belgian and German steel mills have arrived at an agreement to export steel rails to Canada, of which the United States and English works supply 116,660 tons and the German and Belgian works 58,000 tons.

Spanish Sugar Trust.

London, Aug. 29.—Cabling from Madrid, the correspondent of The Standard, says financial papers of that city announce that preparations are far advanced for the creation of a Spanish sugar trust. This idea, however, is strongly censured by the press, and it will be criticised in the Cortes.

Third Arbitrator Chosen.

Hamilton, Aug. 29.—Yesterday morning William Bell and W. G. Reid, the arbitrators chosen respectively by the Cataract Power Company and the Electrical Workers' Union, to arbitrate on the question of hours and wages, agreed on H. N. Kittson, the third arbitrator. He has consented to act. The arbitrators will not meet to consider the questions before them till next Tuesday or Wednesday.

Missionaries Told to Go.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 29.—Letters received in Hendricks County from Everett Morgan and wife, missionaries at Colovci, Mexico say that the natives have warned them to leave the city by Sept. 17 on pain of being put to death.

The letters say they are not the only ones whose lives are in peril. They have appealed to the authorities at Washington, but expect to leave Colovci.

Victor's Welcome to Berlin.

Berlin, Aug. 29. — The entry of King Victor Emmanuel into the city, and his drive through the Unter Den Linden, was advanced purposely half an hour over the published time as a possible precaution against disorder. The welcome to the visitor was very hearty. In the evening a state banquet was given at which the Kaiser and the King of Italy spoke in turn.

If you study true economy and the health of your family, Malt Breakfast Food must be your choice. Grocers everywhere.

A Lad's Fatal Turn.

Ottawa, Aug. 29.—A little son of W. H. Pierce, was killed yesterday afternoon. He was riding a bicycle and he was pitched from his wheel and thrown by the impetus of this all under neath a car. The wheel struck his left leg and broke it, and his body was pinned underneath the motor, the chest being crushed in.

THE EASTERN ROUTE.

Approved by Commissioners of the Government Railway.

OFFERS NUMEROUS ADVANTAGES

Engineers' Report of the Temiskaming and Northern Railway Favored This Route—Tenders Will Be Called For at Once—Exact Location Out of North Bay Left in Abeyance.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—The Temiskaming Railway Commission met Thursday afternoon. Specifications for tenders were gone over, and it was decided to advertise for tenders for the construction of the road. They will be advertised for up to Sept. 28, the conditions being that the first fifty miles will be completed by Dec. 31, 1903, and the whole road finished by Dec. 31, 1904.

The route has been decided on in accordance with the report of the engineer, Mr. Russell, which was approved by the report of G. A. Mountain of Ottawa, the consulting engineer.

Mr. Mountain's report was entirely in favor of the eastern route, and he stated that the western route, the line located by the Nipissing & James Bay Railway, was through a tract of country of practically solid rock and hard pan. The grades were also much heavier than by the eastern route, which was through a more fertile and heavily timbered country. The report, which was in support of that presented by Engineer Russell, was adopted.

The exact location of the tracks for the first three miles out of North Bay was left in abeyance, however, until the commissioners pay a visit to the town in order to be convinced themselves as to the best point of entrance. Under the circumstance it is not known yet whether the construction work will be started from North Bay or Nipissing Junction, some five or six miles north.

The whole length of the projected route is 110 miles.

Valuable Advice to Rheumatics.

Eat meat sparingly, and take very little sugar. Avoid intoxicants, keep away from dampness, drink water abundantly, and always rely on Nerviline as a quick reliever of Rheumatic pains. Being five times stronger than ordinary remedies, Nerviline's power over pain is simply beyond belief. It cures also Sciatica, Lumbago, Neuralgia, and all pain, whether internal or external. Large bottles, price 25c.

FARMER SHOT BY A BOY.

Some Mystery About a Case Near Ashton, Near Ottawa.

Ottawa, Aug. 29.—A shooting affair occurred near Ashton, which may have a fatal termination. The victim is Jas. Emery, a farmer, residing about two miles from the village. The weapon was in the hands of an orphan lad who was working for Emery. The latter made the remark, "That revolver can't shoot," and the boy answered, "It can shoot sparrows; it'll shoot you." The neighbors believe, despite the boast, that the shooting was accidental. Emery and the lad were in the barn at the time, and Emery received a ball in his breast about an inch and a half below the left nipple. Dr. Gorrell was called, but was unable to locate the ball. Emery lies in a dangerous condition. At the request of Crown Attorney Ritchie, Chief Hamilton of the county police left for the scene to investigate the affair and take Emery's deposition.

Obituary.

Much sympathy is expressed for Mrs. P. K. Ellis, who resides at the corner of Smith and George streets, in the loss she has sustained in the death of her promising young son, Gordon Mowat, aged eight years. His death occurred at the Nicholls hospital yesterday at four o'clock, as the result of an operation for tubercular knee trouble. The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock, and proceed to Little Lake Cemetery.

BRICKLAYERS AND MASONS.

A special meeting of the members of the Bricklayers' and Masons' Union is called for Saturday night at 8 o'clock in their hall.

The New Dam.

The work of constructing the concrete dam at the foot of London street is progressing favourably. A large force of men is now engaged and the work of constructing the coffer dam is in progress. Many of the men are working in water up to their waists. The sawdust is being dug out from where the power house will be stationed, and in a short while the appearance of the old premises will be quite changed. Contractor O'Toole is advertising for more men and for stone.

Early Autumn Millinery at Miss Delaney's.

The first month of fall will soon be ushered in. The Millinery campaign is well under way, and the ladies are eagerly awaiting the first glimpses of autumn novelties. Miss Delaney, who returned a few days ago from New York and other fashion centres, after nearly a month's visit of inspection, to the leading millinery houses, has already received many advanced lines for the season. An early visit to her millinery showrooms will prove decidedly interesting to fashionable dressers. Some of the attractive features of her display consist of the newest fetching American veilings, new Knockabout Hats, stylish, ready-to-wear Autumn Hats, and other early expositions of the new fashions and fancies for the coming season. Nowhere will the ladies form a more accurate idea of the early fall styles, up-to-date, than is to be seen at Miss Delaney's at present. fdlw.

A PRESENTATION.

The Night-Owls Said Farewell to Mr. E. Van Dusen.

The residence of Mrs. Jas. Stubbs, 231 Dublin street, was last night the scene of a very enjoyable social gathering, when the members and ex-members of the Night-Owl Basketball Team gathered en masse to partake of the hospitality of Mrs. Stubbs and say farewell to one of their number, Mr. E. Van Dusen, of the staff of the Peterborough Business College, who leaves town to-morrow for his home in Picton, where he will spend a week or so before taking up his new duties at the business college at Brockville.

After all had done ample justice to the good things provided, Mr. Van Dusen was presented with an address and a gold pen, as a token of the high esteem in which he is held by the many friends he has made since his coming to town. He replied in a fitting speech, thanking those present for their many acts of kindness towards him, and for the presentation. One-minute speeches were then made by each Night-Owl, all of whom spoke in very complimentary terms of Mr. Van Dusen, and the gathering dispersed after Mr. Stubbs had favoured them with a few selections on his phonograph.

BARNS BURNED.

Mr. J. H. Moore, of Belmont Meets With a Heavy Loss.

During the heavy thunder storm which passed over this locality on Wednesday night of last week the barn and stable of Mr. J. H. Moore's farm, in the Township of Belmont, about four miles east of Norwood, struck by lightning and consumed. Mr. Moore's loss is heavy, as the buildings were filled with hay and grain, the season's crop having been all harvested with the exception of the oat crop. The loss is roughly estimated at $1,000, against which there is insurance to the amount of $650 in the London Mutual, distributed as follows—on barn, $250; contents $200, stable $100, contents $100.

A PIEBALD MOLE.

Another Colour Freak of Nature.

Mr. Paul Payne, of Warsaw, gave Mr. Elcome another freak of nature—a star-nosed mole, with a large white ring around its neck. The jet black surroundings of the natural coat, make this appear very conspicious. Mr. Elcome's fame and skill as a taxidermist is bringing "fish to his net" in the shape of freaks. It happens that his freaks are harmless when stuffed and laid by. If Mr. Elcome could secure some of the moral freaks that run loose in the world, and render them harmless by stuffing them and mounting them on wires, his collection would be as interesting from the moral point of view as it is now from the artistic and natural history point of view. With his white deer and his dandified mole with a white collar, he needs only a white blackbird to make his collection unique, especially in the matter of misplaced pigment. By the way, the Examiner has to thank Mr. Elcome for a photograph of the white deer recently shipped to New York.

A Little Game of Draw.

The City Clothing Store is not regarded as a sporting establishment, but to-day it staked its safe on a "little game of draw." The safe was placed on a "stone boat," to be drawn to their splendid new premises, and with a good deal of excitement it was safly encomsed in its new quarters, where it is to be hoped the luck of the "golden horse-shoe" will fill it with cash every day in the week.

MR. MANNING'S FAREWELL.

Was the Recipient of Several Presentations.

He Left To-day for London Where he Will in Future Reside—Will be Missed Here.

Mr. John Manning, who for the past three years has been in charge of the Examiner job rooms, left to-day to assume the responsible position of manager of the job department of the London Advertiser. During Mr. and Mrs. Manning's stay in Peterborough they made many warm friends, who will regret exceedingly their departure from town. Mr. Manning was prominent in church and Y. M.C.A. work and was well remembered by the latter fraternity before leaving. Amongst the employees of the Examiner Mr. Manning was held in high esteem as was evidenced yesterday afternoon when he was presented with a fountain pen and a beautiful Oddfellow's stick pin, by the employees. Mr. Manning made a suitable reply to the expression of good will on the part of the boys.

ANOTHER PRESENTATION.

The many friends of Mr. John Manning, who are members of the Y.M.C.A., met last evening in the parlour of the building to show their appreciation of him, as he severs his connection with the Association on account of his departure for London. Mr. Manning during the three years he has resided here has been a most efficient worker in the Y. M. C. A., serving as chairman of the Bible Study Committee, director of the Social Bible Club, and president of the Stranger's Fellowship Club. That these features of work are so successful reflects greatly on Mr. Manning.

The parlour was filled with members representing these special features. Mr. Williamson presided, and after the S.B.C. hymn had been sung and prayer offered by Mr. Ayers, several short addresses were given.

Mr. Arthur Upton, as vice director of the Bible Club, then stepped forward, accompanied by Mr. L. Johnston, the secretary, and presented Mr. Manning with an address and a handsome teacher's Bible. The address was as follows:

Mr. John Manning, Peterborough:

Dear Mr. Manning,—As you are about leaving Peterborough to take up your residence in London, we the members of the Social Bible Club, desire to express our high esteem for your untiring efforts on our behalf.

Ever since the club was organized by you three years ago, it has under your direction made marked progress, until it is the largest in the Association.

We feel that under your skilful leadership in the promotion of the principles of S.P.F. we have spent many pleasant and profitable evenings together. Under your careful study of the Word and your efficient manner of imparting it to others, that many of us have been brought to a knowledge of the Truth as it is in Jesus, and other encouraged and strengthened in His service.

As a memento of the high esteem in which you are held by us, we ask you to accept the accompanying Bible as a token of our sincere appreciation of your ability and zeal.

We all extend to you and Mrs. Manning our best wishes for your future success and hope that in the years that are to come ,you may continue to be used and blessed in the work of the Master.

Yours, in S. P. and F. on behalf of the Club,

GEO. H. WILLIAMSON,
Hon. Director.
ARTHUR UPTON,
Vice Director.
L. JOHNSTON,
Secretary.

Peterborough Aug. 28th, 1902.

Mr. Manning gave a feeling and appreciative reply and urged the boys to follow out the principles of S. P. and F.

Members of the Stranger's Fellowship Club then took their part of the programme and short speeches were given by Messrs. Hall, James, Galley and Gerrard, the last named being Mr. Manning's successor in the Bible Club work.

As Mr. Gerrard concluded he produced an address from the Stranger's Fellowship Club, while the secretary, Mr. Galley appeared with a leather travelling suit case as the gift from that Club. The second address read as follows:

Mr. John Manning, Peterborough:

Dear Fellow Worker,—We, the members of the Stranger's Fellowship Club of the Peterborough Young Men's Christian Association, while regretting your removal from our midst, yet wish on this the eve of your departure to congratulate you on your business promotion, and to show in some measure our deep appreciation of your worth as a fellow worker in the cause of Christ.

While we recognize that your services in the other departments of work have been most valuable, yet your connection with the Stranger's Fellowship Club as its first promoter and president, and your faithful work in it, has contributed to make this one of the most successful factors in Association work to-day.

The kindly Christian interest you have shown in directing the work of locating strangers and bringing them into helpful associations will be remembered by those who have laboured with you, as well by the men who have been helped by such efforts. The chain of influences so set in motion by you can only be measured in the light of eternity and the commendation of the Master. "I was a stranger and ye took Me in; inasmuch as ye did it unto one of the least, ye did it unto Me."

We ask you to accept this suit case as but a slight mark of our appreciation of you.

As you leave us, we assure you and your good partner in life, our best wishes and prayers for your future usefulness and success.

Signed on behalf of the Club,

R. MERRELL, Vice-President. G. L. GALLEY, Secretary.

Mr. Manning again replied and the very pleasant gathering was brought to a close by the singing of the Fellowship Club hymn "Take the Name of Jesus with You," and prayer by the chairman of the evening.

KILL THE WEED.

The Sweet Clover That is Doing Much Damage.

The Toronto people are waging war upon the sweet clover that is growing up in great quantities in the outskirts of the city. An effort is being made to stamp out its growth. Peterborough is suffering from the appearance of sweet clover, which exists in great quantities in some parts of the town. The seed of the sweet clover is supposed to have come from the western States, and it spreads and becomes a greater nuisance than the Canadian thistle. Peterborough people should make an effort to stamp out the growth of the weed in town, a great deal of which abounds on Smith town hill.

Canadian Grown Fruits and Vegetables

We are receiving fine Canadian berries from the best growers. Also some fine home-grown cucumbers have just arrived. S.A. OKE, 376 George street. 'Phone 18.

COTTAGERS OF CHEMONG PARK.

They Meet and Organize as an Association.

WILL SEEK CORPORATION.

Over a Score Attended the First Meeting—Mr. T. H. G. Denne is the President—Many Matters Discussed.

A meeting of the cottagers at Chemong Park was held last evening in the Park Hotel for the purpose of organizing an association and considering the advisibility of incorporating as a village.

Amongst those in attendance were Messrs. T. H. G. Denne, D. H. Burritt, J. M. Brooke, R. M. Dennistoun, Myles Henry, H. Rush, H. Cluxton, Wm. Overend, Walter Stocker, Alex. Elliott, A. E. Dixon, Robt. Leary, L.G. Forbert, T. A. S. Hay, T. F. Matthews, and L. M. Hayes, of Peterborough; G. H. Ball, Commodore D. B. McCombe, of New York; W. R. Hartshorne, of Chemong, and W. J. Hopewood, of Toronto.

Mayor Denne was asked to preside, and on motion of Messrs. Alex. Elliott and T. A. S. Hay, the Chemong Park Association was formally formed. Officers for the year were then elected as follows;

President, Mr. T. H. G. Denne.
Vice-President, Mr. Alex. Elliott.
Sec.-Treas., Mr. D. H. Burritt.

Executive Committee—Messrs. T. A. S. Hay, T. F. Matthews, W. H. Hill, W. R. Hartshorne, W. J. Hopwood and S. Ray.

It was decided that the annual meeting each year shall be held on the last Thursday in August.

A committee composed of the Executive Committee and Messrs. R. M. Dennistoun, L. M. Hayes and A. E. Dixon was appointed to prepare a constitution for the Association.

In response to a request, Mr. R. M. Dennistoun addressed the meeting relative to the benefit such an Association would be to the cottagers. He instanced Sturgeon Point as a summer resort, which had become incorporated as a village and pointed out some of the advantages which had been reaped therefrom, particularly in the matter of keeping order on the grounds and installing a system for the removal of garbage, which had been entirely neglected in some cases, much to the disadvantage of the community. All the offices of the village had been vested in one man, and by a clause in this act of incorporation, the cottagers were permitted to hold their elections each year in Lindsay, at the same time as the municipal elections were held in that town—considerable expense was thus avoided. The rate of assessment was fixed by the cottagers themselves, and they had the control of the expenditure of all the money raised, with the exception of a small contribution to the County and to the Township school rate. Mr. Dennistoun suggested that before any steps towards incorporation were taken, the Township Council of Smith be interviewed and an effort made to obtain the consent of the Councillors to the withdrawal of the Park from the Township.

President Denne mentioned the fact of the Park residents contributing about $350.00 a year in taxes to the Township, for which, he stated, there was no adequate return made. This amount was more than one thousand acres in the Township was asked to contribute. If the Park was incorporated the cottagers could spend this amount in improving the roads and beautifying the place and have something to show for the taxes which they were called upon to pay. He urged that incorporation be completed as soon as possible, as in the evnt of an electric railway being constructed to the Park it would be well to have the control of the place in the hands of the cottagers. Another point to which he called attention was that as an Association, the cottagers could petition the Provincial Secretary to re-stock Chemong Lake with bass, in the same manner as he had assisted the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association.

Mr. T. A. S. Hay thought that great benefit would be derived by the cottagers through doing away with the mediaeval statute labour system of looking after the roads.

Mr. W. J. Hopwood endorsed Mr. Denne's remarks concerning the necessity of incorporating before an electric railway was run out to the Park.

On motion of Commodore McCombe and Mr. Alex. Elliott, the Executive was authorized to act in the matter at once.

The Executive was also given power to make an equitable assessment on the cottagers to raise funds for incorporation.

The matter of transportaion afforded food for a long discussion. The question of putting an automobile on the road was dismissed, as the makers will not as yet give any guarantee with the machines. Mr. Robt. Leary explained that he had to discontinue his 'bus line on account of lack of patronage, but showed how a single 'bus line could be made to pay if run in conjunction with the boats and train. The whole matter was finally referred to the Executive.

Mr. Dennistoun asked that the Executive call the attention of the local Government officials to the condition of the Park wharf, which he considered was quite dangerous.

Mr. Hartshorne stated that the steps leading to the wharf had been renewed by Mr. Pope at his own expense, which he did not think was right.

It was decided that the old plan of offering a gold-headed cane or some suitable prize to the pathmaster having his section of road in the best condition be again adopted.

Mr. Hartshorne was appointed policeman for the Association with authority to call upon any member of the Association in time of war.

Mr. Dennistoun explained that while the Sunday services at the pavilion had been carried on by St. John's church for years, yet the members of that church wished it understood that they were perfectly willat any time to give way to the other denominations and arrange to have the services altered in any manner which was satisfactory to all. While St. John's church was perfectly willing to continue the work, still the members did not wish those of other denominations to think that they wanted to hold the service as against others.

Mr. Alex. Elliott spoke of the regattas which the Stony Lake Cottagers held, and mentioned this as one of the things which the new Chemong organization must take up.

The membership fee was fixed at one dollar and Mr. Burritt did a flourishing business at the close of the meeting.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Notes Concerning the Movements of Peterborough People and Their Visitors.

Mrs. Robt. Neill was in from the lakes for the day.

A TEA SWINDLE.

An Unusual Attempt at Fraud at the Port of Toronto.

Toronto, Aug. 28.—Some time ago the 366 half chests, supposed to contain tea, were received in Toronto. They were consigned to C. W. Irwin, the well known customs broker. A few days afterwards the collector, John Small, received notice from the broker that the tea was unfit for use owing to having been damaged by water in the hold of a vessel while in transit from China to New York, a voyage of three months. Instead of destroying the packages Mr. Small and Inspector Douglas ordered that they be opened to satisfy themselves that the goods were as represented. All the tea found in the 366 packages did not amount to over a pound. In place of the tea was a miscellaneous collection of rubbish. The U. S. customs authorities are trying to unearth the swindle.

TOOK THE WRONG BOTTLE.

Mr. Alexander Hunter of Brussels Meets With a Sad Death.

Brussels, Aug. 28.—A sad accident resulted in the death of Mr. Alex. Hunter, Tuesday night. Mr. Hunter was about to prepare a bird for stuffing and had for this purpose a mixture of carbolic acid and other poisons, which he left amongst other bottles containing medicine. When going to the shelf to take some medicine he got the bottle containing the poison and swallowed the greater portion of it before realizing his mistake. He at once ran to Dr. McNaughton's office, where he died soon after. Mr. Hunter was 53 years of age and had lived here for the past twenty-three years, having occupied the position of Division Court Clerk for that period.

BILIOUSNESS.

A Very Unpleasant and Common Complaint and one Easily Cured.

When by any impairment in the action of the Liver or Digestive Organs the bile, which the liver secretes, is backed up through the system, the result is biliousness, with bilous fever, bilous headache, sallow complexion, nausea or vomiting.

These conditions are often extremely dangerous and always distressing, and the very first symptom of biliousness should be instantly treated till set right.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the most successful remedy in the treatment of such cases.

There is every reason why they should be, for they have been compounded for this especial purpose.

In every box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will be found two kinds of Tablets.

The large white tablets are digestive medicine, which acts immediately on the food in the stomach, digesting it—every bit of it, animal and vegetable—without the assistance of the stomach itself, thus preventing the accumulation of masses of undigested and decomposing matter in the bowels. This undigested food is very hard to carry off, and has an extremely injurious effect on the liver.

In a small envelope contained in every box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will be found a number of small brown tablets, which are intended to be used when the liver and bowels are not working naturally, and which should always be used with the larger white ones in cases of biliousness.

These are the very best liver regulators, and a few doses will soon relieve the very worst cases. They ae a gentle laxative, acting without purging or pain, and have never failed to give satisfactory cure when used as directed.

Cut Cords of Hand.

Brussels, Aug. 28.—Mr. Daniel Shines, a farmer, residing about five miles from Brussels, met with a painful accident yesterday. His right hand was badly lacerated, while assisting in feeding a threshing machine. He was receiving the sheaves. While the binding cords were being cut, the knife was drawn across the back of his right hand, severing the cords which will in all probability render his hand useless.

Three Tons of Dynamite Exploded.

Dinorwic, Aug. 28.—The dynamite house at Dinorwic, containing three tons of dynamite, was blown up at 8.30 yesterday. The explosion was terrific. Doors were blown off their hinges and plaster badly damaged and most all the windows in the town were shattered. Two men, who were near the magazine, noticed it was on fire and escaped by jumping in the river.

Moseley's Generosity.

London, Aug. 28.—Alfred Moseley, the diamond merchant, invited several British Trades Unionists and representatives of staple industries in the United Kingdom yesterday to visit the United States as his guests, for the purpose of examining into its industrial situation and progress, with reference to their effect on the position and prospects of the workingmen.

Workman Stabs Fellow Workman.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Aug. 28. — William Michaels killed William Robins yesterday at the Roberts Chemical Works, where both men were employed. Michaels accused Robins of tampering with his locker. A quarrel ensued, during which Michaels drew a large pocket knife and stabbed Robins.

The Cause Removed.

In curing disease its only a waste of time to treat the symptoms. The medicine must reach the cause. Merrill's System Tonic does this. It purifies the blood, builds up the system, strengthens the nerves and is the only positive cure known for Constipation, Dyspepsia, Nerve Troubles and Kidney Diseases—all disappear when it is taken. Three weeks treatment for 50c. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's.

Golf In Old Dutch Picture.

By the seventeenth century golf in Holland had become almost entirely a winter game. The Dutch painters of the period seem to have found a peculiar fascination in winter scenes, with their clear, bright atmosphere and the moving clouds of figures in their various occupations of sledging, skating or golf. As might be expected, many a golfing scene is to be found in pictures by Van de Velde, Van der Neer, Avercamp, Van Goyen and others of their school. Several drawings of this period showing single figures or small groups give perhaps a better idea of the golf of the time.

Unions Must Be Responsible.

Pittsburg, Aug. 28.—Justice Shiras says: "Incorporation of all labor unions is the primary step toward the passage of an arbitration law. The unions must be responsible for the carrying out of an agreement, and until they are there is little hope for compulsory arbitration of labor troubles."

Asthma Can Be Cured.

Thousands of testimonials conclusively prove that Asthma can be permanently cured by inhaling Catarrhozone, a vegetable antiseptic that destroys at once the germs causing the diseases. Catarrhozone gives immediate relief to the distressing cough and suffocating sensations, makes breathing easy and regular and insures undisturbed sleep. Catarrhozone cures Asthma that doctors are unable even to relieve and can cure you. The Catarrhozone inhaler is made of hard rubber, fits into the vest pocket can be used at work, in church, in the street, in bed—any place—at any time. Two months treatment (guaranteed,) price $1.00, trial size 25c. Druggists, of N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

A Juvenile Feminine Prayer.

A little girl was spending the summer at a fashionable watering place, and one morning as she played upon the veranda of the hotel where her mother was stopping she heard a lengthy conversation upon the fashions of the day and the absolute necessity of stylishness in dress if one hoped to be a success in society. One lady went so far as to say that stylishness was far more important than beauty.

That night as the child said her usual prayer she added, with great earnestness, "And, oh, dear Lord do please make me stylish!"

Chronic Catarrh Cured.

In Merrill's System Tonic one finds a pleasant-to-take but powerful blood purifier. It is this feature that makes it a never failing cure for Chronic Catarrh and Chronic Rheumatism. Money spent in snuffs is only wasted. Remove the cause—take Merrill's System Tonic. Price 50c for 50 doses. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

A Soft Answer.

Dibbs (rather shortsighted, overtaking total stranger and slapping him on back from behind)—Hello, old fellow! How are you? So glad to see you again. Who'd have thought of meet—

Stranger—Confound you, sir! How dare you strike me in that blackguardly manner? You ought to be more careful that you've got the right person.

Dibbs—Really, sir, I must apologize, but I took you for the Earl of ——. The likeness is really won—

Stranger (greatly mollified)—Say no more, sir, I entreat. I quite see how the mistake occurred. Magnificent weather, isn't it? Good morning to you; good morning.

Took It Calmly.

A Baltimore physician was once called hurriedly to see the sick child of colored parents in the vicinity and perceived at the first glance that the infant had but a few hours to live. Expecting an outburst of anguish, he broke the truth as gently as possible to the child's mother and was met with the sterling rejoinder, "That's all right, doctor; there's plenty of room for him up yonder, but we're dreadful scrouged down here."

Had Bleeding, Itching Piles

Dr. Chase's Ointment.

The doctors are wrong. They usually claim that an operation, with all its risk, pain and expense, is the only cure for piles. We can prove by the statements of thousands of good, honest men and women that Dr. Chase's Ointment not only promptly relieves the suffering from piles, but also positively cures this dreadful ailment. It frequently cures after the knife has failed.

Mr. J. F. Miller, who is employed as cooper by the Kennedy & Davis Milling Co., Lindsay, Ont., states,— "I believe that Dr. Chase's Ointment is the best thing in the world for the piles. I say this because it has positively and thoroughly cured me of itching, bleeding piles, and this after all other remedies I could procure had failed. I can recommend this ointment to anyone suffering from piles, knowing that it will certainly cure."

THE STEAMER

and

PALACE BARGE, "LADYSMITH,"

(W. H. White, Captain.)

This fast and popular little steamer is open for charter for excursions for the season of 1902. The steamer and barge have a carrying capacity of 600. The "Alert" has been fitted with the most modern improvements, including machinery, etc., and has a speed, with the barge, of 7 miles an hour. The crew will be found to be careful and obliging, and the best of attention is guaranteed the travelling public.

Parties wishing to take a day's outing on Stony Lake, or any of the Kawartha Lakes, cannot do better than charter the fast sailing steamer Alert Parties of fifteen people and upwards can charter this steamer for the day at a very reasonable price. Prices made to suit parties. This gives the people a splendid chance of seeing the Lakes and gives more time at the different points of interest than by going by the regular steamers. No crowding. Hot and cold water always provided on board the steamer.

For further particulars apply to W Bunton, Up-Town Ticket Agent, Peterborough, or to White & Grylls, proprietor, Lakefield, Ont.

SARA BERNHARDT.

"Lally Harvard," Special Correspondent of The Globe, Describes Her.

As a Canadian view of the "divine Sara" the following from the Coronation correspondence of The Globe is very interesting:

Speaking of "historical landmarks" I saw that wonderful "Sara" play "La Dame aux Camilles" the other night at the Garrick in a most marvellous way. One cannot for a moment imagine that she can have entered her sixtieth year. Her extraordinary power in the tender love passages in the play, and her genuine tears and sobs in the scene with the father of her lover, were so absolutely heartbreaking that the audience were moved to the most extraordinary extent. I had the pleasure of going to her dressing room with Mrs. Patrick Campbell after the last act, and found the great actress absolutely unnerved and exhausted by the strain of the part she had played with such skill and abandon, although "skill" can hardly be applicable to such a high manifestation of genius. She told Mrs. Campbell that she had thrown herself into the part, knowing that her sister actress was watching her from an upper box. "I have given just a little bit of my life knowing vitality for you," said the great actress of the day to the dark-eyed Anglo-Italian, who was kneeling before her, pouring out her admiration and delight at the marvellous performance we had witnessed. It was an interesting picture, this famous French actress, whom one saw for the first time without the "make-up" of the stage, for genuine salt tears, which had swollen her eyelids and lips, had washed away every vestige of paint and powder, and the black cosmetic which usually makes her eyes look like caverns. Her mass of rather tousley red-gold hair was pushed off her forehead, and the whole contour of the fine face was brought clearly into view. She was so simple, so earnest, so tremulous, and she asked almost plaintively of the actress, who almost worshippers her art, "We do give to the public bits of our lives, it is true, is it not?" "What did she wear?" I can hear my women readers ask. She was still in her costume in which she is supposed to die in the last scene of that familiar play, and I could only detect that her "robe de nuit" was a filmy knife-pleated garment worn over some close-fitting pink underdress, so that even in this tragic scene the long, tight sleeves which one always associated with Bernhardt almost covered her pink-tipped fingers. A sort of robe de chambre of exquisite white liberty satin was flung carelessly over this intensely Parisian robe de nuit, but one had to exercise one's will power to turn one's attention to what she wore, for the personality of the artiste and the picture made by the two women, who formed such a splendid contrast, riveted one's attention, even though the garment worn by Mrs. Campbell was one which would captivate the writer interested in the subject of frocks and frills. A mass of billowy white chiffon frills, edged with filmy black lace, with a touch of glittering paillettes, and an overdress of most effective Irish lace in bold design, with a bodice impossible to describe to those who have not seen the curious cape effect, which hides the waist line in many of the smart evening frocks. A mass of white roses in the bodice and a spray in the dark hair completed a most effective toilet, but toilets were not in the thoughts of the two great actresses, who have spent a great deal of time together during the last few weeks, having a mutual admiration for each other's work. "It was 3 o'clock this morning when I left her charming garden in Kensington square," Bernhardt said, as she laid her hand on Mrs. Campbell's shoulder, and I could quite imagine that the hours had flown in that most delightful environment.

It is a joy to hear Bernhardt speak French off the stage. The slight guttural pronunciation affected by many members of her company is absent when she speaks, and I noticed the same clearness in enunciation in Coquelin, whom I had the pleasure of meeting at lunch the other day. The extraordinary strides made in the mastering of foreign languages by Londoners is evidenced by the number of foreign plays and players who find the audiences here so tremendously appreciative and satisfactory. Coquelin, Bernhardt and Madame Charlotte Weibe at St. George's Hall show how popular French drama has become in London. Sara Bernhardt was to have been present at Westminster Abbey, and the King signed her "command" with his own hand. "She is never to be rushed or hurried to listen and think over what one says," was a remark I heard the other day. "She constantly looks into the heart of things," and I was amazed at the simple, gentle, almost pathetic manner of one of the greatest women of the day.

On taking leave of the well-known actress I ventured to express my gratitude for the intense pleasure the evening had given, and was unexpectedly honored with a hearty embrace from a woman who has not only retained the youthfulness of a girl, but the impulsiveness of a child.

A Story of Queensland's Mines.

Three men had arranged for a blast of dynamite. Two of them walk away, while the other lights the fuse. The fuse being lighted, the navvy throws the lighted match aside. It drops into a keg of gunpowder, and he is blown up.

He falls, lacerated and burned, just across the hole where the dynamite is. His comrades see his danger, run forward and drag him away just in time. And they go on with their work as if nothing had happened.

HE TOOK THE CAKE.

A Story of William Black, the Novelist, and Mary Anderson.

One time when Mary Anderson was playing in "The Winter's Tale" in Dublin William Black, the novelist, who was very intimate with Miss Anderson and her family, insisted upon assuming the part of one of the supers, who was dressed as a very old man with a venerable beard and locks that fell upon his shoulders. When Black went upon the stage in this disguise, he walked about among his fellow supers with unceasing restlessness and, judging by the wild motions of his arms, seemed to be addressing to each in turn an impassioned harangue. The audience began to wonder who the new actor was and what on earth he was doing in a play in which neither Shakespeare nor the stage managers ever intended him to appear.

Presently came the time when it was the business of Perdita to distribute flowers among the peasants, among whom Black had his place. Miss Anderson, carrying on the practical jokes of the family circle, had prepared a surprise for this moment, and, having distributed flowers among the less favored supers, she handed to Black a large cake crowned with a wreath of laurel, saying as she did so, "You take it," in allusion to his triumphs in the contests of wits at the supper table.

To her consternation, Black showed that he was quite prepared to carry out the jest, for, taking the cake from the hands of Perdita, he immediately distributed it in substantial portions to his hungry fellow supers, who, finding it to be of excellent quality, began to munch it greedily under the eyes of the house.—Exchange.

A Kicking Horse.

A writer in the National Stockman gives this method of treating a kicking horse: Put on him a strong surcingle and crupper. Have one ring where the check hook comes and one eight inches lower on the right side. Now run a strap from the lower ring to the crupper about where the hip strap passes through. Now take a five-eighths inch rope fifteen feet long, fasten it to the ring at the check and then hook through the ring in the halter and back through the lower ring in the surcingle. Strap up his left fore foot. This should be done in a straw yard. Now you have him ready. Take your rope and go ahead of him a few feet, a little to the right, and begin to pull. Hold him steady and let him fight this hard, but keep drawing his head to his side and he will go down to the ground. Now you have him where you want him. Show him you can do as you please with him. Keep him there until he gives up, if it takes all day. Show him you can handle him.

The Butcher Bird's Larder.

It is possible that the butcher bird's "curious and cruel habit" of impaling various creatures upon hedge thorn is his way of supporting his wife during her period of seclusion. Of many species the female is fed by the male on the nest, but the butcher bird's prey consists often of creatures which are too large to be eaten at a mouthful. Even if the male could always drag these carcasses to the nest it is obvious that the female could not eat them there; so the "larder" may have been hit upon as a happy device to get over the difficulty, the female flitting thither to help herself whenever she is hungry.

The World's Large Lakes.

The world has six lakes more than 20,000 square miles. The Caspian is the largest of these, and Lake Huron the smallest.

A SKULL FOR "HAMLET."

The Odd Manner In Which the Elder Booth Acquired One.

The elder Booth acquired a skull for use in "Hamlet" in an odd manner, according to a story in Seen and Heard. The tragedian, somewhat in his cups, was traveling near Louisville when he took a horse from a field and rode off with it. Horse stealing at that time was a capital offense in Kentucky, and the greatest horse thief was a man named Fontaine. Booth was soon overtaken and when asked where he got the animal said:

"I captured him in a field back here."

"Indeed!" said one of the farmers. "And what might your name be?"

"My name is Fontaine," said Booth, without a smile.

"Fontaine!" ejaculated both men simultaneously. "Then you are the very man we want. Come back to town with us."

"Certainly," said Booth in the most good natured manner, and, wheeling his horse, he rode back to Louisville with his captors.

The city jail was then in charge of a Colonel Thomas, who knew Booth well. "We have brought you Fontaine, the horse thief, and claim the reward," said the farmers proudly, addressing the jailer.

"Where is he?" they were asked. Booth was produced. "Why, what does this mean, Mr. Booth?" asked Thomas.

"I haven't the slightest idea," said the great tragedian with the utmost simplicity. "I met these two men with this horse, and they insisted upon giving it to me. I guess they stole it. I think one of them is Fontaine."

The rustics were about to be locked up when by the most singular coincidence a man rushed to the prison door on horseback and shouted out the information that the real Fontaine had been taken into custody. Booth made Fontaine's acquaintance in jail, and the horse thief, who was executed later, left by will his skull to the actor.

Pimples, Blotches and Skin Eruptions

How unsightly, sometimes even disgusting, and certainly very mortifying to the sufferer. They are merely an evidence of impure, poisoned blood, and lowered vitality of the elementary organs, which can be quickly changed by taking Ferrozone after meals. Ferrozone cleanses the blood of all poisons and eruptions, makes it rich in red corpuscles that manifest themselves in a healthy ruddy complexion. To have a pure, soft skin and good complexion simply use Ferrozone regularly. Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at Ormond & Walsh's.

A Cheerful Face.

Next to the sunlight of heaven is a cheerful face. There is no mistaking it. The bright eye, the unclouded brow, the sunny smile—all tell of that which dwells within. Who has not felt its electrifying influence? One glance at this face lifts us out of the mists and shadows into the beautiful realms of hope. One cheerful face in the household will keep everything warm and light within. It may be a very plain face, but there is something in it we feel, yet cannot express, and its cheery smile sends the blood dancing through our veins for very joy. Ah, there is a world of magic in the plain, cheerful face, and we would not exchange it for all the soulless beauty that ever graced the fairest form on earth!—Exchange.

Fear of the Future.

Most people who dread the future are victims of some terrible disease. Mrs. W. Francis, 204 Colborne street, Kingston, was in a bad state with kidney disease. She had severe pains in back and legs, was gradually losing flesh and felt a dread of the future. A friend recommended Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and the result was a complete cure. There is no medicine more reliable, none so certain to produce a thorough cure. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

Easy Sailing.

Visitor—I would like to get you to teach me to sail a boat.

Boatman—Sail a boat? Why, it's easy as swimmin'. Jest grasp the main sheet with one hand an' the tiller with the other, an' if a flaw strikes ease up or bring 'er to an' loose the halyards, but look out fer the gaff an' boom or the hull thing'll be in the water an' ye'll be upset; but if the wind is steady y'r all right, onless y'r too slow in lufin', 'cause then ye'll be upset sure. Jump right in an' try it: but, remember, whatever ye do, don't jibe!"

Bees and Ants.

Bees will place their honeycombs in any place regularly or irregularly shaped, and when they come to corners and angles they seem to stop and consider. Then they vary the shape of the cell, so that the space is exactly filled. It could not be done more satisfactorily if the whole thing had been worked out on paper beforehand. Ants make hard and smooth roads and drive tunnels compared to which man's efforts in making such things are insignificant.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

STONY LAKE NEWS.

The Mount Julian hotel was the scene of much gaiety on Friday evening last, when Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong gave a pleasant entertainment to their guests and visitors, prior to their departure to their various homes.

After months of enjoyment and pleasure, and with ample leisure among the beautiful islands of the Kawartha Lakes, with their magnificent and picturesque beauty, the guests of the house, both Canadian and American, have to acknowledge that the summar dreams are past, and they must return, cherishing fond memories till all meet again. The ever-to-be-remembered evening was spent delightfully in games, recitations, and dancing. Many of the guests displayed their able musical abilities, both vocal and instrumental.

The dining room was next repaired to, where, groaning under the weight, with all the delicacies and tasteful viands, stood the spotless white decked tables, as pretty as the glitter of the lake in the moonlight, with its silver and cut glass that set thereon, and held the abundance of which was heartily partaken of. With many fond remembrances of the happy summer months at the Mount Julian hotel and with much hearty applause for the host and hostess for the untiring way they have extended their generosity for the welfare of their guests during the holiday season, many words of parting and goodbyes were said. The evening was closed by singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

STOCK MARKETS.

Market Expanding, Your Market Opportunity Right now.

New York, Aug. 28.—Dealings are on the increase. Inquiry for stocks is improving each day. Investors will have to become accustomed to accepting lower rate of interest upon their stocks and investments, and investors are already commencing to realize that fact. In these letters some little time ago we called attention to the lower rates of interest that were coming about, and to the fact that even the savings banks were reducing their rates all over the country and that it would only be a short time when further reductions would be necessary. Low interest rates cause higher prices. Stocks that are earning in excess of their present dividends will sell according to their earning power and figured at a low interest return at that. The coming in of the public has already commenced, consequently reactions will be frequent. They are good for the market, and advantage should be taken of them to buy. Purchase on reactions, whether you have stocks on hand or not. The big fellows are all on hand now fresh from their vacations and things will be brisk in speculative circles. The boom is getting well under way, so we urge you to participate as speedily as possible. The early bird catches the worm, in Wall street, as elsewhere. You can purchase with reasonable safety the trunk lines and southern shares. All the roads running in Texas are booked for higher prices. The corn and wheat carriers are almost a moral certainty if bought to hold at present prices. The medium priced issues are on the eve of making much higher prices. The coalers are, as we announced for the past week in these letters, right on the bargain counter and should be purchased immediately. The industrials have yet to make a pronounced and sustained advance, while as yet the tractions have not had the move due them. The entire market looks splendid, and it is our opinion that the proper thing to do is to buy it.

To-day's market fell off in volume of business, owing to the holiday. To-morrow is likely to do likewise. An erratic see-saw market, with inclination to advance, was the story of the day. Good buying was particularly noticeable in Can. Pac., So. Pac., Erie and Atch. So. Pac. hung close around 77. C.F.I., after an early decline, rose 4 points. There was good buying of sugar. Balance of industrials were steady to strong, but the entire market should react slightly. Buy a little more—the market shows every indication of going higher the coming week. Money closed 3 1-2 and 4 p.c. Sales 670,200.

A GIGANTIC NEW CONCERN

That Peterborough Should Endeavour to Secure.

The Federal Sugar Refining Company Incorporated in Canada—Mr. Spreckles is Interested.

Yesterday the Federal Sugar Refining Company began its existence in Canada. How far beyond the beginning it will go is a question between the promoters and the public. But the beginning is being made by the firm of McGibbon, Casgrain & Ryan, who are applying to the Secretary of State for the incorporation of the Federal Sugar Refining Company, Limited, with a capital of six million dollars, and with authority to refine raw sugar and sell that and all other sugar products throughout the Dominion of Canada. The head office of the Company is to be in Montreal.

There are some important people behind this application. It is being made on behalf of Mr. Claus A. Spreckles and others of New York. The Canadian company is to be affiliated with the United States company of the same name.

In the United States the company is an established fact. It not only is incorporated, but it has a refinery of very large capacity in actual operation in Yonkers.

Mr. Spreckles, who is interested in the formation of the Canadian company, is a practical sugar man. His father is the famous Sugar King of the United States. The younger man has spent the most of his forty-five years either in the sugar business or preparing for it. He is a chemist and a thoroughly practical sugar man.

The companies which are being formed are for the purpose of taking advantage of a discovery made by Mr. Spreckles in the method of refining. This it is claimed reduces the cost of producing refined sugar five dollars a ton, a margin which should drive the old method and its patrons out of business.

The commercial world is looking with a good deal of interest for the demonstration in the markets of the world of the truth or falsity of the claims made by the discoverer of the process.

In spite of the fact that the soil of the Peterborough district has proved to be adaptable to the raising of sugar beets, there is not much present prospect of seeing the establishment of a beet root sugar factory here, but as Peterborough is fast becoming a manufacturing centre, would it not be well for the town to make a move towards having the factory locate in Peterborough? No other town can offer better advantages.

ANOTHER CONTRIBUTION

To the Ball Mr. Dumble's Letter Started Rolling.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I have been interested in the timely letters of Mr. Dumble and Mr. Rowler. I think they are both right, especially the latter. There is undoubtedly too much civic contentment in regard to enforcement of minor laws, and the dog tax is either far too low, or else a howling farce. If a man wants to keep an animal that makes night hideous, frightens women and children, tramples flowers and gets away with an occasional meat delivery, he should be compelled to pay a good price for such depredations. Perhaps it is out of season to mention snow by-law, but there is a standing disgrace, to a town of Peterborough's standing, in the long line of door-step loafers on it's main street; chewers, smokers and gazers, with an atmosphere fetid with stale tobacco smoke, make a walk up George street a disagreeable experience at times. We are not looking for a Utopia, but when a city like New York successfully prohibits smoking and spitting on streets, why can not we do it? Some of our civic administrators are in a somnambulistic condition and don't even "play checkers" with the loafers.

Yours, truly,

A. B. C.

The Spreckles Sugar Co.

Ottawa, Aug. 29.—Application was yesterday made for the incorporation of the Federal Sugar Refining Company, Limited, and the next issue of The Canada Gazette will contain the announcement that incorporation has been granted. Charles A. Spreckles, the millionaire sugar man who has figured so prominently in connection with Hawaiian affairs, is behind the application. His name appears at the head of the list of incorporators. The capital will be $6,000,000 divided into sixty thousand shares of $100 each.

Five Were Drowned.

Battle Creek, Mich., Aug. 29.—Five members of a boating party of six employes of the Battle Creek Sanitarium were drowned Wednesday night in Lake Cogmac. Their rowboat was run down by the steamer Welcome. The drowned are: Mabel Richard, stenographer, Traverse City, Mich.; Lizzie Brady, nurse, residence unknown; Della Dorsey, nurse, Allegheny, Pa.; Fannie Willis, nurse, and C. F. Bennett, male nurse, Dallas, Texas, Carry Brock, the other occupant, was rescued.

Britain Wants Naval Station.

London, Aug. 29.—Private advices from Paris say it is reported there that Sir James Lyle Mackay is "trying to secure from the Viceroys of the Yang-tse Valley a concession for a permanent British naval station at the mouth of the Yang-tse-Kiang, but that it is not likely that it will be granted as the other powers will certainly object."

Nothing confirmatory of this statement has thus far been obtained in London.

Proud of His Origin.

London, Aug. 29.—"It is useless," Sir Wilfrid Laurier said Wednesday, "to speculate what might have been had Canada continued under the French regime. It was under the eyes of England that French-Canadians had cultivated a worship of France, and if France had inspired that worship Canadians had preserved it and Great Britain had respected it."

The Candian Premier added that though a British subject he was proud of his origin and everything concerning France interested him.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

SPRINTING.

Mr. George Taylor, while expressing regret at Mr. Fred McGrath being too much out of shape to race by Labour Day, is anxious to meet him at any time within the next two weeks. If Mr. McGrath's friends care to make a wager as to the result, arrangements to that end can be carried out at the Examiner office tomorrow evening, when Mr. Taylor will be glad to meet Mr. McGrath at eight o'clock, to complete arrangements.

THE TURF.

The Secretary of the Peterborough Turf Club to-day received an entry for the 2.22 class pace, and also one for the free-for-all. The races on the 15th and 16th promise to be very successful.

The race track at the driving park presents a very lively appearance every afternoon at the present season of the year. The racing events, that are always the great drawing cards at the fall fairs, and the coming meet of the Peterborough Trust Association, has had a stimulating effect upon the enthusiasm of the owners of horse flesh, and many new horses will be seen on the local track this fall. Each afternoon the track at the park is alive with trotting horses, which are having a work out in preparation for the big events that will be on this fall. The track at the driving park is in good condition, and some speedy work is witnessed.

BAYONETED STRIKERS

Soldiers Wound a Number of Disorderly Miners at Tamaqua.

HAD ATTACKED THEIR CAPTAIN.

Serious Trouble Threatened in Other Sections, and Brig.-Gen. Gobin, Commandant of Troops in Disaffected District, Orders Ball and Butt For Unruly Mobs—1,800 Steel Workers Out.

Tamaqua, Pa., Aug. 30.—In an encounter between the troops and strikers at Lansford yesterday Captain W. H. Heim, of Company K., 12th Regiment, was slightly injured, and half a dozen strikers were bayoneted by the soldiers in the fracas. Major Gearheart, in command of the troops here, says that he will appeal to the military authorities to put the Town of Lansford under martial law.

Concentration of Forces.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Aug. 30.—Serious trouble was threatened at the Prospect and Dorrance mines of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company yesterday morning. The strikers heard a rumor Thursday night that the company intended to concentrate all its employes at the various mines into one working force, and operate the Dorrance colliery. It is said the company has all told about 250 experienced men now in its employ. If this number could be placed in one colliery like the Dorrance the mining of coal could go on without difficulty. The strikers determined to frustrate the plans of the company if possible, and it is said that a thousand men turned out and patrolled the roads leading to the mines. The officials of the coal company recognized the serious condition of affairs, and no attempt was made to place any additional men in the Dorrance mine. The strikers made no demonstration, and many of them withdrew to their homes.

To Use Bayonets and Butts.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 30.—Having exhausted every other means for preserving the peace, and in protecting the non-union men from violence on their way to and from the mines, Brig.-Gen. Gobin, in command of the troops now in the coal fields, last night issued an order that the soldiers shall shoot any person detected in throwing stones or other missiles, and that if any mob resist the authority of the troops that they shall freely use their bayonets and butts.

The Panther Creek Valley has been in almost continual turmoil this week, and the troops stationed there have had a difficult time in protecting the lives of the workmen. Last night the situation in that valley had improved considerably and it is hoped by the military authorities that the lawlessness and abusive language directed toward the soldiers will now cease. The other sections of the coal regions are comparatively quiet.

Steel Workers Strike.

Lebanon, Pa., Aug. 30.—A committee of the striking employes of the American Iron and Steel Manufacturing Company called at the office of General Manager Lord yesterday, and demanded that the colored non-union workmen from Reading and other men who had been sent here be removed, and the old hands be taken back. This was refused. The committee reported the matter to their leaders, and the men still at work, some 1,800, were told to come out. The order was obeyed. The entire plant is idle, with the exception of that portion manned by the new comers.

CHOLERA EPIDEMIC IN THE EAST.

Prevalent From Java to Japan—Many European Victims.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 30.—The epidemic of cholera is reaching alarming proportions on the other side of the Pacific, according to advices received here by steamship. The outbreak extends further and has more victims than ever before reported. It extends from the Island of Java to Japan, and almost every city on the coast and many from the interior are affected. The disease, too, is being contracted by Europeans as well as natives. In Hong Kong, from the first of the outbreak to Aug. 6, there had been 528 cases, six being Europeans, and 511 deaths, of whom four were Europeans. In Tien-Tsin the last report placed the number of cases for the year at 1,049 and 764 deaths within the city walls, and 1,015 cases and 693 deaths outside the city walls. In other places in China the proportion of cases and deaths is just as great.

FRENCH-CANADIAN LYNCHED.

A Frenzied Michigan Mob Puts Joseph La Barge to Death.

Monroe, Mich., Aug. 30.—Walter Lemerand, lately from Toledo, came home yesterday noon and found a man, a Frenchman, in the house with his wife. A quarrel ensued, and the unknown man finally ran from the house. An officer attempted to arrest him, but he ran down Thirty-third street with a crowd pursuing him.

The cry "Assaulter" was raised and the mob began to shoot. The unknown man ran into a cornfield where he was surrounded and shot dead, a bullet penetrating his heart.

The woman denies that there was any assault.

Mrs. Lemerand has just told the sheriff that the dead man is Joseph La Barge of Toledo. She says that she and La Barge had planned an elopement.

An autopsy is now being performed on La Barge's body and the inquest will be held to-day. No arrests will be made until after the inquest.

A despatch from Windsor says that La Barge is a Canadian, residing till just recently in Montreal. His murder may become an international episode.

Killed by Lightning.

Roland, Man., Aug. 30.—Charles S. Shaw, of Eldorado, Ont., was instantly killed by lightning Thursday. Deceased was a harvest hand, employed by John McLaughlin, and only arrived in the west the other day.

LABOUR MASS MEETING.

Great Gathering of Union Men in Labour Hall—Preparing for Labour Day.

There was a large attendance of the members of the local Trades Unions at the labour mass meeting held last night in the Central Labour Hall, Water street. The enthusiasm manifested was looked upon as encouraging for a grand Labour rally on Monday.

The chair was taken by Mr. Chas. Murty, President of the Trades and Labour Council and Mr. Wm. Menzies acted as Secretary.

The Chairman stated the object of calling the meeting. It was desirable that the members of all the Unions should be brought together before Labour Day, in order that every one should be impressed with the importance of the demonstration on Monday. He outlined the programme of the day, and felt sure of a most successful event, provided the men turned out and gave their united support. He had received a telephone message from Lindsay that day stating that fully 250 Union men would arrive in town by special train on Monday morning, accompanied by the Lindsay Brass Band, composed of seventeen bandsmen. This should decide the Peterborough brethern to turn out in their fullest force, and give our citizens a good impression of the strength and influence of the Labour movement here.

Several other rousing speeches were made along the same line, and the meeting became quite enthusiastic.

Rev. J. C. Davidson was present, and was asked to address the members. He was pleased to see so large a gathering of the working men of the town, and was pleased to know that the work of the Committees had left such a good promise of a splendid turn out on Labour Day. He announced that he had arranged for a special service in St. John's church on Sunday evening at 7 p.m., when he would deliver an address on "Religion and Trades-Unionism." He extended a hearty invitation to Union men and all others to be present.

A motion was passed thanking Mr. Davidson for the interest he had taken in the cause of the Trades and Labour, and requesting the members to attend the services in St. John's church Sunday evening.

The Chairman explained that the net proceeds derived from the Labour Day demonstration on Monday would be turned to a fund to be judiciously utilized by the Trades and Labour Council, for further extending the work of labour organizations in Peterborough.

It was agreed that a ballot be taken to decide the order of the different Trades and Labour Unions in the procession on Monday. The drawing resulted as follows:—1, Metal Workers, 2, Carpenters, 3, Barbers, 4 Tailors, 5, Bricklayers and Stone-Masons, 6, Outside Workers, 7, Inside Workers, 8, Tinsmiths, 9, Team Drivers, 10, Machinists, 11, Printers, 12, Iron Moulders, 13 Pattern Makers, 14 Bartenders.

The members of the General Committee is composed of two delegates from each of the local Trades, which identifies every local Union with the work in connection with the demonstration on Monday.

HOODLUMISM.

A Plate Glass Window of LeBrun & Co's New Store Defaced.

There is one rare rascal in Peterborough, or he was here last night. Sometime during the night some malicious or maliciously mischevious person defaced shamefully one of the plate glass windows of the new premises of the City Clothing store. With a diamond, or some substance hard enough to cut glass, the criminal wrote, in large letters across the pane, the words comprising the name of a young man well known in town. The cutting was deep enough to permanently deface the glass. It is "up to" some of the police force, who are experts in handwriting, to investigate, with a view of discovering whose handwriting resembles the disfigurement on LeBrun & Co's window. It is shameful that a splendid window. It is shameful that a splendid new shop fitted up in fine style at great expense, should be maliciously injured the first night of its occupancy.

THE WEST WANTS MORE HELP.

Eight Thousand Men Required to Assist With the Harvest.

The call from the west is for more harvesters. The thousands who went out on the first excursions fell far short of being enough, reports from the west say, and there is evidently urgent need for more men.

The following messages were received yesterday by Mr. James Hartney, Manitoba Government Agent, from from Mr. Hugh McKellar, of the Department of Agriculture and Immigration, Winnipeg;—"Grand harvest weather; harvesters distributed each day as they arrive; next series none too soon; men wanted now. Threshing many places Monday next."

"Make effort of your life to send at least eight thousand men on Saturday, Monday and Tuesday. All arrivals engaged. Farmers hungry for more men."

The first of the second series of excursions will leave Toronto on Saturday, and two more will follow on Monday and Tuesday. It is not expected, however, that they will be very heavily patronized, as it is thought that most of those who proposed going west went on the first excursions.

'TIS A GENTLEMAN'S DUTY . . TO BE WELL DRESSED . .

A TALK WITH WILLIAM COLLIER

Star in the play of "The Diplomat," Madison Square Theatre, Twenty-Fourth Street and Fifth Avenue, New York City.

"A gentleman," said he, "owes it to society to be well dressed. Conventionality has ordained special garb for special occasions, and any infractions of this fashion law are rightly construed as evidence of indifference to the feeling of the company to be mingled with, having either high haughtiness or some other form of boorishness for its foundation. Were my means less I would still be well dressed." Good taste, fair profits and frankness make it easy, cheap and pleasant to be well dressed at

LABOUR DAY.

Monday, Sept. 1st, is Labour Day, that is the day set apart by legislative enactment as a holiday sacred to the sacred cause of labour. This is a formal and deliberate recognition as far as it goes, of the rights and importance and dignity of labour. We have anniversaries set apart for the observance of great events, Christmas, Easter, the King's Birthday, Dominion Day, etc., and it is eminently proper that labour should be honoured by a day devoted to its exclusive use. There are many reasons why labour should have its day. All the material benefits we enjoy, all the comforts, all the conveniences of life, all the advances which mark our civilization, are directly due to and created by labour. Even capital, which often turns and rends its creator, is the product of labour.

Labour Day, rightly considered is our most inclusive holiday; it concerns nearly all the people, for there are comparatively few who do not work in some form, even if, as in some cases, work is only represented by the endeavour to live upon the industry of others.

The day in Peterborough is to be observed in a set form by the representatives of organised labour, in a manner to show to the world the strength of organised labour and incidentally to afford a well-earned holiday. It is too late in the day to present any argument in favour of the right or wisdom of labour organizing in its own interests. But still some agitation is needed, for this right is sometimes denied by important employers of labour. Organized effort is the rule of success in nearly all enterprises and it is a sign of seeing only one side of the question when industrial interests will enter into a combined organization that affects the rights and standing of employees, while the same right or even a recognition of the right of labour to form a similar combination is denied. It is often the case with capitalistic industrial combinations that everything is considered but the working man. A combination to increase profits, will spend large sums to improve machinery, without giving a thought to improving the condition or standing of the working men, the human machinery to whom their ultimate success is due. With such conditions, which are largely a type of the normal attitude of capital towards labour, though there are many noble exceptions, it is not only the right but the duty of labour to organize. The working classes are the vast majority—in fact the bone and sinew—of our citizenship; and the more prosperous they are made or are allowed to make themselves, and the greater their opportunities for improvement, the better the quality of our national citizenship. Apart from the abstract question of right and wrong it is a matter of national concern that labour and all that it represents should receive proper recognition of its rights and interests to the end of better performance of its functions in the national organization.

The working men of Peterborough have not only a statutory right to a holiday on Sept. 1st, but they have won a right to it, and have cause to enjoy it right royally and heartily. The working men of Peterborough are a superior class, whether one has regard to their skill, steadiness, sobriety or general good behaviour. They have worked faithfully the past year and have a right to their holiday. And all who live by their toil have a good reason to join with the representatives of organized labour to make their common holiday a day of successful enjoyment. Work has been plentiful at good figures and all who have wanted work have had it and its accompanying reward.

We are sure the people of the town generally will heartily sympathise with the Labour Day demonstration and heartily co-operate to make it successful. The Examiner begs to join with all the friends of labour, in cordially wishing for the demonstration of Monday, beautiful weather a spirit of harmonious co-operation and the happiest possible all-round enjoyment and success.

TERRIFIED BY WOLVES.

Residents Near Ottawa Losing Stock Every Night From This Source.

Ottawa, Aug. 30.—Residents of the Township of Buckingham are being terrified these days owing to the appearance of wolves. Every night they are awakened by the howl of the savage and dreaded animals. Last Sunday Patrick Cosgrove and his neighbor, a Mrs. Kelly, had twelve lambs devoured by the savage beasts, and on Tuesday the slaughter was renewed. So great has become the alarm in the neighborhood that the people have got together and detailed a nightly guard, armed with rifles. Since that time the wolves cries have been heard, but so far none of them have come out very near to the village.

Toronto Woman Loses $150.

Hamilton, Aug. 30.—Mrs. Maggie Clifford, 162 Bay street, Toronto, reported to the police in this city last night that while she was coming up from Toronto on the 5.30 Grand Trunk train her satchel, containing $150, was stolen from her. She had a ticket for London, whither she was going to pay for a monument to mark her late husband's grave, but on the discovery of her loss she left the train in this city. Acting Chief Prentice arranged for her railway fare back to Toronto, and she returned on the 9.25 G.T.R. train.

THE MANITOBA HARVEST.

No Frost Indicated in Spite of Alarmist Rumors—Threshing Has Commenced in Many Sections.

Winnipeg, Aug. 30.—The weather conditions yesterday were again of a very favorable character for the growing crops in most sections of the province.

Here and there light showers fell, and the weather was cool and cloudy in many places, but not near the frost point, and from no quarter has your correspondent upon inquiry heard of frost in Manitoba.

The temperature was quite low at Calgary Thursday night, and it was thought a cold wave might come this way, but at midnight last night there was no sign of frost. However, the temperature is probably the lowest of the week.

Threshing has commenced in many sections, and a carload of wheat arrived yesterday — a magnificent sample. An immense quantity of grain is cut and frost or no frost, it seems a certainty that the great bulk of the crop is safe.

There is no frost up to date, and local weather prophets say the warm spell will continue for several days yet.

There is a decided shortage of harvesters.

No Frost Indicated.

Meteorological Office, Toronto, Aug. 29, 8 p.m.—Fine weather everywhere prevails. In the Northwest Calgary and Medicine Hat reported light frosts last night, but to-night the outlook is very favorable, with no frost indicated.

FROM DEATH'S DOOR.

The Timely Rescue of a Bright Little Girl.

Was on the Verge of Complete Nervous Prostration and Her Parents Thought Death Would Claim Her.

When growing girls or boys are ailing, too many parents experiment with doubtful medicines which only touch upon the symptoms of the trouble, leaving it to return later in a more aggravated form. When you use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, you are not experimenting—they go directly to the root of the trouble by making new, rich, red blood, and building up weak nerves—in this way they cure, and the trouble does not return. It is because these Pills always cure when given a fair trial, that they have the largest sale of any medicine in the world. They are not an experiment—most other medicines are. Mrs. Wilson Johnson, Remford, N. S., gives the following strong corroboration. She says: — "At the age of nine, our daughter, Albertha, began to decline in health. The colour left her cheeks; her appetite failed and she complained of headaches and a weakness of the limbs. Her health grew so bad that we were forced to take her from school. We tried several remedies, but they did not help her, and she kept growing weaker all the time. She was very pale, had almost constant headaches, and was on the verge of complete nervous prostration. In fact we feared that death would take her from us. One day I saw an account in a newspaper of a girl who had been cured of a similar trouble through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. We decided to try these, and before three boxes were used, there was a decided improvement in Albertha's condition. We continued giving her the pills for probably two months, by which time she was as healthy as any girl of her age. Her appetite had returned, the headaches had disappeared, and her cheeks had regained their rosy colour. It is now nearly two years since she took the pills and she has not had a sick day since. We are very grateful for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for her, and would advise all parents whose daughters are ailing to give them a fair trial and not experiment with other medicines."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure all troubles that arise from poverty of the blood or weak nerves. Among such troubles may be classed anaemia, headache, neuralgia, erysipelas, rheumatism, heart ailments, dyspepsia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus dance, and the ailments that render miserable the lives of so many women. Be sure you get the genuine with the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all medicine dealers, or sent by mail, post paid, at 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, by writing direct to the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

Struck by a Freight Train.

Toronto Junction, Aug. 30. — A serious accident occurred yesterday morning at Weston to Mrs. Irwin, wife of Mr. H. E. Irwin, Clerk of the Peace. Mrs. Irwin about 10 o'clock was crossing the railway track at Weston in order to catch a street car, when a freight train which she had not noticed struck her. The train was moving very slowly at the time, but Mrs. Irwin was thrown about ten feet. She was picked up and conveyed to her residence at Weston, where it was found that she had two ribs broken and a very badly bruised arm.

Got Off the Earth.

London, Aug. 30.—A despatch to The Times from Vienna says the newspapers there represent Roosevelt's speech on the Monroe doctrine as meaning that all the European powers having colonies on American soil must be ousted. The Dutch must quit Curacoa and Surina, the French must leave French Guiana, the British must clear out of Canada, Trinidad, Newfoundland, British Guiana, Jamaica, etc.

Fear of the Future.

Most people who dread the future are victims of some terrible disease. Mrs. W. Francis, 204 Colborne street, Kingston, was in a bad state with kidney disease. She had severe pains in back and legs, was gradually losing flesh and felt a dread of the future. A friend recommended Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and the result was a complete cure. There is no medicine more reliable, none so certain to produce a thorough cure. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

CANADIAN-FRENCH LINE.

A Liverpool Firm Prepared to Supply Canada's Share of Ships—Opinion of Sir Wilfrid's Tour.

London, Aug. 30.—The Daily News yesterday says that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's tour through France is a somewhat hazardous enterprise from the point of view of Canadian politics, yet Sir William has displayed wisdom at his recent speeches have clearly shown that he has managed to be polite to the Mayor of Lille without offending Mr. Chamberlain.

Telegraphing to The Standard from Paris a correspondent says that the proposal regarding the French-Canadian line is that a syndicate of Frenchmen and Englishmen be formed and that each should own two steamships, which would sail respectively under the British and French flags, the British steamers to get the Canadian subsidy and the French to earn the navigation and other premiums which France accords to her shipping. A prominent Liverpool firm, is prepared to take up the British part of the line.

Sentiment Honors All.

Montreal, Aug. 30.—A cable to La Presse from Paris says Sir Wilfrid Laurier, speaking at Lille of the warm love which French-Canadians have for France, said that such a sentiment honors France which inspires it, Canada which conserves it, spires it, Canada which conserves it, and England which respects it.

The despatch adds: "It now seems certain that the the capital of the Franco-Canadian Steamship Line comes from Sir Alfred Jones of the Elder-Dempster Line and certain capitalists of Lille, the conditions of the latter being that Dunkirk shall be a port of call."

Valuable Advice to Rheumatics.

Eat meat sparingly, and take very little sugar. Avoid intoxicants, keep away from dampness, drink water abundantly, and always rely on Nerviline as a quick reliever of Rheumatic pains. Being five times stronger than ordinary remedies, Nerviline's power over pain is simply beyond belief. It cures also Sciatica, Lumbago, Neuralgia, and all pain, whether internal or external. Large bottles, price 25c.

END OF ORA. MATCHES

The Annual Provincial Shoot for 1902 Was a Success.

SOME HIGH SCORES ON FRIDAY.

The Mirage, Which Marked the First Hour's Shooting Daily, Was Present, But the Wind Was Lighter Though Changeable—President E. B. Osler Entertained the Officers at Luncheon—The Records.

Toronto, Aug. 30.—For the third day of the annual matches of the Ontario Rifle Association, splendid weather favored the marksmen yesterday. The mirage which has marked the first hour's shooting each day was present, but the wind was somewhat lighter, though changeable. Some excellent shooting was done.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. E. B. Osler, M. P., President of the association, entertained the officers of the association, and a number of distinguished visitors at luncheon.

Among those present were Hon. J. M. Gibson, Lieut.-Col. McLaren, 13th; Surgeon-Major Nattress, Arch. Campbell, M. P., J. W. St. John, M. P. P., Lieut.-Col. Stimson, R. G., Lieut.-Col. Grasset, W. D. Matthews, Col. Buchan, Lieut.-Col. Graveley, Lieut.-Col. Davidson, Lieut.-Col. Clarence Denison, Cockshutt, T. J. Smith, K. C., Major R. Y. Ellis, Major Galloway, D. S. A.

There was a large number of ladies and visitors on the grounds.

The results of the various matches were as follows:

NEW STEAMERS FOR LAKE TRADE.

Grain Carriers of the Paterson Line Will Arrive This Fall.

Toronto, Aug. 30.—The new line of steamships which is to compete for the Canadian grain trade will be on the lakes in time to carry some of this year's crop. Messrs. William Peterson & Company, Limited, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, who will operate the new line, have opened offices in Toronto in the McKinnon Building. Captain Donnelly of Kingston has been appointed Chief Superintendent of the new line. Four steel steamers will be put on the route from Fort William and Port Arthur to the Georgian Bay ports, the Turret Cape, Turret Court, Turret Crown and Turret Chief. They will each have a capacity of 108,000 bushels of grain. Mr. Peterson is expected to arrive in Toronto from England about September 10, and one of the boats will be in the harbor about the same time. Mr. T. R. McCarthy of Montreal will represent the line in that city.

TAPS FROM THE WIRES.

Lawrence Daynes-Reed of Victoria, B. C., shot himself dead at Banff, N. W. T., Thursday night. No reason can be given for his action.

The Portuguese Zambesi expedition has defeated a force under Macombi, the chief of the Barue region, Africa. There were many casualties among the natives.

The Schomberg and Aurora Railway is at last completed. The last spike was driven on Friday afternoon at Schomberg amid the rejoicings of the whole countryside.

The Clark extradition case was continued by Judge Morgan at Toronto Friday morning. The date for the case to be called is indefinite. The bond was renewed for two weeks.

The gas well struck at Hepworth, Ont., on Thursday was 1,413 feet deep. The hole is flowing at the rate of 750,000 cubic feet. Fifty quarts of nitro-glycerine will be got and the well shot.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Are Nature's Cure for Children's Ailments.

Medicines containing opiates should never be given to children—little or big. When you use Baby's Own Tablets for your little ones you have a positive guarantee that they contain neither opiate nor harmful drug. They are good for all children from the smallest, weakest infant to the well grown child. These Tablets quickly relieve and positively cure all stomach and bowel troubles, simple fevers, troubles while teething, etc. They always do good and can never do the slightest harm. For very small infants crush the Tablets to a powder. Mrs. P. J. Latham, Chatham, Ont., says: — "My baby took very sick. His tongue was coated, his breath offensive and he could not retain food on his stomach. He also had diarrhoea for four or five days and grew very thin and pale. We gave him medicine but nothing helped him until we gave him Baby's Own Tablets. After giving him the first dose he began to improve and in three days he was quite well. He began to gain flesh and is now a fat, healthy boy. I am more than pleased with the Tablets as I think they saved my baby's life."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all druggists or will be sent by mail post paid at 25 cents a box by writing direct to The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y.

Exiled French Nuns Coming.

Rat Portage, Ont., Aug. 30.—Rev. Father Gendreau has stated in an interview that a number of the nurses who were recently expelled from France are coming to Rat Portage to start a hospital. St. Joseph's Academy has been taken over on behalf of the Oblate Order, at the request of Archbishop Langevin. Father Gendreau states that the hospital will be non-sectarian in character. It is expected that the nurses will arrive in a few days.

Hundreds Die by Landslide.

Calcutta, Aug. 30.—A great disaster is reported from the native State of Nepal. The Rivers Baghmati and Vishumati overflowed their banks and caused serious landslides in the Khatmandu Valley. The cities of Bhatgaon and Batna were greatly damaged and several hundred persons were killed.

Dropped Dead on Market.

Kingston, Aug. 30. — Mrs. John Guirey dropped dead on the market Thursday while stooping to pick a pair of chickens from a basket. She had been complaining of excessive heart palpitation. For forty years Mrs. Guirey was a familiar figure on the market place.

Pimples, Blotches and Skin Eruptions

How unsightly, sometimes even disgusting, and certainly very mortifying to the sufferer. They are merely an evidence of impure, poisoned blood, and lowered vitality of the elementary organs, which can be quickly changed by taking Ferrozone after meals. Ferrozone cleanseth the blood of all poisons and eruptions, makes it rich in red corpuscles that manifest themselves in a healthy ruddy complexion. To have a pure, soft skin and good complexion simply use Ferrozone regularly. Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at Ormond & Walsh's.

Convincing.

Stableman (who has been reproved for his incorrect pronunciation)—Well miss, I don't know how you was taught to speak, but what I say is, is a baltch, an' a ho, an a har, 'an a hoss, an' a bee, don't spell 'orse. I'd like ter know what it do spell!—Moonshine.

A Source of Sadness.

The Gentle Optimist—Our delusions are the sweetest things in life.

The Cynic—How about the man who thinks he can sing? — Sketchy Bits.

She Took Him.

"He's a fine retriever, miss," —"But I don't want a hunting dog." —"Aw, he don't fetch birds. He retrieves ping-pong balls."—Pick-Me-Up.

WEDDING SUPERSTITIONS.

The bride should not fail to shed a few tears on her wedding day. It is an omen of good luck in the future.

It is unlucky for the bride to enter the church before the ceremony at one door and leave after the ceremony by another door.

The bride should always cut the first piece of her wedding cake and pour out the first glass of wine for her guests if there are not too many.

If the bride drops her handkerchief on the wedding day and the bridegroom picks it up, it is a sign that in the future he will play second fiddle.

It is said to be unlucky to tie shoes to any part of the carriage in which the bride and bridegroom go away, but it is lucky to throw an old shoe after the bride as she enters the carriage.

In leaving the church the bride will do well to place her right foot foremost if she wishes to be happy, healthy, etc., in the future, and she should always be the first to call her husband by name.

After the wedding breakfast and reception the bride should be careful to throw away and lose all the pins, if there are any about her. The bridesmaids should not keep the pins themselves or they will retard their chances of marriage.

A Boxer Revolt.

The mild Celestial has long been noted for intellectual subtlety beyond the comprehension of the Caucasian mind. Whether he smuggles opium, evades the poll tax or draws to a pair from his sleeve, he maintains a smile that seems the personification of innocence. But Toronto has shown the Chinaman in a new role, that may explain the apparently incongruous name of the patriotic revolutionary sect. John has shown himself a boxer, not in the heraldic, symbolical sense of the recent uprising that cost his nation the disputed indemnity, but in an actual and substantial mix-up on Yonge street. A young man of the Caucasian race exercised his claim to sovereignty by calling a passing Chinaman a name that can neither be spelled nor interpreted for publication in English, and for fear the Chinaman would be unable to comprehend the words with so foreign an accent he emphasized them with his fist.

According to tradition John should have smiled and passed on. But, alas, for the theories of racial superiority and the hope of Anglo-Saxon domination and survival, the Celestial turned round and hit from the shoulder with such bewildering swiftness that the young white man fancied himself in a street car strike or Pretoria celebration. Spectators say that John never lost his Oriental serenity in the hottest phase of the melee, and that when a friend intervened to save the white man from further damage he accepted it with philosophic indifference.

"The East bowed low before the blast
In patient, deep disdain,
She let the legions thunder past,
Then plunged in thought again."

No representative of constituted authority was in sight, and it is not yet known whether or not John will be asked to pay a war indemnity in the Police Court. It is natural that he should oppose indemnities and the tax on laundries, but that he should object to being struck on the back and called badly accented epithets shows a new trait in his character.—Toronto Globe.

SAVED HER CHILD.

The great majority of mothers are now convinced that Lactated Food is the safest and most nourishing for babies in the summer time. Mrs. L. P. Smith, Truro, N.S., says;—

"When my baby was three months old he was seriously ill and weighed only ten pounds. I gave him Lactated Food, and now, at the age of ten months, he is well and hearty and weighs twenty-five pounds." Lactated Food is recommended by over twenty thousand physicians.

Asking Too Much.

"Some people," remarked the druggist to his clerk, "are frightfully unreasonable."

"Is the man who just left an example?"

"Yes. He wanted me to give him something to cure a cold."

"That's very simple."

"Yes, but he wanted me to give him a guarantee that the medicine wouldn't make him feel worse than the cold did."

As He Called It.

"But why," asked the man who always wants to know—"why do you call that little jump you make from a tower into the water 'a leap for life?' They tell me it is not at all dangerous."

"Well," replied the "artist," "don't I make me livin' by it?"

No More Pale Women.

Merrill's System Tonic supplies iron necessary to make good, rich, red blood in anaremic women. It is a positive cure for Constipation— the greatest foe of womankind. After taking for a short time all female troubles disappear, as their cause is removed. 50 doses for 50c. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

Tea Bricks.

Bricks of tea once were current in Russia and Siberia. The tea was of poor quality, merely the scrapings and leavings pressed into brick form. Frequently the little bricks were used as money and were exchanged for horses or cattle.

20 Years of Itching Piles.

Mr. Alex. McLaughlin, Bowmanville, Ont., writes that for twenty years he suffered terribly from itching piles. Seven years ago he asked a druggist for the best cure for piles and was told to use Dr. Chase's Ointment. He continued this treatment until entirely cured, and as he has never had any return of his old trouble considers his cure permanent and remarkable on account of the length of time he suffered.

All Saints' Church.

The Sunday School will meet at 3 o'clock Sunday. There will be no Bible Class until September 7th. Rev. W. L. Armitage will speak on "Labour" Sunday morning.

At St. John's.

The evening service at St. John's church to-morrow will be of a special nature. Reference will be made to Labour Day and the address will be on "Religion and Trades Unions." All are invited.

St. Luke's Church.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt will preach to-morrow at both services. The subject in the morning service will be "One Thing Thou Lackest," and at the evening service the sermon will be on "Religion in ralation to business and labour.

Carpenters and Joiners.

The Carpenters and Joiners will meet in their hall on Monday, Labour Day, at nine o'clock, for the purpose of organizing for the parade. All members are asked to be on hand and make the demonstration a success. A. T. Duggan, Pres.; W. J. Johnston, Sec.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

Annual exhibition will be held in the Market Hall Thursday, Sept. 4th, 4 to 6 and 8 to 10 p.m. 4d

At St. Paul's.

Miss Bertha Rogers, contralto soloist of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Toronto, will sing at both services in St. Paul's to-morrow. Rev. Dr. Torrance will conduct the services, and Mr. John Crane will terminate his term as organist of St. Paul's church.

Sail Flourishing.

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons to-day shipped a suit of sails to Midland for a large fishing schooner on the great lakes. They also shipped a large Union Jack for the Queen's hotel, Stratford, and have decorated the new Dominion Bank buildings at Cobourg and the Sovereign Bank at Stirling.

Gone to Brockville.

Mr. E. Van Dusen, who for some time has been identified with the teaching staff of the local Business College, left this morning to assume a similar position in connection with the Business College at Brockville. At the local station Mr. Van Dusen was presented with a beautiful shaving outfit by the pupils of the school, as an evidence of their esteem in which he was held.

BRICKLAYERS AND MASONS.

A special meeting of the members of the Bricklayers' and Masons' Union is called for Saturday night at 8 o'clock in their hall.

A CLOSE CALL.

Two Wheelmen Nearly Caught by a Train at Charlotte Street.

Owing to the carelessness of a couple of bicycle riders this morning, the population of Peterborough came very near being depleted to the extent of two souls. Their escape from death was so miraculous that those who witnessed the incident will marvel for many a day.

The two riders were approaching one another from opposite directions on Charlotte street, and as they drew near the Grand Trunk track on Bethune street, Signalman Noyes warned them to keep back as a train was approaching. Neither rider heeded the flag, and in their rush to cross ahead of the train they apparently lost sight of one another, and collided just in front of the incoming locomotive. Mr. Noyes signalled the train to stop, and it was brought to a stand still within a foot of the two wheelmen, who were trying to scramble out of the way.

The incident will serve as a warning to citizens to pay more attention to the flags of the signalmen.

AT ST. ANDREW'S.

Rev. J. G. Potter has Returned—His Seventh Year as Pastor.

Rev. J. G. Potter returned home on Thursday night, and will preach at both services to-morrow. With these services Mr. Potter enters upon his seventh year as pastor in St. Andrew's, and will take as his morning subject "The Pre-eminence of Christ," Col. 1. 18. In the evening a memorial service will be held. During the last two weeks Mrs. Telford, of Smith Township, and Mrs. Adam Graham, of town, passed away, and in consequence this tribute to their memory has been arranged. Morning service at 11 and evening at 7 o'clock.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

AT THE BUTTS.

The 57th representatives at Long Branch are still winning. The results yesterday were as follows;

The Tait-Brassey—Pte. Jos. Gibson scored 89 as against 96 high, winning $5.00, and Pte. D. Cameron made 86, winning the same amount. As a tyro, Sgt. A. E. Jackson scored 77.

Mulock aggregate—Pte. Geo. Fitzgerald won $5.00, scoring 291.

BOWLING.

The following game was played last night;—

A. G. Lech	E.E. Runnals
E.W. Cox	W.E. Talbot
H. Armstrong,	W.F. Johnston
R. Kerr, sk. .....14.	G. Giroux, sk. ...18.

Mr. E. B. Stone defeated Mr. R. J. Frost by a score of 13 to 12.

LACROSSE.

One of the greatest attractions of the day on Monday will be the lacrosse match between the Port Hope-Cobourg team and the Peterborough team made up of Y.M.C.A. and Athletics, augmented by Glover, McCabe and McDonough.

The members of the T.A.S. senior team are asked to report at Roy's studio on Labour Day morning, at 7 o'clock, with uniforms and sticks.

The Victors and Aylmer street teams met yesterday in a game, and the affair ended in a mix up. One youngster had his head badly cut during the game.

THE TURF.

The indications are that the meet of the Peterborough Track Association, which will be held on Sept. 15th and 16th, will be one of the greatest attractions of the season in this district. It is rather unusual for entries to be made to the secretary between two and three weeks in advance of the meet, although this is what is being done, which is an indication of the lively interest that is being manifested in the events. Yesterday Mr. Arthur Bountree received four entries.

Mr. G. McKinnon, of Cambray, has entered his horse "John R. Gentry" in the 1.22 and free for all classes, and Mr. W. A. Fanning has entered his horse "Little Buck" in the same classes.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Miss Buell, of Rochester, who has been spending the summer at the Lake, was in town this morning, on her way home, and was pleasantly entertained for some hours by Mrs. McAllister.

Mr. and Mrs. Jury and Master Harry Jury, of Toronto, who have been spending their vacation at Stony Lake, passed through town to-day on their way home. Mr. Jury is organist in Dunn Avenue church, Parkdale, and Miss Jury is leading soloist.

Norwood Register— Mr. Michael O'Brien, Inspector of Separate schools for the Province of Ontario, and Dr. Kimmit, of Chicago, Ill., spent a few days in this village and neighborhood last week. The latter is a former pupil of the Norwood High School.

Marmora Herald—Mr. Fred MacDonald, of Peterborough, is visiting his sister, Miss M. McDonald. Mr. McDonald was a member of the second contingent that took part in the famous engagement at Harts River. He is a bright young fellow, fully capable of giving valuable information at first hand in an entertaining style.

The event of the season is St. Peter's T.A.S. excursion to Jubilee Point on Labour Day.

Canadian Grown Fruits and Vegetables

We are receiving fine Canadian berries from the best growers. Also some fine home-grown cucumbers have just arrived. S.A. OKE, 376 George street. 'Phone 18.

The Opera.

Mr. R. H. Bradburn, Manager of the local opera house, has booked a splendid list of attractions for this fall. The season will open on Sept. 9th, with a vaudeville show, by Messrs. O'Dell & Dee's strong company. Mr. Bradburn promises a first-class season's amusement.

Men's Meeting.

The men's meeting in the Y.M.C.A. to-morrow afternoon should draw a large crowd. Rev. Mr. Legg, of Lakefield, will be the speaker. The Crescent Male Quartette, of Toronto, will also be present, and render appropriate selections. This Quartette has appeared in Toronto several times, as well as other places, and is always well received. Come and bring a friend to-morrow afternoon at 4.15.

Drop in at Sailsbury's. They are selling books cheap.

LABOUR IS KING.

on Monday morning, and meet and greet the Labour King's Trade Procession. Let everybody flock to the Driv.ng Park and enjoy the sports Monday afternoon, and don't forget the Opera House Concert Monday night.

GOD SAVE THE KING

LAST OF THE SEASON.

Last Night's Concert in Victoria Park.

The last of the summer series of band concerts was given in Victoria Park last night. There was a very large attendance, the night being fine and the programme excellent. Several selections from Floredora were rendered, and enthusiastically received. Several new marches were also a feature of the programme. The season of our band concerts just closed has been the most successful of any that have yet been given, and have been exceptionally well patronized.

The Friday nights throughout September, if they prove fine, will be looking indeed without the concerts. However, Mr. Glidden requires to devote all the time possible to the programme which his band will render at the Toronto exhibition.

NEW FALL GOODS!

We are pleased to announce the arrival of new Fall Goods. It's refreshing to ourselves as well as our customers to see them, because they represent the latest and newest styles for fall 1902 that are to be.

AN EARLY START—Our Dressmakers are back from their holidays. Our Milliners are now busy in the centres of fashion preparing for the fall trade, every indication points to early fall, and we will be better prepared than ever to cater to the wants of the Peterborough public.

PRETTY POLKA DOTS

Polka Dot Cashmeres in the different colours are pretty and popular for Waists. You can choose here from a lot of very pretty colours, and you will find the prices reasonable as well.

AFTER SUNDOWN

You frequently need a light protection for the throat and neck. These lovely Chiffon Ruffs and Collarettes afford it and, at the same time, add a charming finish to the costume. They come in blacks and whites and black and white mixtures. They are New York goods, the finest quality and beautifully made.

CORSET COVERS

A particularly nice display of particularly nice covers, made of fine cambric and trimmed with laces, embroideries and dainty ribbons in white or light colours. Prices are about anything you please—from 25c up to a dollar or so.

SLUMBER GOWNS

Of cambric, muslin, or fine cotton, made in the new styles and trimmed with ruffles and embroidery. Your choice starts at 75c, and goes up by easy steps to $2.25, and every price a low one.

PETERBOROUGH'S NEW RINK.

The Brock Street Lot has Been Selected.

THE COMPANY ORGANIZED.

His Worship Mayor Denne is President —An Enthusiastic Gathering in the Town Council Chamber Last Night—The By-laws.

At a large and enthusiastic meeting which was held in the Town Council Chamber last night the Peterborough Hockey Club, Limited, was organized with due formality, and the new rink for Peterborough is now a certainty. His Worship Mayor Denne is President of the new company, and the Brock street lot, just west of Mr. Haggart's house, on Brock street, has been selected as the site for the new structure.

Amongst those in attendance at the meeting last night were the following:—His Worship Mayor Denne, Judge Edmison, W. H. Hill, Jas. O'Shea, Dr. Pentland, D. H. Moore, McFarlane-Wilson, Chas. H. Winch, J. S. Knapman, George E. Elliott, Jas. Drain, R. F. MacWilliams, A. H. Stratton, W. H. Bradburn, C. Rutherford, T. A. S. Hay, Angus McIntosh, Jas. Hamilton, W. J. Thompson, A. W. McPherson, Dr. Weightman, K. Hall, Chas. Stanley, A. J. N. Terrill, W. H. McCallum, H. Neill, Jas. Brooks, J. H. Scovell, J. E. A. Fitzgerald, T. Pratt, R. H. Leary, R. M. Glover, Harry Thompson, and a great many others.

Upon motion of Mr. Hill, seconded by Mr. Kells, His Worship Mayor Denne took the chair. The Mayor opened the proceedings with a few brief remarks, and asked as to whether it would be better to proceed with the election of directors, or whether they would first decide as to the location of the rink. There were certain subscribers who had subscribed for stock provisionally upon the location of the rink, and might not legally be entitled to vote.

Mr. Kells explained the circumstances under which certain stock had been subscribed, viz., that certain people would give $100 or so, providing the rink went to Brock street. Were they entitled to vote in the election of directors, or were they not?

Acting Judge Edmison expressed the belief that only those who have subscribed unconditionally could be entitled to vote. This opinion being accepted by the meeting, election of Directors was proceeded with.

Mr. C. H. Bradburn was first elected secretary for the meeting. Messrs. R. H. Kells and J. S. Knapman were appointed scrutineers.

The Chairman then called for nomination of seven directors. The following gentlemen were nominated: Messrs. W. H. Hill, A. W. McPherson, C. M. Stanley, H. R. H. Kenner, A. H. Stratton, Mayor Denne, W. A. Sanderson, J. S. Knapman, G. W. Hatton, M. A. Morrison, K. Hall, Judge Edmison, Dr. Bradd, H. LeBrun, H. Neil, C. H. Bradburn, Jas. Hamilton, R. F. McWilliams, and D. H. Moore. Messrs. C. H. Bradburn, A. W. McPherson, Jas. Hamilton and R. H. Kells withdrew their names.

THE DIRECTORS.

The following gentlemen were declared elected by the scrutineers — Messrs. T. H. G. Denne, W. H. Hill, J. S. Knapman, W. A. Sanderson and H. R. H. Kenner.

His Honour Judge Edmison suggested that the meeting consider the matter of a site before the Directors retired for the election of officers. This met with general approval.

Mr. Kells, who has been instrumental in promoting the erection of the rink, explained the conditions under which the lot could be bought. The Bradburn lot on Brock street could be purchased for $2500. There was $300 subscribed conditionally on the rink being located there. The Chamberlen lot at the corner of King and Louis streets, could be got for the same amount, and the Chamberlain estate would take $1100 stock in the rink. They were $800 better off as far as the amount of stock subscribed if they took the Chamberlen lot. Mr. Kells said there was very little choice, as to the grading of the lots. However, three-quarters of the people who attend the rink come from north of Charlotte street, and there would be sewer connection available by choosing the Brock street lot.

Mr. A. H. Stratton moved that they put a vote as to which lot they should take, in the same manner to that which had elected the Directors. Mr. Hill seconded the motion, which was carried.

The scrutineers announced that the Bradburn lot had received 184 votes and the Chamberlen lot 33, a statement that was received with great applause. Mr. Hill moved, seconded by Mr. James Graham, that the Directos be authorized to purchase the Bradburn lot. This was carried.

THE OFFICERS.

The Directors retired, and in a few minutes entered the council chamber to state that the following officers had been elected:

President, His Worship Mayor T. H. G. Denne.
Vice-President, A. H. Stratton.
Sec.-Treas., J. S. Knapman.
Solicitor, G. W. Hatton.
Bankers, Bank of Ontario.

THE BY-LAWS.

The by-laws were taken as read, and were as follows—

Whereas, the Directors of the Peterborough Hockey Club, Limited, deem it expedient that certain bylaws for regulating the affairs of the Company should be made.

Now, therefore, be it enacted, and it is hereby enacted.

MEETINGS.

1. That the annual meeting of the shareholders shall be held at the office of the Company on the ..... in the month of ..... in each year, to receive the report of the Directors for the past year, to elect Directors for the ensuing year, and for all other general purposes relating to the management of the Company's affairs.

2. That a general meeting of the shareholders may be called at any time by the Directors whenever they may deem the same necessary or advisable for any purposes not contrary to law, or the Letters Patent of the Company, and it is incumbent on the President to call a special meeting of the shareholders whenever required, so to do in writing by one-tenth part of the shareholders of the Company, for the transaction of any business specified in such written requisition and notice calling the meeting.

3. That notice of the time and place for holding the annual or a general meeting of the Company must be given at least ten days previously thereto in the Peterborough Examiner, and also by mailing the same as a registered letter, duly addressed to each member at least ten days previous to such meeting.

4. That meetings of the Directors shall be held as often as the business of the Company may require, and shall be called by the President.

5. That at general meetings of the Company, every shareholder shall be entitled to as many votes as he owns shares in the Company, and may vote by proxy.

6. That questions at meetings shall be decided by a majority in value of the shareholders present, either in person or by proxy, and in case the number of votes is equal, the President or Chairman shall have a deciding or casting vote.

DIRECTORS.

7. That the affairs of the Compnay shall be managed by a Board of ..... Directors, of whom ..... shall form a quorum.

8. That the President and Vice-President shall be chosen by the Directors from amongst themselves at the first Board meeting after the annual meeting.

9. That the President shall, if present, preside at all meetings of the Company. He shall call meetings of the Board of Directors and Shareholders when necessary. In his absence the Vice-President shall have, and exercise all the rights and powers of the President. A Director may at any time summon a meeting of Directors.

10. That questions arising at any meeting of Directors shall be decided by a majority of votes. In case of an equality of votes, the Chairman, in addition to his original vote, shall have a casting vote.

11. That the secretary shall keep a record of the proceedings at all meetings of the Board and of the Shareholders of the Company, and shall be the custodian of the seal of the Company, and of all books, papers, records, etc., belonging to the Company, which he shall deliver, when authorized so to do by a resolution of the Board, to such person, or persons, as may be named in the resolution, and shall have authority to endorse cheques payable to the Company for deposit in the bank to the credit of the Company.

12. That any Shareholder not in arrears for payments for calls upon his stock may be elected a Director.

13. That the Directors shall hold office for one year and until their successors shall be elected.

14. That in case of the death of a Director, or his being unable to act as such, or ceasing to be a Shareholder, the vacancy thereby created may be filled for the unexpired portion of the term by the Board from among the qualified Shareholders of the Company.

15. That the Company shall have a corporate seal of such design as the Board may determine, which seal shall whenever used be authenticated by the signatures of the President and Secretary.

16. That the Board shall from time to time fix the salary or wages to be paid officers of the Compnay.

STOCK.

17. That calls upon subscribed stock shall be made from time to time as the Board may determine—no call shall exceed twenty-five per cent. of the subscribed stock, and there shall be an interval of at least thirty days between calls.

18. That it shall not be compulsory on the Board to receive full payment of any share or shares until the same shall have been demanded by call.

19. That the Board shall have power to summarily forfeit shares and the money paid thereon, upon which any call shall have remained unpaid for six months after it shall be due and payable, and such forfeited stock shall thereupon become the property of the Company, and may be disposed of in such manner as the Company in general meeting think fit.

20. That receipts for payment of calls shall be issued from time to time as such payments are made, but stock certificates shall only be issued when shares are fully paid up, and both receipt and certificate shall be authenticated by the signatures of the President and Secretary, and sealed with the Company's seal.

Accounts.

21. That the Directors shall cause true accounts to be kept:—

Of the stock-in-trade of the Company.

Of the sums of money received and expended by the Company, and the matter in respect of which such receipt and expenditure takes place; and

Of the credits and liabilities of the Company.

22. That the books shall be kept at the office of the Secretary, and shall be open to the inspection of the members during the hours of business.

23. That once at least in every year the Directors shall lay before the Company in general meeting a statement of the income and expenditures for the past year. A balance sheet shall be made out in every year, or oftener, if desirable, and laid before the Company in general meeting, and such balance sheet shall contain a summary of the property and liabilities of the Company arranged under the necessary headings.

Bank Account.

24. That a bank account shall be kept in the name of the Company at a bank to be selected by the Board, and all cheques shall be signed by the President and Secretary.

Auditors.

25. That one or more Auditors shall be appointed annually by the Shareholders at the annual general meeting, whose duty it shall be to examine all books, vouchers and accounts of the Company and all documents having reference to the business thereof. They shall be supplied with a list of all books kept by the Company and with a copy of the balance sheet and abstract of the affairs thereof, and it shall be their duty to examine the same and make a report thereon to the Board as soon after the close of the financial year as possible, together with such suggestions or recommendations as they may think fit. Their remuneration shall be $..... each per annum.

Changing bylaws.

26. That the Board may, from time to time repeal, amend and re-enact these bylaws, but such changes, unless in the meantime confirmed at a general meeting duly called for the purpose, shall only have force until the next annual meeting of the Company, and if not confirmed thereat, shall from that time only cease to have any force.

ENTIRELY TOO CLEVER.

Experience of a Doctor in Prescribing For a Patient.

An anonymous physician who has written some "confessions" for the Independent tells this story about himself:

"I received a request to call from an old patient who was afraid she was taking scarlet fever. I responded at once. The patient was one of two elderly sisters whom I had attended for many years. I greeted her in the sitting room and noted her pulse while in the act of shaking hands with her. By some witty remark I contrived to make her laugh, which enabled me to see her tongue. Then I said in a playful tone: 'If you will get me a glass I will treat you to some of my patent soda water.' She did so. I put a tablet in the water and she drank it.

"I want you to know that I take pride in my original methods. I try to educate my patients to like, and not to dread, the visits of the doctor. In this case all of my work had been done without the direct knowledge of the patient and I felt very good over it. So I bade my patient goodby with extreme cheerfulness.

"She looked surprised, and then said: 'Of course you will come upstairs and see my sister?' 'Not today,' I said. 'Give her my respects.' 'Why,' she said, looking mystified and startled, 'how strangely you talk!' 'Strangely?' I echoed. 'Why?' 'Because I sent for you to prescribe for my sister and you decline to see her.' It flashed over my mind in an instant. I had prescribed for the wrong sister. I was entirely too clever."

BILIOUSNESS.

A Very Unpleasant and Common Complaint and one Easily Cured.

When by any impairment in the action of the Liver or Digestive Organs the bile, which the liver secretes, is backed up through the system, the result is biliousness, with bilous fever, bilous headache, sallow complexion, nausea or vomiting.

These conditions are often extremely dangerous and always distressing, and the very first symptom of biliousness should be instantly treated till set right.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the most successful remedy in the treatment of such cases.

There is every reason why they should be, for they have been compounded for this especial purpose.

In every box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will be found two kinds of Tablets.

The large white tablets are digestive medicine, which acts immediately on the food in the stomach, digesting it—every bit of it, animal and vegetable—without the assistance of the stomach itself, thus preventing the accumulation of masses of undigested and decomposing matter in the bowels. This undigested food is very hard to carry off, and has an extremely injurious effect on the liver.

In a small envelope contained in every box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will be found a number of small brown tablets, which are intended to be used when the liver and bowels are not working naturally, and which should always be used with the larger white ones in cases of biliousness.

These are the very best liver regulators, and a few doses will soon relieve the very worst cases. They ae a gentle laxative, acting without purging or pain, and have never failed to give satisfactory cure when used as directed.

Where Smoking Is a Sin.

Palgrave, in his interesting book describing his journey to the sacred city of Mecca, gives an amusing account of his conversation with a mollah.

On asking the reverend gentleman what he considered the most deadly of all sins the holy man replied:

"Smoking the shameful."

"And next, O son of the prophet?"

"Drinking."

"Are these the two greatest sins, father?"

"Verily, my son."

"And murder?"

"Ah, that's nothing nothing. It's forgivable."

"And stealing?"

"Ah, that's forgivable too."

"But smoking?"

"It is the unforgivable crime," replied the mollah sternly and looking keenly at the fictitious Mohammedan.

And this is the Afghan's creed. Murder and theft are forgivable crimes, but for smoking and drinking there is no redemption.

The Cause Removed.

In curing disease its only a waste of time to treat the symptoms. The medicine must reach the cause. Merrill's System Tonic does this. It purifies the blood, builds up the system, strengthens the nerves and is the only positive cure known for Constipation, Dyspepsia, Nerve Troubles and Kidney Diseases—all disappear when it is taken. Three weeks treatment for 50c. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's.

She Was Master.

Father (left in charge)—No, you cannot have any more cake. (Very seriously) Do you know what I shall have to do if you go on making that dreadful noise?

Little Girl (sobbing)—Yes.

Father—Well, what is that?

Little Girl—Give me some more cake! And she was quite right.

Hurrah.

"Hurrah!" It used to be "Hurray!" and the cry is as old as England. It is the battlecry of the old Norse vikings as they swept down to burn and murder among the peaceful British. "Tur, ale!" was their warcry, which means, "Thor, aid!" an appeal for help to Thor, the god of battles.

Left Helpless.

Mrs. Brown—So your girl has left you? What for, for mercy's sake?

Mrs. Black—Absolutely for nothing.

Mrs. Brown—Oh, that's it. I remember you told me she wouldn't leave you for anything.

PEACE IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Ring softly, bells; life blooms from death to-day;
Your notes remind sad hearts of lonely graves
On furrowed fields of battle far away.
That mutely say: "'Tis sacrifice that saves."
Then softly sing on this calm summer air,
'Mid falling bloom, where fruits will soon appear;
Tell of the ceasing of war's bugle blare,
And victories of peace, sublime and near.

Ring softly, bells; good comes through toil and tears;
The heritage we claim of Freedom's dower
Is fruitage of the struggle of long years,
Born of the dying throes of cherished power,
And so in fields now ploughed by cruel war
More splendid fruits than o'er those lands could show
Will prove that not the greatest ill by far
Is brave surrender to a worthy foe.

Ring softly, bells, a sacred Sabbath lay,
From lofty turret and from temple tower;
Your notes foretell the coming of that day
When truth and grace shall wield imperial power;
When Justice, with her even scales in hand,
Shall o'er the world extend her boundless sway,
While Mercy's wings, outspread o'er every land,
Shall herald in the world's millennial day.

Asthma Can Be Cured.

Thousands of testimonials conclusively prove that Asthma can be permanently cured by inhaling Catarrhozone, a vegetable antiseptic that destroys at once the germs causing the diseases. Catarrhozone gives immediate relief to the distressing cough and suffocating sensations, makes breathing easy and regular and insures undisturbed sleep. Catarrhozone cures Asthma that doctors are unable even to relieve and can cure you. The Catarrhozone inhaler is made of hard rubber, fits into the vest pocket can be used at work, in church, in the street, in bed—any place—at any time. Two months treatment (guaranteed,) price $1.00, trial size 25c. Druggists, of N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Try Dr. Hamilton's Mandrake Pills

A Modest Request.

To judge from an incident reported in the Washington correspondence of the New York Tribune, the department of agriculture sometimes appears from a distance like a big department store. During the season when members of congress send out seeds one of the packages found its way back to the sender, accompanied by a note from the farmer to whom it had been addressed.

"My dear sir," wrote the farmer, "I appreciate your good will in sending the seeds, but my eldest daughter, Matilda, is going to marry the doctor down to the village next month, and wife and I think of giving up the farm and going there to live. If we do, the seeds won't be much good, as we shan't have a garden; so if you could change them for some stockings (No. 9) and some handkerchiefs or a nice spring bonnet for Matilda I would be much obliged."

Chronic Catarrh Cured.

In Merrill's System Tonic one finds a pleasant-to-take but powerful blood purifier. It is this feature that makes it a never failing cure for Chronic Catarrh and Chronic Rheumatism. Money spent in snuffs is only wasted. Remove the cause—take Merrill's System Tonic. Price 50c for 50 doses. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

How Do You Make a Circle?

The intelligence of people may be gauged by asking them to make a circle on paper with a pencil and noting in which direction the hand is moved. The good student in a mathematical class draws circles from left to right. The inferiority of the softer sex, as well as the male dunces, is shown by their drawing from right to left. Asylum patients do the same.—London Family Doctor.

The Suit.

Lawyer (to timid young woman)—Have you ever appeared as witness in a suit before?

Young Woman (blushing)—Y-yes, sir; of course.

Lawyer—Please state to the jury just what suit it was.

Young Woman (with more confidence)—It was nun's veiling, shirred down the front and trimmed with a lovely blue, with hat to match—

Had Headache Nearly all the Time

An Extreme Case of Exhaustion and Nervous Headache—Wonderful Restorative Influence of

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

There are scores of women in nearly every community in Canada suffering as Mrs. Miles did, from frequent attacks of nervous headache. No local treatment can prove of lasting benefit. The system must be strengthened and invigorated and the most effective way to do this is by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. The cure not only certain, but lasting.

Mrs. John Miles, 236 Wellington street, Ottawa, Ont., whose husband is employed with Davidson & Thackray, lumber dealers, states:—"I was very weak, had no strength or energy, and suffered nearly all the time with headache, in fact, I had headache for three whole days just before beginning to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I was also troubled a great deal with shooting pains across the small of the back. Under this treatment my health has been wonderfully improved. The headaches are a thing of the past, the pains in my back are cured, and I feel strong and healthy. As an evidence of restored strength I may say that I am now able to do all my housework without becoming exhausted."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto, Ont. 19.

THE STEAMER

"ALERT"

and

PALACE BARGE, "LADYSMITH,"

(W. H. White, Captain.)

This fast and popular little steamer is open for charter for excursions for the season of 1902. The steamer and barge have a carrying capacity of 500. The "Alert" has been fitted with the most modern improvements, including machinery, etc., and has a speed, with the barge, of 7 miles an hour. The crew will be found to be careful and obliging, and the best of attention is guaranteed the travelling public.

Parties wishing to take a day's outing on Stony Lake, or any of the Kawartha Lakes, cannot do better than charter the fast sailing steamer Alert. Parties of fifteen people and upwards can charter this steamer for the day at a very reasonable price. Prices made to suit parties. This gives the people a splendid chance of seeing the Lakes and gives more time at the different points of interest than by going by the regular steamers. No crowding. Hot and cold water always provided on board the steamer.

DR. M'LEAN ON INDIANS.

Some Interesting Information About Them of the West.

Rev. Dr. McLean, of Carman, Man., in a recent talk on "Our Northwest Indians said that when he first went west he had not mastered the Indian language so to speak the Gospel he had to employ an interpreter. This man, a curious sort of being, between a negro and an Indian, demanded a dollar an hour. When his hour was up he would turn to Dr. McLean and the sermon was at an end.

Dr. McLean tells of the effect of the climate upon the Indians. Along the rugged coast of British Columbia the redman was short in stature and vigorous in action, with strong passions and by nature artists. Where the indentations in the coast are greatest there reside the more rugged and the more literate. The coast Indian was contrasted with the big-bodied inland Indian, with his undeveloped brain. The Indian who lived inland was too lazy to either work or fight.

The languages of the different races of the Indians were spoken of by Dr. McLean, who probably has mastered more of the languages than any other white man in the west. Indeed, it has been said that Dr. McLean could speak every Indian language. He however, did not claim any such achievement, for he told those present at the talk there were 1,500 languages and if he could speak them all, then he guessed he might be admitted to a professorship in Victoria University.

In the mind of Dr. McLean the Cree language is just as beautiful as the Greek. The struggles of Dr. McLean in mastering the language were told in a most interesting way. The speaker did not think there was a dialect or language on the face of the earth that did not have beautiful laws. God had made all laws or language as real as the laws of nature. He believed there was a connection between religion and language, and said that the language of mankind showed the Divine hand.

Next Dr. McLean dealt with the history of the Indian missions of the Northwest, The work was begun in 1840 at Norway House, when James Evans tramped out to that point. Associated with him as missionaries were George Barnley, Robert Rundell and William Mason. Now Barnley is living in England, while Mason went over to the English church and is a clergyman. Mason traveled to Norway House to assist Evans in the translation of the Bible into Cree. A printing press could not be taken into that country because of the opposition of the Hudson Bay Company. Evans made moulds out of lead from tea chests and cut types out of wood. These were stamped in the Indian language on birch bark. Evans, and not Mason, was the first man to translate the Bible into Cree syllabic characters. The Esquimax now had a syllabic system of writing similar to that invented by Evans.

It was George McDougall who started the mission in the "Devil's Playground, close to the Old Man's River in Alberta, where previous to the eighties the buffalo roamed in great numbers. McDougall was frozen to death during a snow storm in 1876, returning from a buffalo hunt near Calgary.

The Indians of the west had three kinds of schools—day schools, boarding school and industrial schools.

The lamentations of a squaw when she loses her papoose were narrated by Dr. McLean. Once he met a squaw who had buried her baby by hanging it up in the cleft of a tree. She was very scantily clothed on this mournful occasion, while the day before she had been well clothed and had plenty of beads. Her lower limbs were cut and bleeding, and she had cut a finger off with a knife. She went about wailing, "Come back! Oh, come back!" All of the Indian finery which she had discarded she believed would go to the happy hunting grounds with the papoose.

Dr. McLean said that civilization was finding its way among the redmen. He had influenced an Indian chief to bury his son. The Indian, however, would only have the body placed a foot under ground.

Chased by a Mother Bear.

On one occasion Alex Tremblay, the Parry Sound hunter and trapper, took a number of traps out to set district. Leaving his musket and ev- of a small lake, in the Parry Sound them at various points on the shores erything but traps and a tomahawk in the canoe, he went ashore, and was returning after setting his last trap, when he saw a bear cub running around in an open patch of ground. He went towards it, and the little animal seeing him, climbed up a tree, and squatted on a branch about twenty feet above the ground gravely regarding its pursuer. Mr. Tremblay cut a pole some eighteen or twenty inches in length, attached a slip cord to it, and dangled it in front of the cub. The latter at first sniffed suspiciously at the contrivance, but unable to resist the temptation attempted to hit the dangling loop with one of its little paws. The next moment the paw was caught, and the cub was gently lowered to the ground, protesting against the indignity with faint squeakings. The loop was quickly unfastened. Mr. Tremblay took the cub in his arms and started to walk leisurely towards his canoe. Then the squeak of the little captive was suddenly answered by a deeper cry. The hunter turned, saw the mother of the bear coming toward him at full speed. "Then bee's (I) run," says Mr. Tremblay when telling the story, "never so fast in hee's life." Straight to the canoe he ran, threw the cub into the craft, seized his musket, turned and shot the mother bear, which was within ten paces of him. The cub throve in captivity, and was afterwards sold to a Hudson Bay factor. When asked why he did not throw the cub away as soon as the chase commenced, he answered smilingly, "Hee's not tink about dat until eets all done."

YOUNG RAVENS.

Queer Story of the Changing Color of the Newborn Birds.

I have not learning enough to know whether in the earliest times ravens were accounted "unlucky." If so, why were they chosen from among all the birds of the air for the merciful errand of carrying bread to Elijah in the wilderness? Did they steal it? They are given to theft! Also in the written word we are assured that "God heareth the young ravens when they cry out unto him." And nothing of this is said of doves or of any other white or heavenly kind of bird. An explanation is given in the Egyptian commentary on St. Luke in the Coptic script by Epiphanius, A. D. 368-401. The passage is certainly very curious, and I am permitted to transcribe it here: "Why, then, did the evangelist mention no name among the birds except ravens only? Because the hen raven, having laid her eggs and hatched her young, is wont to fly away and leave them on account of the hue of their color, for when hatched they are red in appearance. Then the Nourisher of all creation sends to them a little swarm of insects, putting it by their nest, and thus the little ravens are fed until the color of their body is, as it were, dyed and becomes black. But after seven days the old ravens return, and, seeing that the bodies of their young have become perfectly like their own, henceforward they take to them and bring them food of their own accord."

It is for naturalists to ascertain whether or no this strange account of the young ravens holds good in our day.

Got a Bargain.

Years ago, before the corrupt practices act, when a Scottish parliamentary candidate was canvassing his constituency he called at the house of an aged couple. Finding the old woman alone, he entered into conversation and asked her to use her influence in getting her husband to vote for him. While they were conversing the would be M. P. noticed a kitten playing about on the floor and offered £5 for it. The bargain was struck, and on leaving he again expressed the hope that she would secure her husband's vote for him.

"Weel, sir," answered the woman, "as I said afore, John's a man o' his ain mind and just does what stricks his ain noddle, but at ony rate, sir, you've gotten a real cheap kitten, for yer opponent was in nae farer gane than yesterday, an he gied me £10 for its brither."—London Answers.

The German Soldier's Wage.

One of the peculiarities about the military service in Germany is the paternal interest that the officers are required to take in the frugality of the men. The pay of the soldier is only 9 cents a day, but the army regulations guard it jealously. Each man is expected to keep his money in a little bag suspended from a string around his neck, and any officer during inspection may demand to have the bags opened and their contents shown. If it be found that a soldier is spending his pay too freely—think of that, with the pay at so low a mark—he is reprimanded and punished. He is compelled to make his pay cover his expenses.

Blood Disorders

are simply kidney disorders. The kidneys filter the blood of all that shouldn't be there. The blood passes through the kidneys every three minutes. If the kidneys do their work no impurity or cause of disorder can remain in the circulation longer than that time. Therefore if your blood is out of order your kidneys have failed in their work. THE ILLS OF WOMEN ARE TOO OFTEN WRONGLY DIAGNOSED BY OUR PHYSICIANS.

A Lady Who Would not Submit to an Operation is Cured by

Paine's Celery Compound

It will prove interesting and comforting to thousands of women to know that almost all their troubles and diseases are due to a poor condition of the nervous system.

The ills, irregularities and diseases peculiar to women, such as nervous headache, nervous prostration, anaemia, loss of memory, irregular and suppressed periods, hysteria, bearing down pains, poor and watery blood, neuralgia, general weakness and other troubles, can only be cured by a specially compounded medicine like Paine's Celery Compound.

This wondrous medicine of nature, popular with tens of thousands of our women, carries its rich nourishment and healing virtues to the blood, nerves and tissues, giving power and new life to inactive and diseased organs. No other medicine can so quickly banish and permanently cure painful and obdurate feminine ills; no other medicine ever devised can so truly keep the nervous system, blood and bodily organs in a healthy condition to fulfill their important duties. Mrs. A. Saunders, Brancondale, Ont., says;—

"I was a great sufferer from severe attacks of neuralgia in the left ovary. At times the attacks were so acute that I thought I would lose my reason. Several doctors treated me, and I was a patient in the hospital. I obtained no relief from medical treatment. The doctors said unless I had the ovary taken away I could not be cured. Instead of submitting to the operation, I used Paine's Celery Compound, and I am thankfu lyour valuable medicine cured me. I feel like a new women, and would like all to know what your medicine has done for me."

Corticelli

SPOOL SILK

For dressmaking and family sewing Corticelli Silk is the best silk made. For hand or machine use it has no equal. Corticelli Silk runs smoothly in the needle; it is always even in size and always full length and full strength.

Ask your dealer for "Corticelli" and politely but firmly refuse all substitutes, which some clerk may say are "just as good." You may be sure they all lack the many qualities of the genuine Corticelli Silk. If your dealer does not keep Corticelli Silk, it is probably because he makes a little more money selling you some other brand. As Corticelli costs YOU no more than poor silk, why don't you try it? Ask for Corticelli—the Dressmakers' Favourite Spool Silk.

RACY RECORD OF A TRIP THROUGH BRITISH ISLES

Letter From a Former Peterborough Boy — Seeing the Coronation — Places of Interest in England and Scotland.

The Examiner has been permitted to use parts of a letter written by Dr. Edwy G. Stratton, who with his wife is now travelling in Europe, to his mother, Mrs. Jas. Stratton, "Ardyn" Gilmour street. The following extracts will be found very interesting:

August 11th, 1902.

Dear Mother,—I wrote you last from Paris telling you of our trip along the Riviera and through the south of France. Well we left Paris June 4th for London so as to be in plenty of time for the Coronation and we followed the King and Queen around for a couple of weeks, much like children chase a fire engine. If they were to be at the opera, we were there; if they were reviewing troops, we were there; if they were to drive in the park, there you would find us. So when the first Coronation was postponed we were not so much disappointed as a great many strangers, since we had seen all the troops at their different camping places, and we never got tired going to see the different tribes of Indians and the Fiji Islanders. The line of route of the procession was beautifully decorated and every available space was utilized for putting up seats. You can imagine the disappointment of those who had gone to such great expense, in removing their stocks of goods and taking out their plate glass windows to make more room for seats which were selling at from ten to forty dollars a piece. We paid fifteen dollars each at the Westminster Grand Stand, and when the procession did not take place, twenty per cent. was returned to us—not much but still the price of another opera. We stayed on in town until Lord Kitchener's return from South Africa, as we wished to see the much-praised General, and the people certainly gave him a rousing reception, although Lord Roberts seemed to me to get the most of the cheering. Knowing we would have to wait quite a while before the King recovered, we made a complete tour of England and Scotland, stopping a day or two in each of the following town: Oxford, Stratford-on-Avon, the home of Shakespeare, Blenheim—the home of the Duke of Marlborough, where we were taken all through his mansion, and it certainly is a wonderful place,—Warwick Castle in Warwickshire, which is the oldest and most beautiful castle we have seen, still surrounded with its moat and wall. We were also taken through this castle, Kenilworth, the former home of the Earl of Leicester and where Queen Elizabeth held such great fetes, Chester, which is a most beautiful quaint old town, Kendal, from where we took the stage for Windermere Lake, and after a trip around the lake, again the stage for Lake Ullswater, Carlisle, which has a beautiful cathedral, and Edinburg, which is one of the most beautiful cities we have had the pleasure to see. Here we met some friends who had stopped at the same hotel with us at Brussels, and they were exceedingly nice, inviting us to dinner and entertaining us royally. From Edinburg we went to Holyrood, where Mary Queen of Scots lived for some time and where James I of England was born, Roslyn Castle, the former home of the Earl of Roslyn, now a ruin, but which has a most beautiful chapel in good repair. We then took the boat up the Firth of Forth, sailing under the Forth Bridge, which is one of the most remarkable bridges in the world, one span alone being 1,750 ft. in length, to Stirling where we viewed the Castle which took such a strong part in Scottish History, returning to Edinburg late the same evening. We also took a trip through the "Trossach's, sailing down LochKatrine and staging it to Loch Lomond, sailing down Loch Lomond, and Loch Long, and Firth of Clyde, to Dunbarton where we took the train for Glasgow. Glasgow is an extremely smoky, dirty and uninteresting city, so we just stayed in it one day, leaving for the east coast, stopping at Melrose which has a beautiful and historical Abbey, and was also the home of Sir Walter Scott, whose residence we visited and found it extremely interesting. From Melrose we visited the cathedrals at Durham, York, Lincoln, Ely, Cambridge and arrived in London the day before the actual Coronation, on Aug. 9th.

We were fortunate enough to find two seats, and at last we saw the great King and Queen in their golden chariot with their crowns. The streets along route were covered with yellow sand, and the peerage with their coronets and beautiful coaches presented a picture never to be forgotten. On Saturday and Monday nights the principal buildings and private residences were illuminated and along with the decorations everything appeared as if one was in fairy land. The illumination of the Bank of England, Mansion House and Royal Exchange were simply magnificent and when one remembers that it cost the Bank of England $75,000 alone you will get an idea what a spectacle a great city like this would present.

We leave next Monday for St. Petersburg, stopping at Berlin for a short time, then we are going to take in Turkey and Greece, Palestine and Egypt but if we are shut out of Egypt on account of the cholera plague, which is raging there at present, we shall come around the Mediteranean to Gibraltar and come up through Spain. We are going to leave Wales and Ireland till our return. We are both in best of health and enjoying our trip immensely.

. . The weather here has not been very pleasant; too much rain, but on great occasions it has been exceptionally fine. By the way, I saw Mr. and Mrs. George A. Cox driving on Piccadilly street before the date of the first Coronation. In coming across the channel I met Archie Hutchison, of Toronto, who said he was a great friend of J. R. Stratton's and Harry LeBrun's. He was going to the Derby, which was not a great success on account of the rain. We got soaking wet, but we had to see the great race. By the way the Henley regatta was the most beautiful sight I ever saw.

ANOTHER FORM OF GRUMBLE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—You have had some interesting letters criticising the police and authorities, but I wish to point out a case wherein they do their duty too well or rather carry out too strictly the rather rigid rules of their superiors in authority. The fountain in front of the Police Station, Water street, is continuously flowing and probably a hundred times more water passes through the waste pipes into the sewar than is used. The librarian of the Public Libery went the other day to get a small vessel filled with water from the fountain. This was an offense the police did not have to go out of their way to look after, and the offender was pounced upon, and forbidden to take a drop of water away in a vessel. He was at liberty to stand at the fountain and drink a million gallons if he could, but he must not carry away a gill of the water that was flowing to waste the greater part of the day and night. The policeman were not to blame, if blame there were, except in the matter of discretion—they were simply carrying out instructions. It appears that the Water Commissioners have issued orders to that effect and the police were simply carrying them out. It's all right enough to prevent waste of city water, but it seems to me to be easy enough for new brooms to sweep too clean. It appears to be a too rigid enforcement of the law to refuse a cup of cold water to the Public Library, an institution maintained in the interest of the tax-payers and to which the town as a corporation does not contribute a cent. By the way our taxes are pretty stiff, the assessors have advanced the assessment on town property generally—whether they have done it on their own property is a question—and the aldermen have kept up the tax rate. And the Water Commissioners are adopting hard and fast rules to, I suppose, make the waterworks pay. The little petty prohibition of taking a few quarts of water from a fountain which is flowing all the day, wont affect the revenue one cent. It seems to be a little piece of petty tyranny. They had better look after the waste of the water on the streets, which is so lavishly used in some cases as to not only lay the dust but to make mud. If we have to live under such strict rules, the people would have been better off under the old company—they were not stingy nor mean with their water, and yet they paid dividends. When so many other things are winked at surely its wrong to place petty tryannical restrictions on the procurement of a few pints of water—God's free gift.

Yours truly,
READER.

Aug. 28th, 1902.

FIGURES WERE WRONG.

Chemong Park is not Taxed to the Extent of $360.00.

Mr. F. J. Bell, Township Clerk of Smith, writes as appended, correcting a statement made by Mayor Denne at the meeting of the Chemong Cottagers on Thursday night:

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I see in Friday's Examiner a report of a meeting of the Cottagers of Chemong Park, at which Mr. Denne is reported as saying that the park residents contributed about $360.00 in taxes each year for which they got no adequate returns. I do not know whether the fact that this meeting was held in the Park Hotel, is responsible for the swelling of the figures or not, but in any case this statement is very misleading, as the total taxes paid by holders of property in the Park, including hotel property and vacant land, is $152.68, of this sum $36.79 is County Rate and $50.62 is School Rate, over which their park municipality would have no control if incorporated. The total Township Rate from the park is $22.27, and Statute Labour $53,90, making $76.27, which is at present controlled by the Council of Smith, and if the park authorities had the expenditure of this sum it would be very far short of Mr. Denne's figures. I do not think the Township of Smith would oppose the incorporation if wanted by the cottagers, but it would not be fair to leave the public to believe that the park is unjustly dealt with by the Smith Council. Perhaps Mr. Denne will be surprised to learn that several farmers in Smith contribute more taxes each as Township Rate, than the whole park property.

Yours truly,
F. J. BELL,
Clerk of Smith.

THE LONG SUFFERING POLICEMAN.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—At present he does not appear to have many friends, and as my sympathy usually goes to the "under dog," I say to his many fault finders, "give him a chance." Some months ago a friend of mine had some money stolen out of her house and complained to the Chief, who expressed his willingness to do what he could, but declared it was little he could do as it was difficult to get a conviction. The boys knew that. One is tempted to ask if the common school system is the success its promoters of twenty or thirty years since claimed it would be, when education was free to all. Evidently there is not one, but several screws loose, in our system of educating the young, and a misconception of the relative value of education. On whom lies the responsibility of teaching law and order, to the young? I say fearlessly, Peterborough is a disgrace to every responsible teacher of the youth in it. Parents and pastors it is your fault, not that of the policeman, for the children and youth who evidently have not been taught as the great Guide of Life directs, to do unto others as they would that others do to them. I do not wonder complaint is made. It is high time parents realized their duty and did it. Then policemen would be unnecessary, as far as maintaining law and order.

As for weeds, they are the outward and visible sign, of a careless, easy-loving people, who evidently take no pride in the handsome town, which the generosity and enterprise of their neighbours Port Hope, Cobourg and Belleville has very largely built up. I trust this will sting them into life and action to clean up the weeds and keep the disorderly in bounds. Every right thinking man and woman is or ought to be a policeman to the young. Soon order would come as in London, England, said to be the most orderly city in the world with the fewest policemen for its size. Trusting those few remarks will be accepted as in the best interests of the town, and if painful let people remember it is often necessary to wound before healing can take place. The King's late illness is a very good case in point. Don't let us forget Kitchener and his methods. Sternness is often the greatest kindness.

I am, very respectfully,
ANNIE HATHAWAY.

BANQUET TO PREMIER

The Canadian Colony of Paris Honor Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

ON A VISIT TO THE FAMILY CIRCLE

Results of the French-Canadian Agreement of 1893 Justify Proposed Closer Trade Relations Between the Two Countries—Sir Wilfrid's Statesmanlike Reply—Appeal to French Shipowners.

Paris, Sept. 2.—The Canadian colony of Paris gave a banquet last night at the Palais D'Orsay to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Prime Minister of Canada. M. Ribot, a former French Premier, presided at the function. The 200 guests present included Lady Laurier. W. S. Fielding, Canadian Minister of Finance, and a number of prominent French statesmen.

M. Ribot eulogized the guest of the evening as a "Frenchman who had participated in our joys and in our sorrows, and who is now on a visit to the family circle."

He said that the French-Canadian agreement of 1893 had resulted in increasing almost five fold Canadian imports from France, while French imports from Canada had almost doubled, and that still more must be achieved by creating a direct steamship service between Canada and European ports. France, continued the speaker, was anxious to co-operate with Canada in struggling against the attempts to monopolize the Atlantic carrying trade.

In reply to a toast and after he had paid a glowing tribute to Canada, Sir Wilfrid said that if the commercial relations of France and Canada were not to-day developed it was because the treaty of 1893 did not go far enough. The Canadian Government, he said, had offered a subvention of $50,000 to establish a direct French-Canadian steamship line. He appealed to French ship owners to consent to bear their part in the cost of a line.

BOER-BRITISH SITUATION.

No Concessions to Boers to Be Countenanced at All.

London, Sept. 2.—Generals Dewet, Botha, Delarey and Mr. Fischer arrived here yesterday from The Hague. A heavy rain was falling when they arrived, and they received no demonstration. It is understood that Joseph Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary, is coming to London to confer with the generals.

No Concessions to Boers.

The papers yesterday morning publish editorial articles strongly urging the Government to refuse further to negotiate with the Boer generals, or at least to decline to grant them any further concessions.

Lord Milner, British High Commissioner in South Africa, has just issued at Pretoria a new ordinance in regard to the taxation of natives, under which every male adult and every married native woman must pay, after Sept. 1, an annual capitation tax of $10. This is, roughly speaking, double the amount of capitation tax collected under the Boer regime, and it will doubtless lead to much murmuring.

Gen. Brabant Afraid.

Gen. Brabant, the commander of Brabant's Corps during the fighting in South Africa, sailed yesterday for the Cape. Speaking of the political situation, Gen. Brabant expressed the opinion that it was not satisfactory. He added: "We are in danger of losing everything that we gained by the war."

Oxen From Madagascar.

From Pretoria it is reported that over £4,000,000 will be advanced to Boer farmers for restocking, etc. Oxen are being procured from Madagascar.

Boers and National Scouts.

Pretoria, Sept. 1.—The reports of bad feeling between the National Scouts and surrendered Boers are much exaggerated. Those with the returning prisoners of war appear to be settling down with very little wrangling. There are no authentic cases of ill-treatment, but there is a slight tendency to boycott.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

Sir Robert Bond's Mission to U.S. Authorized by Great Britain.

Montreal, Sept. 2.—"It is true that the Imperial Government has sanctioned the re-opening of negotiations for a trade arrangement between Newfoundland and the United States, and I will leave for Washington immediately for this purpose. I am not in a position, however, to make any further statement with regard to the matter."

This important statement was made by Sir Robert Bond, Prime Minister of Newfoundland, who arrived yesterday by the steamer Pretorian, and it is understood that he will leave for the American capital Thursday afternoon.

Sir Robert said he could not discuss just now Canada's probable attitude in the matter.

The Newfoundland premier has also a project on hand for the establishment of a fast line of steamers between Galway and St. John's, Nfld., using Reid's railway across the ancient colony.

"Confederation will have to come sooner or later, and perhaps it would be better for it to take place while the colony is prosperous," was the rather important declaration made here last night by the Hon. G. W. Guthrie, Minister of Public Works in Sir Robert Bond's government. He said, however, that the ministry would oppose ex-Judge Morrison in Trinity, who wanted to get into parliament and form a new party. The minister also stated that he presumed Sir Wilfrid Laurier had given his consent to the renewal of the Bond-Blaine treaty, since Sir Robert Bond was going to Washington to open up negotiations.

BURGLAR WAS INTERRUPTED

Attempt Made to Steal From Mr. Barrie's Store.

One of the Clerks Happened to Drop Into the Store and the Man Bolted Into Freedom.

A most daring attempt was made at about three o'clock this morning to rob the fur store of Mr. Thomas Barrie, corner of George and Simcoe streets. The thief was foiled in his attempt and made good his escape.

Mr. Jas. Hard, one of Mr. Barrie's salesmen, returned from Toronto on the midnight express, which was very late, however, and did not arrive in Peterborough until after two o'clock. He came on up town, and had a parcel which he intended leaving in Mr. Barrie's store. He went to the Simcoe street entrance, but before unlocking the door he noticed that the plate glass window was broken in. He called to P. C. Stewart and Nightwatchmen Finnie, who were near the corner of George and Simcoe streets, and then proceeded to open the door. As he did so, however, a man darted out at lightning speed, and started up Simcoe street. P. C. Stewart gave chase, but he was outrun in the race and the burglar escaped.

An examination of Mr. Barrie's premises disclosed the fact that a bold attempt was being made to carry off about $1200 worth of choice furs. These had been taken from the show rooms up-stairs, and the thief was evidently in the act of bundling them up when disturbed by Mr. Hard. In his flight the stranger left his soft hat, which may yet assist in his identification.

The door window that was smashed was of heavy plate glass and a hole was made large enough to admit of a man crawling through.

Had Mr. Hard not arrived on the scene at the time that he did, Mr. Barrie would undoubtedly have been robbed of a considerable amount of valuable furs. It is thought that there was more than one person engaged in the robbery.

A CATHEDRAL WEDDING.

Marriage This Morning of Miss Josephine Welsh and Mr. Edward Hiland.

A very pretty wedding took place this morning at eight o'clock in St. Peter's Cathedral, when Rev. Dr. O'Brien performed the ceremony uniting Miss Josephine Welsh, daughter of Mr. Edward Welsh, of No. 23 Elm street, and Mr. Edward Hiland, foreman of Mr. Thos. Barrie's cutting department. The extreme popularity of the young couple was evidenced by the large number of friends, who were present to witness the ceremony.

The bride was charmingly gowned in white silk organdie over taffeta silk and wore a large picture hat. She was assisted by her sister, Miss Deborah Welsh, who was gowned in a like costume and wore a large black hat.

The groomsman was Mr. T. J. Milady, of Toronto.

The wedding party at the conclusion of the ceremony drove to the residence of the bride's father, where a recherche wedding breakfast was served and an opportunity afforded of viewing the large number of very handsome gifts which were received.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiland went east on the noon train and will return next week to take up residence on the corner of Hunter and Reid streets.

TRADES' UNIONISM.

Rev. J. C. Davidson Spoke on That Subon Sunday Night.

The services at St. John's church on Sunday evening, were of a special nature, in view of the fast that Monday was Labour Day. The music, the lessons, sermon, and the entire service was appropriate to the occasion, and upon invitation of the Rector, Rev. J. C. Davidson, the heads of the various labour organisations of the town were in attendance.

Rev. Mr. Davidson took for his text, Phil. ii, 4, "Look not every man on his own things but every man also on the things of others." In his introductory remarks, Rev. Mr. Davidson said that the proclamation of Labour Day in this country not only provides a day of recreation for workingmen and proclaims the dignity of labour, but also invites discussion of labour problems. There was no wonder why labour should not be a great problem, as it is as old as Adam and Eve, and will exist until Paradise is regained. In the problem of labour there were few more important features than trades unionism. He did not think that it should be considered only in its secular, aspect—in the manufacturers' office or the labour hall—but it should be dealt with from the pulpit as well. The principle of religion should not be left out.

Continuing, Rev. Mr. Davidson urged upon the Labour Unions to get strength, counsel and co-operation, which would result in increased pay and shorter hours. He denied that the objects of the unions was of a selfish nature, but was for the general betterment of the workman's condition. To be a union man should be a guarantee of respectability and moderate skill.

In his concluding remarks, he asked his hearers to cultivate personal honesty, temperance and purity. Moral evil was the root of social evil.

SIR EDMUND BARTON

Australian Premier and Party Have Arrived in Toronto.

TRIBUTE TO CANADIAN VALOR.

Lord Dundonald, the Inaugurator of the 24th Toronto Industrial Fair, Speaks Some Quiet, Soldierly Words of Praise — At National Banquet Gives His Idea of Training Militia.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—Sir Edmund Barton, Premier of the Australian Commonwealth, and party, arrived in Toronto in the private Pullman car Lucina last night, coming by Grand Trunk. The party are registered at the Queen's, and will be there for some days.

LORD DUNDONALD.

Promptly Opened Toronto Industrial Fair With Meaty Speech.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—The Right Hon. the Earl of Dundonald, C.V.O.C.B., opened the Toronto Industrial Fair.

At 2.30 promptly the Exhibition's guest of honor ascended the stand in front of the grand stand and faced the multitude. There was much hand-clapping and cheering as the erect, soldierly man faced the vast crowd and smiled his acknowledgement in a most genial manner. In fact, there was evident warmth from the moment Lord Dundonald looked over the grand stand.

President McNaught then presented him with an address of welcome appropriate to the occasion.

Lord Dundonald is an extemporaneous speaker. He does not even carry notes. He looked the cheering mass over several seconds, and then began in a clear, distinct voice, referring first to the magnitude of the Exhibition, then to the fine country, the city, and concluding with a glowing tribute to the courage and skill of Canadian soldiers in general, and the Canadian Mounted Rifles in particular.

LORD DUNDONALD.

"I can't thank you enough for the honor you have done me on this occasion. It has pleased me very much and I have looked forward to this hour with pleasant anticipations. I have always felt an interest in Canada. My ancestors have fought on Canadian battlefields, and I have family connections here. I find little difference between Canada and the Mother Country. The people are the same here, only fewer of them. Canada is probably no more beautiful than the Old Country but there is more of it. But I must say your hospitality exceeds the Old Country. I am pleased with the conspicuous manner in which labor is honored here on this occasion. No one can look upon this city of 250,000 without feeling a great interest in its people. Your industries, your manufacturies are enormous. But the marvel of it all is this great Exhibition. The men who organized it deserve great praise. The advance in the efficiency of small arms make it possible for a small nation skilled in this direction to successfully oppose nations of much greater numerical strength, if well armed, well officered and well armed. But they must have two leading qualities—bravery and patriotism. Canada has shown that she possesses both. I am here to assist in organizing your forces, so that when they do turn out they may be the best soldiers in the world. When the bugle sounds Canada may rest assured that she will have the whole Empire behind her. In conclusion, permit me to again thank you for the honor you have done me."

The wildest cheers followed these remarks. Then the soldiers who were to receive medals for their fierce campaigning in South Africa were ordered forward one at a time to receive the prize. Each man saluted and received a hearty handclasp from Lord Dundonald. To each man a pleasant word was spoken, and each went away beaming. He remembered where each man had been engaged, and if he did not he enquired in the most genial manner where the soldier was, etc.

The Commander of the Forces in Canada spoke directly to the soldiers then. They were marched in front of the stand, and he addressed them in the most cordial manner imaginable, complimenting them upon their individual work as well as bravery as a nation:

"I present these medals on behalf of the City of Toronto. I am glad to be able to distribute these prizes. We have all fought our best, but as there is a majority of the C.M.R. among you, I cannot refrain from mentioning the conspicuous work of these men, especially those 21 members who stood the rush of the full Boer forces at Hart's River and lost 17 out of their number. When men are in camp, working around their horses and attending to other routine, they are not thinking of battle, and not always prepared for a sudden attack. Therefore, the work of these 21 men is especially worthy of mention. I shall always feel, if all Canadians fight like those men fought, that when surrounded by Canadians, I can go into camp, take off my belt and sit down."

It was 3.20 when His Lordship pressed the button that started the machinery of the great Exhibition of 1902, and said: "I noe declare the 1902, and said: "I now declare the 24th Exhibition open."

Continued cheering followed the conclusion of these remarks. Then the King, the Exhibition, Lord Dundonald and the Boers were proposed for cheers, and the force the crowd put into the cheers indicated the spirit of the visitors.

TRAINING THE MILITIA.

Lord Dundonald Favors Rifle Shooting and Efficient Skeleton Force.

The dinner tendered to Lord Dundonald at the National Club Monday evening was a success in every sense of the term. J. F. Ellis, president of the National Club, presided, on his right being the guest of the evening, and on his left Col. Lord Aylmer, adjutant-general.

When the good things provided had been duly partaken of and the toast of "The King" had been proposed by the chairman and enthusiastically honored, the toast of "Lord Dundonald" was proposed by President Ellis, in suitable phrase.

Upon rising to respond, Lord Dundonald was given an enthusiastic greeting. "Mr. President and members of the National Club," he said, "I thank you from the bottom of my heart for the kind reception, and I feel that it is given me as a leader of mounted men who tried to do their duty during the rather stormy period in South Africa when I garrisoned the first siege. Gentlemen, I remember, when a boy, being taken by my mother to see her father, who, I think I may say, was an intelligent man—a Scotchman—(laughter)—who had been for forty years a member of the House of Commons. My grandfather said: "Why, are you thinking of putting the boy into the army? There are going to be no more wars; there is going to be universal peace.' Well, it was then thought we had come to a period when war could be only made by aristocrats who wanted to increase the price of corn, but it has been proved to our satisfaction that wars can be made by democracies and that they are as greedy for land as the aristocracy of olden days. Now, I suppose you have considered the matter of the safety of your country, and of competent militarism. First of all, we must have highly intelligent officers—that is, men who will not learn lessons from the dead bodies of those they lead." (Cheers.)

Lord Dundonald then enumerated a number of instances where he had seen officers learn lessons from the mistakes they had made, not mentioning any names, but setting forth the facts in such a way as to show the folly of having incompetent officers in command of any force. The instances were chiefly where men were allowed to expose themselves to danger when there was really no necessity. "The instances," he said, "show how necessary it is to have brains above all things in the selection of our officers, and, of course, as much military training as possible. And I look upon it as one of the most responsible duties I have to advise the responsible minister of your country as to who shall be selected for promotion in the militia of your country. (Applause.) It is a most serious duty, for it is indeed difficult to find out in every case who is best fit to fill such and such a position. But I shall always advise as far as lies in my power without favor or preferment in the interest only of the country. (Applause.) I do not know what view your Minister of Militia takes with regard to your militia, because he is away, but I know the view I take with regard to it. I see plainly that there are many men who cannot give up the time to become efficient soldiers, as far as drill is concerned, but are ready to become efficient rifle shots. (Applause.) We ought to go for is the skeleton of trained men, and, who, [illegible] officers, can become the [illegible] blood of good rifle shots in time of war. I think if that is done, that if all the wealth and prosperity I see around me is very seriously threatened, there will be a force sufficient to defend it, and I am sure it has been proved over and over again in the past war that it is the quality of the troops upon whom success largely depends, and not on their numbers. The modern rifle has enabled a few men to hold a defensive position, and has enormously increased the power of small forces; so, therefore, taking all into account, I look with great hopefulness for the Canadian forces being made practically efficient for the purpose for which they are needed, and, as regards their courage and sense of duty, no man can speak with more knowledge and certainty than I. (Hear, hear.) I thank you for your very kind reception. (Renewed applause.)

"Canada and the Empire," was responded to by Hon. J. M. Gibson, Rev. Prof. Clark and Rev. Dr. Parkin.

W. K McNaught proposed the toast of the Canadian Militia, which was responded to in felicitous terms by Col. Lord Aylmer, Col. Cotton and Col. Buchan.

The most pleasant gathering then dispersed with the singing of the National Anthem.

MANY CRAFT ASHORE.

Eighteen Vessels Driven In and Five Lose All of Their Crews.

Cape Town, Sept. 1.—Eighteen vessels, mostly sailing craft, have been driven ashore in a gale at Port Elizabeth. Five of them were dashed to pieces, and all the members of their crews were lost. Two tugs are also reported to have foundered, and a score of lighters are ashore. It is feared that there has been great loss of life.

Reginald Kennedy Dead.

Hamilton, Sept. 2.—Reginald Kennedy, president and general manager of The Times Printing Company, passed away in The Times ward at the General Hospital at 9.45 last evening. His death was not unexpected, he having been low for two or three days. About ten days ago he sustained a bad fall, slipping on a banana skin and his head was severely cut. He suffered from heart trouble and shock, and was taken to the hospital last Thursday. Mr. Kennedy was 56 years of age, and was one of the best known newspaper men in Canada. In the city he was exceedingly popular.

Six-Year-Old Drowned.

Victoria Road, Sept. 2.—A sad drowning accident occurred in this place about 4 p.m. yesterday. Several of the small boys were playing at the dam, when Cyril, a 6-year-old son of Mr. A. C. Graham, slipped off the abutment into the water. The other children ran for help, but about 25 minutes had passed before the body could be found. All efforts to restore life were fruitless.

Maintains Integrity of Messages.

Ferrol, Spain, Sept. 2. — Signor Marconi, aboard the Italian cruiser Carlo Alberto, says he is in constant communication with Berlin, as well as with British warships, from this station and from Cornwall. He declares that he has solved the problem of maintaining the integrity of individual simultaneous messages.

DOMINION RIFLE MATCHES.

Interesting Tie Between Ontario Shots in Barlow Match.

Ottawa, Sept. 2.—The thirty-fourth annual meeting of the Dominion Rifle Association opened yesterday morning at the Rockliffe ranges, and crack shots from all over the Dominion are here to participate in the tournament. The attendance is slightly over 400. For the opening day the weather conditions were not the most favorable. The sky was overcast and somewhat threatening rain, while the light was none too good. A left rear wind prevailed. The first match shot was the Barlow, this being followed by the Bankers and the MacDougall.

For first place in the Barlow match Pte. Bibby (77th) and Mr. G. Dick (Carleton Place R. A.) tied, securing $22.50 each, both making possibles at 500 yards.

In the team competition first place was won by the teams of the 13th Regiment, Hamilton, 155; second by the Manitoba R. A., 152; third by the 10th R. G., Toronto, 150, and fourth by Carleton Place R. A. 140.

Among the hundreds of visitors at the ranges were many members of the 10th National Guard of Albany and the Hong Kong Coronation Contingent.

The Principal Meal.

The principal meal of all people of all ages has been undoubtedly dinner, and the lover of old time customs will find it both interesting and entertaining to notice the various changes which have taken place in the etiquette of the dinner table.

Zulu Women.

Zulu women always indicate by their headdress whether they are married or unmarried.

English Land Tenures.

Some of the English tenures are exceedingly curious. A farm near Broadhouse, in Yorkshire, pays annually to the landlord a snowball in midsummer and a red rose at Christmas. The manor of Foston is held by a rental of two arrows and a loaf of bread.

MADE AND GUARANTEED BY

IN AID OF STRIKERS.

Silver-Tongued National Guardsmen Were Eloquent.

AN UNEXPECTED SITUATION.

Soldiers Use Their Persuasive Powers to Get Non-Union Men to Join the Strikers and Nearly Empty Rush Run Mine —Pitiable Condition of Some of the Evicted Strikers— In Florence.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Sept. 2.—An unexpected situation has resulted from the ordering out of the National Guard to preserve order in the coal fields. The soldiers whose sympathies were all with the strikers, have used their influence with the men who are at work, and have persuaded so many of them to join in the strike that the detachment stationed at Rush Run had to be recalled and sent to another point to keep it from emptying the mine.

The condition of the strikers is pitiable, hundreds sleeping under the open sky. Some of the soldiers have even shared their food provided by the state with the families of the men who are on strike.

6,000 TROOPS IN FLORENCE.

City Patrolled Because Forty Trades Are on Strike.

Florence, Sept. 2.—The employes of 40 different callings have joined the strike which began last Friday. The town appears to be in a state of siege. Troops have been recalled from the manoeuvres and from camp, and every square in the city is occupied by a company of soldiers. Strong infantry and cavalry patrols, with fixed lances and bayonets, are parading the streets of Florence and its suburbs. Six thousand troops, in addition to a number of policemen and carbineers, have been concentrated in the city. 40,000 men are idle in the city, and it is feared the strike contagion will spread to other industrial centres.

Car Strike in Geneva.

Geneva, Sept. 2.—All the employes of the tramway lines of the city went on strike yesterday because the manager of the electric workshops, who, is an American, dismissed 42 men employed in the shops and offered them positions as conductors.

LABOR DAY.

Celebrated in Canada and the United States by Processions.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—Yesterday, Labor Day, was celebrated here by the greatest procession ever handled by organized labor in this city. There were 4,822 workmen in line, and admiring thousands lined the streets. All trades were represented.

Telegrams from other points show that at Philadelphia 15,000 were in line, and were addressed by President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America. At New York, 40,000 men paraded. Dublin, Ireland, celebrated by electing Ald. Patrick Dowd, the Labor candidate, to the Lord Mayoralty of the city. Big processions, terminating at parks where were held games and speeches took place at Hamilton, Winnipeg, Guelph, Peterboro, Ottawa, Kingston, London, St. Catharines and Montreal.

Toronto Sculler Second.

New York, Sept. 2.—Louis Scholes, the Toronto Rowing Club crack, was beaten to a standstill by Frank Vesely of the Bohemian, B. C., at the 13th annual regatta of the Middle States Regatta Association on the Harlem River yesterday. It was the most surprising incident of an excellent day's sports and hundreds of dollars changed hands on the result.

Shamrock 9, Toronto 6.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—Eight thousand people saw the Shamrocks of Montreal defeat the Torontos at lacrosse on the Island Monday afternoon. Five hundred others paid admission, but could not get even a glimpse of the players—and their money wasn't refunded. The Shamrocks won and won on their merits. The score, 9 to 6, was not the result of luck, but the result of superior play. The Torontos played a brilliant game, were fast and had a nice combination. The Shamrocks had all this and, in addition, greater weight and strength.

MARTINIQUE VILLAGE DESTROYED.

Mount Pelee in Violent Eruption—Le Carbet Swept by Tidal Wave.

Castries, Island of St. Lucia, British West Indies, Sept. 2.—The British steamer Korona arrived here yesterday evening from Fort De France, Island of Martinique. She reports that a terrible eruption of Mont Pelee occurred at 9 o'clock Saturday night, and that people who arrived at Fort De France from the northern part of the island reported that the village of Morne Rouge (near the district previously devastated), had been entirely destroyed, and that Le Carbet (a village on the coast, close to the southern end of the territory, which was destroyed at the time of the great eruption) has been swept by a tidal wave. About 200 persons lost their lives.

FELL FROM FORESTERS' ARCH.

Thomas Wilkinson Met Instant Death at Toronto Exhibition.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—Thomas Wilkinson, a plasterer, met instant death on Saturday afternoon while at work on the I.O.F. arch at the Exhibition Grounds. He was standing on a scaffold with Foreman Foley and in stepping to pick up a tool, tripped on a trestle and fell to the ground, a distance of 25 feet. His skull was fractured at the base. Deceased was 48 years of age and resided at 911 Manning avenue. He leaves a widow and six children.

COMPLETELY LAID UP

A Contractor Confined to His Bed With Kidney Trouble.

He is Better now and Writes an Interesting Letter Telling of His Recovery and how it Came About.

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 1. — (Special.) —There are few men in the west end of this city who are more widely and more favourably known than Mr. W. J. Keane, 86 Lippincott street, who for years has conducted a business as builder and contractor.

Some five or six years ago Mr. Keane was a very sick man. He had Kidney Trouble which developed until he was absolutely unable to leave his bed.

Mr. Keane found a cure where so many sick and suffering ones have found it, in Dodd's Kidney Pills, and has given for publication the following written statement;

"I deem it a great pleasure to give my experience of Dodd's Kidney Pills and the good they have done me. I was a great sufferer with pains in my back and used to be often so laid up as to be unable to do my work.

"A friend advised Dodd's Kidney Pills, but as I had used so many other medicines without any good results, I had little faith in anything. However, I got some of the pills and commenced the treatment. I had only used part of the first box when I was able to resume my work.

"I used altogether seven boxes, and I can say that I was completely cured, and as this was over four years ago and the trouble has not returned in any form I feel safe in saying that my cure was perfect and permanent.

"I believe Dodd's Kidney Pills saved me from death. They are certainly worth their weight in gold to a sick man."

What has done so much for Mr. Keane and many others is certainly worth a trial by those who may be suffering from Kidney Disease or any of its consequences.

Freeborn Fatally Hurt.

Hamilton, Sept. 2. — Yesterday word was received from Buffalo to the effect that John Freeborn, formerly of the Hamilton Tigers and the Kingston Granite football teams, was fatally injured while unloading a vessel there. Freeborn was a longshoreman and went to Buffalo a few months ago. His mother went to Buffalo immediately.

Virchow in Critical State.

Berlin, Sept. 2.—Prof. Virchow, the famous scientist, who is gravely ill, and hardly expected to live, was brought here yesterday from Harzburg in an ambulance. Hopes are still entertained that the professor may rally from his present illness. He is more than 80 years old.

Has stood the test for nearly sixty years as a cure for Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Cramps, Colic, Cholera, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Pains in the Stomach, Sea Sickness, and all forms of Summer Complaint.

Don't experiment with new and untried remedies, but procure that which has stood the test of time.

HUGE MANITOBA WHEAT.

Large Quantity of It Will Be Brought Early to Market.

Winnipeg, Sept. 2.—The weather yesterday was warm and cloudy. Farmers everywhere were in the fields cutting or stacking, while at many places threshing was in progress. There will be a large quantity of wheat brought early to market, and elevator men are busy preparing to receive the first of the new crop. The cry still goes up for more men for the fields, and the demand is far greater than the supply.

Immense Corn Crop Safe.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—According to the current issue of The Corn Belt, an immense crop of corn is maturing in the fields of Nebraska, Iowa, Northern Kansas, Northern Missouri and Northeastern Colorado. Reports gathered from 900 agents in the territory covered indicate that the silk and tassel have served their functions and are withered and that the crop is so far advanced as to be past danger from any source. These same reports say all small grains are cut and in the stack, and that threshing has reasonably progressed.

Graham Swam the Rapids.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Sept. 2.—Carlisle D. Graham successfully swam the whirlpool and lower rapids below the Falls Sunday afternoon. He accomplished the feat without much trouble. He was in difficulty in the tempestuous waters, known as the Devil's Hole, but emerged therefrom practically unscathed after a severe tossing. The banks were lined with spectators during the performance of the feat.

Mrs. Doyle Is Dead.

Toronto, Sept. 2. — The suffering was too much for Mrs. Annie Doyle of 21 Sheridan avenue, from burns she received on Sunday morning through lighting a stove with coal oil, and she succumbed at St. Michael's Hospital yesterday, after undergoing a day of most agonizing pain.

Many Students Wounded.

Agram, Hungary, Sept. 2.—There were serious disorders here Sunday in connection with a demonstration on the part of Creation students against the Servian inhabitants. The police charged the demonstrators, and many were wounded.

Twenty-Five Were Killed.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 2.—In a wreck on the Southern Railway, at Berry, 65 miles west of this city, the trainmaster, H. N. Dudley, and about 25 colored passengers were killed. The engine was derailed and six coaches overturned.

Killed in a Runaway.

Winnipeg, Sept. 2.—James Chorest, proprietor of the hotel at Eli, Man., on the Canadian Northern, was killed instantly Saturday night. He was driving along the road when he saw a team attached to a grain tank running away. He jumped out and attempted to stop them, but the tongue of the tank struck him on the side of the head, knocking the skull in and crushing it to a pulp.

A Treacherous Toy Gun.

Toronto, April 2.—Robert Hearn, a youth of 18, whose home is at 522 East Front street, and who is a driver for Taylor's Soap Works, was fooling with a toy gun yesterday morning when something went wrong with the mechanism, and an explosion occurred, which chopped off the thumb and index finger of his left hand. It was found necessary to amputate the hand.

Engineer Found Drowned.

Rat Portage, Sept. 2.—Russell Woods, an old resident of this place, a C.P.R. engineer, was found drowned in the bay yesterday. Deceased had been missing since Tuesday night.

Drowned at Greenwood.

Greenwood, Sept. 2.—Leslie Byers, second son of James Byers of this place, was drowned here yesterday while bathing in Green's Pond.

Both Were Drowned.

Rat Portage, Sept. 2.—Fred Smith, and Owen Martin were upset in a canoe Sunday and both drowned.

FIRST BORN LONG LIVED.

Oldest Members of Families Carry the Longest on This Earth.

The first-born of parents have a much longer average of life than their brothers and sisters who come after them. This fact is demonstrated by statistics gathered by life insurance companies. Longevity is also said to be hereditary. Said an English insurance man the other day:

"Some persons have hardier constitutions than others, and they are apt to transmit them to their children. A man both of whose parents were long-lived has a promise of a good old age himself. This of course, is an old story. A much less familiar principle affecting the duration of life has been presented by Miss Mary Beeton, of Cambridge, and Professor Karl Pearson of London.

"A comparison was made between the lengths of the lives of two adult brothers or two adult sisters to ascertain if there was a perceptible difference between the older and the younger members of the pair. The figures here given represent the average of over one thousand cases, and hence would seem to point to a general law. It may be added that the particular persons under investigation belonged to the Society of Friends. That organization placed its record at the disposal of Miss Beeton and Professor Pearson.

"It thus appears that the average of the elder brother was 38.56 years, the younger brother, 34.375; the elder sisters, 39.924, and the younger sisters, 35,667. There is a difference of over four years in favor of the older brother or sister. This does not signify that the older brother or sister will survive the younger. The mean interval between the births of all the pairs under consideration was about six and a half years. Hence the older brother or sister would ordinarily die first, though attaining a greater age.

"The first inquiry here mentioned was limited to pairs, the younger members of which had attained the age of 21. A second comparison was made that included minors with adults. It gave results closely resembling the other. The mean excess of life in 3,855 pairs was 4.6 years. But the intervals between the birth appear to exert some influence. Miss Beeton and Professor Pearson furnish a formula by which one's expectations can be computed, and add: 'Thus a brother born ten years before another has probably seven years greater duration of life. A sister born ten years before another sister has probably about six years' greater duration of life.'"

UP-TO-DATE IDEAS.

The Most Popular One With Young and Old is the Determination to Make

Malt Breakfast Food

The First Dish at the Morning Meal.

A Food Thoroughly Relished by all Classes.

Up-to-date ideas crowd thick and fast on the people of progressive communities. The strongest, most sensible and most popular one, that has seized the public is the determination to make Malt Breakfast Food the first dish at the morning meal. When the many positive advantages of Malt Breakfast Food are considered, the new and up-to-date idea is worthy of all encouragement by those who value health, vigour and robustness. The best medical men heartily endorse the fact that Malt Breakfast Food is the true health food, and results amply prove it. See your grocer.

30 Cows Knocked Down.

Midmay, Aug. 30.—During a thunderstorm lightning struck the barn on the dairy farm of George Sargeant, Holland Township. In the barn were 35 cows, and half a dozen people were engaged in milking them. All of the animals fell at the shock and one of the milkers had a leg crushed by a cow falling on him. Another man had his trousers slit from top to bottom on both sides of the body, but escaped scorching of the skin. All the animals regained their feet except two, which were killed by the shock.

If He Can Get $15,000.

Quebec, Aug. 30.— If the Government of the Province of Quebec will grant $15,000 toward the Bernier polar expedition fund the captain will commence work at once to build his ship. The electrical engineer, Bernard Nordbl, who was with Nansen, is to assist Capt. Bernier, in fitting up the ship.

His Arm Twisted Off.

Kintzville, Aug. 30.—Emmons Porteous was caught by the belt of a thresher and had his arm twisted off three inches from the shoulder.

Monument to British at Delhi.

The secretary for India has commissioned a London firm to execute a granite monument to be erected at Raipur cemetery, Delhi, says The London Standard. Portraits of the King and Queen and of the late Queen Victoria will be carved on the sides of the monument with the following inscription: "Sacred to the memory of the officers and men of the British army buried here who fell before Delhi from June to September, 1857, gallantly upholding their country's cause."

The Driver Ants.

The driver ants of Africa are so called because they drive before them while on march all other living creatures, no animal being able to withstand them. No beast, however formidable, dares to cross their track, and they will destroy in a single night all the pigs and fowls on a farm.

St. Luke's Church.

The Board of Management of the W.A., will meet to-night at 8 o'clock, at the rectory, for the transaction of important business. The first meeting after the summer holidays will be held on Thursday at 2.30 in the School House.

Pianos Skilfully Polished.

Your piano looks as though it had been working over-time. Why not have "Joe" Halpany repolish it? The cost will be a mere trifle, and the instrument, after "Joe" gets through with it, will present as good an appearance as the day it left the factory. Orders left at Ormond and Walsh's drug store promptly attended to.

FOR 5c PER YARD.

To wind up the season in Wash Goods ROBERT FAIR & CO. place on sale 500 yards fine printed Muslins and dimities, regular price 15c, 20c, 25c and 30c per yard. Your choice while the limited quantity lasts, 5c. The goods are on view at left entrance to our store. 2d.

Same Old Rush!

What a busy day this has been at the Peterborough Bookstore! From the earliest opening hour the school children have been holding the fort. School supplies have been going out in armfuls, and the demand for stationery and other school requisites still keeps up. Same old rush — same old excitement — same old crush—only a little more of it than ever. Stacks of every requisite await those who haven't been waited on. Bring in your lists, and have them filled to-morrow. A. H. Stratton & Co.

A SUCCESSFUL EXCURSION.

Over 1,000 People go Down the River With St. Peter's T. A. S.

The members of St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society certainly manifested considerable foresight and good judgment in chartering every available craftt on the Otonabee waters for their annual excursion to Jubilee Point on Labour Day, for when the City of Peterborough, the Water Lily, with barge, and the Rainbow, with barge, left the Wolfe street wharf at eight o'clock, there must have been over one thousand souls on board.

The day was an ideal one for an outing on the water. There was a delightful breeze in evidence all day, and the weather man was generous enough to hold the rainfall back until the picnickers returned home.

The City of Peterborough headed the flotilla, and the trip to Jubilee Point was made in good time. The other craft followed on and arrived at Jubilee shortly after dinner had been partaken of by those who travelled on the first boat.

The afternoon was spent in true picnic fashion. Many secured boats and indulged in a cruise on Rice Lake, whilst others gathered in groups in shady retreats and held jolly reunions. But the centre of attraction for the young, as well as many of the older people, was the dancing pavilion, where the lively strains from the fiddlers enticed many a lover of the "light fantastic" to indulge in the merry dance.

Then, too, there was the sports for the children, which were run off under the management of a capable committee, and for which prizes were given.

The excursion, it might be said, took the form of a reunion of the members of St. Peter's T. A. S., and all united in making the affair the huge success it turned out to be. The different committees are to be congratulated on the manner in which they handled the excursion, and everything passed off without any incident that would tend to mar the day's pleasure. Of course, Rev. Dr. O'Brien was with the gathering and expressed himself as highly delighted over the success of the outing.

The steamers started on the home trip shortly after five o'clock, and reached Peterborough at an early hour.

THE LATE MRS. O'BRIEN.

Her Demise Occurred on Sunday—Interment Took Place This Morning.

On Sunday last another old resident of Peterborough passed away in the person of Catherine Cleary, relict of the late John O'Brien. The deceased whose demise occurred at the residence of her son-in-law, Matthew Young, No. 107 Smith street, was 78 years of age and has been in ill-health for some time. The deceased was a native of Ireland, but came to this country when she was about a year old. Her husband predeceased her about 8 years, but a sister, four sons and five daughters survive her. The sister is Mrs. Alex. O'Brien, of town, and the sons are Messrs. Edward, William, Alex, John, all of town. The daughters are Mrs. Matthew Young, Mrs. Thomas Quinlan, Mrs. Charles Taber, Mrs. Wilfrid Grisdale and Mrs. Peter Zettler. The funeral took place at 9 o'clock this morning from the residence of her son-in-law to the Roman Catholic Cathedral and thence to the Roman Catholic Cemetery for interment. The service at the Cathedral was conducted by Rev. Father John O'Brien, and the service at the grave by Rev. Dr. and Rev. John O'Brien. The pall bearers were Messrs. Edward and William O'Brien, Matthew Young, Thomas Quinlan, William Grisdale, Peter Zettler.

Funeral private.

A GREAT SUCCESS.

The Roman Catholic Picnic at Havelock Yesterday—Large Attendance.

The picnic held at Havelock yesterday under the auspices of the Roman Catholic church of that village passed off most successfully. The affair was attended by between 1,500 and 2,000 persons and Father Conway should be greatly pleased with the interest his parishoners take in the affairs of his church. All the surrounding towns and villages sent large representations, whilst many from Peterborough attended. An excellent programme of athletics, including lacrosse and baseball matches, was given.

Rev. Father McGuire, of Hastings, who had charge of the arrangements, in the absence of Rev. Father Conway, who is on a visit to the old country, did everything in his power to make the picnic a success. Amongst those in attendance were Rev. Father McCloskey, of Campbellford, Hon. J. R. Stratton, Senator George McHugh and Mr. Daniel O'Connel. There was no speech-making, but a day of friendly intercourse was afforded. The financial success of the picnic will meet the object for which it was given, viz., to pay off the debt on the church at Havelock.

WYLIE IN LIMBO.

He has Been Sentenced to the Central Prison for a Couple of Years.

A despatch from North Bay says; "The man, Charles Wylie, alias Sills, who appeared before Squire McDonald here on the charge of stealing a horse and rig from Joseph Mullin, livery keeper, was sentenced by Judge Valin to two years in the Central Prison. Wylie has a record. In the early summer he suddenly appeared at the farm house of Mr. Wilkinson, about four miles from the town of Peterborough, and representing that he had just undergone an operation for appendicitis, asked for quiet lodging. The farmer was 'taken in' by the prayerful habits of his self-imposed guest, and week after week passed until the man had spent a full month at the farm house. A circus performed at Peterborough on July 8th, and on that morning the 'patient' felt so far recovered as to express a desire to see the show. Suddenly he turned to his benefactor, and requested him to allow his 14-year-old daughter to accompany him. The request was granted on condition that they would return in time for milking in the evening. This, of course, was readily assented to, but on the arrival of the couple at Peterborough they boarded the train for Orillia, and were married at the latter town. On Sunday last Farmer Wilkinson came to town and took his 'child' home, while the 'pious husband' goes to the penitentiary for two years."

LABOUR DAY PROPERLY OBSERVED IN PETERBORO'

Men of the Different Unions Turn out in Full Strength.

A GRAND STREET PARADE.

Excellent Programme of Sports at the Driving Park in the Afternoon—The Evening's Entertainment in the Opera House —The Iron Moulders Won First Prize.

The united forces of labour in Peterborough have abundant reason to be gratified with the splendid success of the first Labour Day demonstration made under union auspices. The demonstration was not only notable for the smooth running of the arrangements made by the Committee of Management and the fine appearance presented by the several unions in the parade but for the general good behaviour of union men throughout the day and above all for the demonstration of the strength of unionism and the importance and significance of combined action as developed by the occasion. The public largely sympathised with the labour unions and the cause they represented. Flags and bunting were largely displayed, but there was not as large an attendance at the driving park as there should have been, but fuller recognition will come in time and the demonstration of yesterday will go far to win more general respect for and sympathy with the combined labour movement.

The weather was ideally beautiful, the arrangements perfected by the committee were smoothly carried out showing that working men have the faculty of organization to a large degree. In all respects the demonstration from start to finish was a credit to all concerned whether as organizers or actors. It is a grand starting point and from this vantage ground the demonstration of next and succeeding years will doubtless be marked with great progress.

The procession was billed to start from the market square at 10 o'clock, but long before that hour the streets of the town were crowded with people anxious to view the parade . The members of the various unions with the badge of their profession were hustling around town, men, women and children stood patiently for hours while vehicles of various kinds with occupants evidently bent on sight-seeing, blocked the thoroughfares. The people who were on the streets were not townspeople alone, but an excursion of 250 or more persons from Lindsay, representing the various unions of the Scugog town, arrived in town at an early hour in the morning. Thay were accompanied by the 45th Regimental Band, and added materially to the size of the procession and the proceedings in general. Considering the fact that there was no special train from Lindsay and that the excursionists had to leave at about 6.30 a.m. from the northern town the representation was creditably large and would have numbered nearer 600 had there been ample transportation facilities.

After considerable work had been accomplished by the marshals of the procession on the market the parade moved off in the following order:

57th Regimental Band.
Lindsay visitors including members of Carpenters, Plumbers and Tailors' Unions.
Metal Polishers' Union No. 203.
Carpenters' Union No. 72.
Moulders' Union No. 191.
Masons' Union No. —.
45th Regimental Band, Lindsay.
Tailors' Union, No. —.
Peterborough Federation of Labour No. 9240.
Representatives of Fire Brigade.
Canadian General Electric Co., Porcelain, Works.
Inside Workers' No. 194.
Pattern Makers' Union.
Typographical Union No. 248.

Considering the fact that it was the first Trades and Labour procession that has been held in Peterborough for a number of years, the display was most excellent. The Moulders, who were awarded the prize, were very neatly attired in black shirts, white ties and carried a "rammer" in a decidely uniform manner. The printers came a close second in regard to their appearance and must have exercised great thought in the preparation of their float and outfit. They were becomingly attired in white coats and wore khaki coloured hats, and also carried picturesque Japanese parasols. The masons in their white ducks presented a good appearance and were out in large numbers. All the men wore the badges of their respective unions, which were desplayed in a striking manner.

The procession was a large one and reached from the Crown Hotel on Water street to London street, over on London to George street, south on George to Hunter and as far as the Oriental Hotel. The procession ended at the market square where the men dispersed.

The gentlemen who were entrusted with the difficult task of deciding which union in the parade was deserving of the first prize for general appearance, were Messrs. T. F. Matthews, Robert Fair and J. H. McClelland. They have sent in the following letter to the Secretary of the Committee:

Chas. Mitchell, Esq., Town:

Dear Sir,—After viewing the procession as it passed up Water street and again on Charlotte street, we have decided that the Iron Moulders' Union, No. 191 is entitled to the prize, owing to their splendid uniformity of dress, badge of profession and general neatness.

We wish to add that Typographical Union, No. 248, the Bricklayers' and Stonemasons' and Porcelain Workers deserve special mention.

We were very pleased to see the fine turn-out of the Lindsay Unions, which added materially to the success of the parade.

Considering the procession as a whole it was a decided credit to Union Labour.

Yours truly,
J. HARRIS McCLELLAND,
T. F. MATTHEWS,
ROBT. FAIR.

IN THE AFTERNOON.

The attendance at the grounds in the afternoon was large—almost a thousand paid admissions being received at the gate. Yet by reason of the good programme provided, the committee had reason to expect even more of the citizens to patronize them. The 57th Band was present and played continuously throughout the afternoon and their selections were fully appreciated. A number of specialties in the way of balancing feats, fancy dancing, etc., were put on by a troop of aeralists in front of the grand stand and the various numbers were watched with interest .

The sports were all keenly contested under the management of the following very capable staff of officials:

Clerk of the course—F. F. Garden.
Starter—Ed. Hickey.
Judges—T. Cronin, Chas. Dusty and James Munro.

The 100 yards dash went to Mackie, an outsider from Toronto, who won all of the running races, which he was allowed to enter. Geo. Gauthier and J. A. Carl had a close finish for second place but the former won out.

The hop, step and jump went to Burton Cameron easily, his mark of 40 feet 3 inches being probably the best ever made in Peterborough.

Harry Young carried off the honours in the half mile bicycle race, showing a remarkable burst of speed down the stretch. Bobby Parker also rode a strong race, getting second place from Walter Jackson, who was one of the flyers when riding was so popular in Peterborough a few years ago.

In the married men's race there was nothing that could catch T. Cronin and he landed an easy winner. J. McDonald was second. McDonald and Cronin then hitched up together and won the three-legged race; Cameron and Oswald, of the Y.M.C.A., being second.

The Hurdle race was an interesting event. It was run off in heats. In the first heat, the crowd interfered with Taylor, making a finish, and Jackson got to the wire first, although the former was first man over the last hurdle. Carl was next. It was decided that the three men should all be allowed into the final. The second heat was won from the Y.M.C.A. team by Mackie, who then went into the final against the first mentioned three runners. Mackie won with Taylor pressing him closely.

Jack Murphy was too fast for his opponents in the fat man's race, and landed first money with "Scotty" Duncan second and Geo. Ahearn third.

Harry Young and Bobby Parker were first and second respectively in the mile bicycle race. Young got away from the crowd at the start but Parker came up on him very fast in the last eighth.

The 220 yards race went to Mackie, with Cameron second and Gauthier third.

Lots of fun was occasioned by the boot race for boys, fully a dozen contestants taking part. Jack Seymour was the lucky boy with W. Belleghem second.

Nobody could get near Walter Jackson in the broad jump, his mark of 17 feet 6 inches never being closely pressed.

Little Edna Canniff won the girls' race with Edith Eaton a close second.

The barrel of flour offered for first prize in the old men's race was won by Jack Murphy, with J. Thornbeck second and Geo. Ahearn third.

In the half mile race there were seven starters, but three were killed by the pace set by Cameron in the first quarter and the others dropped out at the head of the stretch, with the exception of Mackie, who won out just at the wire.

THE LACROSSE MATCH.

That lacrosse holds an attraction above everything else for Peterborough people, was shown by the way the crowd flocked over from the race-course to the centre of the field to witness a match between a picked Peterborough team and a team composed of players from Millbrook, Port Hope and Cobourg. Although some very nice playing was witnessed, yet the Peterborough bunch were far too strong for the visitors, as shown by the score, which stood 13 to 1 in favour of the home team. In the first half the score was 10 to 1, but in the last half the visitors played a closer game on the defence and the locals were only able to penetrate as far as the nets on three occasions.

The local team was composed as appended; Goal, E. Best; point, E. Dillon; cover point, H. Morgan; defence field, B. Rickey, T. Glover, and J. Mein; centre, O. Dusty; home field, L. Dobbin, McCay and Robertson; outside home, J. McCabe; inside home, R .Glover; field captain, V. Hamilton. The full strength of the defence was never really called into play in staving off the rushes of the visitors, and so it was not easy to form an opinion of their capabilities, but the home field accomplished some exceptionally neat combination play in feeding Glover, McCabe and Robertson, who did the greater part of the shooting. The ball, as a rule, was worked straight in on the flags and the shooting was beautifully accurate. Mr. Fred Clarke made a most capable referee.

By strengthening a few of the weaker spots by the addition of Myles McDonough, Pat Kelly and Eugene McNicholls, the team which represented Peterborough yesterday could put up a game which would draw a big crowd to the Oval some afternoon if a first class team were brought here to cope with them.

THE EVENING PROGRAMME.

The uniform success of the day's demonstration was not only emphasized, but crowned by the splendid concert given in the opera house in the evening, which was a magnificent success in every way. There was a very large attendance, the opera house being filled in every part, by an audience which most thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated the excellent programme presented. The bulk of the programme was given by the splendid band of the 57th Regiment, assisted by Mr. Owen A. Smiley, and several specialists. The band opened the programme with "The Navel Reserve March," and other contributions were the ever beautiful overture by Suppe, "Poet and Peasant," and Godfrey's arrangement of Scottish airs. The work of the band was magnificent, and their performance more than creditable, considering the circumstances. One could not but be surprised at the spirit the performers infused into their work, and perhaps few in the audience who delightedly heard the music, reflected upon the fact that the band had been busy at work since eight in the morning, almost continuously playing from that hour till late at night. Yet their work showed no sign of slurring, or perfunctory performance. They were up to "concert pitch" the whole evening, and as responsive to the eloquent baton of their skilful leader as if they had just come from a little preliminary rehearsal in their band hall. The interpretation of the overture was excellent. The shading was splendidly done, the contrasting passages, expressing, respectively, in their lighter strains the spirit of the "peasant," and the more complex, the finer spirit of the deep-thinking "poet." But the greatest popular hit was made in the "Reminiscences of Scotland," with the varied combination of selections, each requiring special treatment, which it received at the hands of the band in a really artistic and musicianly manner. The performance of the band last night again fully justified the pride the people of Peterborough have in this superior musical organization. It was not surprising that an appreciative bit of praise for the band was accidentally overheard. A young gentleman who was conversing with his companion in the pauses of the programme, and who by his remarks was seen to have travelled much, and heard much, "frank"-ly said that they had no such a band in Montreal, and that even the celebrated 48th Highlanders was not capable of better work.

Mr. Smiley's contributions to the evening's enjoyment were enthusiastically appreciated. He gave four numbers, and if he had been able to meet the wishes of the audience, he might have half of the evening to himself. His work is a fine art, whether it is brought out in the solid elocutionary work of a selection like Tom Hood's "Demon Ship," or in the grotesque lines of "The True Story of the Hatchet," and the impossible liar, or the mimetic triumph of "The Winner of Waterloo," or the fetching musical burlesque of "Italian Opera Up-to-Date." Mr. Smiley's work is of a high order, his fun is as refined as it is irresistible. His imitative powers were brought out finely in the magnificent mendacity of Bill Atkins' Story of Waterloo. The imitation of the pose and facial expression of the familiar figure of the great Napoleon, was startling in its fidelity of resemblance to the familiar pictures of the Conqueror.

There were several specialties of the vaudeville variety. The young man, "the instrumental" man, was a whole band in himself, and his imitative powers were wonderful. He was was heard with great appreciation. The dancing of the little boy and girl, either in the Irish jig or the sand dance was the perfection of the poetry of rapid movement and perfect rythm. The work of little "Ruth," the baby contortionist, was marvellously clever, but the palpable cruelty to a child of such tender years in compelling her to earn money for her hulking two-hundred pound manager, with the physique of a bull and the voice of an asthmatic chicken, and at a late hour when she should be in her little crib asleep, entirely took away all enjoyment, for any thoughtful person. Labour has brought about legislation to prevent the employment of children of tender years

FALL FASHIONS!

The latest reyorts seow that some exceedingly pretty effects are going to be worn this fall, both in style and material.

In separate waists the silk Henrietta is going to be largely worn. It is a pretty cloth with a rich effect. It has a silk thread, one way crossed with a cashmere thread, making a very durable and handsome cloth. Also new styles in self flannels, figured flannels, silks, lustres and other materials.

Many of the waists are being made with the new duchesse fronts, which are so much in vogue in London, Paris and New York. It gives a very swell rich effect.

Ladies' suits are being shown in many new and pretty styles, new goods, new cuts.

In this space we can only give you a mere hint of what is going to be worn, the stocks are so large and varied.

The best way would be for you to call in and look over the new goods, it will be quite interesting. Everything that the latest style demands is fully represented here.

A SECRET CODE BOOK.

Mr. Tewater, a Cape Official is Charged With Crime.

HE SENT ONE COPY TO MR. STEYN

Dr. J. W. Smart, in the Cape Legislature, Made the Charge—The Ministerial Secret Code Book Was Subsequently Found at Bloemfontein—Mr. J. W. Saer's Attack on the Loyal Dutch—Dr. Smart's Reply.

London, Aug. 30.—"In his speech in the Cape Colony Parliament," says the Cape Town correspondent of The Times, "ex-Colonial Secretary J. W. Saer delivered a scathing tirade against the loyal Dutch, who, he alleged, deserted their own people and deserved all they suffered. Dr. T. W. Smart, ex-Commissioner of Public Work, replying, repudiated the attempts made on the other side of the House to represent the rebellion as the result of martial law, instead of vice versa."

In a later despatch the correspondent says that as a result of grave charges brought by innuendo against Mr. Tewater, an official, by Dr. Smart, Mr. Merriman moved the adjournment of the House. Dr. Smart thereupon made a definite charge that Mr. Tewater, at the outbreak of the Boer war, sent a secret ministerial code book, of which there were only three copies, to Steyn at Bloemfontein, where it was subsequently found.

CATTLE FROM ARGENTINE.

Great Britain Will Buy One Million to Restock Boer Farms.

Montreal, Aug. 30.—In an interview yesterday, Senor Juan B. Rivaras of the Argentine Republic, who is now here, stated that he had just heard that Great Britain was endeavoring to buy 1,000,000 head of cattle in the Argentine to stock South African farms.

When Mr. Robert Bickerdike, M.P., the well-known live stock exporter, was informed of Mr. Rivaras' statement, that 1,000,000 head of cattle were being purchased in the Argentine for South Africa by the British Government, he replied that the Canadian cattle dealers were justly incensed over the matter, and were making efforts to secure this great opportunity for Canada.

Hon. Mr. Fisher had been communicated with, and subsequently Lord Strathcona, but the dealers fear that it was too late to succeed. "We think it strange that the British Government should go so far out of their way to get cattle to stock the South African farms when they could get all they wanted in Canada," said Mr. Bickerdike. "What they want are young, lean cattle, and we can supply them."

"The Argentine cannot furnish the full million. Could Canada?" He was asked.

"We could give them the million they want," he replied.

The Unhappy Burden-Bearer Must Make Choice.

Paine's Celery Compound

Takes Away the Load of Disease and Leads to New Life, Health and Happiness.

The unhappy victim of disease who has just dragged through the summer, and who is now racked with suffering and almost a physical wreck, must make immediate choice of two paths. One leads to increased miseries and certain death, the other to new life, health and happiness.

The use of Paine's Celery Compound is a necessity for all who seek the path of health and long years. Victims of rheumatism, neuralgia, kidney disease, liver trouble, dyspepsia, nervousness and blood diseases, quickly and surely find new life, vigour and strength in Dr. Phelps' medical prescription — Paine's Celery Compound. It builds up the system, purifies the blood, braces the nerves and regulates digestion as no other medicine can do. Mrs. Chas. Charette, Chambly, P. Q., wonderfully rescued by Paine's Celery Compound writes as follows:

"I can honestly say that I would not be living to-day if it had not been for your wonderful medicine. For a long time I suffered terribly from nervousness, sleeplessness, head and stomach troubles, and never received much benefit from ordinary treatment. I heard of your Paine's Celery Compound, and I have good reason to thank God that I used it. I can now eat well and sleep soundly, and my nervousness is a thing of the past. I now feel perfectly rested after a night's sleep, which was never the case before using the Compound. My neighbours are surprised at the grand cure made by your medicine, and some are using it now. I thank you sincerely for the honest results given by Paine's Celery Compound.

Among the Grand Figures.

Mme. de Thebes, the Paris fortune teller who predicted the King's serious illness from his hand eight years ago, in a recent interview before the second date for the coronation, concluded it by saying:

"I end by repeating that I hope for the King's recovery, and if this be realized, even if his reign is of limited duration that limit will be sufficient for him to show the real qualities which will rank him among the grand figures of the British Empire."

I think these words of somewhat singular conception may interest readers like everything now connected with their beloved King.—London Times' Paris Telegram.

KNOWLEDGE OR CULTURE.

View of Prof. Goldwin Smith on the Object of Universities.

Mr. Goldwin Smith, writing in The London Daily News on the object of Universities, says:

Knowledge or culture, which of these is the proper object of the university? The two are not mutually exclusive. Culture of a certain kind goes with all high knowledge. Mental exercise, developing the faculties, goes with all acquisition of knowledge, indeed, with all worthy use of the mind. The two things which are mutually exclusive are purely scientific or mechanical knowledge and cultivation of the taste.

The original object of the university was knowledge. This was the object even of the university, if it is to be so called, of Athens, where students like Cicero and his son sought, not mere cultivation of the mind or of the taste, but a practical rule of life. Knowledge was the object of the mediaeval universities, even of those of which the staple was Scholastic Philosophy, since it was then imagined that mental introspection was the key to objective truth still more plainly of universities like Padua or Bologna, whose staple was the Civil or Canon Law, then a most lucrative profession; or of Solerno, whose staple was Medicine. The Trivium and Quadrivium were a course of study in all departments of knowledge looking to the professional study as the end.

The statutes of Corpus Christi College, Oxford, founded by Bishop Fox, of the Renaissance, comprised a classical education. But to a Renaissance founder the ancient languages would present themselves as the key to all the knowledge worth having.

The culture theory has a history, and rather a mournful history, in connection with the English universities. In the Middle Ages the colleges were all clerical, the Fellows being required to take orders. But in the Middle Ages a clerk was not estranged by his tonsure from secular studies. All intellectual callings were clerical. All students were termed "clerks," in opposition to the townsmen, who were laics. Then came the Reformation and drew a sharp line between those who were devoted to the ministry and those who were not. At the same time it happened that the colleges with their clerical restrictions absorbed the university. The consequence was that science and secular studies generally became atrophied or were banished; the ancient languages, which were still necessary for ministerial education, alone holding their ground, though at Cambridge Newton's influence when it came gave a special footing to mathematics. Utility for the mass of the students having thus departed, culture was set up as the object of the university course. In the case of the "class men" it might be and no doubt was, a reality. In the case of the "pass men," who did not read for honors, but only crammed classics enough to squeeze through a very limited examination and never opened the books afterward, it was a sham. The lives of the "pass men," or, as at Cambridge they were called, the "poll men," at the universities were almost wasted so far as knowledge or mental training was concerned.

Thus, in making knowledge the object of a university, we are reverting to the original ideal. High knowledge no doubt it ought to be. A university is not intended to be a mechanic's shop. I heard a high university officer tell his audience that the institution would offer to students something more succulent than Greek roots, roots of turnip and mangel-wurzel. Not for this are universities made.

The Professor, the Lady and the Cow.

It is told of a certain professor whose absentmindedness about equaled his learning that he was one day, crossing the college campus, absorbed to such a degree in a book of his that had just been published that he was lost to everything else. Suddenly he bumped up against an object, and looking up he saw that he had collided with a cow that had rudely strayed in his way. "Get out of the way, you cow!" he exclaimed irritably, prefixing an impolite adjective to "cow."

The next day as the professor was again crossing the campus, immersed in his reading, he again ran into an object. "Oh, that confounded cow!" he exclaimed. Then, hearing an indignant "Sir!" he looked up hastily to discover that this time he had come up against the wife of a fellow professor. It hardly made matters better to assure her that he had taken her for a cow, and it required the good offices of the entire faculty to restore an era of good feeling.

A Ludicrous Word Twister.

Professor William Archibald Spooner of Oxford university has become famous as a ludicrous word twister. Once at a special service, seeing some women standing at the back of the church waiting to be seated, he rushed down the aisle and addressed the ushers as follows, "Gentlemen, gentlemen, sew these ladies into their sheets." Being asked at dinner what fruit he would have, he promptly replied, "Pigs, fleas." This is the way in which Dr. Spooner proposed to his wife: Being one afternoon at the home of her father, Bishop Harvey Goodwin of Carlisle, Mrs. Goodwin said, "Mr. Spooner, will you please go out into the garden and ask Miss Goodwin if she will come in and make tea?" The professor, on finding the young lady, said, "Miss Goodwin, your mother told me to ask you if you would come in and take me."

Fear of the Future.

Most people who dread the future are victims of some terrible disease. Mrs. W. Francis, 204 Colborne street, Kingston, was in a bad state with kidney disease. She had severe pains in back and legs, was gradually losing flesh and felt a dread of the future. A friend recommended Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and the result was a complete cure. There is no medicine more reliable, none so certain to produce a thorough cure. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

THE OLD F ONEER.

With his axe and gun the pioneer came,
To the backwoods years agone,
With his bride of a day, sweet, winsome dame,
To hew them out a home.

Through toil and sweat a garden plot
Was brushed, and stumped, and cleared,
And joy was the sum of their happy lot,
As their cabin walls they reared.

And year by year as he tilled and cleared,
And the wider ranged his view,
The joy in the settler's voice was heard,
As in prayer he praised anew.

Soon neighbors came from the dear Old Land,
From the home beyond the sea,
And labor lightened on every hand,
And joy knew company.

And the children came as the years drew on,
A handsome, sturdy brood.
And each knew a welcome, a happy one,
And the soil produced its food.

They grew apace in strength and grace,
Till the time of mating came,
When each in turn left the old loved place,
To seek for themselves a home.

And the Old Couple sat by their lone fireside,
And talked of the days now gone,
The sweet food days, when as groom and bride,
They journeyed forth alone.

And their hearts grew sad, but the light of love
Still glorified the shrine,
So thus hand-in-hand to the Home above
They passed in the Father's time.

A stranger's hand now ploughs the land
Which the settler cleared of yore,
While within the glade last resting place,
Is the grave of the Old Pioneer.

Stricken With Paralysis.

Could Scarcely Walk and was Given up by Doctors—An Extraordinary Case—Now Believes His Life was Saved by

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mr. James A. Deal, a respected resident of Bridgewater, N. S., writes:—"About a year ago I suffered a stroke of paralysis, which left me in a very bad state of health. To add to my troubles, last winter I took la grippe, which completely exhausted my nervous system. I could scarcely walk or talk, my legs and arms were partially paralyzed, my blood did not circulate properly, and I could not do any work. In fact, I was so bad that the doctors gave me up and thought I could not live through the summer.

"I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and persevered in the treatment, until now I am at work again. The change in my condition has been most remarkable. It is a surprise to everyone to know that I am able to be around again. My nervous system has been built up wonderfully by this remedy. I am able to rest well, my circulation is normal, and my general health good. My appetite is first-class, and I have gained considerably in flesh.

"The results I have obtained from Dr. Chase's Nerve Food have been most gratifying, and I have no hesitation in stating that I believe I owe my life to this preparation. I am willing that you publish this letter, with the hope that it may be the means of helping others to regain their health."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 1

Prof. Virchow Nearing His End.

Berlin, Aug. 30.—Prof. Virchow, the famous scientist, appears to be near his end. The German Medical Weekly regrets to announce, on information obtained from physicians who are treating him, that the improvement of last week has not been maintained, and that his strength is unmistakably failing. The professor is at Harzburg, in the Herz Mountains, and no one except his family and the doctors have been allowed to see him for several weeks.

THE STEAMER

and

PALACE BARGE, "LADYSMITH,"

(W. H. White, Captain.)

This fast and popular little steamer is open for charter for excursions for the season of 1902. The steamer and barge have a carrying capacity of 500. The "Alert" has been fitted with the most modern improvements, including machinery, etc., and has a speed, with the barge, of 7 miles an hour. The crew will be found to be careful and obliging, and the best of attention is guaranteed the travelling public.

Parties wishing to take a day's outing on Stony Lake, or any of the Kawartha Lakes, cannot do better than charter the fast sailing steamer Alert. Parties of fifteen people and upwards can charter this steamer for the day at a very reasonable price. Prices made to suit parties. This gives the people a splendid chance of seeing the Lakes and gives more time at the different points of interest than by going by the regular steamers. No crowding. Hot and cold water always provided on board the steamer.

PAYING RED ALLIES.

INTERESTING CEREMONY WITNESSED AT ST. PETER'S RESERVE.

Great Annual Festival at "Tent Town"—A Motley Crowd—A Point of Especial Interest—The Dance—The Chief's Advice—A Pleasing Scene—Pupils of St. Paul's Industrial School in Exercises and Evolutions.

It is a charming excursion, all too short, from the Selkirk dock on a beautiful midsummer afternoon aboard the S. S. Premier to "Tent Town," as the treaty grounds at St. Peter's reserve are so aptly termed in local vernacular, says a writer in Winnipeg Free Press. The fresh breeze from the lake sweeps up the river, making the sultry sun enjoyable as the steamer threads its way between the forest-clad banks and through the murky waters of the Red, revealing at every turn a landscape of loveliness where every spot is surrounded by a halo of romance of the days of the voyageur and the pioneer.

After the confines of the reserve are passed the effects of civilization on the aborigines become at once apparent and impressive. The rich land of the reserve—for it is indeed a choice section of the country—is dotted with the comfortable, little, neat, whitewashed log cabins each surrounded with its patch of corn and potatoes. They are strikingly different from the smoke-tanned tepee of the nomadic children of the prairie.

A trip of six miles through this interesting scenery brings the sightseer to "Tent Town" where the dusky wards of the nation and allies of the King are paid according to the stipulations of their treaty. Every man, woman and child born in legitimate wedlock is entitled to participate if he acknowledges the reserve as his home and is bound by ties of blood to the denizens thereof. The treaty grounds are beautifully situated on a gently undulating slope from the west bank of the river and are permanently marked by the presence of the council chamber, a building located some distance from the water. The sight those grounds present at treaty time is really picturesque to those to whom it is novel. The banks are lined with boats, canoes and big one, two or even three masted schooners built and sailed by the Indians of the upper lakes who have journeyed down to be present at the great tribal festival of this portion of the Crees. The grounds can be compared only with an exaggerated idea of a circus or the side-show portion of the county fair. A village of canvas springs up like a mushroom where the visiting population of several thousand souls are housed and accommodated; where the noisy trader who, like the circus fakir, seems to be everywhere and always intent on securing possession of the crisp new treaty bank notes from their guileless possessors in exchange for gaudy trinkets, showy prints, shop-worn, shady dress goods and ready-made clothing from the bargain counters: circus lemonade, lunches, fruit and confectionary. It is a perfect pandemonium. The avaricious eyes of the sons of Abraham fairly glisten as they rake in the easy ducats for the "tiamonds" and "vatches."

It is a motley crowd that throngs the grounds. There is the old generation represented by one or two irreconcilable braves of bygone days who cling to the customs of youth tenaciously and scorn the finery and luxury of civilized clothes for a blanket, moccasins and a handful of feathers. The councillors, austere and reservedly sedate, are easily distinguishable by their plug hats and the airs of authority that they assume, one of them particularly so because of his striking resemblance to Sir John A. Macdonald in facial expression. The likeness is really remarkable. There are the fishermen from the upper lakes, cow-boys from the plains and young men and women fashionably attired. The last are the younger portion of the community who have experience the benefits of a training in the industrial schools. Many of them follow the trades or serve behind the counters and carry but faint traces of a dash of the Indian blood. Hundreds of children are running, crawling and yelling in all directions. Their number is equalled only by that of the dogs among which are many big capacious rapacious, voracious, mendacious huskies, the terror of the stranger and everyone they come in contact with. Untamable and irreconcilable brutes they are, useful only for the dog trains which supply the outposts of civilization in the long winters, or to bring in the harvest of fish. As predatory as their kinsmen the wolves, on the upper reserves a stranger takes great risk if he leaves his tent unaccompanied after nightfall. At Fort Alexander they have been known to kill large yearling cattle and Father Vassar's fine drove of pigs they regard as their legitimate prey.

Passing down the streets of tents by the busy traders to the centre of the grounds one comes to not the least interesting attraction of the whole—the dancing platform—where the dusky devotees of Terpsichore work off the exuberance of youth. It is partially covered with boughs to protect the "orchestra" from the rays of the sun, but the dancers seem to enjoy the heat, which without exertion, makes the pale face long for an icehouse. A wrinkled old half-breed, whose white locks curl from under his slouch felt hat and cluster around his face, bronzed by winter snows and summer suns, sat on an old packing case in the corner, dispensing music fast and fearsome from a squeaky old violin which he sawed with an industry worthy of a better cause. His moccasined foot beat ceaselessly on the floor and a continuous smile illumined his countenance, but whether it resulted from the contagion of happiness from the dancers who were tripping through the maze of a quadrille or from the joke he was perpetrating on "The Girl I Left Behind Me," may never be known.

There were two sets on the floor, a dudish young fellow acting as master of ceremonies and he was something of an artist too, for his "calling-off" was seldom allowed to get monotonous. As the violin tore off shreds of "The Girl I Left Behind Me," he started the ball rolling by shouting: "First couple to the right and balance four," "Pass right through and balance there and swing with the girl behind you." This last call was frequently varied by such expressions as "Swing the one with the big boots on," "Hurry up Sally or you won't get around." And Sally always hurried.

I watched them complete the change and then promenade to seats and the lemonade stands. A few moments afterwards the strains of the "Irish Washerwoman" rent the air and instantly the platform was the scene of phenomenal animation, for the real "Red River Jig," danced as only the Metis can dance it, was in fast and furious progress. As a boy I have often watched the buck dances on the plantations of the South, but seldom indeed have I seen the same amount of energy, enthusiasm and perspiration thrown into any form of diversion or dissipation of the kind as those tawny children of the prairie threw into that jig.

The loud voice of an orator, for he was worthy of the title, addressing a small assemblage of his people near the council chamber drew me away from this scene of merriment. It was Chief Prince, who has since been gathered to the happy hunting grounds of his fathers, a towering personality among his people, and a fine specimen of the full-blooded Indian, so seldom found either on or off the reserves, typical of his race before the white man's vices corrupted and demoralized it without any of the restraining influences of his virtues. Although he was speaking in the dialect of the Cree it was almost impossible to refrain from catching some of the enthusiasm which his words kindled in his people. His subject, so an old half-breed told me, was the advantages to be gained from adopting civilization and the religion of the white brethren, with a firm advice to them to be patriotically true to the Government and their treaty. These addresses were regular features of the program and were delivered with all the fervor that has made the Indian orator famous.

Inside the council chamber the business of the occasion was constantly in progress, as members of the treaty filed in and the inspector and his clerks after due investigation of each claim and making proper entries paid over the crisp new Dominion bank five dollar bills. It is a delicate task to perform to conduct the searching investigations sometimes necessary to protect the interest of the Government without giving offence to the supersensitive redmen.

Towards evening the strains of band music drew old and young to a pretty spot near the inspector's marque where the pupils of St. Paul's Industrial school were performing their calisthenic and military exercises and evolutions for the edification of their parents and visitors to the reserve. Scrupulously clean in their appearance, neatly dressed and showing a remarkable proficiency in their drill those scholars contrasted strikingly with the older generations or their less fortunate brethren who have never enjoyed the advantages offered by the industrial. Every turn is applauded heartily by the dusky audience squatted around the arena and smiles of pleasure frequently illumine countenances that are usually as undemonstrative as the sphinx. Those pupils by their appearance and performance have done much to remove the prejudices of race and paganism, and each year make the securing of inmates for the industrials a task of ever decreasing difficulty. Herein is contained the secret of the only practical or efficacious means of reforming and Christianizing the noble redmen.

We were still watching this interesting spectacle when the coarse whistle of the excursion steamer called us hurriedly on board for the delightful return trip, leaving us all still wondering at the sights we had seen where civilization and the remnants of barbarism commingle.

The Du Ponts of Powder Fame.

The Du Ponts own powder mills in all parts of the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Among the Du Ponts themselves there is a process of selection for those who are to have to do with the powder works. The youngsters are watched, and when one shows nervousness in the face of danger he is placed somewhere else than in the powder mills. The rule is that a Du Pont in person shall always lead whenever there is imminent danger. A number of Du Ponts first and last—and some of them important ones—have been killed under this rule, and there repeatedly have been heroic escapes from death through this disregard of the fear of it.

The family rule is a despotism, and a very strict one. The family always has a head, and what this head or chief says the other members of the family do. This headship does not necessarily descend from father to son, even when there are sons. Sometimes it goes from uncle to nephew, the main point being to secure a Du Pont thoroughly competent to manage the business affairs of the family.

The Cause Removed.

In curing disease its only a waste of time to treat the symptoms. The medicine must reach the cause. Merrill's System Tonic does this. It purifies the blood, builds up the system, strengthens the nerves and is the only positive cure known for Constipation, Dyspepsia, Nerve Troubles and Kidney Diseases—all disappear when it is taken. Three weeks treatment for 50c. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's.

Take to the Rifle Ranges.

Lord Dundonald, says The Mail and Empire, has emerged from the crucible of the Boer war a partizan of the rifle. In his opinion, a soldier's first duty is to learn how to shoot. Even cavalry must discard the cutting sword for the rifle. This is precisely in line with a layman's opinion. It would seem to the civilian that a weapon with which you can hit an enemy a mile away would be more effective than one which can only be used at close range. Certainly the well-covered riflemen seemed during the late war to be almost invincible unless his flank was turned by a superior force. The lesson for Canada is to take to the rifle ranges. With a population well practiced in the use of the rifle we will need nothing but patriotic spirit to make us a perpetually ready and powerful military aid to Great Britain.

20 Years of Itching Piles.

Mr. Alex. McLaughlin, Bowmanville, Ont., writes that for twenty years he suffered terribly from itching piles. Seven years ago he asked a druggist for the best cure for piles and was told to use Dr. Chase's Ointment. He continued this treatment until entirely cured, and as he has never had any return of his old trouble considers his cure permanent and remarkable on account of the length of time he suffered.

The Man With the Fiddle.

The little old man fiddled very hard as he stood near the curbstone in Twenty-third street. The passersby looked at him curiously. Some of them smiled. No one gave him a penny. Presently he was seen to totter and then to fall, but he kept on fiddling just the same, even when he lay prone upon his back. A man helped him to his feet. He never missed a note. A little boy who had been regarding him with keen interest went up to him. Suddenly the bow hung poised and motionless. The little old man had run down. The boy bought him for a quarter, however. The vender showed him how to start the fiddle up again, and the two went off together, happy and contented.

Unconvinced.

A Presbyterian preacher in the central part of New York state tells this story on himself:

"It was Sunday morning, and I had started for church. The family were preparing to follow when the youngest, a five-year-old, protested, "I do not want to go to church."

"'I don't feel much like it myself, Fred, this morning,' replied his mother, 'but we must go. Father has to go—has gone already, and he has to preach.'

"'Yes,' said Fred, unconvinced, 'but we have to listen, and that's worser.'"

Pimples, Blotches and Skin Eruptions

How unsightly, sometimes even disgusting, and certainly very mortifying to the sufferer. They are merely an evidence of impure, poisoned blood, and lowered vitality of the elementary organs, which can be quickly changed by taking Ferrozone after meals. Ferrozone cleanses the blood of all poisons and eruptions, makes it rich in red corpuscles that manifest themselves in a healthy ruddy complexion. To have a pure, soft skin and good complexion simply use Ferrozone regularly. Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at Ormond & Walsh's.

Note Limit Reached.

Ottawa, Aug. 30.—There will probably be a big circulation of Dominion notes this fall, as a number of the Canadian banks will by that time have reached the limit of the circulation of their own bills allowed by law.

Paris, Aug. 29.—Santos Dumont has begun the construction of an airship designed for public travel. It will combine the system of airship with that of aeroplane.

No More Pale Women.

Merrill's System Tonic supplies iron necsary to make good, rich, red blood in anaremic women. It is a positive cure for Constipation— the greatest foe of womankind. After taking for a short time all female troubles disappear, as their cause is removed. 50 doses for 50c. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

PETERBOROUGH

in factories and mines and little "Ruth" is as fitting a subject for the philanthropist.

The drawing for the "Dinner Set," presented by the Stroud Tea and Coffee Company, through Mr. W. J. Morrow, the local manager, was conducted by Mr. J. Harris McClelland, who took occasion at the same time to speak a few timely words in regard to the creditable progress of union labour in Peterborough, to the kindly relations that existed between employers and employees and to the very creditable success of the first Labour Day demonstration under the auspices of organized labour in Peterborough, and he hoped that next year's demonstration parade would include exhibitions of the different trades in actual operation.

Mr. McClelland announced amidst cheers that the Iron Moulders' Union, No. 191, had won the prize for the best appearance on parade and the report of the judges is printed in full in another part of this article.

The holder of the lucky number that won the Stroud dinner set — 1073 — was Mr. R. S. Merrell, an employee of the Dickson Company, and a brother of Mr. Wm. Merrell, of Gough Bros. Mr. Merrell being a bachelor was subjected to a great deal of good natured chaff, embodying the idea that the dinner set, being the nucleus of a household equipment should induce him to join the old time union in which woman's rights have full recognition and, after the honeymoon, full exercise.

"God Save the King" by the band brought a splendidly successful concert to a close as creditable to the promoters as to the performers and was a fitting conclusion to the highly successful first Labour Day demonstration.

NOTES.

The Lindsay union men brought down a contingent of 250 with the Lindsay band, 17 strong.

Gough Bros.' gorgeous chariot was a striking feature of the parade procession.

The procession require fifteen minutes to pass a given point.

The press is proud of the position the printers took in the parade. Doing the correct thing is "pi" for the printers.

The toot of a factory whistle was not heard yesterday.

The weather was perfect. Jupiter Pluvius was on his good behaviour. He did his work the night before, and even the street sprinkler observed Labour Day.

The pianoforte used at last night's concert was kindly supplied by the Stanley Piano Co.

LABOUR PARADE OUTFITS.

The Best Dressed Unions Supplied by Gough Bros.

Several of the Unions wearing the best looking outfits in the Labour parade on Monday, were supplied by Gough Bros., George street. Appearances count for a good deal in a public procession, as well as anywhere else; and the well-dressed union men plucked the plums on Monday. There are many reasons why the labouring men do their buying at Goughs'. One of the chiefest is the brains and effort put forth to cater to their wants. Another reason is that the Gough stock is like no other stock. Such variety, such originality, such quality, and such low prices would be hard to duplicate. That's why this firm of clothiers, hatters and shoeists have such a strong pull with the working classes.

The winners of the prize for the best and most appropriately dressed union in the parade were the Iron-Moulders, and their outfit was supplied by Gough Bros. Their dress consisted of black sateen shirts with turned-down collars, white ties, tan-coloured leather belts and blue yachting caps.

The members of the Typographical Union, who were mentioned by the judges as worthy of special commendation for their good taste and attractive outfits, were also patrons of Gough Bros. Their dress consisted of white sack coats, khaki caps, collars and ties.

In anticipating the good taste of the unions, this firm were in a position to surpass the market for cheapness. At this vital point they meet and serve the interests of the men. They ask nothing better than the chance to quote the closest estimates for unions and societies of all kinds.

CHURCH CHIMES.

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH.

Rev. W. L. Armitage on Sunday morning spoke on the subject of the adjustment of labour and capital. He took as his text the words:

"Go ye also into the vineyard and whatsoever is right that will I give you."

The difficulties, he held, arose from the improper motives with which one side or the other conducted their business or attributed to the others. The subject from which the text was chosen was a warning given by our Lord to His Apostles against entering into the work of the Kingdom of Heaven with improper motives.

Another great difficulty is found in the misunderstanding of the labouring class. Employers and others often neglect to look at things from the labourer's standpoint. Sir Edmund Barton's illustration of the laws of New South Wales, which now compel the arbitration of all differences, which commonly cause strikes, was dealt with and the evil of strikes pointed out. The address closed with an appeal for the labourers in the Kingdom of Heaven in which we all are called to labour and in which we are sure of our just reward.

At the evening service Mr. Jos. Legg sang the solo "Abide with Me" with splendid effect.

There will be a special practice of All Saint's choir this evening at 8 o'clock.

The annual Harvest Festival Service will be held on Thursday evening, Sept. 18th. Rev. J. H. Teney, of Omemee, will preach.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

RUGBY.

A Montreal despatch says—Considerable talk has been indulged in by footballers in Montreal and other Canadian centres of the game about the selection of the team that is to go to Great Britain and show the players over there what Canadian boys know about the game of rugby. From paragraphs published, in which names of some former English athletes are mentioned as likely to go on the trip, the impression has gone abroad that only Canadian footballers who have lived in England would be asked to go. This is not so, however. It is the intention of Mr. McClure and Dr. Clifford Jack, who have the plan in charge, to send a team that will be essentially representative of Canada. To secure a good, representative team, they have decided to issue an invitation to all the Rugby clubs in the Dominion, asking them for a list of men who will be able to go, together with their record and their qualifications, how much they know about the English game, and how much time they can give, previous to the trip, to practising the English method of play. From the returns received, the necessary selections will be made.

The Deseronto Rugby Club have organized and have decided to enter the O. R. F. U.

HOCKEY.

Port Hope Guide—Port Hopers are expecting great things from their hockey team this season. In previous years the boys of the "tan and white" have been greatly handicapped by an open rink, thereby having to play all league games on Cobourg ice. Our new covered rink is progressing very favourably, and, if reports are true, Cobourg, who have yet to learn how to appreciate a good game of hockey, will not see such an exhibition of Canada's winter sport unless they travel out of their own town for that purpose.

FOOTBALL.

A big football tournament will be held on Monday in Mr. Lang's Park, Omemee. Teams from Peterborough, Millbrook, Bethany, Bridgenorth, Pontypool, Centreville, Garden Hill, Franklin, Lindsay and Omemee, will take part in the programme, and one of the best days' sports ever held is anticipated. A beautiful $25.00 silver cup has been ordered and will be given to the winning team in the tournament.

LACROSSE.

There is a likelihood of a Trent Valley Lacrosse League being formed next spring to include teams from Belleville, Cobourg, Port Hope, Marmora, Campbellford, Hastings, Peterborough and other places.

Hastings, Aug. 29.

To the Sporting Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—The item in your paper of the 28th inst., referring to the abortive Hastings-Millbrook lacrosse match, is decidedly wrong. Millbrook had "9 ringers" on the team to play Hastings, and the latter team at first objected to play, but on Tuesday morning the manager of the Hastings team wired Millbrook to bring any team they could get together. Arrangements were then completed to play the match here on Thursday and we got no word whatever from Millbrook that they would not be here. About 3 p.m. of that day we wired and got word that they were not coming. The reason Hastings first objected to play against the Millbrook aggregation is that three or four players were entirely incapacitated from playing. There is not enough money in Millbrook to buy a team to beat us. We will play any team they can buy and Hastings will play nothing but "home brews."

Yours truly,

LAKEFIELD.

Interesting Items From the Village to the North.

Quite a large excursion from Lindsay passed through the village on Friday.

Miss Pearl Fitzgerald, of Peterborough, is the guest of Mrs. Maude.

Mr. F. A. Kilbourn is away spending his vacation in Toronto, Owen Sound, Rochester and New York.

Inspector Strickland and Mrs. Strickland left Lakefield on Tuesday for the west, where Mr. Strickland will resume his former duties as Inspector of the North-West Mounted Police.

Mrs. C. Burgis, of Sparta, is visiting in the village, the guest of Mrs. C. J. Burgess.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Montgomery, of Hawesbury, are visiting the former's parents in this village.

Mr. Thompson, of Belleville, is visiting in the village with Mr. Wm. Harper.

Miss Fleming, of Port Hope, is a guest at the Craig House.

A New York millionaire and a local banker put their heads together, and the result is an oil company for Lakefield. Owing to the large dividends that are being paid to local shareholders in the United States oil companies, quite an interest has been taken in oil industries by some of our citizens, and a meeting was called, at which it was decided to form a local company, capitalized at $200,000, to be known as the Canadian Osage Illuminating Oil Company. It is said that sufficient stock has been subscribed to purchase the property and sink two wells.

The Company have secured leases from the Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Company, in the Osage Indian Reserve where a high grade illuminating oil is available, a short distance from Bartlesville, where the Standard Oil Company have refineries, to whom the local company expects to sell their oil.

STOCK MARKETS.

American Railroads.

New York, August 29.—The report from Washington says American railroads have done a larger business and made more money last year than in any year in their history. Cumbersome details accompanied the official showing which we omit, owing to their dryness and length, merely quoting what they show. The feeling of apprehension relative to the money question is plainly not shared by present large purchasers of stock interests, knowing from whence and where will come any relief that may become necessary for the money market, the Government is pledged to assist through the medium of Secretary Shaw. The commission business is increasing and the market is materially broadening. Everything points to sustained activity for the first time in many months. The New York stock holder quotes a prominent capitalist as saying ten years ago the railroads were all bolstering up their credit; to-day they were trying to hide their earnings. This conveys a lot in a very few words.

Apropos of Southern Railway, upon which stock we to-day issue an extremely exhaustive folio, special letter which it would be advisable for you to send, we publish the following very latest news just issued by Mr. J. P. Morgan & Co. "A circular has just been issued by them advocating the extension of existence of the voting trust for the following reasons: It would be impossible for any outside interest to come into the market and secure control, which might act in antagonism to the plans now under way for benefit of Southern Railway and other Southern Railway shares. This is the first official admission of the existence of these plans. It states these plans to have an important bearing upon Southern Railway interests. It suggests an extension of the voting trust for a period of five years, expiring Oct. 16th, 1907. Under the voting trust since 1894 there has been an increase in mileage of over 2200 miles. 800 of spurs and side tracks have also been added to the property. Unless precedent is entirely useless with the forces now undervalues, and the new conditions which have arisen will carry the average of values very considerably higher. Property is appreciating in value while money is diminishing in value, owing to its vastly increased quantities in the hands of the public. At such periods as these, it is better to have property than to have cash. Mr. Keene is most bullish and optimistic as to the future, and speaks most positvely and with no uncertain sound in the interview issued a day or so ago. He opens his remarks with the strong remark; "I never was more positive in my life than I am in the opinion that stocks will reach a higher range of values," etc. His little talk upon stocks has been so widely published that we refrain from quoting it further. Every kind of railway stock looks good to buy. The industrials look equally well. We recommend purchase of both and stick steadfastly to the bull side, as we have persistently done ever since the inception of the bull campaign.

Gross earnings for the year ending June 30th, 1896, were $17,114,791.69, and for year ending June 30th, 1902, they amounted to $37,713,248.16, an increase of over twenty millions or 120 per cent. The net income over fixed charges increased 302 per cent., or over $2,700,000. In addition, large sums have been expended upon the property during the existence of the voting trust, without appreciable increase of capitalization. The physical condition of the property has been brought to a high state of efficiency. On June 30th, 1902, the accumulated cash on hand or cash assets amounted to $6,510,894.88—a tidy sum that would pay for many a rainy day. The stocks is bound to advance largely. The market was strong all day, and will be stronger the coming week after the holidays. Sales, 761,600. Money closed at five per cent.

NOT A KEEN FISHERMAN.

The Record of His Majesty as an Angler Is Not Startling.

There is an interesting article in The Fishing Gazette by the editor, Mr. R. B. Marston, on the Royal Family as anglers. The King, it seems, is not a very keen fisherman, not half so keen as his brother, the late Duke of Edinburgh, or his son, the Prince of Wales, but it is quite a mistake to suppose his Majesty has never taken any interest in fishing. As a youth he fished in the Highlands, and when as Prince of Wales he rented Abergeldie on the Dee he used to fish for salmon now and then, though as old Donald Morgan says, his Majesty was "not awful enthusiastic." Lord Knollys, however, recently informed Mr. Marston that the King on one occasion caught a 21 lb. salmon on the Floors Castle water on the Tweed. As regards the Queen, we have long known that she is a keen disciple of Izaak Walton, as is also Princess Victoria, and they often fish together when in Scotland. Her Majesty has killed salmon in Ireland, and so deadly is the "Alexandra" fly, named after her, that its use is prohibited on many waters. The Prince of Wales is perhaps the keenest and best angler our Royal Family has produced, and will spend long days on Deeside enjoying the sport. Then the Princess Louise, Duchess of Argyll, and the Duchess of Fife are devoted to angling. When in Canada Princess Louise had grand sport with the salmon. The Duchess of Fife has had many good days' sport on the Dee, near Mar Lodge, and spends much of her time with her children in the enjoyment of her favorite sport while the Duke is deerstalking. Prince Edward and Prince Albert, sons of the Prince of Wales are both keen on fishing, and each of them caught a nice lot of roach with the fly recently, even little Princess Mary was successful in landing one. Last month the young Princes tried their hands at the trout in a Norfolk stream, and Prince Albert (aged 6) got in brace, and Prince Edward (aged 7) half a brace, with the fly, March Brown and Black Gnat. The fact that they were able to send a trout to the King, who was then staying at Sandringham, and a brace to their parents in London, afforded them as great pleasure as the catching of the half-pounders. They have taken as many as fifteen or twenty roach each of an evening.

75 PEOPLE DROWNED

Children and Parents Panic-Stricken in the Storm.

ALGOA BAY SWALLOWS MANY.

Details of the Storm That Swept Over Port Elizabeth—North End of Algoa Bay Strewn With Vessels High and Dry—Fifty Bodies Have Already Been Washed Ashore—British Steamers Wrecked.

Cape Town, Sept. 2.—It is now estimated that 75 persons were drowned in Algoa Bay during the storm which swept over Port Elizabeth yesterday. Among the wrecked vessels is the British ship Inchcape Rock, which arrived at Algoa Bay on August 2 from Portland, Oregon. Part of her crew were saved.

Many of the lost were women and children.

Five of the anchored boats were dashed to pieces and their skeletons appeared almost where, on Aug. 16, the two British barques and the Cape Town steamer were wrecked with a consequent loss of 23 lives.

The panic among the sailors when the storm struck to-day was pitiful to see.

Among the vessels in the harbor were a dozen scows, towed by two tugs. On some of them were whole families, the children playing on the decks.

As the clouds grew blacker the little ones vainly ran to their parents for shelter. The latter were as panic-stricken as their children.

Some mothers fell to their knees in prayer. Others gasped as the fierce blast struck from them their breath, and they disappeared into the cabins never to emerge.

To add to the confusion, the boilers of the two tugs, caught by the trough of the great sea, exploded, and the cries of the perishing, mingled with the high, weird shriek of the storm as it broke upon the rocks and sped on past the coast land up to the veldts that lie beyond.

Sir John Gordon Sprigg, the Premier, said in the House of Assembly this afternoon, that he feared the loss of life from the gale would be enormous.

The storm broke shortly before midnight last night, and was accompanied by a deluge of rain and brilliant lightning. The night was very dark. Several tugs went out to the assistance of the endangered vessels, but nothing was visible from the shore at Port Elizabeth, except the continual flashes of rockets as signals of distress.

Daylight revealed the beach at the north end of Algoa Bay strewn with vessels lying high and dry, while others were in the surf and being swept by the huge breakers.

With the exception of four vessels, which foundered with all hands, every sailing vessel in the roadstead was ashore at midday. Many steamers, after weathering the storm all night, steamed out to sea at daybreak. Fifty bodies have already been washed ashore.

The British steamer Scot, belonging to the Union Steamship Company of Southampton, left Port Elizabeth on Saturday for Cape Town. She was due here early this morning, but has not yet been sighted. Great anxiety is felt regarding her fate.

The steamer Britton, also belonging to the Union Steamship Company, was blown ashore and narrowly escaped destruction.

ONE THOUSAND KILLED.

Later Reports Augment Victims of the Volcano's Fury.

Paris, Sept. 3.—The Havas Agency has received an undated despatch from Pomt de France, Island of Martinique, announcing that about one thousand persons were killed and that several hundred were injured as the result of a violent eruption of Mont Pelee on Saturday, August 30, which destroyed Morne Rouge and Ajoupa Boullon, two villages near Mont Pelee.

Warships to the Rescue.

Paris, Sept. 3.—The Minister of Marine, M. Pelletan, in view of the further eruptions of Mont Pelee, has ordered the commander of the French Antilles squadron to send warships immediately to Basse-Terre, Guadeloupe, there to await further orders.

MAY LOSE BOTH EYES.

Young Man Near Belleville Out Duck Shooting Meets With Accident.

Belleville, Sept. 3.—Chester Longwell of Demorestville, a village near Belleville, on Monday afternoon was out in a boat on the Bay of Quinte duck hunting, when a cartridge became jammed in the breech of his gun. While trying to extract it he struck it a blow with his left hand, causing it to explode. The powder flew up into his face and eyes, and he was knocked down in the boat. After a time he managed to make his way to the shore, where friends brought him to Belleville to consult an eye specialist. It was found that a hole had been blown through his left hand and his arm was terribly burned, and it is now doubtful if he will not lose the use of both eyes.

MOORE IM-MOORED IN POLICE CELLS.

Believed to be Thief who Entered Barrie's Store.

P. C. Stewart ran his Man Down Last Night—Strong Evidence Against him—Was Remanded.

There seems to be no doubt now that the thief who entered the store of Mr. Thomas Barrie on Monday night is landed safely behind prison bars. Last night Chief Rosset and P. C. Stewart were walking up George street when a rather suspicious looking character passed them. P. C. Stewart took a rear view of the man and remarked with an air of certainty that he believed it to be the individual who attempted to rob Mr. Barrie's store. A short while later Mr. Stewart arrested his man and brought him to the police station. He gives his name as James Moore, aged 27 and says that he has come out from Ireland only recently although the latter statement is treated to little credence by the police department. Another time he said that he came from Montreal. He is a tough looking character and when arrested he wore a stiff hat, which had been no doubt given him by some one, presuming, of course, that he is the same man who entered Mr. Barrie's store, for it will be remembered that the burglar on that occasion left minus his head gear. When searched, Moore, had on his person a jack knife which will assist in fastening upon him the crime of attempted burglary.

On Monday last the premises of Mr. Weston Fallis, who resides just west of Jackson Park, were entered and a lady's gold watch, a jack knife and $1.60 were stolen. After the thief made his exit from Mr. Barrie's store a lady's gold watch was found which had been evidently dropped by the thief in his flight. The gold watch was identified by Mr. Fallis.

PLEADS GUILTY.

This morning Moore appeared before Mr. James Stevenson, J. P., who occupied the bench in the absence from town of Police Magistrate Dumble, on three charges, viz., of the theft of a gold watch, jack knife and a sum of money from Mr. Fallis, of breaking into Mr. Barrie's store and of vagrancy. He pleaded guilty to the first charge but pleaded not guilty to the other two charges. He was remanded until Wednesday next. Before being taken up on the hill Moore was taken to Roy's where he was photographed.

As before stated there is little doubt that it was Moore who attempted to carry away the $1,200 worth of furs from Mr. Barrie's premises. He admits the theft of the watch from Mr. Fallis' and the same watch is found in Mr. Barrie's store—admits the theft of the jack knife and the knife is found on his person.

The Chief is now anxious that the person who supplied Moore with the second-hand stiff hat yesterday morning should communicate with him at once.

P. C. Stewart is to be congratulated upon the clever manner in which he detected his man and landed him in custody.

EARLY CLOSING BYLAW.

The Petition has not Been Sufficiently Signed as yet.

The Legal Committee met last night and considered the question of the Grocers' Early Closing Bylaw. The petitions from those in favour of the early closing, and those against it, were read, Mr. R. M. Denniscoun appearing in support of the latter.

The first named contained 49 signatures, but of these a few were invalid on account of the parties now being out of business. The latter petition was signed by 32, including some who had signed in favour of the early closing.

The statute governing the case calls for the signatures of three-fourths of those interested being obtained.

A report was received from the Chief of Police, stating that there were 66 groceries in town.

Mr. Jas. Sutherland was heard in support of the petition against early closing, and Mr. Wm. Dayman, who headed quite a large deputation, spoke in favour of shorter hours.

As the requisite three fourths of the merchants had not signed the petition for early closing, the matter was referred back to the petitioners coupled with the statement that the bylaw would be passed by the council as soon as the full number of names was obtained.

FIRE IN CARDIFF.

Campbell's Sawmill and Lumber Yards Destroyed on Saturday Night.

Mr. R. J. Campbell, of Cardiff, met with a very heavy loss on Saturday night through the destruction of his saw-mill by fire. He attributes the fire to incendiarism. The mill was burnt to the ground, and over $1,600 worth of lumber of lumber and 50 thousand shingles destroyed. Unfortunately Mr. Campbell did not carry any insurance on the property and the loss is therefore a total one.

Although the medicine business should, above all, be carried on with the utmost conscientiousness and sense of responsibility, the unfortunate fact is that in no other is there so much humbug and deception. The anxieties of the sick and their relatives are traded upon in the most shameful manner; impossible cures are promised; many preparations are absolutely worthless, and some are positively dangerous to health.

As a consequence, all proprietary remedies are regarded with suspicion by many people, and the good suffer for the bad.

For these reasons we announce that our proprietors are the principal shareholders in CANADA THE GAINER.

The Providence, R. I., 'Journal' sees in the exodus of American brains and brawn fr a the Western States into the Canadian North-West, and the incoming flood of debased, ignorant foreigners from south-eastern Europe, a sinster menace to the future of the United States. The movement into Canada is admitted to be normal and likely to continue till the great plains of the Saskatchewan and beyond are as populous as the wheat lands of the Western States. People will naturally go to a region where there are no cyclones or droughts, where the wheat raised is the best in the world, and where the labour that must be bestowed to produce it is said to be less per hundred bushels than anywhere else on the continent. The estimate of two hundred thousand emigrants from the United States to western Canada this year appears extravagant to the 'Journal,' but not improbable later on when the vast extent, magnificent resources and healthy climate of the country become better known. The rapidity with which new lands are taken up and settled of recent years indicates an early development of the Canadian west, and the 'Journal' reflects on what may be the ethnical, political and social results of foreign immigration in the east and that of native emigration from the west. "If we are this year losing," it says, "a number of our inhabitants, approximating one-third of the total body of newcomers from abroad, our nation's growth may prove disappointment." While we may sympathise with our neighbours it is to feared that a little self-gratulation will be mixed with our condolence if we ventured to offer any. Canada stands to be the gainer by what the Americans are deploring.

HONOUR TO LABOUR.

One of the glories of the twentieth century is the honour paid to labour. Carlyle was not the first to preach the gospel of work. "My Father worketh hitherto, and I work," whatever its immediate reference, was the noblest and most significant doctrine of economics ever uttered. Of old it was not so held. "The ground is cursed for thy sake. In the sweat of thy brow shall thou eat bread," is a text that may well be quoted to those who have economic objections to labour-saving methods; but the great glory of all creation is that it is constantly at work. Why should men always toil, the end and crown of things? Simply because in that they are nearer to their Creator, and nearer to His joy in achievement. "The Lord God saw everything that He had made, and behold it was very good." The time is past for regarding toil as a curse. They are the miserable ones who have to go about seeking happiness without a task that keeps their powers in operation. The way to enjoy work is to take delight in doing it well. He who does it well, as a rule succeeds, and he who succeeds is not the one who stops working, though his work may change its form. Let us all rejoice that at last in the world's history men honour work and make boast of the product of their hands.—Witness.

DOMINION'S NEW G.O.C.

Expresses His Partiality for Mounted Rifles.

LORD DUNDONALD ON CAVALRY

Instruction in the Use of the Rifle Is Imperative For the Mounted Force of the Future—Rapid Action With the Rifle Necessary For Success in the New Modern Warfare.

Toronto, Sept. 3.—At the banquet tendered Lord Dundonald by the members of Toronto Club, the new General Officer Commanding in Canada, in reply to the toast of his health and hearty welcome, thanked the members of the Toronto Club for the opportunity given him of meeting so many of his brother officers in the Canadian militia. "I thank you for the kind words expressed," he added, "and with which you have greeted me. I felt sure in taking my new command, from what I knew of Canadians in South Africa, that I should have assistance in anything calculated to benefit the militia forces in Canada. I can assure you that I count upon that assistance, and I wish to say that I shall respect the words of any in the militia who have any suggestions to make that they think will be of value. I have here with me two members of the headquarters staff. Those who do not know the workings of an office of supervision and organization, really do not know what work these two officers have done in connection with the sending of the contingents to South Africa. Gentlemen, as one who has access to that information, I might say that it is marvelous how they managed to get the contingents off as they did, and I take this public opportunity of testifying to my appreciation of the assistance given by the militia in this connection by Lord Aylmer and Col. Buchan.

"I am proud to be here to-night with so many colonels of this district. I can assure you that having served as a regimental officer from the time I joined until I took command of my regiment, I always felt the responsibility of my position to the country. Some generals get their position after serving a short term in the militia, but I do not think they know to the full the great work and the great responsibilities the same as a colonel of a regiment who has served his time in the ranks. I look upon your position as the most important in the service. The question is, how to make your regiment efficient. Your influence and power of selection ought to be always in the direction of improving your regiments. I know that in this district there is very little slackness. This district stands out in all Canada as one of the most efficient. The fact that 10,000 men were on duty on the occasion of the visit of the Prince of Wales in this city is a great tribute to your organization and strength.

"In connection with the public spirit, I will only say this: We are feeling the need of camps of instruction, and the extent to which these will be carried on will depend entirely upon the amount of money that can be disposed for that purpose. The lack of money, as every one knows, is often the great drawback to efficiency. Sir Frederick Borden took a great interest in these camps, and I take a great interest also. I think we shall do useful work. We shall all learn the new drill book. We all should learn how to make redoubts, and I hope that the officers will see to it that their units are full strength whenever required. We have heard a song tonight of the bold dragoon. Well I hold that the mounted force of the future is the mounted rifleman. But in holding this view, I do not say that a bold dragoon should not be a bold dragoon still. I am sure that cavalrymen will say that you cannot make a swordsman out of a recruit in six months. I say you cannot have a man cut down another man and ride his horse at the same time without six months' practice. Our cavalry rules mean to teach the sword in nine days, and, therefore, the future of our cavalry will be first and foremost, instruction in the use of the rifle. If we get our cavalry into the rapid use of the rifle, we shall be doing a great thing for Canada. I shall not detain you further except to say that you shall always find in me an upholder of your old traditions. I would not ask for any change in the militia except it was the wish of the colonels and officers. (Applause.) I may say to every man and every officer that what is wanted above everything else is strength and efficiency. (Applause.)

HEARTY SCOTCH WELCOME.

Lord Dundonald Greeted by His Countrymen in Toronto.

Toronto, Sept. 3.—Lord Dundonald was given an enthusiastic reception by the Scotchmen of the city in the Normal School yesterday afternoon. There was a representative gathering of Scotchmen in attendance, on the platform being the chief officers of the respective Scotch societies in the city.

On entering the convocation hall the new G.O.C. was warmly applauded, and after a few minutes had been spent in introductions, G. Kennedy, president of the St. Andrew's Society, read an address from the joint Scottish Societies to the distinguished visitor.

Lord Dundonald made a brief but very happy response. In the course of his remarks he pointed out that in Scotland the different clans were kept up more vigorously than in Canada, from what he had been able to learn since his short sojourn here. However, it was pleasing to note that within the past few years successful efforts were being made to organize the clans in Canada, and to have them perpetuated in a manner creditable to every one of them. Continuing, he suggested that the clans in Canada open up communication with the clans in Scotland, and in this way many young Scotchmen would be brought to this country with a view of bettering their condition. For instance, he belonged to the Mackinnon clan in Scotland, and if the members of that clan in Canada communicated with those in Scotland, he had no doubt but great good would be accomplished in getting positions here for the sons of members at home. In conclusion, he expressed the extreme pleasure it gave him to meet them, and offered them his best and heartiest wishes.

Three hearty cheers were afterwards given by the gathering for Lord Dundonald, and then many went forward to shake hands with him and to welcome him personally to Canada.

Accompanying Lord Dundonald were Lord Col. Aylmer, Col. Cotton, and Major Robertson of the 48th.

The address was nicely engrossed and was enclosed in Russian leather.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Adress F. J. PLAN NEW EMIGRATION LINE.

Italian and Russian Companies Arrange to Grab Business.

London, Sept. 3.—According to intelligence received from St. Petersburg, definite arrangements have been arrived at between an Italian company and a committee of the Russian volunteer fleet, by which the latter is engaging to open a regular line between Ogdensburg, Naples, and New York. The volunteer fleet will receive the sum of $40 for each emigrant from Naples, and it is thought this new enterprise may divert the tide of Russian emigration to America from the German lines. The first steamer will start in September.

A POLITICAL FORCE.

New Gospel Preached in Britain for Workers' Relief.

PRESIDENT STEADMAN'S SPEECH

So-Called Reactionary Measures of the British Government Denounced—Permanent Relief of the Rich at the Expense of the Poor—Two Opinions at the Trades' Union Congress.

London. Sept. 3.—W. C. Steadman's presidential address at the Trades' Union Congress yesterday, was pessimistic in tone, and included a general denunciation of the present Government's so-called reactionary measures, such as the Educational Bill, the Sugar tax, and the Grain tax, which he described as being an endeavor to permanently relieve the rich at the expense of the poor. Mr. Steadman denied that trades unionism was destructive to British commercial supremacy, as charged by The London Times and other papers. The only means by which the working people could hope to secure relief from their burden was, Mr. Steadman added, to constitute themselves a great political force. During the consideration of the Parliamentary Committee's report, a motion to omit referring to the coronation of King Edward, on the ground that the references to monarchical institutions were out of place in a labor assembly, was defeated by a vote of 162 to 69. An amendment declaring that the South African war was unjust was carried by a vote of 176 to 134.

RAINS IN WINNIPEG DISTRICT.

Not General and Harvesting Went on Without Interruption.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 3.—Drenching rains set in yesterday afternoon in the Winnipeg district, and continued until after 6 o'clock. It cleared up about 8, but the temperature brought is chilly, and there is a cooler tendency. The rain was not general, and harvesting operations were continued without interruption.

All Depends on Weather.

Montreal, Sept. 3. — Mr. William Whyte, assistant to the president of the C. P. R., with headquarters at Winnipeg, is in the city on business. Speaking of the general prospect in the west, Mr. Whyte said: "If it continues fine, there will not be much difficulty in moving the crop. We have enough elevator capacity on the lakes to handle all the grain that will come out before the close of navigation, and by December we will have elevators for three million bushels more, making in all an elevator capacity of 9,000,000 bushels. If we can secure a reasonable amount of lake tonnage to carry away the grain we will be all right."

COERCION IN IRELAND.

Dublin, Limerick and Various Counties Are Proclaimed.

Dublin, Sept. 3.—The counties of King's, Limerick, Longford, Queen's and Westmeath, and the Boroughs of Dublin and Limerick, have been proclaimed, under the Crimes Act, under the sections dealing with trial by special jury and change of venue.

The Nationalists regard the new Crimes Act proclamation, which brings a total of 17 counties, nearly the whole of Ireland, under its operation, as a declaration of war by Mr. George Wyndham, the Chief Secretary for Ireland, on the Irish League, and the not unlikely precursor of the suppression of the league.

The proclamation empowers trial by special jury in cases of change of venue, and in some instances by summary jurisdiction. The counties of King's, Limerick, Longford, Queen's and Westmeath have been the scenes of recent Irish League agitation.
